Priory of Wyneham de Calceto, or the Causeway, in Sussex.

THE history and description of this small and almost unknown Priory have been so fully given by Mr. Dallaway in his Western Sussex, ii. 56, the editors of this work think they cannot do better than give them in his own words.

Before^a the year 1151 a priory of Augustine canons was founded here by Adelisa Queen dowager of King Henry I. (who was remarried to William de Albin, Earl of Arundel) which was dedicated to St. Bartholomew. The convent consisted of a prior and a very few monks; and the site shews that the buildings could never have been very spacious, of which the base of a strong square building, probably a tower, only remains, and which exhibits nothing of a monastic appearance. We collect from several episcopal registers, that the revenues, which were small, even in proportion to the establishment, were mortgaged during many years, and the priory nearly deserted.^b In this state it was found by Cardinal Wolsey, who procured a bull from Pope Clement VII. in 1524, for the dissolution of this, together with thirty-eight of the smaller monasteries, towards the foundation of his intended college (now Christ Church) in Oxford. Upon his disgrace the grant was resumed by the Crown, and long after the general suppression, the lands were given to Anthony Viscount Montacute in 1607.

Queen Adeliza gave them lands in Pernsted, Bourne, and Wodemancote, with the tolls of Arundel causeway and bridge, which she had erected, and which donation was confirmed by W. de Albin her son, who likewise gave wood from Arundel forest yearly for the repair of the bridge, with a right of pasture in Arundel brooks or meadows. In 13 Edward III. they were excused from paying fifteenths on account of their poverty.^c When dissolved, the priory was valued in spirituals 11*l.* in temporalities 32*l.* 10*s.* In the course of the Bishops' registers several memoranda concerning them occur, and the matrix of the conventual seal annexed was in the possession of Dr. R. Rawlinson, and by him bequeathed to the Bodleian library, in Oxford. St. Bartholomew, here represented, was the tutelar or patron of hospitals, or institutions the object of which was a temporal benefit to the laity, particularly causeways and bridges.^d held by W. Stephen Poyntz, Esq. of Cowdray, and purchasing others, in right of his wife, sister and heir of George Samuel, late Viscount Montagu, Calceto, with its lands and dependencies, was purchased by the late Charles Duke of Norfolk, and is a part of the estates settled upon the earldom and castle of Arundel, by another act, which was obtained in 1810.

In the Chapter-House, Westminster, is a Rental of the possessions of the Priory whilst in the hands of Cardinal Wolsey. See Append. Num. III.

Abbey of Lilleshull, near Duninton, in Shropshire.

RICHARD DE BELMEIS, the last Dean of the Collegiate Church of St. Alcmund in Shrewsbury, about the year 1145, with the consent of Pope Eugenius and King Stephen, surrendered up that Church, with all the lands and churches belonging to the same, to the use of some regular Canons of the Order of St. Augustine, who came from Dorchester, and began to build an Abbey to the honor of the blessed Virgin upon one of the prebendal estates here in the wood of Lilleshull, to which his kinsman Philip de Belmeis was an early and great benefactor.^a

St. Alcmund's College had been founded by Elfreda queen of the Mercians sometime before the year 800; and had had its endowment extended to the support of ten prebendaries by King Edgar.^b

Stevens has added three Instruments relating to this Monastery to those collected by Dugdale.

The Site was granted in the 31st Hen. VIII. to James Leveson. The RUINS of Lilleshull Abbey occupy a sequestered situation, partly surrounded with wood, and, together with the estate, now belong to the Marquis of Stafford. The boundary walls of the precinct may be traced to a considerable distance beyond the present remains of the Abbey Church, which are extensive, and display some fine specimens of early Norman architecture. The large east window of the choir has a beautiful pointed arch of the 14th century. Its stalls were at the time of the dissolution removed to the Collegiate Church of Wolverhampton, where part of them now remain.

ECCLESIA sancti Alcmundi, temporibus antiquorum Anglorum habebatur in veneratione; Adelfleda etenim regina Merciae, eam dicitur fundasse, et magnis honoribus ditasse. Post multum temporis, rex Edgarus pacificus, concilio beati Dunstani eam ampliavit, et ditavit terris et possessionibus, et decem præbendas fecit, quia erat de genere beati Alcmundi, descendens de nobili prosapia regum Northanumbrorum: Itaque una de decem præbendis erat Wilfrescota, Mora, Mersse, Effechota, Wistanestowe, scilicet quatuor hidæ, et ecclesia de Wistanestowe. Habuerunt itaque ex dono regum, præbendam istam canonici, successivè usque ad tempus regis Edwardi: Rex verò Edwardus dedit eam Godrico Wisesune. Iste verò Godricus Wisesune tenuit eam in temporibus regis Willielmi Normanorum ducis, et Rogeri comitis Salop, mortuo Godrico, successit ei in præbenda, per comitis Rogeri donum, Nehel clericus, qui fuit medicus comitis Salopiæ.

Mortuo Nigello, Hugo comes, filius Rogeri comitis, impetravit à canonicis sancti Alcmundi, quod dimitterent præbendam illam Gilberto de Cunesbr. laico, per tres vel quatuor annos; reddendo inde x. solidos ecclesiæ S. Alcmundi per annum: Comes Hugo, infra hoc terminum morte præventus est in Anglesia; cui successit Robertus de Belismo, qui bellum movit contra regem Henricum, &c. Vicecomes verò Paganus, cujus filiam Rogerus comes Hereford, vir bellicosus, duxit in uxorem, quam postea sprexit; Helyas verò de Sary dominus de Clune, quia præbenda illa erat ei vicina et utilis, petiit eam à Rogero Hereford. comite, et hoc concilio Baldwini de Stepeltun, et dedit ei triginta marcas, qui nec potuit nec debuit eam dare nec vendere; et sic concordati sunt comes Rogerus et Helyas, qui primitus inimici erant, et guerram habebant inter se; et hoc fuit in tempore regis Stephani. Helyas de Sary dedit eam Baldwinino de Stepleton pro servitio unius militis, Baldwinino successit Philippus filius ejus; qui eam injustè occupavit, et Isabell de Sary filia Helyæ recepit servitium unius militis ad Clunam de Philippo filio Baldwini.

Gisburne or Gysburgh Priory, in Yorkshire.

ROBERT DE BRUS, by the counsel and admonition of Pope Calixtus the IIId. and Thurston archbishop of York, founded and amply endowed this priory in the 29th Hen. Ist. A. D. 1129, for Canons of the Order of St. Austin, to the honor of the blessed Virgin Mary.

It appears from the Rolls of Parliament of the 18th Edw. Ist. that this Monastery having been burnt by accident, and all the books, relics, and goods destroyed, King Edward granted to the Priory and Convent, upon their petition, a licence to appropriate the Churches of Esington, Bermingham, and Heselerton, of which they had the advowsons; the appropriation however does not seem to have taken effect.

In 1375, 49th Edward the Third, the King granted his licence to the Prior and Convent to inclose and embattle the walls of this Priory.

King Henry the Fourth granted them the privileges of frankpledge, waif, strays, return of writs, &c.

Dugdale and Stevens have been very copious in their collections of Instruments relating to this Priory, and Burton has appropriated fourteen pages of the Monasticon Eboracense to the alphabetical list of places wherein their possessions lay. All of these will be found enumerated in the charters and Ministers' Accompts.

Burton, and the Excerpts from the York Registers in the Harleian Library have supplied the following List of the PRIORS of GISBURN.

WILLIAM, who occurs in 1131.
 RANULPH, or RALPH, 1147.
 CUTHBERT, before 1184.
 ROALD, before 1196, and in 1211.
 LAWRENCE, about 1211, an. 23 pontif. Walt. Grey.
 MICHAEL, 1218.
 JOHN, elected about 1230.
 SIMON.
 RALPH DE IRETON occurs in 1261 and 1265.
 W. occurs in 1281.
 ADAM DE NEWLAND, 1289.
 WILLIAM DE MIDDLEBURGH, upon whose cession
 ROBERT DE WILTON succeeded 18 kal. March, 1320.
 JOHN DE DERLINGTON succeeded 5th Dec. 1346.
 JOHN DE HURREWORTH occurs in 1391. He resigned
 4th Sept. 1493.
 WALTER DE THORPE was elected Oct. 25, 1393.
 JOHN DE HEMMESLEY occurs in 1408.
 THOMAS TWENGE in 1436.
 RICHARD DE YRION, on whose death
 THOMAS DARLINGTON was elected April 15th, 1455.
 JOHN MOREBY 18th September 1475.
 JOHN WHITBY, 1491.
 JOHN MOREBY became prior 13th March 1505.
 BENEDICT, Sept. 11th, 1511.
 WILLIAM SPIRES, Decemb. 13th, 1511.
 JAMES COCKERILL, D.D. was confirmed July 1st, 1519. He was afterwards abbat of Lilleshull.
 ROBERT PURSGLOVE, alias SYLVESTER, was the last
 Prior. He had a pension at the Dissolution of 166*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*

A moiety of the patronage of this Priory belonged to Marmaduke de Thweng, who married Lucia, daughter of Peter de Brus. In the 13th Hen. IVth. the advowson belonged to the D'Arcies of Temple Hurst; but in 1421, the Fauconbergs lords of Skelton were patrons thereof.

The Revenues of this Priory in the 26th Hen. VIIIth.
 amounted in the gross to 712*l.* 6*s.* 6*d.* The clear income was 628*l.* 3*s.* 4*d.*

The Site was granted ult. Octob. 4th Edw. VI. to Sir Thomas Chaloner and his heirs. Graves in his History of Cleveland, p. 421, gives a description of Gisburne Priory as sent in a Letter to Sir Thomas Chaloner soon after he became proprietor of the Site.

There is a vellum Manuscript of the fourteenth century in the Cottonian Collection, Cleopatra D. II. fol. 110, which although intitled only "Annotationes Cartarum de Gysburn" is in reality a CHARTULARY. The Instruments it contains are arranged under heads, the titles of which according to their succession will be found in the Note below*.

The COMMON SEAL of this Priory was handsome and elaborate, representing the Virgin and Child under a rich Gothic canopy, having over their heads the words AVE. MARIA. GRATIA. PL. . . on each side, under a niche a Monk on his knees praying. Legend, s. CAPITVLI.
 SCE. MARIAE. DE. GISBVRNE. An Impression of this Seal is extant in the Augmentation Office on dark brown wax.

The ARMS of this House were Ar. a Lyon rampant.
Az. Upon him a bend Gu.

The present Remains of Gisburne are chiefly those of the Priory Church, to the south of the Parish Church, situated in the bottom of a rich and fertile vale, surrounded by hills. The ruins are peculiar for their elegance of form.
 Of the Priory Offices, little more than a small gateway and some walls remain.

[Ex Registro Cart. de Gyseburne in bibl. Cot. (sub effigie Cleopatrarum D. 2) fol. 110. a. Videsis Cart. 10 Hen. IV. n. 7. Et Pat. 2 Hen. V. p. 1, m. 5.]

REGI Anglorum et archiepiscopo Eboracensi, omnibusque sanctae matris ecclesiae filiis Robertus de Brus salutem. Notum sit caritati vestrae, me consilio et ammonitione Calixti papae secundi, et Turstini Eboracensis archiepiscopi, quoddam monasterium canonicae religionis in Gyseburna, ad honorem Dei et S. Mariae fundasse, ibique canonicos regulares pro regis Angliae et mei atque uxoris meae liberorumque salute animarum, constituisse, et eidem ecclesiae, atque Deo in ea servituris, totam Gyseburnam, cum omnibus ad eam pertinentibus dedisse; videlicet xx. carucatas terrae, et duas bovatas, quas habeant in bosco et plano, pratis et pascuis, et aquis, per eosdem terminos et metas ex omni parte villae, per quas eas tenueram, excepta haia, et Asadala, quam retinui in manu mea ab orientali parte semitae Ernaldi, quae ducit ab Holebec usque in moram. Reliquam vero partem Asadalae, in parte occidentis, et totam terram usque ad introitum nemoris de Hellawath, et inde totum nemus ab occidente illius viae, qui ducit ad Hellawath ex utraque parte aquae; et totam moram a dextris usque ad introitum de Schelderscol; et inde totum nemus et moram a parte occidentis, sicut aqua ducit ad Colemanergas; et inde totum, sicut aqua ducit usque in Esc et Dephil; ex exinde totum, sicut via ducit a vado de sub Depeliil in parte dextera usque ad hayam Ernaldi de Hinderscol; et inde totum a parte aquilonis; sicut vallis et aqua ducit ad viam quae descendit versus Kildalam; et inde sicut magna via ducit ad semitam Ernaldi, quae descendit in Golstandalam; et inde totum in parte dextera, sicut semita ducit usque ad aquam Golstandalae; et inde ad vallem et aquam quae dividit territorium Gyseburnae, et Atunae; et inde per rivulum usque ad magnam viam de Hensberg, et inde totum sicut via ducit ad semitam quae est desuper nemus Hotuniae illis concessi.

Dedi etiam praefatae ecclesiae molendina mea in Gyseburna cum soca et molta sicut ea habui; et ita, ut nullus faciat molendina in parochia ejusdem villae absque canonicorum licentia et concessu. De terra autem filii Gaufridi, et de terra Uctredi de Clivelanda liberum habeant servitium, quod mihi debebatur. Dedi etiam supradictis fratribus totam Lyum, scilicet novem carucatas terrae, cum illa parte de Cotun, quae illi adjacet, et caeteris omnibus ad eam pertinentibus; et decimam domini mei de Lyum; et ecclesiam de Merse, et ecclesiam de Burnus, et ecclesiam de Scheltona, et ecclesiam de Daneby, et ecclesiam de Uplyum, et ecclesiam de Staintona, et ecclesiam de Leviutona, et ecclesiam de Herte, et ecclesiam de Strantona, cum omnibus appendiciis et terris illarum. Et volo ut decedentibus clericis, qui quasdam de praedictis ecclesiis tenent, habeant eas canonici praefati ad sustentationem suam ita liberè et quietè, sicut aliqua abbatia liberiùs et meliùs tenet in toto archiepiscopatu Eboracensi. Dedi etiam illis materiem in Escadala in perpetuum, ad aedificia sua et caetera omnia necessaria domus suae.

Haec omnia supradicta dedimus et concessimus, ego videlicet Robertus de Brus, et Agnes uxor mea, et Adam filius noster et haeres, ecclesiae S. Mariae de Gyseburna, et fratribus ibidem servituris, in liberam et quietam et perpetuam elemosinam, cum omnibus libertatibus et liberis consuetudinibus et dignitatibus, quas in eis habuimus ex donatione et concessione Henrici regis Angliae. Quod si quis violaverit, vel in diripiendo possessiones ecclesiae vel minuendo dignitates, Deum inde, ejusque matrem sentiat vindicem. Confirmamus etiam donationes hominum nostrorum factas praefatae ecclesiae, videlicet ecclesiam de Ormesby, cum omnibus appendiciis suis, et molendinum de Caldecotes, cum terra sibi adjacente, ex dono Ernaldi de Percy. Et dimi-diam ecclesiae de Martona cum omnibus sibi adjacentibus, ex dono Roberti Sturmy. Et ecclesiam de Aclum ex dono Alueredi, et unam carucatam terrae in Arusum, ex dono Willielmi Engelram; et tres bovatas in Lofhus, ex dono Theobaldi: et unam bovatom in Esintun de dono Rogeri de Rosel.

Fundalorum Historia.

[Ex Rotulo pergamenario, nuper in arce Pontefracti existente.]

ANNO ab incarnatione Domini MLXVI. intravit Willielmus bastardus et conquestor inclitum regnum istud Anglicanum: cum quo quidem Willielmo, tunc veniebat dominus Robertus de Bruse, nobilis miles de Normannia. Habuitque idem dominus Robertus per conquestum, et alios titulos diversae acquisitionis, dominia et terras subscripta, ita quod fuit dominus Castri de Skelton, Merkes, Uplythum, S. Westyby, et Brudone; dominus de Danby, Levynghon, et Parum; dominus de Kendall, et dominus Vallis Anandiae. Habuitque Hert et Hertnes, Brune et Tybthory, Karlton in Balne, et Thorp dez Arches.

Evoluto extunc tempore sibi placito, dedit Roberto de Bruse filio suo juniore, Vallem Anandiae, tenendam de rege Scotiae. Motà postea guerrā, inter regem Angliae et Scotiae, captus fuit praedictus Robertus filius, a patre suo in bello hostili cum rege Scotorum; cum quo tenebat, ratione terrarum suarum, scil. Vallis Anandiae infra regnum Scotiae existentium, et a patre, ut praefertur, donatorum. Qui quidem Robertus de Bruse pater, praedictum Robertum filium suum, sic per ipsum captum regi Angliae praesentavit. Rex autem Angliae, curialiter, et ut tanto regi decuit, praedictum Robertum filium, nutrice suae, id est matri propriae, custodiendum emendavit: moramque faciente cum patre suo, intinendo patri, quod in Valle Anandiae panis frumenti non fuerat: unde pater precibus filii motus, dedit ei Hert et Hertnes; tenenda de se et haeredibus suis, dominis de Skelton.

Qui quidem Robertus de Brus pater, obiit anno Domini MCXLI. quinto idus Maii, et regni regis Stephani, post conquestum Angliae, secundo; sepultusque est apud Gysburghe in Cleveland, in quodam monasterio canonicorum, quod erat ex fundatione sua. Cui successit Adam de Bruse, filius et haeres dicti Roberti patris sui, qui dominia paterna, et haereditatem sibi tenuit ad terminum vitae suae, pacificè, integraliter, et honorificè, qui obiit anno Domini MCLXVII. xiii. kal. Aprilis, et anno regni regis Henrici secundi post conquestum Angliae octavo, sepultusque est apud Gysburghe praedictam.

Cui successit Adam de Bruse, secundus filius et haeres Adae patris sui, tenuitque sibi totam praedictam haereditatem, qui obiit anno Domini MCLXXX. quinto idus Julii et regni regis Henrici secundi, post conquestum Angliae xxi. sepultusque est apud Gysburghe prædictam. Cui successit Petrus de Bruse, primus filius prædicti Adæ et hæres, tenuitque ad terminum vitæ suæ totam paternam hæreditatem; qui obiit anno Domini MCCXI. decimo sexto kal. Februarii, et regni regis Henrici tertii, post conquestum Angliæ, tertio, sepultusque est apud Gysburghe prædictam. Cui successit Petrus de Bruse secundus, filius et hæres suus. Hic Petrus secundus, redeundo à terra sancta, ad quam profectus fuerat, obiit apud Marsiliam, anno Domini MCCLXVII. id. Septembris, et regni regis Henrici tertii, post conquestum Angliæ XXXIX. reductusque est à suis, apud Gysburgh prædictam sepultus.

Cui successit Petrus de Bruse tertius, filius et hæres suus. Hic Petrus de Bruse duxerat in uxorem, dominam Hillariam de Malolacu, ex qua non procreavit liberos, eo quod ei sterilis permansit; et sic transactis temporibus, decursusque vitæ suæ curriculo, debitoque humanæ naturæ soluto, obiit idem Petrus anno Domini MCCLXXIII. XIV. kal. Octob. et anno regni regis Edwardi primi post conquestum Angliæ nono; sepultusque est cum uxore sua. Et hic cessit illud cognomen de Bruse, propter defectum hæredis masculi: successeruntque ei in hæreditate quatuor sorores suæ; viz. Agnes, Lucia, Margareta, et Laderina ultima; divisaque est illa hæreditas magna, inter illas quatuor sorores, hoc modo. Prima soror, domina Agnes de Bruse, quam duxerat in uxorem dominus Walterus Fauconberg, dominus de Ryse in Holdyrnes; habuitque in partem suam cum uxore sua, castrum de Skelton, Hersk, Uplythum, Westyby, et Estburne; habuitque cum viro suo septem filios et quatuor filias; viz. Petrum, qui in pueritia obiit, Walterum, Frankum, Petrum, Alexandrum; (qui duo efficiebantur fratres prædicatores) Johannem et Patricium. Filias verò Aviciam, Lorettam, Helwisiam, et Agnetem: obiitque domina Agnes, mater eorum, ante virum suum, anno Domini MCCLXXXVI. in vigilia ascensionis Domini, et regni regis Edwardi primi, post conquestum Angliæ XIX. et sepulta est apud Gysburgh præfatam. Et Walterus maritus suus obiit apud Ryse in Holdyrnes, anno Domini MCCCIV. die scilicet commemorationis animarum, et regni regis Edwardi secundi, post conquestum Angliæ, quinto, sepultusque est apud Kylyng in Holdyrnes, in ecclesia sanctarum monialium, quæ erat ex foundatione antecessorum suorum.

Istis ergo domino Waltero, et dominæ Agneti uxori ejus, successit dominus Walterus Fauconberg secundus, filius et hæres; qui dominam Isabellam filiam domini Roberti de Rose de Hamelak, duxerat in uxorem: Ex qua sex filios procreavit, et quatuor filias; viz. Petrum, Walterum, Johannem, et Willielmum, et duos parvulos qui cito obierunt. Filias verò Agnetem, Laurettam, Ivoitam et Jonettam. Petrus autem primogenitus obiit puer. Walterus verò duxerat in uxorem filiam Radulphi de Nevyl, Anastatiam nomine; et quia nata fuit in nocte natalis Domini, et tunc memoriam fecimus beatæ Anastasiæ, ideo illud sibi nomen imposuerunt. Walterus verò maritus suus, factus adultus, suscepit arma militaria, in vigilia Pentecostes, cum aliis regni proceribus; et cum Edwardo filio regis in servitio permansit.

Domina Lucia secunda soror, quam duxerat in uxorem dominus Marmaducus de Tweng; habuitque in partem suam cum uxore sua, Danby, Bretton, Parum, et Kyrkeburne: habuitque cum viro suo ix. filios et v. filias.

Cell of Scarthe, near Wharleton, in the Deanry and Archdeaconry of Cleveland, in Yorkshire.

IN conformity with the Charter printed by Dugdale, Scarthe is here mentioned as a Cell to Giseburn. It is stated to have been founded as such by Stephen Meinil in the reign of Henry the First. Tanner doubts whether this charter ever took effect, there being no mention of this Cell among the deeds of Giseburn, nor in the Valuation of that Priory in the 26th of Henry the Eighth.

Burton, in the Monasticon Eboracense, p. 357, speaks as if there had been some remains of this Cell in his time. He adds, "And there is a stone coffin, and some banks of earth, which were thrown up when the foundation stones were removed about A.D. 1746; adjoining the South of which," he says, was "a little close called Chapel-garth."

Cella de Scarthe juxta Wharleton, in agro Eboracensi.

Carta Hugonis de Rudebi facta Canonicis de Giseburne, de loco de Scarthe, et Ecclesiis de Rudebi, et Werdelthum.

[Ex ipso autog. in bibl. Hattoniana.]

UNIVERSIS sanctæ matris ecclesiæ filiis, Hugo de Rudebi æternam in Domino salutem. Bonarum mentium est divinum ac religiosum ampliare cultum, religionisque devotius ac studiosius promovere vota, quatinus in numerositate religiosorum Domini multiplicentur talenta. Quocirca viri illustres et domini, Stephanus videlicet de Mainillo senior, et Robertus filius ejus, et Stephanus ipsius Roberti filius, intuitu salutis animarum suarum et præcedentium parentum suorum et succedentium, locum de Scarth cum universis suis pertinentiis, sicut eorum prolocuntur cartæ, Domino Deo cum omni libertate contulerunt devotè et omnibus ibidem Deo servientibus religiosè, ut habeant quo quiescunt Domino vivant et expeditius ipse deserviant. Quibus itaque tam devotè concessis, præfatus Stephanus junior suæ munificentiam et magnificentiam liberalitatis adhibuit, quoniam eum zelus Domini comedit, et ecclesiam de Rudebi cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, et ecclesiam de Werwelthun cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, et capellaniam domus suæ totam, et integram, liberè prænominate donavit loco de Scarth. Hujus igitur donationis ut optatum sortiretur effectum, me capellanum suum et prædictarum ecclesiarum personam fidum substituit executorem; ut sicut unctio Spiritus me doceret, elemosinam illam dispensarem. Unde multâ et diuturnâ deliberatione circumactus, in portum tandem salubrem pro voto sum appulsus, scilicet domum de Giseburne, præ cæteris omnibus eligens, atque illi de toto hujus rei, dispensationem et dispositionem ex parte præfatorum advocatorum plenè et perfectè, sicut ipsi disposuerunt mihi et commiserunt, dispono et committo; et quicquid juris in rebus prædictis aliquo modo et aliquo tempore habuerunt ipsi, vel etiam ego ipse noscor habuisse, simul cum cartis prænominatorum advocatorum propositum et eorum ultimam voluntatem continentibus in priorem et conventum prænominatæ domus de Giseburne gratanter et gratis transfundo et trado, quatinus hactenus communi consilio in locum de Scarth viros sub prætextu religionis inducant, ac regulæ canonicæ disciplinis secundum morem domus suæ instituant, et res omnes quas prælocuti sumus in procuracionem sui et sustentationem, illibatè et sine aliqua sui mutilatione tradantur, atque dominio suo possidendi amodo et in seculum et utendi supponantur. Teste Capitulo de Giseburne; et Willielmo persona de Welleberg; et Roberto ejusdem Hugonis filio; et Nicholao de Hasel; Rogero de Brocthun. Willielmo clerico de Giseburne; Hugone Bucho; Waltero capellano de Semere; R . . . presbitero filio Thomæ de Estun, et aliis multis.

Nutley or Noctele Priory, in Buckinghamshire.

THIS Priory was also called De parco Crendon, or De parco super Thamam. It was built and endowed by Walter Giffard second earl of Buckingham and Ermengard his wife, in 1162, for canons of the Order of St. Augustine,^a and was dedicated to the Virgin Mary and St. John Baptist.

Dugdale has given the founder's charter; two charters from King Henry the Second, one of confirmation; and a charter of confirmation from King John. Another charter from John confirms the privilege of the pastoral staff which had been granted to the monks here by William Marshall earl of Pembroke. Joceline bishop of Salisbury confirmed the church of Bradley to this Monastery.^b Its possessions as returned in the 28th Hen. VIII. will be seen in the Abstract of the Ministers' Accompts.^c

The Priory of Chetwood in Buckinghamshire on account of poverty and a deficiency in the number of its canons was appropriated to Nutley Abbey 28th July 1460.^d

He surrendered his House Dec. 9th, 1539, with fourteen monks, and had a pension granted to him of 100*l.* a-year. He died in 1553, and was buried in the chancel of Crendon Church, as appears by his will.

The revenues of Nutley in the 26th Hen. VIII. amounted in the total to 495*l.* 18*s.* 5*d.*: in the clear income to 437*l.* 6*s.* 8½*d.* per annum. The Site was granted in the 1st Edw. VI. to Sir William Paget. In Lysons's time, it was, with the manor of Nutley, the property of Mr. Reynolds a farmer, who resided in the the Abbey House.

Tanner refers to a CHARTULARY of Nutley Priory formerly in the possession of the Earl of Abingdon.^e

The COMMON SEAL of this Priory is appendant to a Deed in the Duchy of Lancaster 38 Edw. III. and is oval: it represents the Blessed Virgin and divine Infant; on one side of them is a Star, on the other a Crescent; the Virgin is seated on an antique chair, crowned, and having in her right hand a lily. The Legend is, SIGILLVM . SANCTE . MARIE . DE . NVTLE . The Impression is on brown wax.

The REMAINS of Nutley Abbey, now converted into a Farm, are considerable. They occupy three sides of a quadrangle, on the south side of which is the hall, sixty-

Adjoining to the hall, at the east end is a passage with an arched ceiling ten feet wide, the entrance to which is on the south side of the quadrangle, and has a pointed door-way, the pillars of which have enriched capitals. On the west side are the buildings of the Farm-House, in the style of the latest Gothic; some part probably erected after the Dissolution. A chamber, 18 feet by 37, has the Stafford knot round the cornice frequently repeated, and this motto in black letter, En lui plesance. The Staffords Dukes of Buckingham were patrons of this House.

Bissemede or Bushmead Priory, in Bedfordshire.

BUSHMEAD Priory was founded in the reign of Henry the Second by Hugh son of Oliver de Beauchamp, the Messrs. Lysons say by Oliver Beauchamp and his son Hugh, for Canons of the Order of St. Austin. It was dedicated to the Virgin Mary. The foundation charter by Hugh de Beauchamp, a confirmation from Roger de Beauchamp the brother of Hugh, two other charters from Hugh, a charter from Isabella Pouncefot of the manor of Blaysworth, with a farther confirmation of Blaysworth from Nicholao, Margery, and Beatrix ladies of Great Stocktone, and a Bull of protection from Pope Gregory, are the deeds of this House assembled by Dugdale. To these are added an Abstract of the Ministers' Accompts of this House in the 28th Hen VIIIth. Stevens, in his Continuation of the Monasticon, vol. ii. p. 97, has printed an account from the Cottonian Manuscript Otho D. III. of William de Hurst's granting the manor of Caldecote in Hertfordshire to the Prior and Convent of Bushmead, and their releasing it to the Abbey of St. Albans.

JOHN DE WILDEBOL succeeded in 1233.

ROBERT occurs, 15th Edw. III.

GREGORY NORWICH, Prior of Bushmead, was made Prior of Huntynghdon, in 1504.

NICHOLAS SMITH, or SMETH, Prior in 1521.

ROBERT BURR the last Prior, with his Convent, subscribed to the King's supremacy Sept. 30th, 1534.

The annual revenues of this House in the 26th Hen. VIII. amounted in the total to 81*l.* 13*s.* 5½*d.* in the net income to 71*l.* 13*s.* 9½*d.* per annum. The House and good part of the possessions, came by exchange to Sir William Gascoigne in the 29th Hen. VIII. It passed a few years afterwards to the Gerys.

The Messrs. Lysons, in their Magna Britannia, state that in 1806 the Rev. Hugh Wade Gery, the then proprietor of the Site, was possessed of a Chartulary of Bushmead, the same probably which Tanner speaks of as, in 1640, in the possession of Arthur Trevor, Esq. of the Inner Temple.^a GREGORIUS episcopus, servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis, priori monasterii de Bissemede ejusque fratribus, tam præsentibus quam futuris, regularem vitam professis, in perpetuum. Religiosam vitam eligentibus, apostolicum convenit adesse præsidium, ne fortè cujuslibet temeritatis incursus, aut eos à proposito revocet, aut robur (quod absit) sacræ religionis infringet. Eapropter, dilecti in Domino filii, vestris justis postulationibus clementer annuimus, et monasterium de Bissemede, Lincolniensis diocesis, in quo divino estis obsequio mancipati, sub beati Petri et nostra protectione suscipimus, et præsentis scripti privilegio communimus. Inprimis siquidem statuantes, ut ordo canonicus, qui secundum Deum, et beati Augustini regulam in eodem loco institutus esse dinoscitur, perpetuis ibidem temporibus inviolabiliter observetur.

Præterea quascunque possessiones quæcunque bona idem monasterium in præsentiarum justè ac canonicè possidet, aut in futurum concessione pontificum, largitione regum vel principum, oblatione fidelium, seu aliis justis modis, præstante Domino poterit adipisci, firma vobis, vestrisque successoribus, et illibata permaneant: in quibus hæc propriis duximus exprimenda vocabulis. Locum ipsum in quo præfatum monasterium situm est, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, terras, redditus, et feudum quoddam, ac alia in de Ettune et de Wiboldeston villis, à bonæ memoriæ Hugone de Bellocampo fundatore monasterii vestri, et Rogeri fratris ejus vobis intuitu pietatis collata. Decimas etiam quas habetis in villa de Ettune; terras, redditus, et molendina aquatica et ad ventum; et omnia alia quæ in de Craute, Latebrie, de Stachesdene, de Burtune, de Grane-ford de Talentune, et de Ettune, villis ex concessione Henrici de Braybroc vos proponitis obtinere. Terras, prata, piscarias, redditus, et alia bona quæ habetis in territorio et villa de Stiltone: unam virgatam terræ in territorio de Overtone; terras quas habetis in magna Stoktone; terras prata, boscum, et alia quæ habetis in parva Stoktone; pratum et alia quæ habetis in territorio villæ de Blanswrð: terras, prata, et alia quæ habetis in territorio villæ de Bere-

Redditus duodecim denariorum, et alia quæ habetis in villa de Huntedone: terras, redditus, ac alia bona quæ habetis in territorio villæ de Crattecord: redditus duorum solidorum ac alia quæ habetis in villa de Magdigle; et redditus duorum solidorum, et alia bona quæ habetis in villa de Mogerharg: terras et redditus ac alia bona quæ habetis in villa de Raysho: terras, redditus, ac alia bona quæ habetis in parvo Paston et Touleshunt; terras, redditus, ac alia bona quæ habetis in villa et territorio de Bolehurst, cum pratis, vineis, terris, nemoribus, usuagiis, et pascuis, in bosco et plano, in aquis et molendinis, in viis et semitis, et omnibus aliis libertatibus et immunitatibus suis.

Sane novalium vestrorum, quæ propriis manibus aut sumptibus colitis, de quibus aliquis hætenus non percepit, sive de vestrorum animalium nutrimentis, nullus a vobis decimas exigere, vel extorquere præsumat. Liceat quoque vobis, clericos vel laicos, liberos et absolutos è seculo fugientes, ad conversionem recipere, et eos absque contradictione aliqua retinere. Prohibemus insuper ut nulli fratrum vestrorum, post factam in monasterio vestro professionem, fas sit sine prioris sui licentia, nisi arctioris religionis obtentu, de eodem loco discedere; discedentem verò absque communium litterarum vestrarum cautione nullus audeat retinere. Cum autem generale interdictum terræ fuerit, liceat vobis, clausis januis, exclusis excommunicatis interdictis; non pulsatis campanis, summissa voce dummodo causam non dederitis interdicto, divina officia celebrare. Crisma verò oleum sanctum, consecrationes altarium, seu basilicarum, ordinationes clericorum qui fuerint promovendi ad ordines, à diocæsano suscipietis episcopo, siquidem catholicus fuerit, et gratiam et communionem sacrosanctæ Romanæ sedis habuerit, et ea vobis voluerit sine pravitare aliqua exhibere.

Prohibemus insuper, ut infra fines parochiæ vestræ, nullus sine assensu diocæsani episcopi et vestro, capellam seu oratorium de novo construere audeat, salvis privilegiis pontificum Romanorum. Ad hæc, novas et indebitas exactiones ab archiepiscopis, archidiaconis, seu decanis, aliisque omnibus ecclesiasticis, secularibusve personis, à vobis omnino fieri prohibemus. Sepulturam quoque ipsius loci liberam esse decernimus, ut eorum devotioni et extremæ voluntati, qui se illic sepeliri deliberaverint, nisi fortè excommunicati vel interdicti sint, aut etiam publicè usurarii, nullus obsistat; salva tamen justitia illarum ecclesiarum à quibus mortuorum corpora assumuntur. Decimas præterea et possessiones ad jus ecclesiarum vestrarum spectantes, quæ à laicis detinentur, redimendi et legitimè liberandi de manibus eorundem, et ad ecclesias ad quas pertinent revocandi, libera sit vobis de nostra autoritate facultas. Obeunte verò te nunc ejusdem loci priore, vel tuorum quolibet successorum nullus ibi qualibet surreptionis astutia seu violentia præponatur; nisi quem fratres communi consensu, vel fratrum major pars consilii sanioris, secundum Deum et beati Augustini regulam providerint eligendum. Paci quoque et tranquillitati vestræ paterna in posterum sollicitudine providere volentes, autoritate apostolica prohibemus, ut infrà clausuras locorum seu ecclesiarum vestrarum, nullus rapinam seu furtum facere, ignem apponere, sanguinem fundere, hominem temerè capere vel interficere, seu violentiam audeat exercere.

Præterea omnes libertates et immunitates à prædecessoribus nostris, Romanis pontificibus, ordini vestro concessas; necnon et libertates et exemptiones secularium exactionum à regibus et principibus, vel aliis fidelibus rationabiliter vobis indultas, autoritate apostolica confirmamus, et præsentis scripti privilegio communimus. Decernimus ergò, ut nulli omnino hominum liceat præfatum monasterium temerè perturbare, aut ejus possessiones auferre, vel ablatas retinere, minuere, seu quibuslibet vexationibus fatigare; set omnia integra conserventur eorum, pro quorum gubernatione ac sustentatione concessa sunt usibus omnimodis profutura; salva sedis apostolicæ autoritate, et diocæsani episcopi canonica justitia, ac in prædictis decimis moderatione concilii generalis. Si qua igitur in futurum ecclesiastica secularisve persona hanc constitutionis nostræ paginam sciens, contra eam temerè venire temptaverit, secundò tertiove commonita, nisi reatum suum congrua satisfactione correxerit, potestatis honorisque sui careat dignitate, reamque se divino judicio existere de perpetrata iniquitate cognoscat, et à sanctissimo corpore et sanguine Dei, et Domini redemptoris nostri Jesu Christi aliena fiat, atque in extremo examine, districtæ subjaceat ultioni. Cunctis autem eidem loco sua jura servantibus, sit pax Domini nostri Jesu Christi, quatinus et hic fructum bonæ actionis percipiant, et apud districtum Judicem, præmia æternæ pacis inveniant. Amen, amen.

Bridlington Priory, in Yorkshire.

THE Priory of Bridlington, Burlington, or Berlinstone was founded by Walter de Gant, early in the reign of Henry the First; and was dedicated to the Virgin Mary: or according to a Bodleian Manuscript, to St. Mary and St. Nicholas.

Dugdale and Stevens have given copies of the principal Deeds of this Monastery. For these the reader is referred to the Appendix to the present account. Burton has given an alphabetical list of the places wherein the lands of this Monastery lay, with the names of the donors filling no fewer than thirty-three pages; to these also the reader is referred for the ascertainment of the smaller portions of land, the limits even of the Monasticon not allowing the enlarged detail here.

King Edward the Second in the fifth year of his reign, A.D. 1312, confirmed to the canons of Bridlington all their possessions: but all these appear to have been forfeited in consequence of the attainder of William Wode the last prior, Jan. 17th, 1537, 28 Hen. VIII. for high treason. Burton has given the Abstract of the Inquisition taken in consequence of the forfeiture 18th December 1538.^b

^b Monast. Ebor. p. 247. Stevens says, vol. ii. p. 129. "The following Grant I had from the Rev. Mr. Foster, late Rector of St. Clement's Dancs in the Strand, London, which I suppose to belong to this Monastery of Bridlington; though here called Bulington, because I have not ever met with any such distinct house of Bulington; and it is frequent to find the same name variously written, as we see above that it is also called Brelinton. If I mistake, such as shall get better information are desired to correct the same: The grant is as follows:

To all, &c. Hugh Nevil greeting, Know ye, that I, for the health of my soul, and of the souls of all my predecessors and successors; and for the souls of all those whose goods I at any time unjustly took away, have given, &c. to the monastery of Brelington, &c. all the land in the territory of Wikenbe, which I had of the gift of Robert Chamberlain of Wikenbe, viz. Five score acres lying together at Flittland; also all the land in the territory of Snelleshund, of the gift of Helton of Snelleshund; also all the land at Snelleshund of the gift, of Peter Wikes (being six acres), &c. This donation I made to the said monastery for the maintenance of two chaplains, who shall perform divine service in the house of Bulington for ever, for the souls of my father, my mother, and all, &c. as above."

Bridlington Priory.

Stevens, from Willis's Mitred Abbies, vol. ii. p. 274, gives the following Letter in part relating to this House after the Dissolution, transcribed from one of Dodsworth's Manuscripts in the Bodleian. He entitles it a Letter from Richard Bellycys, 14th Nov.

"Plesythe your good lordship to be advertysed, I have taken down all the leade of Jervase, and made itt in pecys of half foders, which lead amountyth to the number of 18 score and five foders, with thyrtty and four foders, and a half that were ther before; and the said lead cannot be conveit, nor caryed unto the next sombre, for the ways in that contre are so foull and deep that no caryage can pass in wyntre; and as concernynge the raising and taking downe the house, iff it be your lordship's pleasure, I am mindeth to lett it stand to the spring of the year, by reason of the days are now so short it wolde be double charges to doe it now; and as concerning the selling of the belles, I can not sell them above 15s. the hundredth, wherein I would gladly know your lordship's pleasure, whether I should sell them after that price, or send them up to London; and if they be sent up, surely the cariage will be costly from that place to the water; and as for Brydlington, I have doyn nothing there as yet, but spayreth it to March next; because the days now are so short; and from such time as I begyn, I trust shortly to dispatche it after such fashion, that when all is finished, I trust your lordship shall think that I have bene no evil howsbound in all such things as your lordship appoynted me to do; and thus the Holy Ghost ever preserve your lordship in honour.

"At York this 14th day of Nov. by your most bounden beadman,

"RICHARD BELLICYS.

"This letter was written An. Dom. 1538."

No REGISTER of this Priory has fallen under the examination of the present Editors of the Monasticon.^a

Among the Harleian Charters in the British Museum there is an imperfect Impression of the COMMON SEAL of this Priory, together with a Counter Seal. The former exhibits two figures, seated under a Canopy, one male, the other female. The Counter Seal has upon it the blessed Virgin crowned, with the divine Infant in her arms. The Instrument to which this is attached bears date 1327, and the impression is on green wax.

The West end of the Priory Church and an arched Gateway are now the principal remains of Bridlington.

GILBERTUS comes Lincolniae omnibus ecclesiae filii salutem. Notum sit vobis, quod ego pro redemptione peccatorum meorum, et pro peculiari dilectione quam semper habui erga ecclesiam S. Mariae Brellintoniae, mancipavi me ipsum eidem ecclesiae, ea videlicet ratione, ut ubicunque vivendi finem fecero, in monasterio Breclintonensi locum sepulturæ accipiam. Et si aliquando Deus cor meum tetigerit, et opportunitatem dederit, ut, relictâ seculari vanitate, in paupertate Deo servire decernam, in prædicto monasterio habitum religionis accipiam, et in illorum consortio vitæ meæ spacia compleam inter quos, ab annis infantiae, coalueram: conveniens quippe mihi visum est, ut ubi in hunc mundum ingressus sum de ventre matris meæ, ibi de hoc mundo egrediar in matrem omnium; et per eorum exemplum, atque doctrinam Christo merear in bonis operibus conformis fieri, per quorum ministerium Christum baptisinate indui: quapropter noverit quisquis qui hæc audierit, quia mihi propriè officiosus, aut injuriosus erit, quisquis eidem ecclesiae utilis aut noxius fuerit. Hiis testibus, Galfrido fratre meo, Waltero decano, &c.

Priory of St. Bartholomew, in Smithfield.

RAHERE, the founder of St. Bartholomew's Priory, is said to have been originally a wit or minstrel of the Court of Henry the First, who in contrition for an ill spent life in his early days, founded both the Hospital and the Priory of St. Bartholomew in the suburbs of London. He began the building of the Priory in 1123, and obtained from King Henry the First a charter confirming its endowment in the year 1133.^a

Dugdale has given numerous particulars of Rahere's life from the Cottonian MS. Vespasian, B. ix. to which the reader is referred.^b

Henry the Third in the 38th year of his reign, by a charter dated at Winchester, and confirmed by an Inspeximus of Richard the Second, confirmed to the Prior and Canons the Site of their Church and Hospital given to them by King Henry the First, and the churches and lands given to them by the several benefactors there specified; and subjected the hospital to the Prior and Canons, as by the charters of King John and Henry the First.^c

King Henry the First is said by Leland to have been the founder of this Priory, as giving the ground on which both the Priory and Hospital were built, and some churches in Suffolk; and it must be owned, that although Rahere is so much spoken of in the Legend already referred to, there is no mention of him except as Prior only in the charter of Henry the Third. But by his means and solicitations, in all probability both Houses were begun, the buildings carried on, and the first endowment settled.

Rahere is supposed to have lived till 1213. He was buried in the north wall of the east end or chancel of his Church, the place usually appropriated to founders or great benefactors, where a monument was erected over him, which is said by Weever to have been renewed early in the fifteenth century, when the Priory Church was in a great measure rebuilt, A. D. 1410.^d

Within a century after its foundation Boniface archbishop of Canterbury claimed a right of visiting this Priory, but was resisted by the canons. An account of the affray on this occasion will be found in Matthew Paris sub an. 1250. The canons were ultimately obliged to submit to this invasion of their rights; and in addition to the more regular jurisdiction of the Bishop of London by whom their Priors were confirmed, were obliged to pay obedience to the archbishop when he visited them metropolitically.^e Archbishop Winchelse, who visited them in 1303, made Injunctions for them and Rules for their better government.^f

In the interval between the two grants, Queen Mary placed here a Convent of black or preaching Friars, who under father Person, began to rebuild the nave of the Church, which had been pulled down; but they were turned out 1 Eliz. and Lord Rich again put into possession.

The Editors of the Monasticon have not been so fortunate as to meet with a Register of St. Bartholomew's Priory. Tanner's and a few other references to MSS. and Records relating to it, will be found in the Note below.^b

Two SEALS, one believed to have been Prior Ra-here's own, the other the earliest of the Convent, are engraved in the Archæologia of the Society of Antiquaries, vol. xix. p. 49. The Seal used by the Convent at the Surrender is engraved in the Vetusta Monumenta, vol. ii. Pl. 36. The Seal of this House made for the restored Convent in the time of Queen Mary is engraved in the xvth volume of the Archæologia.^c

The REMAINS of this Priory are scattered in the Walls and among the Cellars of surrounding Houses. The Priory Church exists in part only, used as a Parish Church. Malcolm in his London, and Mr. Brayley in the Account of London in the Beauties of England and Wales, have endeavoured to ascertain the position of the different Offices of the Priory.

HANC igitur ecclesiam in honorem beatissimi Bartholomæi apostoli piæ memoriæ Raheus fundavit, et ibidem Deo servituros secundum regulam sanctissimi patris Augustini viros religiosos aggregavit, eisdemque per viginti duos annos prioris dignitate et officio functus præfuit. Liberalium artium scientiam minimè assecutus, sed quia omni scientia supereminet, conscientie puritate præditus; erga Deum devotione, erga fratres humilitate, erga hostes suos quadam benevolentia certabat: cujus animi probata sinceritas, mores honestate conspicui, spectata in divinis sedulitas, prudens in terrenis administrandis sollicitudo laudi fuere. In conviviis sobrius, hospitalitas sectator præcipuus, tribulationes miserorum et necessitates pauperum opportunè admittens, patienter supportans, competenter expediens. In prosperis nequaquam elatus, in adversis patiens; si quid sinistri occurreret, sub umbra patroni sui, quam venerabatur, quem intimis visceribus amplectebatur, sedebat, cujus auxi-

Subdito gregi cum omni humilitate prævidens, cum summâ diligentia, quæ necessaria erant, providens, augebat sibi indies apud Deum et homines gratiam, loco reverenciam, amicis læticiam, lividis pœnam, posteris gloriam. Et talis quidem ejus vita post conversionem extitit. Qualis verò ante fuerit, et quo ordine hujus sacratissimi templi fundamenta locaverit, paucis intememus, sicut nobis contestati sunt qui eum videre, et ejus operibus et alloquiis interfuerunt; quorum quidam dormierunt in Christo, quidam adhuc supersunt, et horum quæ dicturi sumus testes sunt.

Nec hiis contentus, regale palacium crebrius adire, inter tumultus curiæ tumultuosè se ingerere et suavitate joculari, plurimumque volebat corda facilè sibi allicere. Ibi spectaculis, epulis, jocis, cæterisque curialibus nugis totâ die intendere negotium ducebat. Et nunc quidem regis, nunc

^a From the deed of grant, dated May 19th, it appears that a consideration for the same was paid to the King in the sum of 1064*l.* 11*s.* 3*d.* As appendages to the chief mansion we find enumerated "le Fermery, le Dorter, le Frater, lez Cloysters, le Galleries, le Hall, le Kitchen, le Buttery, le Pantry, le Olde Kichen, le Woodhouse, le Garner" and "le Priours stable;" all situated within the Close. The Church, described as situated within the Great Close, was to be a Parish Church for ever, distinct and separate from other parishes, and the void ground 87 feet in length and 60 in breadth, next adjoining to the West side of the church, ordered to be taken for a church-yard.

attritâ fronte optimatam sequelæ se ingerens, obsequium quod placeret eis sedulo impendebat, et si quid liberet petere, facilius impetrabat. Eo modo regi, magnatibusque aulicis notus, familiaris et socius erat. Hoc vivendi genus imprimis elegerat, et in hiis juventutem suam exercebat. Sed inspector et miserator omnium Deus, qui à Maria Magdalena septem dæmonia ejecit, qui piscatori claves regni cœlorum dedit, hunc etiam misericorditer ab errore viæ suæ convertit, et converso plurima virtutum munera adjecit; quoniam quæ stulta et infirma sunt mundi elegit Deus, ut confundat fortia.

Hic ergo per Dei gratiam aliquando admissorum pœnitens, diesque suos dimidiare proponens, ut plenam atque perfectam omnium peccatorum consequeretur indulgentiam, sanctam decrevit Romanam adire curiam; cupiens in tam laborioso itinere dignos facere fructus pœnitentiæ. Qui habitum cœlitus inspirati animi nequaquam desidiosâ mente in tempora et annos differens, sed conceptum pio desiderio bonum opus constanter exequens, iter aggressus est, et Domino gressus ejus dirigente, incolumis, eo quo proposuerat, pervenit. Ubi ad martyria beatissimorum apostolorum Petri et Pauli commissa deplorans, et delicta juventutis suæ et ignorancias ad memoriam reducens, remissionem eorum sibi à Domino tribui exorabat, de cætero nichil simile se acturum pollicens, sed hiis abrenunciatis, voluntati ejus devotè pariturum. Præclara illa duo cœli luminaria, duos viros misericordiæ, mediatores inter se et dominatorem universæ terræ constituit, quod videlicet à præteritis ineptiis caveret, et pollicitis operam sedulus impenderet.

Interea dum ibi moraretur, gravi valetudine fatigari cœpit, et doloribus suis paulatim augmenta capientibus, jam ad extrema duci. Qui se pro commissis Deo nondum satisfacisse timens, et iccirco in ultionem criminum, apud externos ultimam sibi mortis horam imminere retractans, effudit tanquam aquam cor suum in conspectu Domini, et totus in lacrimas erumpens, votum etiam vovit, quod si sanitate adeptâ, ad patriam suam sibi redire liceret, ad pauperum recreationem hospitale construeret, et pauperibus ibidem congregatis, necessaria, quoad posset, ministraret. Nec multò post, benignus et misericors Dominus, qui Ezechiaë lacrimas vidit, qui Cananæ importunitatem pietatis suæ beneficio remuneravit, hunc quoque lacrimantem clementer respexit, et votum ejus, optatam salutem largiendo approbavit. Qui ab infirmitate convalescens, et sanus in brevi factus, ad propria remeare cœpit, votum quod fecerat exacturus.

CUMQUE cœptum iter conficeret, nocte quadam visionem vidit, terrore simul et dulcedine plenam. Cum enim post diurnos sudores membra quiete foveret, visum est ei ab animali quodam quatuor pedes et geminas alas habente in sublime deferri, et ab eodem in loco eminentissimo constitui. Qui cum ex tanta altitudine oculorum aciem ad ima deflecteret, horribilem sub se puteum esse deprehendit, cujus terribilis visio timorem simul et horrorem cernenti incuteret, profunditas verò omnem humanum frustraretur intuitum. Ipse ergo suorum sibi conscius scelerum, ratus se jam casurum in tam inmane præcipitium, ut sibi videbatur, inhorruit, et validos ex ore clamores emittere cœpit. Cui sic timenti et præ timore clamanti, vir quidam regiam majestatem vultu præferens, miræ pulchritudinis et imperialis autoritatis affuit, et fixo in eum intuitu locutus est verba bona, verba consolatoria, ferens bonum nuncium, quasi in hæc verba loqueretur.

“O homo (inquit) quid et quantum obsequii illi impenderes, qui tibi in tanto mortis discrimine opem ferret?” Cumque ad hæc responderet, se quicquid cordis, quicquid virium sibi esset ereptoris sui gratiæ diligentissime compensaturum, subjunxit. “Ego sum (inquit) Bartholomæus, apostolus Jesu Christi, qui tibi in angustiis succurrere veni, et cœlestis tibi reserare secreta mysterii; noveris enim me totius summæ Trinitatis voluntate et imperio, et communi cœlestis curiæ favore et consilio, in suburbio Londoniarum apud Smethfield locum delegisse, ubi nomine meo fundabis ecclesiam; eritque ibi domus Dei, tabernaculum Agni, templum Spiritus sancti. Hanc domum spiritualem omnipotens Dominus inhabitabit, sanctificabit, glorificabit, et immaculatam in æternum conservabit. Eruntque oculi ejus aperti et aures ejus intentæ super domum istam die ac nocte, ut potens accipiat, quærens inveniat, pulsans introeat. Omnis enim qui conversus et pœnitentiam agens in hoc loco oraverit, in cœlo exaudietur, quærens perfecto corde quacumque tribulatione auxilium, proculdubio consequetur; pulsantibus pio desiderio ad ostium sponsi, assistentes angeli aperient januam regni, suscipientes et Deo offerentes preces et vota fidelis populi. Confortentur ergo manus tuæ, et fiduciam habens in Domino viriliter age. Nec de hujus ædificii impensis sollicita mente quicquam dubites, tantummodo diligentiam adhibe, meus erit ad dirigendam et consummandam hujus operis fabricam sumptus necessarios providere, et ipsum locum Deo et mihi acceptum evidentissimis signorum indicis prodere, teque indesinenter sub umbra alarum mearum protegere. Hujus operis te ministrum, me noveris esse dominum. Tu diligenti utere ministerio, ego domini et patroni fungar officio.” In hæc verba visio illa disparuit.

Quid de Visione apud se tractaverit.

EXPERGEFACTUS ille, ea quæ viderat sagaci mente volvere cœpit, et dubiam interdum fluctuanti animo habere sententiam, utrum videlicet pro fantastica illusionem, quæ hominibus in sompnis frequentiùs accidere solet, an pro cœlesti habenda essent oraculo, quo se satis indignum judicabat. Certabant in corde fidelis viri humilitas et timor, et incertum erat, cui magis credendum esset. Humilis enim latere volebat, nec se altiora præsumere: timidus formidabat apostoli præcepta negligere, et negligendo, non humilis sed superbus districto summi Judicis tenere examine. Dignioribus ergò sententiis, et potiori allegatione instructus, timor triumphum obtinuit, et comitante se gratia prærogati beneficii, humilem erexit, pusillanimum confortavit, nutantem, stabili gradu cum felici proposito firmavit. Eo igitur docente interiùs, sicut credimus per suam unctionem, qui antea per nocturnam instruxerat visionem, statuit jussa perficere; præsertim cum sibi tantum præceptum esset adhibere operam, præceptoris autem esset cætera, prout vellet ordinare.

Sane per somnia multa divinæ voluntatis secreta ad hominum noticiam pervenisse, in veteris ac novi testamenti serie non semel legimus, undè unum ex utroque producere testimonium sufficiat. Daniel sanctus, somnium regis suo somnio discit, et interpretationem ejus, Deo revelante, cognoscit. Joseph justus, ne timeat accipere Mariam conjugem suam in somnis admonetur; et nunc instante persecutionis articulo in Ægyptum fugere; nunc defuncto persecutionis autore, Judæam redire, ab angelo jubetur. Visiones itaque nocturnis temporibus factas, non semper deceptionis causam prætereunt; sed aliquando cœlestis mysterii gravidas, et fide atque admiratione dignas credere. Hiis et multis sacræ Scripturæ autoritatibus edocemur; quarum perfectam habere discretionem, non humani reor ingenii, sed muneris est divini; ideo secundum legem relinquamus igni.

Expositio ejusdem Visionis.

CÆTERUM si requiratur quid pennati animalis visio, quid horribilis putei, quid hominis in superioribus locacio portenderit, quid super hiis sentiam, paucis absolvam. Animal, diabolum significasse arbitror, qui in Ezechiele aquila grandis mysticè appellatur, tum propter dignitatem cœlestis naturæ, tum propter magnitudinem spiritualis nequitiæ. Qui et ibi magnarum alarum et hic etiam alas habuisse visus dicitur, eò quòd fastu elationis tumidus ad sublimiora nitens, Deo similis esse voluerit, hominemque fallaci promissione contra Creatorem suum superbè erexit, quo delicto maximo omne hominum genus attemptare, plures involvere, multos æterno igni secum addere, nullo tempore, nullâ horâ desistit. Quatuor ejus pedes vel quatuor ventos, de quibus agitur in Zacharia, vel quatuor temptationum genera, quas enumerat psalmista; vel quatuor vicia, de quibus Johel propheta loquitur, dicens, “Residuum erucae comedit locusta, et residuum locustæ comedit brucus, et residuum bruci comedit rubigo;” per erucam libidinem, per locustam inanem gloriam, per brucum ingluviem, per rubiginem iram significans et furem.

Quatuor autem ventorum meminit Zacharias dicens, “Et levavi oculos meos et vidi, et ecce quatuor cornua. Et dixi ad angelum qui loquebatur in me, Quid sunt hæc? Et dixit ad me, Hæc sunt cornu aquæ ventilaverunt Judam et Israel et Jerusalem.” Hiis quatuor ventis quatuor animæ passiones figurantur; scilicet timor et læticia, quæ quietem mentis omnino dissipant, et

Nubila mens est
Vinctaque frenis
Hæc ubi regnant.

De quatuor temptationum generibus ait David de justo loquens, "Non timebis à timore nocturno; à sagitta volante in die, à negotio perambulante in tenebris, ab incursu et dæmonio meridiano." Prima temptatio est levis et occulta; secunda levis et aperta; tertia gravis et occulta; quarta gravis et aperta. Hiis atque prædictis modis tanquam pedibus suis, ille singularis humani generis inimicus terræ nos comprimit, et sibi substratos sævis maliciæ suæ unguibus violenter astringit. Dehinc voluntariè sibi adhærentes, de vicio in vicium, de malis ad pejora prorumpere cogit, donec completis iniquitatibus suis, quasi ad summam totius impietatis artem eveci, Deo ulciscente in ima putei recidant, id est, in profundissimum infernum miseri et omnium miserorum miserrimi prouant.

Hac igitur visione significatum homini puto, ut multiplices callidi hostis laqueos prudenter adverteret, salubriter caveret, ne inmani præcipicio absortus miserabiliter periret. Sed quia non est hominis via ejus, nec viri est ut dirigat gressus suos, addita est supernæ miserationis consolatio, et data est non modica optinendæ virtutis occasio, ut eò propensius divinum promeretur auxilium, quo sollicitus apostolicum completeret imperium. Hæc sepientem virum per ea quæ sibi ostensa sunt æstimo intellexisse, quæ se nequaquam latuisse, tam opere prodidit quam sermone.

IGITUR emenso, quod restabat itineris, Lundonias venit, et à notis atque amicis suis cum multo gaudio susceptus est. Cum quibus tam ergo baronibus Lundoniæ familiariter de hiis, quæ in corde suo versabantur, colloquens, quæ circa se gesta erant in via, enarravit, quidque super hiis agendum foret consuluit. A quibus responsum accepit, nichil de hiis quæ volebat, rege inconsulto, per se effici posse; præsertim quia locus divinitus sibi ostensus, infra regium contineretur forum, de quo nec ipsis principibus aut præpositis propriâ autoritate aliquantulum liceret imminuere, nedum tam solemnis obsequiis deputare. Quorum usus consilio, oportuno tempore ad regem se contulit, et episcopo præsertim Ricardo, quem sibi fautorem anticipaverat; negotium suum efficaciter exposuit, et ut prepositum suum effectui mancipare liceat, suppliciter implorat. E vestigio, ille in cujus manu erat, ad quod voluit cor regis inclinavit; nec inefficaces potuerunt esse preces, quarum auctor apostolus, exauditor erat Deus.

Placuit ergo sermo iste in oculis regis, et optimam viri voluntatem, prudenti ut erat pectore perpendens, regium favorem petenti tribuit, et auctoritatem proposita exequendi benignè præbuit. Quia à regia majestate titulum optatæ possessionis nactus, lætus admodum et nichil curæ aut diligentia omittens, geminum pietatis opus exstruere cœpit; unum pro voto quod fecerat; alterum sicut ei præcepto indictum fuerat. Cum igitur res prosperè succederent, et juxta verbum apostoli omnia necessaria ad manum confluerent, ecclesiam decenti lapideo tabulatu, hospitem verò domum paulo longius ab ecclesia semotam instanter ædificare cœpit. Fundata est autem ecclesia, sicut accepimus à senioribus nostris, mense Marcio, in nomine Domini nostri Jesu Christi, in memoria beatissimi Bartholomæi apostoli, anno ab incarnatione ipsius Domini Salvatoris nostri millesimo centesimo vigesimo tercio, summi pontificatus arcem regente sanctissimo papa, Calixto secundo, ecclesiæ vero Anglicanæ præsertim Williélmo Cantuariensi archiepiscopo, Ricardo quoque Lundoniensi episcopo, qui debito jure locum ipsum orientalis partis prædicti campi sanctificavit, et episcopali auctoritate dedicavit, breve tunc admodum cimiterium. Regnante juniore filio Williélmi nothi primi regis Anglorum, ex aquilonaribus, Henrico primo anno xxx. et circiter tertium regni ejus. Ad laudem et gloriam summæ et individua Trinitatis, ipsi benedictio, e gratiarum actio, honor et imperium per omnia sæcula sæculorum, Amen.

Hic silere nequaquam debemus, quod majorum nostrorum relatione comperimus divinius ostensum, hunc orationis locum longè ante id temporis glorioso regi Edwardo confessori, filio Etheldredi regis, fratris sancti Edwardi martyris, de quo multa bona ferunt suis declaranda temporibus andisse. Hic enim rex beatissimus, cum multiplici virtutum decore in ecclesia Dei emereret; et sicut liber gestorum ejus tradit, cum religiosus et spiritu prophetiæ plenus clareret, remota quasi præsentia, et futura tanquam existentia, oculis suæ mentis, per Spiritum Sanctum illuminatas intuebatur. Qui nocte quadam, oculis ejus somnum capientibus, corde ad Deum vigilante, divino oraculo ad se facto, de hoc loco præmonitus est, quod cum Deus elegisset ut nomen suum ibi poneret, et celebrem ac venerandum Christiano populo exhiberet. Undè idem sanctissimus rex manè consurgens, locum, quem sibi monstraverat Deus, adiit, et astantibus visionem sibi nocte factam exposuit, quòd locus iste magnus corum Deo et omni populo esset futurus prædixit. Cujus præclara vaticinia quanto fuerint veritatis robore subnixa, rerum semper exitus approbavit, et hinc luce clariùs intueri quilibet fidelis poterit.

FEREBATUR etiam quod tres viri de Græcia, nobili prosapia oriundi, de terrâ et cognatione suâ egressi, et sanctæ peregrinationis laborem pro Domino aggressi, cum multa sanctorum patrocinia multis terrarum locis circueundo devotis mentibus implorâssent, emenso mari Angliam intraverint, cupientes sanctorum corpora ibi quiescentium visitare, et eorum se meritis et precibus in extremo tueri examine: Qui venientes Lundonias hunc locum adierunt, et ibidem terræ prostrati Deum adoraverunt, et ante eos qui simul aderant, et ipsos tanquam simplices et idiotas intuebantur, mira quædam de hoc loco vaticinari cœperunt. "Ne miremini (dicentes) nos hic adorare Deum, ubi gratissimum sibi templum ædificabit altissimus Creator omnium, et ejus fama pertinet à solis ortu usque ad occasum."

De Loci Emundatione.

Locus autem iste ante sui emundationem nullius boni spem præferens, imundus nimis erat, et ad instar paludis cœno et lutulenta aqua pænè omni tempore habundabat. Quod verò aquis supererat, latronum suspendio et cæterorum cruciatui, qui judiciali auctoritate dampnati erant, deputabatur. Cum autem Raherus ad purgationem hujus loci studium applicâssent, et sacro ædificio manum apponere decrevisset, non ignorans astucias Sathanæ, factus est insipiens quia coactus, et exteriùs præterdens speciem idiotæ, animi sui secretum cœpit aliquandiu occultare, et eo sapientiùs agere quo occultiùs. Denique puerorum atque servorum consortia mirâ sibi arte lusoriâ conciliabat, et eorum usus adjutorio, lapides et alia ædificio profutura facillimè aggregabat. Ludebat et ipse, qui et vilior de die in diem fiebat in oculis suis, tantum ut apostolo Christi placeret, cui se probavit. Cujus gratiâ adjutus, paratis hiis quæ necessaria videbantur, immensam fabricam erexit, et jam non insipiens quod putabatur, verè sapiens quod occultabatur, palam esse et dici cœpit.

Hinc mirum in modum Spiritu Sancto confortatus et scientiâ veritatis imbutus, per ecclesias Dei fiducialiter verbum Dei loquebatur, et tam clericorum quàm laicorum multitudinem ad sectanda ea, quæ caritatis et elemosinarum sunt, constanter exhortabatur. Ubi eo modo sermonem suum circumferebat, ut nunc ingerendo læta, omnes sibi applaudere; et incontinenti tristitia, omnes pænè in suspiria et lacrimas cogeret. Ipse autem eodem vultu et animo perseverans, sanam doctrinam, et eum, qui secundum Deum est, fidelem sermonem depromebat, et in docendo irreprehensibilis erat, ea quidem docens quæ Spiritus Sanctus per apostolos et apostolicos expositores ecclesiæ suæ immobiliter tenenda tradiderat. Præterea concordabat vita cum lingua, actio cum sermone; et sic in sacrificio Dei os turturis ad ascellas retorquebat, ne aliis prædicans, ipse reprobis inveniretur.

Hinc vehemens stupor apprehendit omnes, et de novitate surgentis fabricæ et de novi operis fundatore. Quis enim crederet ipsum locum tam repentinâ munditione purgandum? et ibi adorandæ crucis erigi insignia, ubi aliquando stabant horrenda latronum suspendia? Quis non stuperet ibi unicum pietatis construi ædificium, quod tutum esset ad se confugientibus asilum, ubi quondam communis officina dampnatorum et generalis indicta erat pœna miserorum? Quis non admiraretur ibi dominici corporis et sacrosancti sanguinis frequentari mysterium, ubi noxiorum ante fundebatur sanguis hominum? Cujus cor facilè susciperet hujusmodi hominem, nec superbi sanguinis generositate conspicuum, nec humanarum aut divinarum scientia litterarum satis præditum, tam egregium atque magnificum opus tam prudenter incipere, et incœptum tam foelici progressu de die in diem proficere? Hæc est mutatio dexteræ excelsi. Tua sunt hæc, Christe, opera, qui excellenti virtute et singulari pietate de inmundis munda facis, infirma mundi eligis ut confundas fortia, et vocas ea quæ non sunt tanquam ea quæ sunt, qui Golgotha locum publicæ abominationis sanctuarium fecisti orationis, et solemne signum devotionis.

De Simultatibus adversariæ Partis, et Privilegiis Ecclesiæ.

PROCEDENTE itaque tempore, clerici sub regulari institutione victuri, ibidem in brevi adunati sunt, Rahero prioratus officium et curam optinente, et necessaria illis non quidem ex certis redditibus, sed ex fidelium oblationibus habundanter administrante. Nec diu ecce timor quem timebat evenit ei, et quod verebatur accidit ei, factusque est aliis odor vitæ in vitam, aliis odor mortis in mortem. Quidam enim dicebant, quia seductor est. Quia ergo in sagena magni piscatoris mali pisces bonis admixti sunt ante horam ultimæ discretionis: domestici ejus facti sunt inimici ejus, et insurrexerunt contra eum viri iniqui, sed mentita est iniquitas sibi. Igitur stimulante invidiâ, plures clam multi etiam palam in virum Dei sævire, et loco ipsique loci prælato derogare non cessabant, calumnias inferre, minis terrere, bona quæ poterant eripere, urgere nequiciis, fatigare injuriis, lacescere opprobriis, simulatis circumvenire amicitiiis.

Horum quidam in tam audacem insaniam et insanam proruperunt audaciam, ut iniquæ conspirationis fœdus secum inirent, quo statuto die et loco virum Dei dolo et astucia circumventum ad consilium suum ascirent, et præsentem e vestigio vitæ subducerent, sicque memoriam ejus omnino de terra delerent. Sed non est sapientia, non est scientia, non est consilium ante Dominum, in quo ipse jactabat cogitatum suum et ipsum cum apostolo suo ponebat brachium suum. Qui ergo erat spes ejus, factus est fortitudo ejus, et pro eo expugnavit inimicos ejus. Interea cum dies innocentis exicio deputata expectatur, quidam eorum tantæ impietatis particeps et conscius exhorrescens inauditum facinus, ante horam imminentis periculi, servo Dei totius ex ordine patefecit summam consilii. Ille ad hæc Deo et patrono suo gratias egit, quod eum nec secreta inimicorum suorum latuerint, et beneficio pietatis suæ mortem sibi paratam evaserit.

Hiis atque hujusmodi causis emergentibus, iteratò regem adiit, quo modo falsis contumeliis deformatus sit, quidque erupcio fastidiosa temptaverit, lamentabili conquestione prosecutus est; et ut personam suam locumque regali munificencia sibi præstitum tueri dignaretur precatus est. Suggestit etiam illi, quod nullam a Deo mercedem expectet, qui bonum opus inchoaverit et cœptum debito fine non consummaverit. Undè pro visceribus misericordiæ Christi de quibus confidebat, pro dignitate qua pollebat, pro potestate qua eminebat, desolatis sinum pietatis aperiret, Deum in servis suis honoraret, oblatrantem perfidorum insaniam coherceret, sicque bonis iniciis meliores subjungens exitus, domum sibi æternam construeret in cœlis, dum domum Dei veneretur in terris. Rex itaque prudenciam viri constanciamque admiratus, justis et necessariis petitionibus se annuere respondit, et quod deinceps tutor ac defensor sui suorumque foret sponndit. Igitur ecclesiam cum omnibus pertinentiis suis eisdem libertatibus quibus et coronam suam vel aliquam ecclesiam, quæ in tota Anglia magis libera est donavit, consuetudinesque relaxavit; et ab omni terrena servitute, potestate, subjectione immunem esse decrevit, acerrimamque in malignantes sententiam dictavit.

Hæc et multa alia libertatum insignia priori et sub eo militantibus et præfatae ecclesiæ concessit, et cartâ suâ cum sigillo confirmavit; adjurans etiam omnes hæredes et successores suos in nomine Sanctæ Trinitatis, ut hunc sacrum regia autoritate manutenerent et defenderent, et libertates à se concessas concederent et confirmarent. Tali munitus privilegio à facie regis lætus egreditur. Et veniens ad suos quid à regia majestate consecutus sit aliis insinuat, ut sibi congratulentur, aliis ut terreantur. Proposuerat eciam idem vir venerabilis apud sedem apostolicam, calamitatum suarum querelam deponere, et divina opitulante gratia, ab eadem scripta sibi et posteris profutura referre. Sed variis hinc et inde suborientibus impedimentis, tandemque impendente mortis articulo, quod voluit, implere non potuit, sicque solius bonæ voluntatis laudem promeruit.

Post cujus decessum tres de eadem congregacione viri, quorum memoria in benedictione sit, singuli singulos Romanæ sedis præsules adierunt, et tribus inde relatis trium pontificum, videlicet et sanctorum Anastasii, Adriani, Alexandri privilegiis, ecclesiam ipsam hac triplici dote insignem et tanquam impenetrabili scuto contra omnes hostiles impetus munitam reddiderunt. Ecce beatissimi regis et confessoris Edwardi propheta tanto ante tempore de hoc loco prædicta, jam nunc ex magna parte cernitur impleta. Ecce enim multiplici decore præfulget hæc sacrosancto et Deo dilecta ecclesia superno prædicta et fundata oraculo, plurimis clarissimorum virorum privilegiis sublimata, atque ad cumulum laudis et gloriæ, multis sanctorum reliquiis dotata et frequentissimis celestium virtutum signis decorata.

IN nomine sanctæ et individuæ Trinitatis, Patris et Filii, et Spiritus Sancti, ego Henricus rex Anglorum W. Cantuariæ archiepiscopo, et G. Londoniensi episcopo, et omnibus episcopis et abbatibus et comitibus, baronibus, justiciariis, vicecomitibus, ministris, et omnibus hominibus et fidelibus suis, et civibus Londoniæ salutem. Sciatis me concessisse et hac cartâ meâ confirmâsse ecclesiæ beati Bartholomæi de Londoniis, et Raherio priori et canonicis regularibus in eadem ecclesiâ Deo servientibus, et pauperibus hospitalis ejusdem ecclesiæ, quod sint liberi ab omni terrenâ servitute, et terrenâ potestate et subjectione, præter episcopales consuetudines; videlicet tantum consecrationem ecclesiæ, baptismum, et ordinationem clericorum; ut sicut aliqua ecclesia in tota Anglia magis est libera, sic et hæc ecclesia libera, et omnes terræ ad eam pertinentes quas nunc habet, vel quas rationabiliter acquirere poterit Raherus prior vel canonici, sive emptione sive dono: et habeat soccam et sacam, et thol, et theam et infogheneteof, et omnes libertates et liberas consuetudines et quietudines in omnibus, quæ ad eandem ecclesiam pertinent, in bosco et plano, in pratis et pasturis, in aquis et molendinis, in viis et semitis, in stagnis et vivariis, et mariscis et piscariis, et grangiis et virgultis, infra burgum et extra, et in omnibus locis nunc et in perpetuum.

Hanc autem ecclesiam, cum omnibus quæ ad eam pertinent, sciatis me velle manutenere et defendere, et liberam esse sicut coronam meam, et accepisse in manu mea in defensione contra omnes homines, quamobrem concedo Raherio priori et eidem ecclesiæ in omni jure suo et possessione sua, pacis fracturam, et pugnam in domo factam, et domus vel curiæ invasionem, et omnes assultus, et omnia forefacta, in suo jure facta; et forestal, et flemenefermdeth, in via et extra, in festo et extra, in urbe et extra. Causarum etiam discussiones habeat, et jura causarum de omni placito quod in terra sua evenerit; et omnes consuetudines, sive in ecclesiasticis, sive in secularibus, tam plenè et liberè sicut ego haberem si essent de meo dominio et mensa. Relaxo etiam et quietos clamo Raherum priorem et præfatam ecclesiam, et omnes pertinentes ad eam, de syra et hundredo, de placitis et querelis et murdris, et scutagio, et geldis et danegeldis, et lydagiis, et sartis, et assisis; et operationibus et fractionibus castellorum, vel restructione castrorum seu pontium, de parcis claudendis, de lignis, vel aliis rebus transvehendis, de ferdwita et hengwita, de wardpani, et averpani; de blodwite, et fictwite, et childwite, et hundredespani, et thethinepani, et de muthbryche, et mischennige, et schewinge, et de fridsocne, et westgeiltheof, et de wardwithc, et de utlewe, et forvenge, et withfange. Et sint quieti in omni terra mea de omni theloneo, passagio, et pontagio, et lestagio, et stallagio, et omni seculari servicio in terra et in aqua, et in portibus maris, ita ut nullis graventur oneribus expeditionum, vel occasionibus, vel auxiliis vicecomitum, vel præpositorum hundredi, vel pontificalium ministrorum.

Prohibeo etiam, regiâ autoritate, ne aliquis hominum, sive minister meus, sive alius, in tota terra mea sit molestus Rahero priori, aut præfatæ ecclesiæ de aliquibus quæ illius sint, neque se intromittat absque consensu prioris vel fratrum; clericorum vel laicorum nemo illius loci dominium usurpare præsumat. Confirmo etiam omnia privilegia et donationes et cartas vel quas habet, vel quas habitura est à regibus, à pontificibus, vel à quibuscunque fidelibus, et quæcunque scriptis vel testimoniis bonorum rememorari et probari poterunt eidem ecclesiæ justè concessa vel acquisita, nullus ex his subtrahere aut disperdere qualibet occasione, calumpnia, judicio, aut potestate præsumat.

Post obitum verò Raheri prioris, ex eadem congregatione eligatur prior, qui dignus sit: aliorum autem nullus eligatur exactione, sive pontificum, sive principum, nisi manifestis criminibus accusantibus, inibi aliquis qui tali officio dignus sit fungi nequiverit inveniri: quod si evenerit, quod absit, potestatem habeant de alio noto et familiari loco priorem eligendi. Possessiones verò, quæ ibi à quibuscunque donatæ fuerint vel emptæ, sine consensu capituli ab ecclesia separatæ, vel ad parvum servicium redactæ, nostro regali privilegio et auctoritate revocentur, et regum munimine locus ille perpetuò tueatur. Ipseque prior soli regi serviens, commissum sibi gregem, spirituali et temporali pastu habundanter foveat. Do etiam meam firmam pacem advenientibus ad feriam quæ solet ad festum beati Bartholomæi in loco illo frequentari, et indè redeuntibus; et præcipio ne aliquis regalium ministrorum eos in placitum mittat, vel sine consensu canonicorum, in illo triduo; scil. in vigilia ipsius festi, et ipso die et sequenti, ab advenientibus consuetudines exigat. Hanc autem ecclesiam sciat omnis populus tocius regni mei, ita me manutenere et defendere, quemadmodum coronam meam: quod si quis huic nostro regali privilegio in aliquo contraire præsumpserit; vel priorem, canonicos, clericos, laicosve ipsius loci offenderit, ipse et omnes sui, et omnia quæ habet in jus regale deveniant.

Hæc autem omnia præfatæ ecclesiæ imperpetuum concessi, pro amore Dei et salute meâ et hæredum meorum, et pro animabus antecessorum meorum: adjuro igitur omnes hæredes et successores meos, in nomine S. Trinitatis, ut hunc sacrum locum regia auctoritate manuteneant et defendant, et libertates à me sibi concessas concedant et confirmant. Hujus autem meæ concessionis testes sunt Henricus episcopus Wintoniæ; Rogerius episcopus Salesbiriæ, Bernardus episcopus de S. WILLIAM HOLME, 4th Dec. 1516. He was the last Prior.^a Willis in a MS. Note to his Mitred Abbies dates Holme's election in 1526.

The Earl of Rutland, as the descendant of the Founder, was the Patron of this Monastery at the time of the Dissolution; and to him the Site was granted, with various lands belonging to the House in Yorkshire and Lincolnshire, by two separate Deeds, one dated Sept. 2d, 28 Hen. VIII., the other March 8th, 32 Hen. VIII.^b

Dugdale has made copious extracts from the REGISTER of Wartre, now in the Bodleian Library.^c

Tong's Visitation of the North in 1530 gives the following as the ARMS of this Abbey. G. 3 water-bougets A. Over all a Pastoral Staff in pale Or. Another account says Gu. 3 water-bougets in pale Ar. Over all a Cross Or.

The Revenues of Wartre amounted in the 26th Hen.

VIII. in the gross income to 221*l.* 3*s.* 10*d.* The clear receipts amounted to 143*l.* 7*s.* 8*d.* per annum. About the time of the Dissolution here were ten Canons.

There are no Ministers' Accompts of this Priory extant in the Augmentation Office, by reason of the entire possessions which belonged to it having been granted in the 28th year of Hen. VIII. to Thomas Earl of Rutland and the heirs of his body lawfully begotten; so that there was no time for returning into the Court of Augmentation the annual accmpt. The reversion of these premises was granted four years afterwards (32 Hen. VIII.) to the same Earl in fee.

No Impression of any SEAL of this Priory has been met with. Warter is five miles from Pocklington, in the East Riding of the County of York; there are no remains of the Priory. Warter Hall is the Seat of Lord Muncaster.

Iste Johannes Thorpe prior 11. emit capitale mesuagium ejusdem villæ cum XXVIII. bovatis terræ in campo illius de domino Willielmo de Ros filio Roberti; et quicquid habuit in villa seu in campo Wartriæ, excepto dominio feodi militaris et religiosorum; reddendo annuatim prædicto domino et hæredibus suis xx. l. prosequente negotium perpetrationis illius in curia regis, Ricardo Welweke cellerario ejusdem domus.

Anno Domini M.CCCIX. iste Johannes Thorp, qui in prioratu Wartriæ per XXXIII. annos præfuerat, sponte cessit, cui Ricardus de Welwyk, canonicus ejusdem domus in eodem officio successit. Iste Ricardus Welwyk prior 12. in primo anno prioratus sui patronatus ecclesiæ de Bartun in Westmerland collatus fuit prioratui de Wartria per dominum Johannem de Lancastria; et postea dominus Johannes de Lancastria apud Karliolum appropriavit ecclesiam prædictam domui Wartriæ. Hiis temporibus nundinæ, quæ apud Wartriam extiterant à tempore Roberti de Lunde, prioris Wartriæ, prohibitæ sunt per dominum regem Edwardum Carnarvon et cunctos majores regni in Eboraco, sub pœna amissionis omnium bonorum ibi inventorum, propter crebras verberationes atque occisiones hominum in eis factas. Anno Domini M.CCC.XXVIII. manerium de Holthorp emptum fuit à domino Johanne Bartun per Ricardum Wellwyk priorem Wartriæ. Iste Ricardus Wellwyk stetit in prioratu suo XLIII. annis et cessit præ nimia senectute. Tunc electus fuit in priorem domus Wartriæ Robertus Balne; et iste fuit prior 13. et rexit III. annis et cessit. Tunc electus fuit in priorem Willielmus Feryby prior 14. Iste emit dominium gillæ de Gildhonsdale cum omnibus pertinentiis à domino Johanne Bentley, rectore ecclesiæ de Scheffelde in comitatu Canciæ, et multa alia bona fecit in prioratu suo, et cum rexisset XVI. annis obiit; et electus est in priorem Henricus Holme. Iste fuit prior 15. et cum rexisset tribus annis obiit. Et electus est Johannes Hemyngburgh in priorem. Iste fuit prior 16. et rexit prima vice anno et dimidio, et cessit, et iterum electus fuit, et tunc rexit II. annis et dimidio et obiit.

Tunc electus fuit Willielmus Tynyngton prior 17. Iste Willielmus fuit à domino archiepiscopo Eboracensi propter certas causas depositus, postquam rexisset IV. annis de domo expulsus, et electus fuit in priorem Robertus Takel. Iste Robertus fuit prior 18. bonus et religiosus, et multa bona fecit in tempore suo, et cum rexisset XVII. annis cessit. Et electus est Thomas Rulande in priorem. Iste Thomas fuit prior 19. In tempore suo alienatum fuit croftum S. Ægidii in Beverlaco pro sexaginta libris, communitati villæ Beverlaci, et postquam rexit X. annis VII. mensibus et cessit, et electus est in priorem Willielmus Wartre. Iste Willielmus fuit prior 20. et cum rexisset XXV. annis obiit, et electus est in priorem Robertus Hedon. Iste Robertus fuit prior 21. et in tempore suo, videlicet anno IV. præsentavit Willielmum Spenser cellarium de Wartria, ad vicariam de Barton in Westmorland; et postquam rexisset VIII. annis et IX. mensibus, præ nimia senectute cessit et electus est in priorem Willielmus York. Iste Willielmus fuit prior 22. et postquam rexisset IV. annis cessit, et electus est in priorem Willielmus Spenser.

INNOCENTIUS episcopus, servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis priori monasterii S. Jacobi de Wartria ejusdem fratibus, tam presentibus quàm futuris, regularem vitam professis. In primis religiosam vitam eligentibus apostolicum convenit adesse præsidium, ne fortè cujuslibet temeritatis incursus aut eos à proposito revocet, aut robur, quod absit, sacræ religionis infringat. Eapropter dilecti in Domino filii vestris justis postulationibus clementer annuimus, et ecclesiam S. Jacobi de Wartria Eboracensis diocesis, in qua divino estis obsequio mancipati sub beati Petri et nostra protectione suscipimus, et præsentis scripti privilegio communimus. In primis siquidem statuentes, ut ordo canonicus qui secundum Deum et beati Augustini regulam, in eodem loco institutus esse dinoscitur, perpetuis ibidem temporibus inviolabiliter observetur. Præterea quascumque possessiones, quæcumque bona eadem ecclesia justè ac canonicè possidet, aut in futurum concessione pontificum, largitione regum vel principum, oblatione fidelium, seu aliis justis modis, præstante Domino, poterit adipisci, firma vobis vestrisque successoribus et illibata permaneant; in quibus hæc propriis duximus exprimenda vocabulis.

Locum ipsum in quo præfata ecclesia sita est, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis. Ecclesiam de Brunum, cum capella de Torp, et omnibus pertinentiis suis de Ascun et de Clifton. Ecclesias Carleolensis diocesis, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis. Ecclesiam de Setona, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis. Partem decimarum, quam habetis in ecclesia de Barton, Carliolensis diocesis. Partem decimarum quam habetis in ecclesia de Ulsebi. Quicquid habetis in ecclesia de Helton, Lincolniensis diocesis; et in ecclesia de Lund, et in ecclesia de Queldric, Eboracensis diocesis. Grangiam quam habetis in prædicto loco de Queldric, cum pratis, pascuis, piscariis, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis. Grangiam de Seton, cum terris, pratis, nemoribus, pascuis, piscariis, et omnibus pertinentiis suis. Grangiam de Brunneby, cum terris, pratis, pascuis, et omnibus aliis pertinentiis suis. Ex dono Radulfi dicti Bardolf iv. bovatas terræ, cum toftis et croftis, pratis, pascuis, et omnibus aliis pertinentiis suis. In villa de Farmanby, cum pratis, terris, nemoribus, usuagiis, pascuis, in bosco et plano, in aquis et molendinis, in viis et semitis et omnibus aliis libertatibus et immunitatibus suis. Sane novallium vestrorum, quæ propriis manibus aut sumptibus colitis, sive de vestrorum animalium nutrimentis, de quibus decimas aliquis hactenus non percepit, nullus à vobis decimas exigere vel extorquere præsumat.

Liceat quoque vobis clericos vel laycos liberos et absolutos è seculo fugientes, ad conversionem recipere, et eos absque contradictione aliqua retinere. Prohibemus insuper ut nulli fratrum vestrorum post factam in ecclesia vestra professionem fas sit sine prioris sui licentia, nisi artioris religionis obtentu, de eodem loco discedere; discedentem verò absque communium literarum nostrarum cautione nullus audeat retinere. Crisma vero, oleum sanctum, consecrationes altarium seu basilicarum, ordinationes clericorum, qui ad ordines fuerint promovendi à diocesanis suscipietis episcopo, siquidem catholicus fuerit et gratiam et communionem sacrosanctæ sedis habuerit, et ea vobis voluerit sine pravitate aliqua exhibere. Cum autem generale interdictum terræ fuerit, liceat vobis clausis januis, excommunicatis et interdictis exclusis, non pulsatis campanis, dummodo causam non dederitis interdicto, suppressa voce divina celebrare. Prohibemus insuper ut infra fines parochiæ vestræ nullus sine assensu diocesanis episcopi et vestro cappellani seu oratorum de novo construere audeat, salvo privilegio pontificum Romanorum. Ad hæc novas et indebitas exactiones ab archiepiscopis, episcopis, archidiaconis, seu decanis aliisque omnibus ecclesiasticis secularibusve personis à vobis omnino fieri prohibemus; sepulturam quoque ipsius loci liberam esse decernimus, ut eorum devotioni et extremæ voluntati, qui se illic sepeliri deliberaverint, nisi fortè excommunicati vel interdicti sint, aut etiam publicè usurarii, nullus obsistat. Salva tamen justitia illarum ecclesiarum à quibus mortuorum corpora assumantur.

Decimas præterea et possessiones ad jus ecclesiarum vestrarum spectantes, quæ à laicis detinentur redimendi et legitime liberandi de manibus eorum, et ad ecclesias ad quas pertinent revocandi libera sit vobis de nostra auctoritate facultas. Obeunte verò te nunc ejusdem loci priore vel tuorum quolibet successorum, nullus ibi qualibet surreptionis astutia seu violentia præponatur, nisi quem fratres communi consensu, vel major pars consilii sanioris secundum Deum et beati Augustini regulam providerint eligendum, paci quoque et tranquillitati vestræ paterna in posterum solitudine providere volentes, auctoritate apostolica prohibemus, ut infra clausuras locorum seu grangiarum vestrarum nullus rapinam seu furtum facere, ignem apponere, sanguinem fundere, hominem temerè capere vel interficere, seu violentiam audeat exercere.

Præterea omnes libertates et immunitates à prædecessoribus nostris Romanis pontificibus ordini vestro concessas, necnon libertates et exemptiones secularium exactionum à regibus et principibus vel aliis fidelibus inviolabiliter vobis indultas auctoritate apostolica confirmamus, et præsentis scripti privilegio communimus. Decernimus ergo ut nulli omnino hominum liceat præfatam ecclesiam temere perturbare, aut ejus possessiones auferre vel ablatas retinere, minuere, seu quibuslibet vexationibus fatigare, sed ea omnia integra conserventur, eorum, pro quorum gubernatione et sustentatione concessa sunt usibus omnimodis profutura; salva sedis apostolicæ auctoritate et diocessanorum episcoporum canonica justitia, et in supradictis decimis moderatione concilii generalis. Si qua igitur in futurum ecclesiastica secularisve persona, hanc nostræ constitutionis paginam sciens, contra eam temere venire temptaverit, secundo tertiove commonita, nisi reatum suum congrua satisfactione correxerit, potestatis honorisque sui careat dignitate, reamque se divino iudicio existere de perpetrata iniquitate cognoscat, et à sacratissimo corpore et sanguine Dei et Domini redemptoris nostri Jesu Christi aliena fiat, in extremo examine districtæ subiaceat ultioni. Cunctis autem loco sua jura servantibus sit pax Domini nostri Jesu Christi, quatinus et hic fructum bonæ actionis præcipiant, et apud districtum Judicem præmia æternæ pacis inveniant, Amen. Data Lugduni per manum magistri Marini sanctæ Romanæ ecclesiæ vicecancellarii v. idus Junii indictione iii. incarnationis dominicæ anno m.c.c. quadragesimo v. pontificatus verò domini Innocencii papæ iv. anno secundo.

DECANATUS DE HARTHILL.

Twinham or Christ Church Priory, in Hampshire.

IN the Church of Christ or the Holy Trinity here, says Tanner, was a Dean and twenty-four Secular Canons in the time of King Edward the Confessor, who continued after the Conquest, their College being new built by Ranulph Flambard bishop of Durham, sometime Dean here, and much encreased in revenue by the elder Richard de Redvers earl of Devon, temp. Hen. I.; but Earl Baldwin, son to the said Richard, about A.D. 1150, procured that the Seculars should be changed into Regular Canons of the Order of St. Austin. In a note, Tanner says, This House was reckoned among those of the Premonstratensian Order in the famous charter, 22 Edw. I.

The REGISTER of this House, which Dugdale saw and copied from, was lost in the Cottonian fire of 1731. The Excerpts from it in the Cottonian MS. Claud. A. viii. 13, which still remain, consist of five pages only, and are of little consequence.^a

JOHN DRAPER, elected Jan. 31st, 1520.

The yearly revenues of Twinham in the 26th Hen. VIII. amounted in the total to 544*l.* 6*s.*: the net income to 312*l.* 7*s.* 0¼*d.*^b At the Dissolution, says Tanner, here were at least eighteen canons, beside the prior, who was John Draper, suffragan bishop of Neopolyton, for so many were pensioned. Draper had a pension of 133*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* per annum allowed him.

The Site was granted in the 32 Hen. VIII. to Stephen Kirton and Margaret his wife, to hold by the service of the 40th part of a knight's fee, and the rent of 31*s.* 6½*d.*; and in the ensuing year to the churchwardens and inhabitants of the town, in whom it still continues.

An Impression of the COMMON SEAL of this Priory to a Deed without date, but probably as old as the twelfth century, is round, and represents a very ancient Church, with this Legend, SIGILLV . ECCLÆSIE . TRINITATIS . D' . TWINHAM. The Deed is in the Office of the Duchy of Lancaster.

There are various remains of the conventual buildings of Twinham still in existence; and the Priory Church is a structure of no ordinary interest to the antiquary. A very minute account of it, with its dimensions, will be found in the Beauties of England and Wales for Hampshire.

Historia Foundationis.

ANNO ab incarnatione Domini m.xlii. Edwardus filius Edelredi suscepit regnum Angliæ, mansitque in eo annis xxiii. non plenis. Quod in tempore hujus exstiterunt canonici seculares in Ecclesia Christi de Twynham declarari potest per le Domesday London. Mortuo rege Edwardo tumultatus est apud Westmonasterium. Et Haroldus post Edwardum regnavit aliquot mensibus.

Anno dominicæ incarnationis m.lxvi. Willielmus comes Normanniæ, cognatus regis Edwardi prædicti, qui tumultatus est apud Westmonasterium, venit in Angliam, et pugnando Haroldum devicit, et Angliam adquisivit, et regnavit xxi. annis. Quo mortuo successit ei Willielmus filius ejus, qui dicitur Rufus, qui regnavit xiii. annis; qui quidem anno regni sui septimo, transfretavit in Normanniam, et regnum commisit Walkelino episcopo Wintoniæ, et Randulpho Flammar Dunelmensi episcopo; qui Randulphus antea fuerat decanus in Ecclesia Christi de Twynham, cujus tempore et ante ecclesiæ de Bolre, Brokenhurst, et Hordhull pertinebant ad Ecclesiam Christi de Twynham, et canonicos seculares ibidem existentes. Prædictus Willielmus rex xxx. ecclesias prostravit, et cimiteria redegit in pascua in Nova Foresta. Idem rex anno regni sui xiii. in eadem Nova Foresta venando, interfectus est. Quo mortuo, Henricus frater ejus successit et regnavit xxvi. annos. Cui successit rex Stephanus, nepos ejusdem Henrici senioris. Quo regnante introducti sunt canonici regulares in hanc Christi Ecclesiam.

Relatu antiquorum orthodoxorum patrum, avorum, attavorum, tam clericorum quàm laicorum suis successoribus, de ecclesia Sanctæ Trinitatis, quæ sita est in villa quæ vocatur Twynham, et de conventu ejusdem ecclesiæ, hujusmodi, verba traduntur verissima. Tempore enim Willielmi Rufi in Anglia regnantis, præfuit quidam clericus nomine Godricus præfatæ ecclesiæ de Twynham, vitâ et honestate præclarus, cum xxiiii. canonicis more suo horas noctis et totius diei cotidie summo complentibus diluculo. Hunc etenim Godricum sui tunc temporis clerici, non pro decano, quasi nominis ignorantes, sed pro seniore et patrono venerabantur. Horum verò canonicorum talis ecclesiastica erat consuetudo, quatinus ejusdem Godrici senioris oblationes missæ matutinalis et magnæ missæ undecunque allatæ propriæ absque alicujus forent participatione; cæteras equidem oblationes, ante missas et infra, et usque ad vespervas illatas, æquanimitè inter se dividunt. Similiter et terris ecclesiæ adjacentibus, scilicet Herna, Buretona, Prestona, sub divisione participarentur. Præterea, canonicus missam quilibet celebrans omnimodas ejusdem missæ oblationes post cappæ suæ oblationem, quousque eam indueret, sine alicujus haberet communionem huc accedente fortuna. Randulphus episcopus hanc ecclesiam, cum villa, à rege Willielmo impetravit. Cui quoniam ibidem Deus in multis multa operabatur miracula, gazas multimodas et sanctorum reliquias contulit præciosas. Tandem idem cupiens et disponens episcopus Randulphus præfatam Sanctæ Trinitatis ecclesiam de Twynham funditè eruere, et meliorem, decentioremque cuilibet ædificare religioni, Godricum ejusdem loci seniore, et totum in hiis convenit verbis conventum, ut ei ad futuræ perfectionem ecclesiæ oblationes tantummodo ecclesiasticas peregrinorum, et totius parochiæ, tam vivorum quam mortuorum, concederent, exceptis illis quæ cibi essent, atque potus, et suis terris forensibus quousque eis ecclesiam plenam et perfectam et Deo dicatam cum oblationibus receptis redderet. Interim verò eis victum inveniret insuper sufficientem, cujus voluntati et dispensationi cuncti obsecundaverunt canonici; Godrico tamen seniore obviante protervè et tam diu contradicente quousque ab ecclesia defugatum, et per Angliam vexatum, nec regis, nec episcopi sui gratiam et auxilium in hoc impetrantem. Sed redeundo pontificis Randulphi miserecordiam exhorantem in pristinum inter canonicos de sub se idem ut fuit ante antistes constituit locum. Fregit verò episcopus illius loci primitivam ecclesiam, novemque alias quæ infra cimiterium steterant, cum quorundam domibus canonicorum propè locum ecclesiæ cimiterii, et officinarum compenciorem faciendum et canonicis in villa congruum immutationem ut dominus adaptavit locum.

Fundavit equidem hanc ecclesiam episcopus Randulphus, quæ nunc est apud Twynham, et domos et officinas cuilibet religioni. Obeunte canonicorum aliquo, ejus beneficium in sua retinebat potestate, nulli tribuens alii volens unamquamque dare præbendam religioni, si eos omnes mortis fortuna in suo tulisset tempore. Obiit ergo verò Godricus senior, non multo tempore post elapso simul et decem ex conventu canonici, quorum præbendas ipsis xiii. remanentibus ad sui victus supplementum vita illorum superstitè concessit episcopus. Denique migrante Willielmo Anglorum rege Henricus frater ejus successit in regnum, ipsumque Randulphum episcopum, graviter à multis sibi accusatum cepit; captumque apud Londonias in carcerem detrusit, ejusque ecclesiam S. Trinitatis de Twynham, priùs omnibus gazis intus ab episcopo illatis, vi et violentia spoliavit, ipsamque ab inde cuidam clerico, Gilleberto de Dousgunels nuncupato, solam et solitariam omnibusque canonicis quinque exceptis, morte irruente deliberatam, in elemosinam dedit perpetuam. Suscepit igitur Gilbertus in perfectam ecclesiam canonicorum salva libertate et omni suo jure, tam in victu à Randulpho pontifice constituto, quàm in elemosinis cibi atque potus; et terris forensibus cœptum opus imperfectæ peragebat ecclesiæ. Tandem verò quoniam situm loci cum ecclesia jam surgente competens viderat, et idoneum religioni faciendæ, communi illorum quinque canonicorum assensu, Romam petiit, ut gratia domini papæ et licentia et privilegio, honoris et dignitatis ecclesiæ accepto ibidem canonicum poneret ordinem; sed in redeundo migravit à seculo.

Interea Ricardus senior de Redvers dominationi ecclesiæ et totius provinciæ à rege adeptus Henrico, præfatæ ecclesiæ de Twynham quendam clericum de Oglandres nomine Petrum constituit, qui salva canonicorum conditione et jure, secundum Randulphi episcopi et Gilleberti constitutionem prædecessorum, supradictam suscepit ecclesiam regendam et perficiendam. Dedit enim illi ecclesiæ Ricardus de Redvers ad sui augmentum et canonicorum, quandam terram in insula^a quæ vocatur Ningweda. Dedit etiam quidam ejus baronum aliam terram, nomine Absam. Dederunt et parochiani omnes suas decimas, prout Gilbertus constituit. Ipse enim Gilbertus, diurnum, ut nunc, et nocturnum complens servicium, ordinavit conventum. Præscriptus igitur Petrus, sinistra imbutus ambitione, proh dolor! universa operi ecclesiæ, more antiquorum et canonicis quinque inventis pro oblationibus ad ecclesiæ perfectionem commodatis promissa subtraxit, sibi suisque clericis secum adductis mensam curialem vita ejus concedendo superstitè in suos et illorum transferendo usus, non canonicè sed potestativè distribuit. Hujus rei gratia, obeunte eodem Petro, mensam prælocutam idem clerici adventicii, aliis consortio et consilio expulsis, inter se occupaverunt et oblationes operi ecclesiæ constitutas astutè subripientes, singulis alteri testimonium quasi rei ratæ perhibentibus, et à decano concessæ et confirmatæ.

Hactenus in alterius regnum militaverunt. Hæc ita gesta sequens Radulphus indiscussa, et indeterminata, et sub judicii futuri examine posita, more tamen boni prælati, quam plures tegens officinas cum parte ecclesiæ, cum vita reliquit. Successit Hillarius Wyntoniensis episcopi clericus, vitæ humilitatisque honestate præclarus, qui etiam prælibatam in melius transferre cupiens, superna providente gratia Romam ductus, et domini papæ electione apud Cicestriam pontificali

Fundatoris Progenies.

[Ex alio cod. MS. in bibl. Cotton. (sub effigie Vitellii F. VIII. fol. 104 b.)]

HENRICUS rex, qui secundus regnavit in Anglia post Willielmum bastardum patrem suum, fecit quendam Ricardum de Redvers comitem Devonix, et dedit ei insulam de Wight, et ei hæreditario jure hujus villæ totum contulit feudum, cum hac Christi Ecclesia. Postea dictus Ricardus dedit eandem Christi Ecclesiam cuidam clerico suo, Petro de Oglandes, cum omnibus libertatibus quas Randulfus Flammard fundator hujus ecclesiæ, quæ nunc stat, et Gilbertus decanus habuerunt, cum omnibus præbendis, terris, et ecclesiis, et eorum pertinentiis, et fecit eum decanum hujus ecclesiæ. Idem Ricardus de Radvers comes Devonix genuit primum Baldewinum comitem Devonix, Willielmum et Robertum de Sanctæ Mariæ ecclesia, et Hadwysam de Rumara comitissam Lincolnix, ex Adeliza comitissa uxore sua. Baldwinus de Redvers comes Devonix genuit secundum Ricardum comitem Devonix, Willielmum de Redvers dictum Vernon, Henricum, et Hadewisam de Redvers, ex Lucia comitissa uxore sua. Ricardus de Redvers secundus comes Devonix genuit secundum Baldewinum comitem Devonix, et Ricardum de Redvers tertium comitem Devonix, ex Dionisia comitissa uxore sua.

Qui Baldwinus et Ricardus mortui sunt sine hærede, quibus successit Willielmus de Redvers avunculus eorum. Qui Willielmus de Redveris, dictus Vernon comes Devonix, genuit tertium Baldewinum comitem Devonix, dominam Mariam uxorem Roberti Courteney, et dominam Johannem uxorem Willielmi de Bruere, ex Mabilia comitissa uxore sua. Baldwinus de Redvers tertius comes Devonix genuit quartum Baldewinum comitem Devonix, ex Margareta, comitissa uxore sua. Baldwinus de Redvers quartus comes Devonix genuit quintum Baldewinum comitem Devonix, et dominam Isabellam comitissam Albemarle de Fortibus ex Amicia comitissa uxore sua. Baldwinus de Redvers quintus genuit Johannem ex Margareta comitissa uxore sua; qui Johannes obiit infans. Post quorum decessum, videlicet Baldwini et Johannis filii sui, devenit hæreditas ad dominam Isabellam de Fortibus comitissam Devonix sororem et hæredem dicti Baldwini, quæ tandem decessit sine hærede. Willielmus de Redvers dictus Vernoun proavus dominæ Isabellæ de Fortibus, ut supra diximus, habuit duas filias, videlicet Mariam et dominam Johannam de Bruere, quæ Johanna obiit sine hærede longè ante mortem venerabilis Isabellæ; sed post mortem sæpèdictæ Isabellæ devenit tota hæreditas domini sui ad hæredes supradictæ Mariæ et domini Roberti de Curtenay viri sui, qui habuerunt filium nomine Johannem; qui Johannes genuit Hugonem de Curtenay primum. Hugo de Curtenay primus genuit Hugonem secundum, qui fuit primus comes Devonix. Hugo secundus genuit Hugonem tertium, comitem secundum Devonix; videlicet de illo sanguine et nomine.

[Ibid.]

NOTUM sit omnibus tam præsentibus et futuris, quod ego Ricardus de Redveriis comes Devonix, anno ab incarnatione Domini millesimo centesimo sexagesimo primo, concessi, et hæc cartam meam confirmavi regularibus canonicis Christi Ecclesiæ de Twinham, quos Baldwinus comes pater meus, et ego, inspirante Deo, per exhortationem venerabilis Henrici Wintoniensis episcopi, Deo servituros in eadem Christi Ecclesiam primò introduximus liberam electionem prioris faciendi, ut quem canonicè inter se elegerint, et episcopo Winton. meo meorumque hæredum assensu, præsentaverint, ipse absque contradictionem eidem Christi Ecclesiæ præficiatur. Concessi etiam eis ecclesias, decimas, cherses, homines, terras, tenementa, et omnia quæcunque sunt, et quæ una die secularium canonicorum fuerunt, vel esse poterunt super feudum meum post mortem ipsorum, omnia integrè in suos usus convertenda, de me et de hæredibus meis sibi et successoribus suis liberè et quietè perpetuo possidenda.

Manerium scilicet de Ningwode cum appendiciis suis; Presteton; terram de Hampstede; terram in Hampton; ecclesiam de Pideleton cum capellis, cæterisque pertinentiis. Præbendam quam habent in eadem villa ex antiquo; eccle-siam de Torleya cum adjacentiis. Manerium de Apsa; Deburne cum Rogero Maskerell; Huburne; Preston; la Grave; duas Hurnas; dimidiam hidam de Bostell; totas duas virgatas terræ citra pontem de Huver circumcirca, hinc inde usque in Stures, et cætera eorum omnia quæ habent et quæ habere poterunt super feudum meum. Decimam de theloneo de feria de Christeschirche. Decimam de Wrek quicquid illud sit cum super feudum meum in parochia eorum evenerit præter de Grespeiz, cujus sinistram noam habere debent. Primum annuatim salmonem; decimam tam salmonum quam omnium novalium rerum mearum intra villam et extra. Concessi etiam prædictis regularibus canonicis omnes libertates et omnes bonas consuetudines de me et de hæredibus meis perpetua libertate possidendas, quas decani secularium canonicorum unquam una die melius et liberius ante habuerunt; scilicet ut per totam terram meam sine redditione thelonei emant et vendant, et sint ipsi et homines eorum per totum feudum meum liberi et quieti ab omni exactione præter orationes, in bosco, in plano, in pratis, in pasturis, in brueria, in turberia, in viis, in semitis, in agris, in aquis, in molendinis, in piscationibus, in omnibus locis et in omnibus rebus quæ ad me et ad hæredes meos pertinent.

Præterea concessi eis ut homines eorum ad nullum hundredum, et ad nullum placitum veniant, nisi ad hundredum muredri vel homicidii. Et si fortè contingat homines eorum mihi vel hominibus meis in aliquo forisfacere, justitia inde sit mea, et hæredum meorum emendatio; et catalla sint prioris et canonicorum ex dono patris mei et meo. Si verò homines ecclesiæ de homicidio, vel latrocinio, vel aliquo scelere fuerint intercepti, plenariam curiam suam habeant, liberam et quietam ab omnibus schiris, placitis, quærelis, et causis, sicut decani canonicorum secularium unquam una die melius ante habere consueverunt, ut in curia sua tractentur et judicentur secundum rectum coram meis, meorumque successorum baillivis. In augmentum verò supradictorum prædictis canonicis dedi unum salmonem annuatim in anniversario patris mei, alterum in meo post mortem meam ad pitanciam, ut in anniversariis nostris inde recreati devociùs et festiniùs divina pro nobis celebrent obsequia. Hanc autem meam meique patris donationem et concessionem præsentem scripto et sigillo meo illis confirmavi, ut hæredibus meis stabilè et inconcussè permaneant. Testibus Henrico et Willielmo fratribus meis; Pagano Trenchard, et multis aliis.

Carta Henrici Wintoniensis Episcopi, Donatorum Concessionem recitans et confirmans.

[Ex vetusto exemplari in bibl. Cottonianâ.]

ANNO ab incarnatione Domini MCL^o. regnante rege Stephano, ego Henricus Dei gratiâ Wintoniensis ecclesiæ præsul, et Hillarius tunc temporis Christi Ecclesiæ decanus existens, petitione Baldewini comitis, et Ricardi filii ejus, ordinem canonicorum regularium in eadem Christi Ecclesiam introduximus, prioremque constituimus. Statuimus itaque, quatenus canonici, qui tunc erant in ipsâ ecclesiâ, et seculares vocabantur, quamdiu vixerint, solita stipendia præbendarum suarum habeant, sicut cum ut ea deserviant, et sicut antea decano, sic deinceps priori canonicorum regularium obediant. Obeuntibus vero ipsis, absque morâ, præbendæ eorum in usus canonicorum regularium cedant. Statuimus quoque de his qui tunc temporis personæ ecclesiarum, vel capellarum ad Christi Ecclesiam pertinentes erant, quantumquamdiu se legitimè continuerint possidebant, possidebunt: Obeuntibus autem et ipsis, nullus de parentelâ eorum tanquam per hæreditatem introducatur, sed fructus earum in usus canonicorum regularium redigantur; et ipsi canonici regulares provideant qui ecclesias vel capellas illas honestè deserviant; salvo jure præsulis Wintoniensis ecclesiæ.

Præterea constituimus quæcunque hactenus eidem ecclesiæ, largitione principum, vel aliorum canonicè concessa fuerint, vel in futurum canonicè adipisci poterit, præsentis scripti nostri munimine, inconcussa et inviolata permaneant; in quibus quæ ad nostram curam pertinent, propriis duximus exprimenda vocabulis: scilicet ecclesiam de Bolra, cum capellis suis de Brokeherst, de Lymetone, ecclesiam de Hordulle, et ecclesiam de Milneford, ecclesiam de Sopleyâ, et capellam de Holeherst; ecclesiam de Torleyâ quæ est in insula Vectæ: Libertates et omnes dignitates, quas eadem

Christi Ecclesia tempore decanorum habuerat, priori canonicorum regularium concessimus, et hac cartâ confirmavimus. Sepulturam quoque istius loci liberam esse decrevimus, ut eorum qui sub nostrâ curâ sunt, et se illic sepeliri deliberaverint, devotioni et extremæ voluntati, nisi fortè excommunicati, vel interdicti fuerint nullus obsistat: salvâ tamen justiciâ matricis ecclesiæ. Si quis autem huic constitutioni nostræ inobediens esse, obviare, pervertere, contraire, non parere temptaverit, iram omnipotentis Dei incurrat: Cunctis autem eandem Christi Ecclesiam amantibus, honorantibus, manutinentibus, sit pax, æterna salus ab ipso Domino nostro Jesu Christo, qui cum Patre et Spiritu Sancto vivit et regnat Deus per omnia secula seculorum, Amen.

Heringham, or Hardham Priory, in Sussex.

OF this small and obscure Priory the following interesting account is given in Dallaway's Western Sussex, vol. ii. p. 258.

This manor is called "Heriedeham"^a in Domesday book, belonging to Earl Roger Montgomeri, consisting of five hides of land, three fisheries, meadows, &c. It soon obtained the name of Hault Rey, and in the Norman reigns was given to John, who assumed the surname of Dehaul-trey, de Altâ Ripa, or Dawtrey, and there are reasons to conjecture by Josceline of Louvaine, to whom (as already cited) the Honor of Petworth was confirmed.^b In the reign of Hen. II. Sir William Dawtrey is said upon good evidence, to have founded at Heringham a small priory for Black Canons of the Order of St. Augustine, and to have endowed them with this and other manors; but from the burning of the original Charter, long before the dissolution of monasteries, this fact is rendered obscure. In the reign of Edward III. the establishment was so greatly augmented by Sir William Paynell, that he was considered as a second founder when the Charter was confirmed by Hen. IV. After the family of Goring had succeeded to the patronage of the Priory, they added certain benefactions. In 1472, HENRY COMBE was prior, and four monks only resided.^c

His immediate successor is not known, but in 1521, ROBERT PRYKELOWE held that office. No return is made of the value, either by Dugdale or Speed, and it is probable that none was taken when the site and possessions were granted to Sir William Goring, who enjoyed much influence in the Court of Henry the Eighth.

The Priory had an eligible site on the declivity of the Knoll beforementioned, rising above the river, and facing the south-east. Some of the original buildings may be still traced, although now applied to the purposes of a farm-house. The Chapel was small, with lancet windows, having rich moulding, of the architecture peculiar to the latter part of the thirteenth century; and under the refectory is a vault of plain ribbed arches. Several of the ornamental parts have been discovered and removed.

^b MSS. Archives in Cast. Arund. A Description of the High Stream of Arundel, 1624. "The Latin word 'ripa' was in Norman writings generally meant for a river, without relation to 'ripa' a bank. The Romans called it 'Haultrey.' There was an ancient family of Knights, owners of much lands in these parts, and of fair possessions, even in the very bosom of the 'High Stream' from which they took their name, and were called 'De haultrey,' which name remains to posterity to this day, being called Dawtrey, and in Latin 'De Altâ Ripâ.' The land which they had in the level of the parish of Hardham, or Heringham, is insulated almost clear round by the 'High Stream,' being near about seven miles in compass, all but a nicke or isthmus of some six furlongs long, whereby it joineth to the parish of Waltham. On the west part of this land of Hardham (lying altogether, No Man's land lying within it) did they found a house of Black Canons about Henry II's time. The Prior of Hardham being presentative to the Bishop of Chichester by the Founder and his Heirs, as appears by the leiger book of the said Bishop, their heir-general was married to the St. Johns, and from them it came by descent to Sir Henry Goring, Knt. that was of the bedchamber to King Henry VIII. and had a Grant of the Priory before the dissolution."

Plac. in Com. Sussex. 16 Edw. I. rot. 2. 33. Monast. Anglic. t. 2. p. 131. Pat. 1 Hen. IV. p. 6, m. 12. per inspex. recit. chartam R. Edw. III. confirm. donationem manerii de Cookham per W. Paynell ad inveniendum quatuor capellanos seculares celebratos in eccles. prioratûs de Heringham. Pat. 10 Edw. II. pro manerio de Cookham. Pat. 6 Edw. III. p. 1, m. 21. d. Cookham lies in the parish of Somp-ting.

Reg. Episc. D. 1475. Visitatio Priorat' de Heringham.

Henricus Combe prior dicit quod Nicholas Goring habet duas firmas sub sigillo communi, unam vocatam Meryfield, et rectoriam de Bodekton, et quod domus est ruinosa. Quinque fratres.

Reg. A. 93, 1524. Prior Robertus Prykelowe. Monachi R. Wakelyn. W. Best. Novitiarii, Julianus Browning et Rob. Vycar. Prior interrogatus de fundatione domus, dicit quod nunquam habuit nec vidit eandem, quia, ut audivit, fuit per multos annos elapsos incendio combusta.

Then follows an account of a dispute with the Earl of Arundel respecting Bignor Park. "Et dictus magister Jefford (monk) cum quodam alio venandi gratiâ entravit parcum de Bignor, et ibidem per spatium unius horæ manens, occidit duos damos et alios vulneravit. Et cum dictus prior vidisset eos, incontinenter fugit ad domum prioratûs. Comes remisit eis delicta per duos annos elapsos."

The Priory of Hardham stands thus in P. Nich. Valor, 1294:

MSS.B. "Sir W. Goring, as heir of the founder, entered on the priory lands by agreement with Robert Prykelow, prior, and this Convent was dissolved, at common law, before the statute of dissolution of monasteries by Henry VIII."

Chich, or St. Osith's Priory, in Essex.

TANNER says, if there be truth in the legendary writers, this was the most ancient Monastery in its county; here being as they say a Nunnery dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul, built by Ositha, daughter of King Frithwald and queen to Sighere King of the East Saxons, who herself lived as a religious herein till she was martyred by the Danes, A.D. 635.^a

It is more certain, however, that before A.D. 1118,^b Richard de Belmeis, or Beauvais, the first of that name, bishop of London, founded a religious House here for Canons of the Order of St. Augustine to the honour of those two Apostles and the said St. Osith.^c

The endowment of this House is fully detailed in the Charters and the Ministers' Accounts in the Appendix.

The following are all the names of the

PRIORS or ABBATS of ST. OSITH'S,

The CONVENTUAL SEAL of this Priory "ad causas" is engraved in Archæolog. vol. xviii. p. 445. from a brass matrix then in the possession of Thomas Baskerfield, Esq. F.S.A., accompanied with a description of it.

Its REMAINS are considerable. The quadrangle is almost entire, excepting part of the north side occupied by some modern apartments. The entrance is by a beautiful gateway of hewn-stone, mixed with flint, having two towers and two posterns. The stables and offices on the east and west sides of the court bear marks of great antiquity. To the east are three towers, one larger and loftier than the rest. The Priory is now the property and residence of Frederick Nassau, Esq.

Ikesworth, or Irworth Priory, in Suffolk.

TAYLOR, in his Index Monasticus, dates this Priory about the year 1100. It was first built by Gilbert Blund, or de Blount, one of the noblemen who came in with William the Conqueror; but being destroyed in the Norman wars, was rebuilt at some distance from the original site by William Blund his son. Several members of the family of Montechensy were among the early benefactors to this House. In the 30th and 37th of Edward the Third, the Pakenham family held a moiety of the advowson of this Priory.^a It was dedicated to the Virgin Mary.

JOHN JERVYS was the last prior of this House. He, and sixteen monks of Ikesworth, subscribed to Henry the Eighth's supremacy.

In the 26th Henry VIII. the revenues of Ikesworth amounted in the total to 204*l.* 9*s.* 5½*d.*, in clear income to 168*l.* 19*s.* 7¾*d.*^b

The Site of this House was granted in 1538 to Richard

No REGISTER of Ikesworth Priory is at present known.^c

An Impression of the COMMON SEAL of the Priory, on red wax, is appendant to the acknowledgment of supremacy in the Chapter-House, Westminster. It is oval, and the subject elaborate, having many figures; among them, in the centre, the blessed Virgin ascending in clouds, accompanied by angel on each side; in chief are three half figures crowned; in base, two shields, one barry of six, a chevron; the other barry nebulée of six; the latter being the arms of Gilbert Blund, the founder. The Legend is, SIGILLV̄ . COMV̄NE . ECCLIE . SC̄E . MARIE . DE . IXWORTHE.

R. N. Cartwright, Esq. is the present possessor of the Site. He resides in a mansion-house on the site of the ancient Priory.

Priory, afterwards Abbey, of Norton, in Cheshire.

WILLIAM FITZ NIGELL founded a Priory at Runcorne in Cheshire about 1133 or 1135, which his son William, constable of Cheshire, removed to Norton, some time in the reign of King Stephen. Both foundations were for Austin Canons. Mr. Ormerod, in his History of Cheshire, under Halton, has printed the charter of removal.^a Early in the reign of Henry the Sixth, if not sooner, the Priory was made an Abbey.^b

In the Harleian MS. 2060, 142, 144, are two successive Pleas to Quo Warrantos by the Priors of Norton, 24 Edw. III. and 14 Hen. VIII. In these they claimed soc, sac, toll and them, and exemptions from shire and hundred courts, and secular services, by charter from Henry the Third to John, Prior of Norton; exemptions from all aids, gelds, and works in castles, by charter from Randle

Blundeville Earl of Chester; and freedom from tolls of salt, passage, and customs, by charter from Henry III.^c

GILES, t. Rich. I.

RANDLE, t. John, on the authority of Sir Peter Leycestr.

JOHN, at the time of the grants by Earl Randle and Hen. III.

ANDREW, about 1233.

ROGER, between 1249 and 1261.

ROGER DE LINCOLN, perhaps the same person, is mentioned by Willis as Prior in 1285.

JOHN DE OLTON occurs in 1315.
ROBERT BERNARD occurs 1345.
JOHN DE WENIRHAM, or WEVIRHAM, about 1350.
RICHARD occurs in 1379.

ABBATS.

ROGER PLIMOUTH occurs 1453.
RICHARD MALBORNE, in 1495.
ROBERT LEFTWICH occurs 31 Hen. VI., a younger brother of Richard Leftwich of Leftwich.

ROGER HALL.

This Abbey was dissolved under the act passed for the suppression of the smaller Monasteries in 1536, the execution of which was opposed by the abbat, who was in consequence taken into custody, with other malcontents, by Sir Piers Dutton, then sheriff of Cheshire, on the third of August that year.

Two months after this event, says Mr. Ormerod, the insurrection which terminated in the "Pilgrimage of Grace" broke out in Lincolnshire, precisely at the time when the King's Commissioners were employed in the spoliation of Norton. Some papers communicated to the History of Cheshire by one of the Editors of this Work enabled Mr. Ormerod to give a curious account of a simultaneous movement in Cheshire, till then unnoticed. The Commissioners, it appears, were compelled to take refuge in a tower of the Abbey. Nearly three hundred men flocked to the abbat's assistance, and more were expected to rise; but this incipient insurrection was quelled by the promptness of the Sheriff.^a There are other papers preserved with these, which contain a royal warrant for the execution of the abbat and canons, addressed to the Sheriff and to Sir William Brereton of Brereton, then deputy-chamberlain, which, in consequence of the amnesty granted by the Duke of Norfolk to the rebels in Yorkshire, was respited for a time by the interference of Sir William Brereton. No authentic document, Mr. Ormerod observes, has occurred to shew whether the abbat of Norton had the benefit of Henry's general ratification of this amnesty, or whether he shared the fate which certainly befel the abbats of Whalley, Salley, and other northern ecclesiastics, and is said to have befallen the abbat of Vale Royal.^b

After the Dissolution Richard Brooks, Esquire, purchased the manor of Norton, with the Site of the Priory; the grant bearing date 10th Dec: 37th Hen. VIII. 1545. The Site is still the property of Sir Richard Brooke, Bart. his lineal descendant.

In the 26th of Henry the Eighth, the gross income of this House amounted to 258*l.* 11*s.* 8*d.*, the clear revenue to 180*l.* 7*s.* 6½*d.* per annum.^c

No REGISTER of the Charters of this Abbey is at present known to exist.^d

The ARMS of this Abbey were those of its founder. Gu. a pale fusillè Or.

A Drawing of the COMMON SEAL, too rude for engraving, occurs in the Harleian MS. 2074, p. 224. There is also an imperfect Impression of the Seal of Norton, used in the reign of Hen. VIII., in the Augmentation Office. The Legend is wholly gone, and nothing more left of the subject than merely to shew that it was the blessed Virgin crowned, bearing a Sceptre in her right hand, with the divine Infant seated on her lap.

Norton Abbey is the Seat of Mr. Ormerod observes, that the present mansion is a handsome and spacious quadrangular building, situated in low ground near the Mersey, occupying the Site of the former Priory. He adds, Some of the ancient vaults of the Priory, and an ornamented doorway leading to them, are preserved in the present edifice: The arches of the doorway are semicircular, resting on pillars, with sculptured capitals, and enriched with chevrons, foliage, and other ornaments. The vaults are much altered and subdivided, but consisted originally of groined arches, sprung from short octagonal columns with capitals.

Fundatorum Progenies, et Historia.

[Ex Cod. MS. in bibl. Cotton. (sub effigie Cléopatæ, C. 3.) f. 332. b.]

MEMORANDUM quod cum Willielmo bastard, quem sanctus Edwardus confessor, tanquam probiorem et propinquiorem consanguineum suum, hæredem Angliæ assignaverat, venit quidam miles nomine Hugo in Angliam; cui idem Willielmus rex postea dedit comitatum Cestriæ, adeo liberum ad gladium suum, sicut ipse rex totam tenebat Angliam ad coronam suam. Et cum isto comite Hugone venit quidam nobilis, nomine Nigellus; et cum isto Nigello venerunt quinque fratres, videlicet, Hudardus, Edwardus, Wolmerus, Horswinus et Wolfanus. Dictus verò Hugo comes Cestriæ dedit præfato Nigello baroniam de Haulton, ad quam pertinent ix. feoda militum et dimidium, et quarta pars unius feodi, et quinta pars unius, nomine constabulariæ Cestriæ, et fecit eum marescallum, et constabularium suum; ita quodcumque dictus Hugo comes exercitum moveret versùs Walliam, dictus Nigellus et hæredes sui in eundo præcederent et in redeundo cum exercitu, ultimi remanerent. Et ob hanc causam dedit præfatus Hugo comes prædicto Nigello duo feoda militum in Englefeld, circa Rothelam. Et illam terram tenuerunt præfatus Nigellus et hæredes sui usque ad tempus Rogeri Helle.

Dedit etiam prædicto Nigello et hæredibus suis, de præda perquisita in Wallia, omnia animalia diversorum colorum, inter quatuor membra, cujuscumque generis essent. Et ista obtinuit prædictus Nigellus, et hæredes sui hodie. Prænominatus Hudardus etiam fuit senescallus dicti Nigelli constabularii, et ei dedit Nigellus dominus suus omnes tauros venientes de Wallia in parte sua, et latori vexilli sui meliorem bovem; quæ omnia adhuc usi sunt cum aliqua expeditio movetur versùs Walliam per partes illas. Alias libertates autem dedit prædictus Hugo comes Nigello prædicto, constabulario suo; videlicet quod si aliquis hominum prædicti Nigelli furtum fecisset vel aliquod aliud scelus perpetrasset, utpote homicidium vel hujusmodi, senescallus dicti Nigelli de Haulton, liberè malefactorem caperet et duceret usque ad castrum de Haulton, ita quod ibi staret iudicio sine disturbance prædicti comitis vel ballivorum ejus; etiam ita quod senescallus vel ballivi de Haulton, si reum vellent dimittere, præsentarent eum ad tres comitatus Cestriæ, et ad tertium eum liberum dimitterent, nisi esset aliquis vel aliqua prosequens adversùs eum. Sed ista libertas infirmata est tempore Edwardi regis, filii regis Henrici, et Henrici de Lacy comitis Lincolnæ, tunc domini de Haulton, et Gunselni de Badlesmere, tunc justiciarii Cestriæ; scilicet anno gratiæ M.CC.LXXV.

Item hospitium prædicti Nigelli constabularii, et hæredum suorum, erit proximum hospitio dicti comitis, ita videlicet quod omnia quæ ad prædicti Nigelli opus erunt necessaria, emant ministri sui ante omnes alios in civitate Cestriæ, nisi prænominati comitis ministri prævenerint, sine cujuscumque contradictione. Item unam libertatem dedit prædicto Nigello comes antedictus, quam nulli baronum Cestreschyre concedere voluit; videlicet, quod si aliqua controversia inter aliquos de feodo constabulariæ movetur de divisio, de serviciis, vel de tenementis, senescallus vel ballivus de Haulton in illo loco, ubi esset contentio, sisteret curiam domini sui, et per xii. fideles de curia partibus consentientibus faceret secundum legem terræ transgressionem emendari, et amerciamenta inde provenientia ad opus domini sui perciperet. Præterea idem comes dedit præfato Nigello constabulario suo, le streteward in nundinis Cestriæ et marketzeld in omni terra pertinente ad honorem de Haulton; et omnia animalia advenientia fugitiva, Gallicè weythe, in toto hundredo de Halton. Habebat etiam Nigellus idem de concessionem dicti comitis, attinctas de xxiii. in curia sua juratas, et multa alia, quæ modo in curia non permittitur de Haulton. Et has omnino libertates non habet aliquis baronum Cestreshyre, nisi tantum hæres prædicti Nigelli. Cui etiam dedit idem comes stallagium per totum hundredum de Halton, et libertatem sibi et hominibus suis de hundredo de Halton liberè vendendi et emendi, tam in Cestria, quam in comitatu, et Wycis, ubi tunc non fuit lex ulla, omnia sine tol et stud, præter sal et equos. Et valent per annum le streteward et le marketzeld xviii. s. et ob. Et illud ob. percipiet dominus de villula de Herbury. Stallagium autem

Iste itaque Nigellus constabularius, prænominato dedit Hudardo senescallo suo de Haulton, pro homagio et servicio suo, Weston, et magnam Aston cum pertinentiis suis, scilicet unum feodum militis. Et de isto Hudardo venerunt omnes Duttonienses. Dicto autem Edwardo, Hudardi prænominati germano, dedit idem Nigellus duas bovatas terræ in Weston, quas modo tenent hæredes Willielmi filii Ranulfi. Aliis autem fratribus duobus Hudardi; scilicet Wolmero et Horswino, dedit Nigellus constabularius quandam terram in villa de Runcorne, quam nunc possident prior et conventus de Norton, ex dono scilicet Willielmi filii Nigelli. Quintus verò frater, scilicet Wolfatus, fuit sacerdos; et ipsi dedit ecclesiam de Runcorne Nigellus, quam nunc habent in proprios usus canonici domus antedictæ de dono prædicti Willielmi filii Nigelli, qui domum dictorum canonicorum fundavit primò apud Runcorne, scilicet anno gratiæ M.CXXXIII: Et iste Willielmus filius Nigelli fundator dictæ domus, obiit et sepultus est apud Cestriam. Cui in hæreditate successit filius ejus Willielmus junior, qui prædictis canonicis dedit in excambium alias terras pro terra sua de Runcorne, et aliis terris suis; scilicet ad Northonam villam transferendo prioratum antedictum. Et iste Willielmus obiit in Normannia, unde venerat avus suus, et non reliquit hæredem de corpore suo, sed habuit duas sorores, scilicet Agnetem, et Matildem, inter quas divisa fuit hæreditas honoris de Haulton. Matildem desponsavit quidam miles Eustachius nomine, qui fuit postea interfectus in Wallia. Et Aubertus Grelly duxit dictam Agnetem uxorem.

Eustachius verò prædictus antequam interficeretur, cum dicta Matilda habuit filium, qui vocabatur Ricardus. Et iste Ricardus duxit sororem Roberti de Lacy, quæ vocabatur Aubrey Lysours, de qua genuit duos filios, scilicet, Johannem constabularium, fundatorem domus de Stanlowe, et fratrem Robertum hospitalarium; et duas filias, scilicet Saram et Abreyam. Sara fuit data Roberto de Aldeford; altera vero, scilicet Abreya, data fuit Henrico Beset. Et notandum quod Aubreya soror Roberti de Lacy, ex parte matris, et non ex parte patris, quia pater ejusdem Aubreyæ fuit Robertus de Lysours; successit tamen dicto Roberto de Lacy in hæreditatem, quia ipse nullum hæredem habuit de se genitum, nec alium tam propinquum undè et illa post mortem ipsius, utramque hæreditatem, scilicet de Lacy et de Lysours occupavit. Dictus verò Johannes constabularius, filius prædicti Ricardi et Aubreyæ, duxit in uxorem Aliciam sororem Willielmi de Maundevyll, de qua genuit Rogerum constabularium, cognomento Helle, et alium filium nomine Eustachium, et plures alios. Iste etiam Rogerus habuit quandam fratrem, Ricardum nomine; cui dedit villam de More; et hic postmodum fuit leprosus, et sepultus est in capitulo canonicorum de Northon. Sed et iste Rogerus constabularius duxit uxorem Matildem de Claro, sororem thesaurarii Eboracensis ecclesiæ, de qua genuit Johannem constabularium.

Tempore quoque illius Rogeri constabularii, quidam comes Cestriæ, Ranulfus nomine exiit in Walliam cum exercitu suo; et contigit, quod deficiente exercitu, fugeret ad quoddam castellum, et ibi est à Wallensibus obsessus. Quod audiens idem Rogerus constabularius, qui non erat illa vice cum domino suo (nam remanserat in Cestria) per nuncios idem comes ei mandavit necessitate compulsus, quod quamtocius ei faceret succursum; qui accersitis sutoribus Cestriæ et histrionibus, festinanter cum exercitu suo venit domino suo facere succursum. Wallenses vero videntes multitudinem magnam venientem, relictâ obsidione fugerunt. Comes verò cum constabulario suo, et exercitu suo exeuntes, pervenerunt ad Cestriam. Et propter hoc dedit comes antedictus Rogero constabulario dominationem et advocacionem dictorum sutorum et histrionum. Constabularius verò retinuit sibi et hæredibus suis dominationem sutorum et histrionum, dedit verò senescallo suo, scilicet . . . ex hæredibus dicti Hudardi, quas libertates hæredes eorum tenuerunt usque in præsentem diem. Iste Rogerus moriebatur in festo sancti Remigii, anno gratiæ MCCXI. et cum domina Matilda uxore sua sepultus est in choro monachorum de loco benedicto de Stanlowe. Post mortem autem dicti Rogeri, Johannes constabularius, filius ejus, duxit Aleysiam filiam Gilberti de Aquila in uxorem. Quâ defunctâ et sepultâ apud Northon, desponsavit idem Johannes Margaretam filiam Roberti de Quenci comitissam Lincolnîæ, de qua genuit Edmundum de Lacy constabularium Cestriæ, qui post mortem patris sui Johannis prædicti comitis etiam obiit ante matrem suam, postquam genuerat Henricum de Lacy comitem Lincolnîæ secundum, ex parte matris, de Alesia filia marchionis de Saluces in Italia cognata reginæ Subaudiensium, quam in juventute sua duxerat uxorem. Mater verò ejusdem Edmundi sepulta est Lundoniæ, extra chorum hospitaliorum de Clerkenwell, juxta Robertum patrem suum. Mater vero dictæ Alesie uxoris Edmundi, mortuo marchione de Saluces viro suo, desponsata fuit Meinfredo filio Frederici imperatoris, qui genuit ex ea Constanciam uxorem Petri filii Jacobi regis Arragoniæ.

Johannes etiam constabularius et primus comes Lincolnîæ de illa progenie, et hoc per Margaretam uxorem suam, mortis exsolvit debitum in festo beatæ Magdalene anno gratiæ MCCXL. sepultaque est juxta Rogerum Helle patrem suum in choro monachorum in loco benedicto de Stanlowe. Post mortem autem dicti Johannis de Lacy, filius ejus Edmundus de Lacy constabularius, et non comes, vixit xiii. annis, et moriebatur anno gratiæ MCCXLVIII. nonas Junii, et similiter jacet apud locum benedictum, juxta patrem suum.

Prædicti Edmundi de Lacy constabularii Cestriæ filius fuit et hæres, Henricus de Lacy secundus comes Lincolnîæ ex parte patris, cui rex Edwardus dedit duo cantreda in Wallia, scilicet de Roos et de Roweignok, pro servicio; scilicet anno Domini M.CC.LXXXII. Et hujus Henrici de Lacy secundi comitis Lincolnîæ filius fuit Edmundus de Lacy junior, qui natus est de Margareta filia Willielmi de Longespey, cui rex Edwardus isto anno dedit maritagium Matildæ puellæ quinquennis, filiæ et hæredis Patricii de Chanworth, quam genuit de filia Willielmi de Bello Campo comitis de Warwyk, quam postea duxit uxorem Hugo Dispenser. Iste itaque Edmundus dominus et filius Henrici de Lacy statim juvenis est defunctus, nullo post se relicto hærede de corpore suo procreato. Dictus igitur Henricus comes Lincolnîæ de præfata Margareta uxore sua genuit alium filium nomine Johannem, et filiam unam nomine Alesyam; sed Johannes iste priusquam annos nobiles attigisset, super turrem quandam in castro de Pontefracto incautè discurrens, lapsus et ultra muros et in terram collisus et confractus protinus expiravit, nullum post se sui corporis relinquens hæredem.

Prædicta igitur Alesia, filia et hæres dicti Henrici de Lacy, ix. ætatis suæ anno, desponsata fuit Thomæ de Lancastria, nepoti dicti Edwardi domini regis, filio et hæredi Edmundi comitis Lancastriæ, fratris ejusdem domini regis Edwardi; unde quia dictus comes Henricus hæredem de corpore suo non habebat præter ipsam Aleisiam filiam suam, idem comes ad instantiam dicti domini regis reddidit eidem domino regi omnia castella et castra, dominia, terras, et tenementa cum pertinentiis, quæ habuit in comitatibus Lancastriæ et Cestriæ, et manerium de Slaytburn in Bouland, cum tota foresta ejusdem; et manerium de Snayth cum soka in comitatu Eboracensi, manerium de Kyngeston cum pertinentiis in comitatu Dorset, et omnia alia terras et tenementa quæ Alesia de Lacy mater dicti comitis Hen. tenuit in dote de hæreditate ejusdem comitis in comitatu Lancastriæ. Quæ etiam omnia castra, dominia, &c. idem dominus rex statim dedit et concessit dicto comiti Hen. de Lacy et hæredibus de suo corpore procreatis. Ita tamen quod si idem Henricus sine hæredibus vel hærede de suo corpore decederet, aut si hæredes illi sine hæredibus de suis corporibus genitis morerentur, tunc omnia prædicta castra, dominia, &c. cum pertinentiis integrè remanerent dicto Edmundo comiti Lancastriæ, fratri regis, et hæredibus imperpetuum, prout in cartis indè factis plenius continetur. Et notandum quod dicta donatio sive feoffatio fuit facta anno dicti regis Edwardi regis, filii Henrici xxii. in festo apostolorum Symonis et Judæ apud Westmonasterium. Post hæc igitur moritur dictus Henricus comes Lincolnîæ anno ætatis suæ lx. et anno regni regis Edwardi tercio, et anno Domini M.CCC.X. in festo sanctæ Agathæ virginis; successitque ei in dominio omnium terrarum suarum dictus Thomas comes Lancastriæ, qui desponsaverat Aleisiam filiam et hæredem prædicti Henrici, ut dictum est. Et sic idem Thomas hæreditatem illam unâ cum hæreditate patris sui tenuit et pacificè occupavit, donec postea diabolo machinante, discordia quædam et contentio incapabilis inter dictum dominum regem Edwardum filium regis Edwardi, et ipsum Thomam suscitata, quâ dissensione indies excrecente, tandem dictus dominus rex cum exercitu magno et vexillo erecto præfatum comitem Thomam manu armatâ invasit et hostiliter comprehendit, ac tandem comprehensum decollari fecit anno gratiæ M.CCC.XXI. alios etiam dominos et magnates dicto comiti adhærentes cum eodem deprehensos, tanquam proditores adjudicari fecit et suspendio tradi, hæreditatesque dictorum comitis et magnatum seisiri fecit tanquam proditoriè forisfactas.

Post mortem dicti comitis Thomæ præfata Alesia uxor ejus, quæ multis ante diebus ab eodem fuerat repudiata, statim adhæsit cuidam Ebuloni le Strange, sibi ut dicebatur prius familiari et dilecto; eidemque matrimonialiter est conjuncta; unde dominus rex offensus, quia maritum acceperat absque assensu suo, cum per statutum tenetur expressè, quod domina quæ de domino rege in capite tenet, non debeat se sine regis licentia maritare, seisiri fecit in manum suam quicquid ipsa habuit aut habere possit de hæreditate patris sui aut aliâs, donec finem cum rege juxta suum beneplacitum faceret pro delicto. De quo fine cum dicto domino rege non potuit convenire; quousque sibi et hæredibus suis concessisset et reddidisset omnia terras et dominia cum pertinentiis, quæ fuerant de hæreditate dicti comitis Henrici patris sui in comitatibus Lancastriæ, Cestriæ, et Eboraci, et domino le Spenser Hugoni castrum et dominium de Denebegh in Wallia, et castrum de Bolybrook cum pertinentiis, et cum omnibus aliis terris suis in comitatu Lincolnîæ, et in regno alibi terras multas. Unde post hujusmodi donationes nimis prodigas, viz. dictæ Alesie comitissæ remanserunt terræ et redditus ad valorem trium mille marcharum, cum tamen hæreditas prædicti patris ejus quæ ad eam pertinuit ut hæredem, valisset de bona extenta plusquam decies mille marchas.

Interim autem dictus dominus Edwardus rex filius regis Edwardi, propter, tyrannidem quam erga præfatum Thomam comitem et alios ejus complices pares regni exercuerat, ut est dictum; necnon propter persecutionem quam intulit dominæ Isabellæ uxori suæ reginæ et Edwardo filio suo primogenito, ab honore regali deponitur, et à regno anno ætatis suæ xlii. et regni sui xx. et anno gratiæ M.CCC.XXVI. ac postmodum per commune consilium et decretum totius regni carcerali custodiæ est commissus. Unde subsequenter eodem anno apud castrum de Barkeley, ubi fuerat tunc detentus perfidiosè per suos æmulos est occisus, et filius ejus Edwardus in regem apud Westmonasterium coronatur in die conversionis sancti Pauli proximo tunc sequenti; anno scilicet gratiæ M.CCC.XXVI. Postquam quidem coronationem parliamentum generale Londoniis celebrabatur, in quo parlamento exposita crudelitate dicti regis depositi ac tyrannide quam exercuit contra dictum Thomam comitem Lancastriæ et alios regni magnates, ipsos tanquam proditores, absque processu juridicio decernendo, mortique turpissimæ condemnando, et eorum hæreditates tanquam escaetam nequiter usurpando, convictisque erroribus habitis in hac parte, consideratum fuit per dominum regem et totum consilium parlamenti sui, quod hæredes dicti comitis Lancastriæ et aliorum dominorum complicitum suorum hæreditates suas per dictam forisfacturam temerariam, ut præmittitur, usurpatas, recuperarent et integrè rehabèrent. Inter quos dominus Henricus frater et hæres dicti Thomæ comitis Lancastriæ recuperavit duos comitatus, scilicet Lancastriam et Lycestriam, et alias terras multas, quæ fuerant patris sui Edmundi comitis Lancastriæ, et dicti Thomæ fratris sui; ac easdem terras habuit et tenuit usque ad diem suæ mortis qui fuerat sanctorum Mauricii sociorumque ejus anno gratiæ . . . Quo defuncto, successit et in hæreditatem Henricus filius ejus et hæres; cui dominus rex prius donaverat comitatum de Derbye. Iste quidem Henricus comes de Derbye, de Lancastria et Lycestria, tempore quo dictus pater ejus ab hac vita decessit, in Vasconia cum exercitu domini regis Angliæ morabatur, Johannemque de Francia et alios invasores inimicos regis Angliæ domini sui viriliter expugnando, et jura regni strenuissimè prosequendo.

Post hæc autem dum regina Angliæ Isabella, mater domini regis Edwardi tercii post conquestum Angliæ, terras et dominium de Blackburnshire, et de Bouland, ex concessione domini filii sui teneret, prout etiam perantea multis annis; quæ quidem dominium et terras dicta Alesia comitissa Lincolnîæ, filia et hæres Henrici de Lacy comitis antedicti domino regi et hæredibus suis prius concesserat, ut superiùs est expressum. Moritur dicta Aleisia anno ætatis suæ 67. et anno gratiæ 1348. circa festum Sancti Mathei apostoli et evangelistæ, et sepulta est in ecclesia canonicorum de Berlyng, juxta corpus Ebulonis mariti sui; nec reliquit post se hæredem aliquem de suo corpore procreatum; sed in ejus morte sanguis et hæreditaria successio ultima progeniei de Lacy (proh dolor!) terminatur. Unde post ejusdem Aleisæ decessum dictus Henricus filius Henrici de Lancastria in terris de Blacburnshire, Rachdale, Totyngton, Penwortham, in comitatu Lancastriæ, et dominio de Halton in comitatu Cestriæ; ac in dominiis de Bouland, et Snathe, in comitatu Eboracensi, et in multis terris et locis alibi infra regnum juxta formam supradictam redditionis et concessionis factarum per dictum Henricum de Lacy, et per dominum regem Edwardum filium regis Henrici, ut superiùs dictum erat, seisinam accepit, videlicet vii. die Novembris. Et sic hæreditas dominorum de Lacy in comitatu Eboracensi, Lincolnensi, Lancastrensi, et Cestrensi et in pluribus aliis locis regni à nomine, posteritate dominorum de Lacy, usque ad hæredes Edmundi comitis Lancastriæ prædicti, est finaliter jam translata, tempore videlicet Edwardi regis tercii post conquestum, et anno regni sui vicesimo secundo.

Progenies Moubraiorum, hujus Abbatiae Fundatorum.

TEMPORE Willielmi Conquestoris erat quidam magnus dominus in Anglia, vocatus Robertus de Mowbray, cui idem Willielmus rex dedit comitatum Northumbriae, cum multis variis dotibus. Post decessum Willielmi Conquestoris, regnante Willielmo Rupho filio ejus, anno regni sui nono et anno Domini 1088, consurrexit contra regem Willielmum ille Robertus, cum quibusdam aliis magnatibus Angliae, pro justa querela matris nostrae ecclesiae, videlicet pro alienatione et exultatione beati Anselmi Cantuariensis archiepiscopi, et octogesimarum domorum religiosorum destructione, ut suam ampliaret forestam. Unde Willielmus Rufus, cum exercitu magno, ipsum scilicet Robertum de Molbray, et suos apud Bamburgh cepit et duxit apud Winsor, ibidem ipsum cum aliis decollari mandavit, ac comitatum Northumbriae et Nottinghamiae ac domini marcialis, et omnes terras et possessiones ejusdem Roberti de Mowbray in manus suas seisivit, ac omnem ejus progeniem exhæredavit. Et sic pro amore ecclesiae Dei innocens vitam finivit. Cujus animae propitiatur Deus.

Tempore regis Henrici primi, filii conquestoris, erat quidam juvenis de familiâ regis, Nygellus de Albeneye nomine, portans arcum regis, cujus fratres fuerunt duo milites, strenui viri, de curia ipsius regis, videlicet comes de Clara et comes de Arundell, qui originem duxerunt de parentibus non infimis in Normannia. Ex parte matris de Mowbray erat ille Nigellus. Qui cum miles factus fuisset ipse Nigellus et armis militaribus per regem insignitus, dedit ei rex villam de Egmanton, cum parcis variis in foresta sua de Sherwode, quam villam post modicum tempus idem Nigellus dedit cuidam amico suo speciali Roberto Davil nomine. Cum autem rex factum suum approbasset et audisset victoriosissima ejus praelia, feoffavit eum rex Henricus de wavasaria domini de Camvile, et de wavasaria domini de Wyvil. Cum verò commissum fuit bellum inter regem Henricum et Robertum Curtosse, qui fuit dux Normanniae frater praedicti regis Henrici, apud Tengechbray in Normannia, quia dictus Robertus voluit in regem Angliae coronari, statuit secum Robertus praeliari, et dictus Nigellus de Albaneyo dextrarium ipsius Roberti occidit, et ipsum Robertum Curtosse regi Henrico duxit. Tunc autem rex dedit eidem Nigello totam terram Roberti Baronis de Frontebovis, scilicet Stutfeld, in Anglia, quod se converteret ad Robertum Curthosse contra suum regem, quasi falsus proditor. Illo autem tempore per consilium regis Henrici filii conquestoris, idem Nigellus cepit in uxorem Gunredam filiam domini Hugonis de Gurnay in Normannia. Dum autem obsidisset quoddam castellum in transmarinis partibus in Normannia, idem dominus Nigellus de Albaneyo primus intrans cepit, et regi reddidit. Tunc apposuit rex eum ditare amplius, et dedit ei totam terram praedicti Roberti de Molbray in Normannia et in Anglia, cum omnibus pertinentiis, qui Robertus fuit comes de Northumbria, et statim feoffavit eum de omnibus castellis et de bajocis ac cum suis omnibus pertinentiis. Habuit tunc Nigellus milites feoffatos in Normannia sexies viginti et in Anglia sexies viginti: ipse verò Nigellus genuit de praedicta Gundreda unum filium, Rogerum nomine, sic ipse Nigellus diversis laboribus et praeliis fatigatus, ac plenus dierum requievit in pace cum patribus suis, et sepultus est apud Bec Herlewin in Normannia.

Cum Henricus rex dedisset domino Nigello de Albaneyo praedictam terram Roberti de Molbray, praecipit ut hæres et filius ejus Rogerus nomine, ut dictum est, cognomen haberet de Molbray, et ita mutatum est cognomen de Albaneyo in cognomen de Molbray. Filius ergo Nigelli de Albaneyo et Gundredae fuit Rogerus de Molbray, qui cum consilio matris suae Gundredae abbatiam Bellalandae fundavit anno Domini millesimo centesimo tricesimo octavo, et Novum Burgum anno mc.xlv. et plura alia loca monachorum canonicorum, et monialium usque ad numerum xxxv. Tunc ipse Rogerus, cruce signatus ivit in Terram Sanctam, et ibi in magno praelio captus à Saracenis, redemptus est per militiam Templi; et diversis praeliis fatigatus reversus est in Angliam, et in suo itinere invenit draconem cum leone pugnantem in valle quae dicitur Saranell, percussitque draconem usque ad mortem, et secutus est eum leo in Angliam usque ad castellum de Hode; vixitque postea xv. annos, et mortuus est senectute bonâ, et sepultus in Ballalanda in quadam fornace in muro capituli ex parte australi juxta matrem suam Gundredam, et supra sepulchrum ejus depictus est gladius lapide insignitus, ubi nemo positus est in praesentem diem.

Tunc filius Rogeri de Molbray primogenitus, fuit Nigellus de Molbray, qui ei successit, qui habuit in matrem Aliciam de Gant. Hic Nigellus cepit in uxorem filiam Edmondi comitis de Clara, nomine Mabillam, et genuit ex ea quatuor filios, scilicet Willihelmum de Molbray, Robertum, Philippum, et Rogerum. Postea autem Nigellus, cruce signatus, ivit in Terram Sanctam, obiit in mare Graeco, et projectus fuit in mare; in dolio continebatur scriptum qualis vir erat. Ille verò porro Robertus frater ejusdem Nigelli, feoffatus fuit in Scotia nobiliter per quandam baronissam, quam cepit in uxorem, cum tota terra patris sui; et post mortem uxoris ordinem sacerdotis intravit, et multas in manus suas accepit ecclesias in Anglia, in Normannia, et in Scotia.

Willihelmus autem primogenitus et hæres Nigelli de Molbray captus fuit apud Lincolniam in quodam bello, et dedit pro redemptione sua quandam villam nomine Benestede, juxta London comitis de Arundel, nomine Agnetem, et genuit ex ea Nigellum et Robertum (sive Rogerum.)

Nigellus autem primogenitus duxit in uxorem, patre procurante, filiam Rogeri de Camvill, cum tota terra ipsius Rogeri. Qui quidem Nigellus obiit vivente patre apud Naunts in Britania, absque hærede corporis sui, ibidemque sepultus. Postea obiit pater ejus Willielmus de Molbray in insula Haxiholme, et delatum est corpus ejus ac sepultum apud Novum Burgum.

Cui successit Rogerus filius ejus, qui duxit in uxorem Matildam filiam domini Willielmi de Bellocampo, de qua genuit filias tres et unum filium Rogerum nomine. Postea obiit in insula de Haxiholme, et delatus est apud Pomfret, ibidemque sepultus in ecclesia praedictorum fratrum.

Cui successit filius ejus Rogerus, qui duxit in uxorem Roseam sororem domini Gilberti comitis Glocestriae; de qua genuit filium nomine Johannem. Qui Rogerus obiit in Gant ultra mare, et delatus est ad abbatiam de Fontibus, ibique sepultus anno 1299.

Cui successit Johannes filius ejus, qui duxit in uxorem Elianoram filiam domini Willielmi de Brews in Wallia; de qua genuit filium Johannem, qui natus fuit apud Heningham anno 1321. Qui quidem Johannes pater decollatus fuit apud Eboracum turpissima morte cum aliis magnatibus Angliae sub persecutione Hugonum le Spenser, sibi adherentibus, pro justa querela Sancti Thomae comitis Lancastriae, et pro defensione legum Angliae, et matris nostrae ecclesiae. Deinde omnes terrae ejus seisitae fuere in manus regis Edwardi secundi; necnon et uxor ejus et filius ejus Johannes capti fuerunt et incarcerati apud Turrem, usque ad parlamentum celebratum apud Westmonasterium, ubi plenariè restitutus fuit dictus Johannes filius dicti Johannis de Mowbray decollati, in hæreditatem. Qui quidem Johannes desponsavit Johannam sororem domini Henrici primi ducis Lancastriae, fratris Thomae naturalis, de qua genuit Johannem, qui natus fuit apud Epworth, anno 1326. Quae quidem Johanna sepulta est coram magno altare in Bellalanda. Postea prædictus Johannes sepultus est in ecclesia fratrum minorum apud Bedford.

Iste Johannes de Mowbray, filius prædicti Johannis et Johannæ, natus apud Epworth, duxit in uxorem filiam et hæredem domini de Segrave, ex parte patris, et ex parte matris hæredem quartæ partis comitatus marescalli Angliæ. De quâ Elizabetha genuit duos filios, videlicet Johannem et Thomam; qui quidem Johannes filius natus fuit apud Epworth, anno 1365. Compartes autem Thomæ fuere Robertus et Galfridus, de Fontibus ac de Sallay abbates, et vovatus est Thomas, eo quod mater ejus puerperio vovebat ipsum, Thomam vocari ob reverentiam sancti Thomæ Cantuariensis episcopi et martyris. Johannes autem pater eorum peregrè profectus est ad Terram Sanctam, et occisus est à Turcis juxta Constantinopolim, anno 1368.

Johannes de Mowbray, primogenitus filius ipsius Johannis et Elizabethæ Segrave, factus est comes de Notingham per regem Richardum secundum; qui obiit sine hærede de corpore suo procreato apud Londinum anno 1380, ac sepultus est apud Albos Fratres in Londino. Post cujus mortem rex Richardus secundus dedit comitatum Nottingham domino Thomæ Mowbray. Vicesimo anno regni sui, fecit eum ducem de Norfolk, comitem de Nottingham, dominum marescallum Angliæ, seigneur de Mowbray, dominum Segrave de Gower, et Stutvill, Genevell et dominum de Vyvell; et dedit eidem Thomæ ad portandum in sigillo et vexillo suo arma sancti Edwardi. Idcirco arma bipartita portavit, videlicet sancti Edwardi et domini marescalli Angliæ cum duabus pennis scamonis erectis, et super cristam leonem et duo parva scuta cum leonibus ex utraque parte prædictorum armorum. Qui scilicet Thomas duxit in uxorem filiam comitis de Arundell, nomine Elizabetham; de qua genuit filium nomine Thomam anno 1386. Postea verò rex Richardus interdixit ei in regnum Angliæ ingressum pro suo perpetuo. Qui talis exilio transmissus, moriebatur in civitate de Venis, ex pestilencia in guttere anno 1399. Thomas de Mowbray filius ejus duxit in uxorem Annam filiam comitis de War, de qua genuit duas filias Annam et Katerinam anno 1424. Qui scilicet Thomas factus est miles in anno quarto regni regis Henrici sexti et dux Norfolchiæ xiiii. anno ipsius regis; et dedit Annam filiam suam majorem domino Thomæ Haward in uxorem, et Katherinam filiam minorem domino Henrico de Barkley. Qui quidem Thomas factus est dux de Norfolk anno secundo regis Edwardi quarti. Et occisus est apud Lecestre in bello cum rege Richardo tercio. Cui successit Thomas filius ejus; qui duxit in uxorem. . . . Sed pater hujus Thomæ factus est dux de Norfolk postquam occidisset regem Scotorum sexto anno regis Henrici octavi, sicque præliis fatigatus, ac plenus dierum requievit in pace, et sepultus apud Thetford in Norfolk. Cui dominus Thomas qui nunc regnat, cui longa vita et vita bona.

Vicit leo de tribu Judæ, leo fortissimus bestiarum, ad nullius pavebit occursum. Dominus custodiat vas et semen vestrum usque in sempiternum.

Austin Cell of Hode, in Yorkshire.

TANNER gives the following account of this Cell. It was originally an Hermitage for a monk of Whitby, but A.D. 1138, was given by Roger Mowbray to a Convent of Cistercian Monks who were driven from Calder, in Cumberland, by the incursions of the Scots. Here they continued four or five years, and then were removed to Byland. Afterward Samson de Albiny giving them some other lands and tithes in exchange, this place was granted to the Monastery of Newburgh, and a Cell of Black Canons from thence fixed for some time here, dedicated to the blessed Virgin.

Abbey of Dorchester, in Oxfordshire.

WITH the Bishoprick of Dorchester we have nothing to do here. It is sufficient to say that it was founded by St. Birinus about the year 635, and then comprised the two large Kingdoms of the West Saxons and Mercians; that it was subsequently abridged in extent; and finally translated by bishop Remigius about the year 1086 to Lincoln; in the account of which Cathedral, more will be said relating to it.

The ABBEY here, for black Canons, was built by Alexander bishop of Lincoln about the year 1140, to the honour of St. Peter, St. Paul, and St. Birinus.

Dugdale has given but one charter relating to this Abbey from King John, confirming the donation of the church of Pishull.^a

The Abbey was visited by Courtenay archbishop of Canterbury, about 1386.^b

JOHN MERSHE was admitted abbat Oct. 22, 1533^u on Smith's resignation. He was the last abbat of Dorchester:^x and with Thomas Pyne and five others subscribed to the King's Supremacy Oct. 1st, 1534. He was alive in 1553 in the enjoyment of a pension of 22*l.* a year.^y

The COMMON SEAL of Dorchester Abbey, plain and unadorned, is appendant to the acknowledgment of supremacy 1534, in the Chapter House Westminster: it represents Saint Peter with the keys in his right hand, and in the left a book open. Legend, SIGILLVM . CONVENTVS . SANTI . PETRI . DORCES.

The REMAINS of Dorchester Abbey, with the exception of the Church, which is now joined to the parish church of Dorchester, are few: they consist chiefly of the foundations of walls, forming a quadrangle; and are to be seen to the northward of the church.

Warton the poet, in a Letter to Mr. Gough, dated Trinity College Oxford, 28th May 1785, says, “No part of this church is earlier than Henry the Third." But the capitals of a door on the north side seem to have been overlooked by Mr. Warton. They are evidently of an older date: and there are numerous indications in different parts of the structure of the former or first building.

The CHURCH, in its present state, consists of a chancel, nave, and two aisles, with a massive square tower at the west end. The nave is divided from the aisles by Gothic arches. Its length is rather more than two hundred and thirty feet by seventy in width. The height of the roof about fifty-five feet. The windows of the east end of the chancel are in a very peculiar style of the florid Gothic. The mullions begin to ramify almost close to their bases, and thus fill the whole windows with their interesting tracery. The window over the altar is altogether unique: the mullions are made to form a genealogical tree, exhibiting the descent of Our Saviour from Jesse, of whom there is a recumbent statue beneath the central mullion: small statues of all his descendants occupying the points of intersection of the ramifications which shoot out from that mullion and traverse the rest. The window is both singular and elaborate in its design.

For further notices of the present state of Dorchester Church the reader is referred to Mr. Skelton's elegant "Illustrations of the Antiquities of Oxfordshire," Parts IV. and V. where different portions of the buildings are engraved with very great taste and accuracy.

In the Valor of the 26th Hen. VIII. the revenues of this house were valued in their full amount to 730*l*. 17*s*. 2*½d*. : the clear income at 594*l*. 17*s*. 10*½d*.^d

King Henry the Eighth, his queen, and attendants, were splendidly entertained in a visit which they made to the last abbat of this house.

After its Suppression in the 33d year of his reign King Henry the VIIIth. reserved the greatest part of the possessions of this house for the endowment of the college by him erected at this place for a dean and prebendaries, to the honor of the Holy and Undivided Trinity; this however continued but till 1 Edw. VI. when it was dissolved and the site granted in exchange to the bishop of Lincoln.^e

An imperfect Impression of the COMMON SEAL of this Abbey is in the Chapter-House, Westminster; the subject of it is the Blessed Virgin, crowned superbly, having in one hand a lily, in the other a cross, the divine Infant is seated on her lap: part of the legend only remains, viz. . . GILLVM . SCE . MARIE . DE . THORENTON.

The REMAINS of this Abbey show it to have been once a structure of extent, surrounded by ramparts, and evidently considered as a place of occasional defence. The gate-house is nearly entire; there are also considerable remains of the refectory, the abbat's lodge, and the abbey church. The abbat's lodge is occupied as a farm house. The Site was a few years ago, if it is not now, the property of George Uppleby, Esq.

Bromere, or Brummore Priory, in Hampshire.

THIS Priory was founded about the latter end of the reign of King Henry the First, for Austin Canons, by Baldwin de Redveris or Rivers, and Hugh his uncle. King Henry the First's confirmation of its endowment given in the Appendix,^a was printed by Dugdale in the former edition of the Monasticon as a charter of King Henry the Second. The only charter beside this is one from Manasser Biset of twenty-two acres of land, described as situated between the marsh of Radehell and the house of Richard de Pasir.^b

Tanner says St. Michael was the patron Saint of this Monastery; Speed joins to him the Holy Trinity and St. Mary.

An Impression on red wax of the COMMON SEAL of this Priory in the Augmentation Office has for its subject St. Michael slaying the Dragon; much of the Legend is gone; there remain only these words, s. COMMVNE . CANONICORV̄

Scarcely any of the Buildings of Bromere Priory are now remaining.

Among the Chartæ Antiquæ and other deeds in the Augmentation Office are many relating to this priory and its possessions.

Harwolde, or Harwood Priory, in Bedfordshire.

TANNER says, "Here was a small Priory built, temp. Steph. to the honor of St. Peter, first both for Canons and Nuns according to the institution of St. Nicholas of Arrouasia, but afterward it consisted only of a Prioress and three or four Nuns of the Order of St. Austin."^a

Leland, in his Collectanea, speaks of Sampson le Forte as the founder.^b The Messrs. Lysons say it was founded in 1150.^c

Malcolm king of Scotland, as earl of Huntingdon, confirmed to this priory of St. Peter and the nuns thereof the possessions which they had in the time of his grandfather King David, and his father Earl Henry. Sampson le Forte confirmed the gift of Robert Blostevil. William king of Scots confirmed the donations of Sampson Forte and Robert Bruce; as did King John that of Stivington church, and King Henry IVth. the church of Chakirston.^d

No Names of any Prioresses of this House have occurred to the present Editors.

Tanner refers to a REGISTER of this Monastery as formerly belonging to Walter Clavel, Esq. A.D. 1709.^e

The total value of its income in spirituals and temporals in the 26th Hen. VIII. amounted to 47*l.* 3*s.* 2*d.* The clear value to 40*l.* 18*s.* 2*d.*^f

The Site was granted, in 1544, to William Lord Parr, and again in 1555, to John Cheney and William Duncombe.

There is an imperfect Impression of the COMMON SEAL of this Priory in the Augmentation Office, representing a full front figure of St. Peter with a staff in his left hand and the keys in his right: very little of the legend remains.

This Priory is now a farm house, the property of the countess de Grey. The only part of the conventual building which remains, is the refectory, now a barn, known by the name of the Hall-barn.

Priory of Brinkburne, Brekenburne, or Brincaburg,

IN NORTHUMBERLAND.

BISHOP TANNER calls this a Priory of Black Canons, founded temp. Hen. I. by Osbertus Colutarius, upon a piece of ground which was given him by William Bertram.^a He says, in Mr. Thynne's extracts, the founder's name is more like Solintarius. Leland mistakenly conjectures this priory to have been founded by one of the families of Felton or Lisle;^b and Wallis ascribes the foundation to William Bertram, baron of Mitford.^c

The charter of William Bertram of land at Brinkburn, with confirmation charters from William Gwaren earl of Northumberland, Henry earl of Northumberland, son of the king of Scotland, and King Henry the Third, will be found in the Appendix.^d

This House, according to Tanner, was under the patronage of St. Peter. In a patent 25 Hen. VI. it is said to have been dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul.

The estimate of its income in the 26th Hen. VIII. will be found below.^e

The Site of this House was granted in the 4th Edw. VI. to John earl of Warwick.

Bishop Tanner refers to a REGISTER of Brinkburne Priory in the possession of Mr. Arthur Agard, A.D. 1604, and to another, or the same Register, as in the possession of Lord William Howard of Naworth.^f

From the Bibliotheca Stowensis, vol. ii. p. 158. it appears that a Register of this House is at present in the possession of His Grace the Duke of Buckingham and Chandos. Stowe Library, Press III. Num. lxxxvi.

No Impression of the COMMON SEAL of this Priory has yet been met with by the Editors of this work.

The Priory is three miles distant from Felton: much of its buildings have been demolished, yet the square tower of the church, a small spire, some pillars and arches, some side walls, and the dormitory, still remain. The estate is now the property of Mrs. Grey of Backworth.

Austin Nunnery of Legh, or Canonleigh,

IN DEVONSHIRE.

TANNER calls this House Legh, Leye, Canonleigh, or Mincheneleya, in the parish of Burlescombe or Berdlescombe, in the deanry of Tiverton.^a It was first founded by Walter Clavell in the reign of Henry the Second for Canons regular of the Order of St. Austin only; but they were changed by Matilda de Clare countess of Hereford and Gloucester, patroness of this Monastery, early in the reign of Edward the First, for an abbess and nuns, or canonesses, of the same order.^b

Mr. Oliver, whose researches we have so often had occasion to quote, in his "Historic Collections relating to the Monasteries in Devon," preserves the names of two PRIORS only of the FIRST FOUNDATION. These are

HENRY DE CREWNMAKE admitted 17th Dec. 1260.

WILLIAM DE HONETON instituted 26 Feb. 1283.

Mr. Oliver shows, that the Monastery became a Nunnery at least as early as 1285.^c

The following are the names of the

PETRONILLA DE CLARE, 2 and 6 Edw. II.^e

MARGARET was elected in 1320.^f She was probably the same person with ^a "So," says Mr. Nasmith, "the MS. additions of the former edition;" and therefore it is very probable (as the author had conjectured) that this is the same with the Priory of Black Canons placed at Berles-ton in this county, in Gervase of Cant. or Henry Sulgrave's Catalogue of Religious Houses, supposed to be made temp. Ric. I. For there is no parish or place in Devonshire of the name.

^b It was dedicated to the Virgin Mary, St. John the Evangelist, and St. Etheldreda. St. Etheldreda seems to have been added at the time of the new foundation.

^t This Volume is of the 14th Century, in small folio, upon vellum. The rubrics (as they are called) of the Charters which it contains, are in black ink and in French, although the Charters themselves are almost exclusively in Latin. The Charters stand in succession under the following names of the places to which they relate: Legh, Thorne, Sandford, Hemmeston, Mordone, Legh, Alyngesdon, Dulond, Hockeworth, Nytherton or Netherton, Excestre, Schydyngho, Hockeford, Rokebeare, Northlegh, Donesford, and Schydyngho. These are followed by Extenta, de Nytherton, Rokebeare, Duneforde, Hockeforde, Schydyngho, Manitre, and Guthlesford, taken in the 17th Edw. II. A.D. 1327. Then "Mensuratio terrarum, boscorum, parcorum, et pastur. quæ sunt in dominico manerii de Schydyngho, facta in mense Septembr. anno benedictionis dominæ Margaretæ Dei gratia abbatissæ de Legh quarto." Ordin. Vicariæ de Burwoldescombe. Extenta de Legh, Northlegh, et Nytherton.

Several Charters of the Clavile family occur in the earlier pages; William Earl of Gloucester's confirmation; and another Charter of confirmation from King Henry the Second. Copies of King Edward the Third's Charters 26th April and 13th May in the 14th of his reign occur for the fair and market at Leigh. The churches belonging to this house recorded in the Chartulary are Sandford (with its appropriation) Hemmerton, Mordon, Dulond, Hockeworth, and Donesford.

Tanner's references to public Records relating to Canonleigh are, "Cart. 14 Edw. I. n. 19. pro feria apud Leyam. Cart. in transmar. 14 Edw. I. n. 5. pro mercato apud Leigh Canon. Et pat. 14 Edw. Impression of the COMMON SEAL of this Abbey, which represents a male and female figure, under an arch, supported by a slender pilaster. What remains of the Legend may be thus read: S: . . E. MARIE. ET. S̄CI. JOH'IS. EVANGELISTE.

A wall about forty-five paces in length, and the remains of an entrance porch converted into a Coach House, form all that is now to be seen of the BUILDINGS of Canonlegh Priory.

Austin Abbey of Bruton, Brewetone, or Brūwedone, IN SOMERSETSHIRE.

ABOUT the year 1005, Algar,^a Ailmer,^b or Æthelmare, earl of Cornwall, is said to have built here a religious house for monks, who were changed into black canons by William Moyne or Mohun, earl of Somerset, in the time of Stephen; according to Brian Twyne's Collections upon the 4th of the ides of August 1142.^c

William de Moyne's charter, with a confirmation of the various possessions of this house by Savaric, bishop of Bath, will be found in the Appendix to the present account.^d

This Priory was turned into an ABBEY in the beginning of the reign of Henry the Eighth, by the procurement of the then Prior William Gylberd or Giles, bishop of Megara, and suffragan to the bishop of Bath and Wells,^e who was a great benefactor to the buildings of this monastery, which was dedicated to the Virgin Mary.

PRIORS and ABBATS of BRUTON.

PRIORS.

JOHN COSHAM was made prior in the 19th Ric. II. He died in 1418.

JOHN SHOYLE was confirmed prior Dec. 10th.^f He resigned and became prior of Poughele in 1430.

RICHARD GLASTENBURY was confirmed 8th Aug. 1429. He died Sept. 24, 1448.^g

JOHN HENTON occurs in 1458.^h

WILLIAM GYLBERD received the temporalities as prior 11th Hen. VII. :ⁱ he was afterwards the first ABBAT.

JOHN ELYA received the temporalities as ABBAT 14th July, 25th Hen. VIIIth.^k

John de Mohun was the patron of this House in the 19th Ric. II. John Luttrell, lord of Dunster, occurs as patron in 1429.

The sum of the Valor of this House in the 26th Hen. VIIIth. will be found in the note below :^l together with the pensions assigned to the abbat and monks.^m

The Site of Bruton was granted in the 37th Hen. VIII. to Sir Maurice Berkeley.ⁿ

Tanner mentions "Annales hujus Monasterii ab adventu Will. Conq. ad annum 1336. MS. in bibl. Cotton. Otho A. iv. olim e libris magistri Tho. Allen Oxon:" but this volume perished in the fire at Westminster in 1731. He also mentions "Munimenta quædam ad hoc Cœnobium spectantia penes dom. Fitz Harding," and "Registrum, Cartæ, &c. penes dom. Berkeley de Stratton, A. D. 1719:" which were, in fact, the same.^o

The COMMON SEAL of this Abbey, oval and large, represented the blessed Virgin and divine Infant: she is seated under a Gothic canopy, having on each side of her a head in profile of a monk, somewhat above them a crescent and star, and under an arch in base persons praying. Legend, SIGILLVM . ECCLESIE . BEATE . MARIE . BRIVTONIE.

Sir Richard Colt Hoare, Bart. who is the present owner of the Scite and Lands, has lately printed an account of Bruton Abbey, embellished with engravings of its Common and other Seals, in which he observes that of the ancient abbey not a single stone remains above ground to testify its former Scite, which was to the east of the Parish Church.

HORKESLEIGH in Gloucestershire was a Cell to Bruton.

WALTER DE EUREUX, or de Saresbiria, built, A. D. 1142, and endowed a Priory of Black Canons here, to the honour of the blessed Virgin, wherein, after his lady's decease, he himself took a religious habit, died and was buried. The early endowment of this House, as well as its possessions at the time of the Dissolution, will be seen in the Appendix.

Latterly, the King was accounted patron or founder of this House, in right of the Duchy of Lancaster.

Priory of Nocton, or Nocton Parke, in Lincolnshire.

THE founder of this Priory was Robert de Arcy, or D'Arcy, in the time of King Stephen; who built it to the honour of St. Mary Magdalene. Dugdale, in the Appendix to the present Account, has two articles upon the history of the founder's family, to which the reader is referred.^a He has also given a copy of a grant from Thomas de Arcy of the church of Nocton,^b and of King Henry the Third's confirmation of the Priory's possessions.^c In the Abridged Translation of Dugdale's Monasticon this Priory is called Norton. Tanner says it had, about the time of the Dissolution, five Canons.^d The sum of its revenues in the 26th Hen. VIIIth. will be found below.^e have occurred to the present editors.

Two names only of the

IVO DE SCARLA, elected in the 22d year of the pontificate of Hugh Wells bishop of Lincoln: Norman de Arcy being at that time patron of the Monastery.^f

Desiderata Curiosa; he is said to have been buried in Lincoln Cathedral.^g

After the Dissolution the Site of this House was granted in the 30th Hen. VIIIth to Charles Brandon Duke of Suffolk. In the 12th Eliz. it was again bestowed by the Crown upon Sir Henry Stanley Lord Strange. By the Strange family the Priory House was converted into a residence; but the greater part of the old house was afterwards taken down, and the present mansion built up in its room by Sir William Ellys, Bart. in the latter end of the seventeenth century. It is now the property and residence of the Right Honourable Frederick J. Robinson.

NO REGISTER of Nocton Priory is at present known.^h

Austin Abbey of Wigmore, in Herefordshire.

HERE was first a small College of three prebendaries, founded in the parochial church, A.D. 1100, by Ralph de Mortimer, which dropped upon the founding of the Abbey. This, owed its foundation originally to the directions which the said Ralph left upon his death-bed, with his son and heir Sir Hugh de Mortimer; pursuant whereunto Sir Oliver de Merlimound, their steward, began a religious house at Scobedon or Shobdene, temp. Hen. I. and having made some small endowment, procured a prior and two canons from St. Victor at Paris to come hither. The want of water, and other inconveniencies, made them remove to Eye, near Aylmyster upon the river Lugg. Hence they went to Wigmore, then to Beodune, and back again to Shobdon, but were finally settled, A.D. 1179, in a noble Monastery (about a mile beyond Wigmore town and castle, in the marsh ground toward Shrewsbury) built, and so amply endowed as to be made an Abbey, at the sole expence of the said Hugh Mortimer. It was commended to the patronage of St. James.

Such is the Account which Tanner gives of the foundation of this Abbey. Hugh Mortimer the founder died in the year 1185.^a

No COMMON SEAL of this Abbey has yet been met with: there is a very imperfect one of an abbat of Wigmore in the Augmentation Office.

In the Abbey Church of Wigmore many of the Mortimers were buried, and among them five Earls of March, all of whose monuments were destroyed at the Dissolution, together with THE BUILDING itself to the bare walls.

ritage, et sonseigneur monsieur Hugh de Mortimer ly dona a ceo tote la ville de Schobbedon, pur ly plus lealment servir et plus peniblement ; et a Eode fitz a dit Olyver, dona il la personage del eglise de Aylmondestreco. Adonk n'esteit en Schobbedon nule eglise, mes tant soulement une chapel de sainte Juliane, et cele fut de fust, et sogette al eglise de Aylmondestreo. Dount Olyver esteit mout pensif de fer lever une novele eglise en Schobbedon, et en honour de quel seinct voleyt que ele fut dedye quant ele fut perfete. Au derrein si elust il saint John l'Evangelist, le quel Jesu Crist elust devant tutz les autres disciples, pur estre patron de l'eglise.

Après ceo fist il apeler Eode son fitz, persone de Aylmondestreo, et entre conselerent coment sa eglise de Schobbedon pust estre hors de subjection del eglise de Aylmondestreo, per une empensiun annuele rendant, de ii^s. Quant cete chose fut affirme, se entremist le dit Olyver del overayne del eglise de Schobbedon. Deentre ceo sa veyt meynes cely Olyver devociun et talent de prendre le vyage al seinct Jake en pelrimage, et baila a un chevaler Bernard tote la cure del overayne, od espenses necessaries ; et emprist le pelrimage el nom Deu, et vynt a seinct Jakes seyn et heyte. Quant il ont fet ileokes ceo qe fer dust, se retorna tot dis pensif del overayne de Schobbedon ; et quant il approcha a la cite de Paris un chanoine del abbeye de seinct Victor ly atteint, et molt devotement le pria de sun hostel prendre en l'abbeye, et il a grant peyne ly otrca, et od ly en l'abbey entra et fut bel et cortoisement receu a graunt honour.

Tant come il fut leinz si regarda il et ententinement avisa totes choses q'il vist en l'osterye, en l'enclouystre, en le queor, et nomement le service qe ont fist entour l'auter ; et mut ly vynt al queot de devociun la honeste q'il vist parentre eus en tutz lieux. Dount il prist conge del abbe et des autres freres de leyns, si retourna a sun propre pais. Et quant sa eglise fut tote perfete, si requist il mut humblement, sire Robert de Betun eveske de Hereford, de quy done nus avouns le eglise de Lydebury-North qu'il deignast sa eglise de Schobbedon^a dedyer ; et il ly graunta, et jour de la dedicaciun ly assigna. A cel jour assigne vynt l'eveske, et totes les grants seigneur's du pais, chivalers, clers, et autres sans nombre pur estre a la sollempnete, devant queux toutz, fut lewe la composicion fete perentre Olyver et Eode sun fitz et de l'eveske fut confirme, et de tote la people tesmonye. Et quant l'esglise fut dedye si fust la mangerie mut sollempnement apparile pur l'evesk, et pur autres apelez, et pur ceus que vindrent de gre.

Tost apres si oyt Oliver que la persone del eglise de Buyrley auont nom Wolward, per sez deserts fut depose, si pria l'evesk Robert, que il ly vousist grant la doneyson de cel eglises ; il ly granta, pur ceo que nul nosa vyer a ly chose qu'il desira, car il estoit le second apres sire Hugh de Mortimer. Et quant Oliver avait l'eglise de Schobbedon et de Buyrley, et sa terre de Ledecote, et de Lantone en sa mayn, si ont en purpos de les doner a gents de religion, et se remembra del honestete qu'il vist autre feez entre les chanoynes de seinct Victor de Parys, et manda per sez lettres per un de quy il affia, q'ont a nom Roger le Blanc, al honorable abbe et vels, qui ont nom Gilwyn de seinct Victor, empriant qu'il vousist mauder a ly ii ou iii de sez chanoines : as queles quant eus venissent, il lor troverent tot cco que mestre lor seroit, et foyson.

A quel message ne as lettres ne dona l'abbe foy, pur ceo que per sa auctorite demeyne furent enseeles, et non pas par seel autentik ; et issi retourna le message adonk desespleite. Et quant Olyver avoit ententu per son message ken fut fet, si ala a l'avant dit evesk de Hereford, et mostra a ly tut son purpos pleinement ; de quele purpos et devociun si fust l'eveske mut rejoy, et fist fere ses lettres enseeles de sun sel, et del sel Olyver joyntement ; et les manda per Roger Knoth, un de sez prives, a meyme l'abbe de seinct Victor, empriant la request qu'el il avoyt avaunt prie. Dount l'abbe per conseil de tot lour chapitre elust ii, octasavoir Roger et Ernys ; des queus, Roger fut fet apres abbe de Owense, et Ernys abbe de seint Victor. Ceus ii. si manda l'abbe a Olyver, a quels il baila totes les choses qu'ils avait promis endementres pur lor sustinaunce, cetasavoir l'eglise de Buyrle, l'eglise de Schobbedon, ou il les fist habiter en un meson assez honeste pres de l'eglise. Il lor dona ensemment sa terre de Ledecote, ovesk les granges pleines de blees et beafs, berbiz, et porcs a grant plente, ovesk ii. carvez de terre.

En ycel temps sourdy un contek parentre Robert, evesk de Hereford et Myles conte de Hereford, en tant que l'evesk exkumega l'avant dit conte adonc present, ovesk tote la cite de Hereford, et fist estoper les huys de l'eglise des espynes, et les croiz abatre tot a la terre, et vynt a Schobbedon per la request de Olyver et vesquit entre les chanoines a ccs costages demeyne, jeste a tant qe le conte fut acorde a ly et as sonz, et tote la cite avant dite. Puy apres esteyent les chanoines mut dolentz pur departure del eveske de lor companie, et ensemment trop mournes pur ceo que cus furent mut loyns de lor abbey, si manderent al abbe Gildwyn de seinct Victor, empriantz qu'il vousist mander autres en lor luy qui sussent parler et entendre langage d'Engleterre, et qui sussent la maner des Engliz, et ke eus pussent retourner a lor abbey ; et ensemblement manderent que le luy, q'ils avoyent, fut bon, et avenant et assez des benz pur trover lor necessaries : et l'abbe granta lour request, et manda illeokes iii. freres neez et norriz en Engleterre ; et quant eus vindrent a Schobbedon, si furent mut honestement receus, et ileok plantez, et les autres sen departirent d'ileokes a lour abbey.

Et bien toft apres sourdy un descord trop graunt et hidous parentre mounseigneur Hugh de Mortimer et lavantdit Olyver, issi qe Olyver sen departi de ly, et ala a sire Miles conte de Hereford, qe esteit adunkes sun amy enter. Et quant sire Hugh ceo aperceust, le fist apeler troiz fees en sa courte pur respondre as queeles, les queles il avait vers ly. Et pur ceo que Olyver dota la malice et la cruelte de sun seigneur, nosa apparance fere ensa courte, mes se tynt en pees endementres. Et quant sire Hugh vist ben q'il ne voleit venir, ne autre en son luy mauder prist en sa main totes les choses qe furent a Olyver, ovesk les beens des chanoines ; nepurquant il ne voleit fere as chanoines ; nule dureste sanz jugement, si lor dona respit jesk a un an ensiwant de fere demeore ; et apres l'an alassent dileokes la ou beal lor fut, sicome ceus qe furent entrees en sa terre sanz sun conge, et amenez ileokes per sun adversarie ; et la chanoines ne voloyent, ne ne poyent estre en la contre, se apparilerent de sey mettre en fuyte privement, car socours ne aveycnt ne eyde de nuly.

Cete chose vist sire Gilbert de Lacy, et voleit plesire a sire Hugh de Mortimer, vint a Lantony, et totes les choses qe furent as chanoines, si prist il per seigneurie, et lor blez fist apporter, qe amonta a grant somme d'argent. Et pur ceo qe per la ou terien eide default, D'eus imel socours, avient q'il y avait une grant congregacion assemble a Leonmestre pur hautes busoynes ; a quel assemble esteit l'evesk de Hereford od les seons et sire Hugh de Mortimer od les seons, et Robert le priour de Schobbedon, et autres plusour chivalers, clerks et laycs, assemblez de tote partz. Et quant les busoynes furent terminez pur quels eus vindrent, fut menciun fete ileokes de les chanoines de Schobbedon,^b por quels l'evesk et les chevalers, qe ileokes estient, prirent a sire Hugh de Mortimer, qu'il ust mercy de eus. Et quant il ont consile od les seons, au darrain dist en haut voiz. "Si jeo usse (dist il un abbe) tutz les beins qe Olyver lor dona, lor granteray, et plus a ceo lor dorray."

A cestec paroles prist l'evesk le priour per la main et dist ; "Vecz sire ! ici vous bail un abbe ? fetes ceo que vous avez promis ;" le quel il recust meintenant et oveske l'evesk et autres grantes seygnurs le mencrent al auter, chantantz en haut voyz Te Deum laudamus, et ileoks granta il a eus totes les choses que Oliver lor avoit done quitement, ensemblement od une provendre en l'eglise de Wygemore, qe fut adonk vacante, et totes les autres provendres en meimes l'eglise lor granta, quant eus fussent vacantz. Alseigneur de Huggcley, qe adonk fut ilcokes present, pria il qe il ly vousist doner sa eglise de Huggcley, et il ly granta ; la quele eglise meintenaunt si dona il, devant totc le people al elit de Schobbedon, et a les chanoines, la quel eglise fut adonk vacante. Ileokes promist a eus la ville de Cheilmers, ou il avait empense, de fere a eus perpetuele habitaciun tot loynz remewes de Galeys. Et quant le elit fut retourne a sa mesun, si avait bonc esperance de viure en pees et en quiete ; mes en brief temps apres, sire Hugh de Mortimer lor tolit la ville de Schobbedon, et la ville de Cheilmers, la quel il lor promist, unkes ne lor dona.

Avient apres ceo qe l'avantdit evesk de Hereford passa la mere et vint en France a un concyl, et morut ileokes, et fut mene en un quyer de beof, jesk a Hereford, et ileokes enterre. Ceo vyt le clyt de Schobbedon, q'il fut privee del consail l'evesk, et de sun eyde a totes jurs, et despoile, et de la presence Olyver, qui lor apela en Engleterre, et ostes de lor terre de Schobbedon, et de Lantone, de quels terres eus aveyent lour sustinaunce, et qe plus ly greva, q'uil fut sovent ledenge et amly per sire Hugh de Mortemer et les seons, lessa totes les choses q'uil aveit par desus ses mains, sanz gardein, come home simple et sanz malice, si retorna a sa abbey.

En apres vynt une chanoine en Engleterre, q'unt nom frere Richard de Warrewyk, qi fut apres abbe de Bristoll, pur visiter ses amisez en temps de ast; et vynt a Schobbedon, et quyly les blees, et les mist en taas et les lessa en la garde des sergantz et tantost sen departi. Apres ly, vynt une chanoine de seint Victor, q'unt nom frere Henry, home de bon consail et de seyn, et vailant encoure, qu'estoit ben acoynte de Gilebert Folyoth adunk evesk de Hereford, et parent a sire Hugh de Mortemer, le quel fut receu de eus mut honorablement, et prist gard des choses qe furent a Schobbedon lesseez. Ceti quant il ont entendu de seons queles choses sire Hugh de Mortemer avoit done a chanoines, et queles ils ont promis, et que les il ont colet, approcha a ly, empriant qe il, pur l'amour de Dieu, et en remedye de sa alme, et des treshonorable progenitours, vousist restorer arere lez choses qu'il aveit sostret, et la promesse q'il fist a perimpler, et il le promist fere, mes tutz jurs le mist en delay per blandisantes paroles a beales promesses; mes Henry ly siwy per plusurs lyus, et au darrein lor granta la ville de Schobbedon.

Quant frere Henry ont la ville de Schobbedon pesiblement, avissa qe le lyu fut mut loyns del ewe, de quele eus aveyent tresgrant defaute, se purposa de remuer dileokes jeskes a Aylmondestreo, en un place qe ont apel Eye, tot pres de la ryvere de Lugge, le quel ly fust avys convenable a eus pur demorer; et donke remuerent totes lor choses q'ails aveyent a Schobdon, jeskes la per consail et eide de sire Hugh de Mortemer, et mistrent le fundament de l'esglise come gentz qe aveyent empense, de fere ileokes perpetuel habitacion pur eus, et pur lor successours. Endementres morut Pers le Kauf, chanoine de Lantoney, aquy l'evesk Robert Betun aveit done l'esglise de Lydebury-North, ovesk le ercedekne de Salopsire; et quant le priour Henry oyt ceo, manda ileokes iii. de ses chanoines, et le deen de Penbrugge, le quel lor mist en possessiun, maintenant de meimes l'esglise de Lydebury.

Apres ceo si receust le priour Henry a sa religiun, plus de chanoines, et qui dont ben de viure en grant quiet apres sun travail, mes autrement fut: car il surdy en cel temps tresgrant gere perentre sire Hugh de Mortemer et Joce de Dynant, adonk seigneur de Loddelawe, en tant qe memiez cely Joce ne poeyt franchement ne baudement entrer ne isser sun chastel de Loddelawe por doute de sire Hugh tant fort le demena il. Et pur ceo qe Joce ren ne poet fere contre sire Hugh, per force, si mist espyes per les chemins, per ou il entendy, que sire Hugh passereit sengle si le prist et le tint en sun chastel en prisone jeskes il ust fet sa ranzon de iii. mil marcs d'argent, forspris tote sa vessele et ses chevaus et ses oysels. Et pur plus toft haster cel ranzon, si pria il eide de tote partz de ses amys; et al priour Henrie si pria il, q'uil vousist granter pur metter un agistement d'argent sur sa gent de Schobbedon en eyde de cel ranzon. Et le priour, en quant il poet, le vya, et contreestut; et dist qe chose une feez donee a Deu^a et a seincte eglise franchement, ne doit pas autre fees estre taile, ne mis en servage, pur nul busoygne seculer, ne la coustume de sun pays ne le soffry mic. Et quant le priour en nule maner ne ly voleit, sa request, graunter si lessa totes les choses q'uil avoit en la garde des chanoines, les queus il ont receu, et retorna a sa abbey de seinct Victor, dunt il vynt.

Apres cely vynt un autre, qu'ont nom frere Robert de Cheresboth, et demora ovesk les chanoines, nemye priour; mes pur ceo qu'il vynt de outremer, fut en lyu de prior, pur ceo qu'ils voleient aver un abbe sur eus, et a cele chose fere si fut sire Hugh mut desirus et durement en talente. Tant, come eus furent en tel purpus, si oyrent parler de mestre

Andrew qe fut adonk prior de seinct Victor de Parys, mestre de divinite, et de nobles vertues et plusurs, et sobre si manderent a luy, empriantz qu'il deignast a eus venir et prendre la cure de abbe et estre gouverour sur eus lor choses ordyner come prelat: le quel Andrew vynt a eus, et fut receu a graunt reverence, et abbe benet de l'evesk.

Toft apres, virent les amis sire Hugh de Mortemer, et nomeement sire Hugh de Lacy, a l'esglise la quele les chanoines avoyent fet fere a Aylmondestreo, si vindrent a sire Hugh de Mortemer, amonstantz ly et conseylantz, qu'il ne seoffresist pas cel overaine ileokes estre perfet en lentre de sa terre que ses enemies per cas ne venissent en entre de sa terre et ileokes ussent refut et recet en despit de ly et al damage de tote la pais: car il avoit adonk de tote partz mutz des enemyes et adversite graunt. Et il overy apres lor consail si fist les chanoines remuer jeskes a la vile de Wygemore, et porter lour choses ovesk eus, et comcer ileokes mansiuns, come dussent a tutz jurs demorer ileokes.

Dont virent l'abbe et ses chanoines que la place ou eus habiter deveyent fut trop estreit et hidous, pur habitacion fere pur eus; et trop grant defaute, nomement de ewe et le monter sus vers l'esglise, mut lor greva ceo furent vileines paroles et deshonestes de ceus qi habilerent pres de eus, et se entreplaidrent sovent et se purpenserent a quel lyw ils pussent remewer dileokes, pur ceo que ne poient, ne ne voloyent ileokes demorer en nule maner pur l'enchesuns suisdits. Et quant sire Hugh de Mortimer ceo aperceut, mut ly vint a gre, et les comanda q'ils feysent enquerer per tut sun pais plus avenate place, et plus eise, pur eus a demerir a totz jurs, et ly feseient asaver.

Endementres sourdy un distance parentre l'abbe Andrew et ses chanoines per unt l'abbe sen departi de eus, et lor lessa tot a lor volonte, et retorna a sa mesun de seinct Victor. Et pur ceo que eus ne voleient my estre sanz abbe, elustrent de eus meimes un chanoine, qu'ont a nom Roger, qui fust novice en l'ordre, mes sage a gouverner lors temperaltes; le quel eus presenterent al evesk et fut benet de ly, et fet prelat des autres chanoines. En yeel temps si manda le roy Henry adonk novel roy a sire Hugh de Mortemer de venir a ly: et il per grant orgoil et hauteste de queor, enenflee, a ly venir dedeigna, et ses chastels de totz partz contre ly garnissa pur contreester le roy a force. De quel chose le roy fut mout corouce et durement vers ly enmewe, et ly assegy en sun chastel de Brugenorth long temps, et ses autres chastels fist il assegy per tut per ses gentz. Et quant Gilebert Folyoth ceo vist, qe esteit adonk evesk de Hereford, qe le roy fust durement enmewe, et corouce vers sire Hugh de Mortemer; et qe sire Hugh fut di tote partz arvione de sez enemyes, ala al roy emplaynaunt, qe sire Hugh tient a force sa vile de Lydebury, et la dedeigna rendre; le roy ausi toft, come il avoyt ceo oy, per grant ire et rancor comanda al eveske qu'il ulast et prist arere sa vile od tutes les apertenances. Et quant les chanoines ceo oyrent, envièrent ileokes ii. chanoines, cetasaver Symond le fitz Olyver Merlymond, et Richard de Blakemere, pur garder lour eglise de Lydebury, ensemblement ad autres choses qe ileokes aveyent. Et quant l'evesk ceo aperceust, manda a eus ces miniestres, les queus adeprimes les amonsterent per blandisantz paroles, et den apres per manees, au darrain mistrent mains sur eus, et les sa kerent, encomandantz qu'ils venissent toft parler al evesk.

Les chanoines ia pur leurs beles paroles ne furent venkuz, ne pur lors maneez abayz en nul poynt, mes se tindrent fermement dedenz l'esglise sanz remewer hors de leyns pur nule violence qe lor fut fete come bonez gentz de religiun, amantz le profit de lor mesun. Et ausi toft come l'abbe Roger ceo oy de sez freres, appela a la courte de Roume de damages, huntages et violences qe furent fetes a ly et a sez freres et a sa eglise de Lydebury, et signa totes sez chosez desuz la protectiun^b l'apostol, et maintenant se apparala prendre le chemin vers la courte de Roume en propre persone. Et quant se oyrent les amis de une part et d'autre, si en tremistrent de fere acord par entre eus, et refourmerent la pes enterement, issi qe l'evesk granta a eus la dite eglise, de aver a tut temps en pees, et la confirma per sa lettre enselee de sun seel.

Unkore esteient les chanoines trop malement encombrez et envyez de jur en jur pur lour demeur a Wygemore, come est evantdit, si sen alerent per le pais en chescun part pur querir et avyser place la, ou eus pussent mansiun honeste et large fere pur eus et pur autres a tutz jurs. Avient per un jour en ast, qe une des chanoines, frere Water Agaymeth a nom, sist sur le champ de Beodune, outre les syours, et regarda tot le pays aviron, et avisa ententinement, et vist la place ou l'abbaye est ore assise, et nota le lyu, et retorna a mesun, et conta al abbe et as freres ceo qu'il out veu; les quels aleyent ovesk ly et aviserent la place de tots partz et virent ben qe le lyu fut assez bon et large; et avenant pur ferc ileoks lor abbeye, si furent mut joyous, et lez ademesure, et aleyent a sire Hugh de Mortimer, et firent asave a ly ceo qu'ils aveyent trovez, et qe lor plust ben la place pur perpetuele mansiun fere per eide de ly. Et il lor granta ausi toft benement, et a grant joye; et lor promist qe il les eidereit, et comanda ausi toft que eus remewasent totes choses qe eus aveyent al Wygemore jeske la. Et quant eus aveyent comandement de ceo fere, ne targerent geres del mettre en fet, et se feseyent endementres petites habetaciuns de fust, per eyde et conseil de sire Hugh.

Endementres morut la persone de Meoles-Bracy, la quel eglise dona sire Hugh as chanoines, ausi toft en perpetuele almoigne; et apres ceo toft morust l'abbe Roger, et fust religieusement enteree; et tantoft se entre parlerent de une abbe aver, et manderent pur iii. de lor freres qui furent les plus sages, a seinct Victor, pur prier a mestre Andrew, qui fut lor abbe perdevant, de venir et estre lor sovercyn, et lour abbe come avant: le quele a grant peine lor granta et vint ovesk eus, et feut receu a grant joye, et demorra abbe en la maner que il estoit.

En meimes cel temps Andrew de Staunton seygneur de Bokenhull fut accuse vers le roy Henry, grevouement, illi qe il ne poet demorer en Engleterre apertement, si vynt en le chapitre des chanoines, et en la presnce de Water Folyoth ercedeakne de Salopsire, lor dona l'eglise de Bokenhull en pure et perpctuel aumoigne. A qy tant come il demora issi en Engleterre en tapeisaunz, si troverent a ly totes ses necessaries honestement; et quant il ne pout plus longes demorer, si passa il en Escoce, et demora ilcokes seurement, jeskes a tant qe se pees fut fete al roy; et donk returna il a sa terre demeine. Et tant come il fut absent, si troverent eus a sa feme Mahaud de portz ceo que mestre ly fust.

Apres ceo vynt sire Hugh de Mortimer de outremere, et demorra a Cleyburi. Adonk morut Achelard persone de Kayham, la quele eglise les chanoines receustrent en propres huyes del done sire Hugh: et ne mie longi temps apres, vynt sire Hugh pur visiter les chanoines et lor lyu; et ileokes per request de seons et nomement de Brian de Brompton, et de John sun fitz, manda pur un moyn de Wyrecestre, le quel quant il out signe la place del cglise, fist fower et mettre le fondement: a quel fondement sire Hugh de Mortimer cocha le premicr pere, et lor promist dys marcz en eyde: mes en apres il la chevy a ses costages demnie. Brian de Brompton cocha la secunde pere et promist cent souz; mes ren ne dona d'argent; mes il lor granta totes eisementz en sa terre en boys et en champs per tot; lez queles eysementz eiderent grauntment a lour o'vraine. John le fitz al dit Brian cocha la tercc peer, et ren ne dona ne promist, mel ceo qu'il ne fist myc adonkes en promesse, il le perfourmy ben apres en coure: kar par ly fut l'eglise de Kynleth done al abbey.

En apres les chanoines sentre mistrent durement et vigrouement del overayne de lur eglise. Endementres si morust mestre Andrew lor abbe, et fut enterre a grant honneur. Apres ceo si elurent ens Symond lor priour fiz a Olyver de Merlymound pur estre lor abbe, le quel morust avant ceo quil fut benet del evesk. Apres la mort Symond, si elurent eus frere Randolph lor segresteyn, home humble et Deu dotant: en temps de quel abbe sir Hugh dona al abeye le maner de Kayham ovesk totes les appartenances ensemblement, od sun corps en pure et perpetuel aumoigne: mes une dame tynt unkerc la vile de Snytton en noum dower. Apres ceo escheerent a eus les egliscs et chapeles de suzdites, per doum sire Hugh de Mortimer en bref temps; cetasaver l'eglise de Lyntwardyn, l'eglise de Aylmondestre, l'eglise de Cheilmers, la chapelcs de Dounton, Boretton, Eleton, et Leynthale, et l'eglise de Kynleth, et le molyn de Leyntwardin, et vint soude de terre, la quel sire Hugh de Mortimer akata de Hereberte du Chastel: et la terre desuz Wigmore, et la terre de la Newton, et la rente del molyn de Boriton, et la rente de Eleton et de Brunshop.

Dentre cestes choses si fut sire Hugh de Mortimer mut curious et penible entour l'overaine de lor eglise, la quele il fist tote pcrfere a ces costages; et quant ale fut tote perfete, si la fist dedyer per la mayn sire Robert Folyoth, adonk evesk de Hereford, en le honur de seinte Jake l'apostle. Et quant l'eglise fut dedye si fist sire Hugh de Mortimer renoverer et confirmer toutz les dounz k'il avoit fet as chanoines perdevant, a l'eglise; et nomement le maner de Kaham, od les aportenances, le quel maner donail a les chanoines devant tote la people que illeokes fut assemble, et le confirma, per sa chartre. Apres ceo dona il al eglise un chaliz d'or fin, et un coupe d'or, pur mettre dedeins eukariste; et deux chaundelers d'argent d'orrez; et fist l'evesk et l'abbe od tut le covent, et od tutz les prestres qe presentes furent excumenger tutz ceus quy nul des ceus ievens alloyassent de la mesun, for taunt seulement pur feyn et arsun: et il dona adonks al evesk une juste d'argent pleine de pyement la quele il receust pur graunt doum. Et l'evesk dona ameincs l'eglise une chape de queor pourpre, assez honeste et richement aourne des or freys.

Et quant cetes choses furent ben ordines, chescun a sun avenaunt, morust sire Hugh de Mortimer a Clebury, en bone veleste et pleine des bones eoures, et chanoyne profes en la presence de l'abbe Randolph, le quel ly baila l'abit de chanoine od aukuns de ses freres devant sa mort. Dileokes fut le corps porto jeskes a sa abbeic de Wygemore et honoralement enterre perdevant le haut auter; l'alme de quey, sy come nus crennis, repose od elitz de Dieu en joye perdurable, Amen. Pur l'alme de quel Hugh sy est chaunte chescun jour une messe per chanoine, et chescun symaigne l'office de mortz, cet a dire Placebo et Dirige une feez de neof lessons en covent, ovesk la messe matinale l'endemain. Et chescun symaigne pain et cervoyse ove altres vyaundes parties as poveres per la main del aumonier estre autres partisones qe ont fet per my l'an as poveres et a estranges. Et en le jour de sun anniversarie si sunt cent poveres puys soffysonaunt, et chescun avera une niche et deux harankes, et potage, pur ceo que sun anniversaria cheet en Quareme. Les autres aumoynes, qe ont fet pur luy, chescun jour as estas et as estrange en le ostelerye, et per ailours, et les bienfeez cspirituels qe sunt fet per chanoynes pur ly, et serrunt fetz aremenaunt, nombrer ne poit nul home; mes a Ihesu Christ sunt pleinement conews.

Et pur ceo que Roger sun fiz et heir fut tenuz en la garde le roy pur la mort de un Cadwallan a noum, le quel le seons tuerent, les ministres le roy tyndrent le chastel de Wyggemore od les appartenances, en quel temps tresze homes galeys furent pris en bataile, et furent tenuz en prison en le chastel de Wygemore fermement fyrgez; les quels per une nuyt tant, come lor gardeins dormirent, eschaperent jeskes a la dit abbeye, et furent devoutement receuz et reheitez de manger et beivre, et lour firges descheierent d'unt eus furent lyez per miracle; les queus firges furent penduz overtement en l'eglise, et les galeys demorerent ileokes en pcs jeskes a tant qe urent grace de aler a lor pais santz destourber. Plusurs autres cases semblables sunt avenuz a meime cele abbey, les queus ne sunt my escritz en liure, mes sunt per negligence lessecz.

Et quant sire Roger de Mortimer fut lesse hors de la garde du roy, franchement, si vynt al abbey, et fut receu de l'abbe et del covent a graunt joye, et mene per l'abbe et le priour en l'eglise jeskes devant le haut auter; et quant il seo avoit a ore a l'auter, si beisa tote le covent, enpromettant seurte et bone pees; mes ausi tost com la messe fut fynie a sun issir hors de l'eglise, si comensea de lor chalenger durement pur leur maner de Kayham, et comanda qe eus le rendissent a ly, et dist, qe cus a tort le tindrent. Et l'abbe et le covent mistrent lour esperance en Deu et ne soffirent pas qe lor fut tolet un pleni pec del maner. De cco fut sire Roger mut corouce ademesure, et les porsiwyt tant per ly et per les seons, qe contre le jour de Nowel covendreit al abbe et le covent d'aler jeskes a Schobbedon forspris^b poys de chanoines qui demorerent pur garder l'eglise, et illeokes demorerent jeskes apres Nowel qe per comaundement le roy

Henry retournerent a lor abbe: ear le roy comanda a sire Roger, qu'il ne feist mal ne damage as ehanoines, mes les lessast en pees desuz la protectiun de Deu, et la sowe pur Deu servir en quiete.

Dunk desirerent les chanoines mut d'aver amour et benvoilaunee de sire Roger et acord, le prierent devoutement per lors amises qu'il vousist estre lor ami pur l'amour de Deu, et si aveient grant esperance de s'amiste aver. Mes tost apres morut eele dame que avoit la vile de Snitton en dower: la quele vile granta sire Roger devant a eus de la franchement aver vers eus: mes en bref temps fut il broche per mauveys consilers pur la prendre de eus vers ly, et ensi fut fet car eus diseient que eel lyu fut mut prive et eise pur sun reet aver parentre Wygemore in Cleybury: et quant les ehanoines virent ceo, si tindrent en pees come gentz que hairent mut eonteker od lur avowe, et mistrent lor droit a l'ordinaunee de Deu.

Avient en apres que dame Isabelle de Ferrers, la feme a sire Roger de Mortimer, fut enceynte, et passa per Snynton, et illokes herbiga, et devient malade, et en sa maladye fut deliure de un enfant madle; le quel si tost come fut baptize, morust, et fut enterre en l'eglise de Cleibury. Dont la dite Isabelle per procurement des sagez gentz, pria a sun seigneur humblement et devotement en lermant qu'il vousist rendre arere as chanoines lor vile de Snitton, la quel il tynt a tort, et dist, que per encheson de ceo, si aveit grant torment en enfantant, et aveit esperance de aver en grant solaz de la vye de sun fiz, si aveit ele graunt tristure de sa mort. A la request de quy, commanda tost rendre a eus la vile franchement, ovesk le maner de Kayham de aver aremenaunt.

Cele dame Isabelle de Ferrers fut de bon vye et de nette; la quele apres la mort de son seigneur fist fere une bone mesun de gents de religiun a Lechelade,^a pur l'alme sun seigneur et la fowe, et la feffa plentivousement de beles terres et de rentes aremenant; et ileokes est ele enterre.

L'avantdit Roger de Mortimer, fiz al foundur, esteit solunc la demaunde de sun age, jolyf, juveneel, et mult volages de queor, et ankes voluntrif adeprimes, et aveit pres de ly plusurs de leger consail que ly consilerent sovent a sun plaisir, et non pas a sun profit, come le manere est de plusurs losengers qui portent oyl sus pur plere a lor seigneurs que lor chet sovent a damage. Meimes cely Roger de Mortimer, en ieel temps per mauveys consilers, et per sa volunte demeine, fist trop grantz durestes et grevances diversementz al abbe et covent et a lor gentz eontre la franchise de lur eglise. Dunk les bones gentz si sentirent de tutes partz dur demene, et nul esteit qi eider lor pust ne osast, si mistrent tote lor esperance en Deu tot pussant, nuyt et jour humblement et devotement empriantz, qu'il pur sa pite deignast mettre hastif amendement al errour de lor avowe, issi qu'il ne demorast longes en peril d'alme per enchesun de eus, et que eus aver pussent en pees et en quiete les choses que a eus furent donez et a totes jurs en aumoynez.

Endementers tant come eete perseuciun dura, avit per l'ordinaunee de Dieu, ke sire Roger de Mortimer fut cheminant per un matin vers sun deduyt, ovesk sa megne, le jour del anniversarie de sun pierre de quel ly ne sovynt pas adonkes: et come il chevauehont parentre la mesun de malades et la vile Stanweye, si regarda les champs d'ambepartz, les queus sun pere ont done a l'abbeye, et vist les bleez de une part ben ereuz et veriz, et assez espes solun la sesun; si apela aukuns de seons endisant anguissousement: "Veez beals seigneurs, eoment mun pere se tresnoblia et moy de tut mist en obliance, quy fu son fitz eygne et heir, et moylere; a qui per totes resuns dust aver vouehc sauf tot sun heritage santz demembrer ees ehamps que yei vous veez ovesk autres terres et tenementz en desheritaunee de moy, si ad il done a ceaus vileyns del abbeye," et eele ehose regretta sovent. Et tant eom il si angrissons de queor, echevaueha, si sonerent totes les cloches del abbey en manere de glaas: et quant il eeo oyt, si apela un ehanoyne de meymes l'abbeye, qu'esteyt adunk sun chapeleyn,^b et ly demaunda pur que les eloches sonerent tant fort: et il ly respoundy et dist: "Sire hieu a tantz des anz mornt vostre pere, fundour de nostre mesun, et huy est sun obit, pur qui ont fet grant sollempnitee pur s'alme especialment, et a tutz jurs fra et a resun."

feez que ont fist pur ly a la jorneye; et il ly counta, de chef en chef, totz les benfeez que furent fetez pur s'alme en la dite abbeye, come est perdevant escript: et quant il avoit tot a grant leisir paroyee, fut visitee per le seincte espirist, et dist a tote sa meygne; "Aluns nus en le nom de Dieu a l'abbeye, et avisun nun le serviz et la solempnite que om fra ilcokes pur l'alme mun pere." Et echevauehoyent jeskes a l'abbeye; et quant l'abbe fut aperceu de sa venue, si amena tot le covent ovesk ly, et aleyent contre ly en la manere de procession; ear il n'entra mye la mesun, grant pete, pardevant, en lor recustrent honorablement a grant joye et esperance de sanure over et sa benveilance. A tant le abbe chanta la messe, et le covent a haute voyze et a grant devociun chanterent le office que apent: de quele office sire Roger prist tresbone gard en totez pointz, et eoment les centz povers furent servyzez sy fut amerveyle, ben paye et mut repentant de sun errur. Et quant la messe fut tut perchante et tote le office perfet, si apela il l'abbe et le covent en lor chapitre, et les pria pardon mut de humble coer de lor grevances, queus il a eus aveyt fet; et promist per l'eide de Dieu amendement, et fut aeorde a eus, et assouz de sun trespaz, et entrebeysez ly et le covant a grant leeste d'ambipartiez.

Après eeo fist il lire tutz les minumentz que sun pere avoit fet a eus de terres, tenementz, rentes, bois, preez, pastures, communes, mores, et des autres fraunchises, et ensemment des eglises, les quels il lor dona, et des autres les quels il procura estre done a eus, de ses gentz demeyne. Et quant les chartres furent totes perlewes, si agrea quant ke son pere ad fet, et confirma per sa chartre, ensele de sun sel, tot le fet de sun pere, ovesk plusurs eysementz et fraunchisez, les queus il lor dona adonk et apres per ses chartres asseeles. Apres eeo prist il beneyson et eonge del abbe et du covent, si retorna joyowsement a sun chastel de Wygemore.

Tost fut la novelc espendewe par mi le pays, coment il oust este a l'abbaye, et quel ehose il ont ileokes fet: dunt les bonez gentz enaveyent grant joye, et les mauveys tresgrant envye: entre queus envyous si esteit un sun seneschal trop corouce a demesure, si dist a sun seigneur; "Sire! avez vous este al abbeye et conferme tote la fet vostre pere a les ehanoines, et plus de vostre terre a eus avoyte, issy que ne romoint ore endreit pres de eus, terre, prec, pasture, ne mores que eus ne unt del dun de vostre pere, et de vostre, forspris le tresor de Mortimer;" et dist en moskeis. "Ore est bon ke vous doignez cele terre a eus, ke ren ne remeyne a vous ne a vos heires du vostre pres de eus."

Celes paroles dist il en sa entente qu'il ne voleit mie qu'il donast eele terre a eus, mes qu'il la retenesist vers ly meimes. Et quant sire Roger aveit escote ses paroles, demanda des autres quele fut cele place que ont apela le tresor de Mortimer. Et ly fut dist, que ceo fut une croufte joynant a l'abbeye, assez bone terre et large, et a merveile ben fructifiante: et quant il aveit ceo oye des autres, si dist a l'avantdit seneschal. "Par mun chef beels amys ben maveit dit et consile, et apres vostre conseil veil jeo overyr, et pur ceo ke cele place ad a noum Le Tresor de Mortimer, jeo le boudrai a tel tresorer por garder a mun eops, qui le mettra en tele tresorie ou nul larun l'emblera, ne artesun le mangera, ne des bestes defole serra, mes a m'alme fructifieri." Et ausi tost prist il ovesk ly gentz qui eonusseyent la place, et la demustrent a ly: et quant ont fet la vewe, entra en l'abbeye et la dona en pure et en perpetuele aumoyne a la mesun a tutz jours pur s'alme et ces auncestreys, et ces successeurs; et la conferma per sa chartre ensele de sun seel, devant tote le people.

WILLIELMUS Conquestor regnum Angliæ strenuè et victoriosè optinens, in ipsius regem gloriosè exstitit coronatus, interessentibus ad hoc CC.lx. militibus suæ victoriae partiepibus, et à partibus Franciæ et Northmanniæ secum adductis; seilicet domino Radulpho de Mortuomari, milite, omnium strenuissimo, velut altero Sampsonè leonina feritate regis Haraldi exereitum invadente. sertim contra Edrichum Salopiæ comitem, et Wygemoriæ ac Melenythiæ cum pertinentiis dominum, conquestui adhuc non parentem, directus, post longam laboris obsidionem ipsum in eodem castro optentum, dictasque terras et plures alias in Marchia, vi gladii et fortuna, suo quam gloriosè mancipavit dominio; quem et perpetuis carceribus mancipandum, ad dominum suum regem adduxit vinctum, dictamque mancipationem castri de Dyneytha in Melenyth, per eum constructi, tuitione quam bellicosè munivit.

Demùm Will. Conquestore, ac Will. Rufo filio suo, post illum rege, universæ carnis viam dilapsis, ac Henrico, tertio ejusdem Conquestoris filio, in regem erecto; Robertus Curthosc frater ejusdem Henrici, Northmanniæ tunc dux, regno Jerosolomitano neglecto, Franciam et Northmanniam contra dictum Henricum commovendo belli aciem dirigere pro regno laborat; contra cujus commotionem sedandam, ac Northmanniam pacificandam, idem Radulfus de Mortuomari, miles strenuissimus, et in belli negotiis providissimus, per prædictum Henricum, grandi cum exercitu capitaneus, in partes dirigitur Northmanniæ, qui et ejusdem Roberti exercitum quassavit, ac ipsum dicto Henrico captivatum, sibi regnum stabiliendo transmisit; ac tunc post tot varia hujus mundi transitorii et militaris gloriæ blandimenta futuram et permansuram gloriam adepturus, idem dominus Radulphus de licentia dicti Henrici regis, ultimum condens eulogium, in quo abbatia de Wyg. foundationem, dotationem et constructionem, divina revelatione ad hoc instigatus, ordinavit, ac filium suum Hugonem, in omnibus suis citramarinis, hæredem et executorem sibi constituit universalem, Oliveri de Merlymond militis sui sagacis et providi viri tutelæ ac curæ, eundem committendo. Ac sic locum-tenens ejusdem regis in Northmannia per eum ad vitam creatus, dies suo in dominio et officio, ac partibus propriis suæ perlaudandæ senectutis dies, quàm gloriosè suis posteris, suæ probitatis exempla relinquens, in Domino finivit. Dictaque constructione per dictum Oliverum de Merlymond apud Schobdon incepta, ad ejusdem loci dotationem, et demùm apud Wyggemore, ubi proprius erat sollempne secularium canonicorum collegium, ipsiusque loci ad dotationem, ac tertio inde propter aquæ penuriam, populique perversitatem ac loci strictitudinem, ad locum ubi modo situatur, translata.

Iste illustrissimus miles dominus Radulphus de Mortuomari post diuturnas hujus mundi fatigationes, pridie nonas Augusti A.D. M.C. ab hoc ergastulo migravit ad Dominum; sed antequam ad sidera vocatus erat, misit conjugem filio suo Hugoni de Normannia ad Angliam, nomine Matildem Longespey, filiam Willielmi Longespey, ducis Normanniæ. Hic etiam dominus Radulphus de Mortuomari, cito post conquestum castri de Wyggemore, anno videlicet Domini M.C. constituit tres præbendas canonicorum secularium in eccl. villæ de Wyg. per assensum Gerardi episcopi Herefordiæ; de quibus postea Hugo filius suus primogenitus dotavit abbatiam de Wyggemore, unâ cum certis aliis terris in prima creatione sive foundatione ejusdem abbatiæ, per ipsum Hugonem incepta. Hic denique Radulphus reliquit filium juniorem, nomine Willielmum, per modicum tempus dominum de Chelmersh ex curialitate dicti domini Hugonis fratris sui senioris; et postea dominum de Netherleye, ex singulari dono et speciali ejusdem domini Hugonis.

Iste quidem Hugo fidelis paternæ voluntatis exequator, monasterium de Wyggemore, ubi jam situatur, primum etiam lapidem propriis manibus ponendo, fundavit, propriisque expensis construxit; et in hunc modum liberando easdem terras cum suis tenementis ab omni exactione temporali, præter ipsius monasterii, largifluè dotavit an. Domini M.C.LXXIX. necnon de Kayham, et Schobdon maneriis, et de medietate nemoris de Mottre, unâ cum cæteris plurimis terris, moris, pratis, pasturis, redditibus et serviciis, multò plenius in libris dictæ abbatiæ specificatis; unâ cum ecclesiis de Wyggemore, Cleobury, Leynctewardyn, Nene, Huggelcy, Burley, Lyddeburie North, Schobdone, Ailmondstreo, et Cheilmersh, cum omnibus capellis earum.

Iste Hugo probitatis paternæ non expers, Southwallensium rebelliones militatè, inclitè et sæpius domavit, eorumque dominos, scilicet Resum ap Howell, Howelum ap Owen, et Conwen fratrem suum, villam de Kardigan vastantes, captivavit; castra Kermurdine et Mapudryth, ac Camareon ædificavit: ac sic, post varia et laudabilia probitatis sui merita, præsentem vitam transitoriam, meliorem volens in frugem transmutare ordinem monasterii de Wyggemore prædicti professus, in senectute bona ab hac luce xxvi. die mensis Februarii A.D. M.C.LXXXV. subtractus, filium suum Rogcrum, ex Matilda filia Willielmi Longespeye suscitatum, universorum dimisit hæredem; pro cujus anima una specialis missa cotidiana, cum aliis nonnullis elemozinis, devotisque orationibus in dicto monasterio, prout in eodem de facto pater, ubi tumulatur, noscitur esse celebrata; relinquens alios filios, scilicet Hugonem, Radulphum, et Willielmum.

Qui quidem Hugo interfectus fuit in torneamento apud Wygorniam; sed antequam ab hac luce migravit, suscepit dominam Feliciam de sancto Sydonio in uxorem, quibus Hugo pater ejus supradictus dedit manerium de Cheilmersh, unâ cum manerio de Suddebury, quæ Willielmus avunculus istius Hugonis, prius tenuit, ex concessione Hugonis (primi fundatoris præscripti) fratris sui; et quod manerium de Cheilmersh cum suis pertinentiis dicta domina Felicia, marito suo præmortuo, in sancta viduitate perseverans, plenariè et absolutè, pro xxxiii^{or}. marcis argenti prius solutis, sursum reddidit domino Rogero primo-genito subscripto, et pro se et omnibus posteris suis, eidem domino Rogero totum statum suum finaliter dedit, remisitque ac relaxavit.

Williehnus, miles in bello partibus transmarinis, captus; ibique mortuus et sepultus, ac sine conjugè et prole ad sydera migratus.

Iste Rogerus filius et hæres Hugonis, fundatoris præcitati, rebelliones etiam Wallensium strenuissimè domavit, ac duodecim majores illorum in uno conflictu^a per eum captivatos, suis carceribus mancipavit; suosque domini fines viriliter dilatavit; latronesque et furcs à partibus fortiter extirpavit, ac in anniversario patris sui unâ die ad abbatiam de Wyggemore condescendens, de tanta et devota solempnitate, orationumque effusione, pauperumque refocillatione centum, cum aliis elemozinis in câ parte factis, non modicè gavisus, omnia per patrem suum dicto monasterio donata, ex certa scientia benignè confirmavit: et ultrà, fertilissimum campum, prope monasterium situatum, Thesaurum Mortemer nuncupatum, in puram et perpetuam elemosinam donavit; de quo seneschallus suus indignatus, quasi increpando dixit, "Credo quod vosmet et vestros exhæredare nitimur, sicut et pater vester antea fecit, et præsertim de illo vestro aureo campo, propter sui nobilitatem et fertilitatem Mortymeri Thesauro vocato, aliis agris deficientibus indeficienti fructu insignito." Tunc idem Rogerus respondit; "Illum campum thesaurum meum ubi furcs non furantur, neque fodunt, nec tinea demollitur thesaurizandum reposui."

Temporeque regis Johannis, Howelus filius Cadwalhlon, et Madoc filius Maylgon, prætendentes se in feodi firma ad Melenyth jus habere, cum maxima summa pecuniæ ab eo xii. militum in hac parte juratorum veredictum redimerunt; qui et isti Rogero terram de Melenyth liberè et hæreditariè possidendam dederunt, ut in sequentibus plenius patebit.

Radulphus de Mortuomari, abbas Radulphi de Mortuomari, filii Rogeri de Mortuomari, venit ad conquestum Angliæ cum Will. dicto Bastard, tunc rege Angliæ; qui rex dedit dicto Radulpho plures terras in Anglia, et etiam in Marchia; inter quas dedit ei quandam terram quæ vocatur Melenyth, quam, quidam eomes, nomine Edricus (et Anglicus) tenuit ante conquestum, et in tempore conquestus, scilicet Normannorum, quo tempore idem Edricus cum suis complicitibus, et toto pago adjacente, captus fuit manu forti per conquestum dicti Radulphi abbati Radulphi prædicti, castro suo ad tunc de Wyggemore modo hæredum ipsius Radulphi, viz. Mortuomariorum, abbatiæ de Wyggemore fundatorum. Et quia idem Edricus noluit conquestui parere, sicut cæteri Anglici, abstulit ei dictam terram per considerationem curiæ suæ; et ipse rex dedit eam dicto Radulpho hæreditariè possidendam, et ipse firmavit in ea quoddam castrum vocatum Dynyeytha. Terram verò prædictam tenuit dictus Radulphus tota vita sua.

Mortuo eo, successit ei in hæreditate quidam filius suus, Hugo nomine, qui levavit quoddam castrum in dicta terra de Melenyth, quod vocabatur Cameran: et ipse Hugo terram illam possedit tota vita sua. Isto verò Hugoni successit quidam filius suus, nomine Rogerus, qui dictam terram tenuit omnibus diebus vitæ suæ. Tempore verò bonæ memoriæ regis Johannis, et tempore ipsius Rogeri, venerunt Howelus filius Cathwahtlan, et Madoc filius Maylgon, et dederunt ipsi regi Johanni maximam pœcc . . . per sic, quod per sacramentum proborum et legalium militum de comitatibus Salopiæ et Herefordiæ inquiri faceret, utrum ipsi Howelus et Madoc majus jus haberent tenendi terram de Melenyth de dicto Rogero, per quandam firmam sibi annuatim reddendam, quam ipse Rogerus tenendi illam in dominico, quod sic concessum fuit eis per regem; et electi sunt milites xii. de utroque comitatu coram justiciariis ad hoc per regem constitutis apud Salopiam, qui jurati dixerunt, quod dictus Rogerus majus jus habuit tenendi dictam terram in dominico suo, quam ipsi ad firmam; et sic remansit dictus Rogerus in scisina dictæ terræ, sicut de jure suo; scilicet deterra quam possederat hæreditariè, et eidem adjudicata fuerat per sacramentum, ut prædictum est.

Isti Rogero successit quidam filius, nomine Hugo, qui prædictam terram tenuit usque ad guerram motam inter dominum regem et barones suos. Et quia in dicta guerra dictus Hugo semper se tenuit cum domino suo rege Johanne, et noluit ad mandatum Lewelini principis, et domini Egidii de Breuse tunc episcopi Herefordiæ, venire, scilicet contra fidem domini regis, dicti Lewelinus et Egidius cum complicibus suis, castrum de Kamaran invaserunt et funditus prostraverunt. Tunc temporis fuit dominus Guoal legatus in Anglia, et autoritate domini papæ qua fungebatur, sententiam promulgavit in omnes qui aliquid abstulerant domino regi vel complicibus suis, nisi venirent ad satisfactionem tempestivè; ita quod captum fuit quoddam colloquium apud Wygemore, ad quod dictus Lewelinus venit, et de mera voluntate sua, et sine aliqua coactione dixit totam terram de Melenyth esse jus et hæreditatem dicti Hugonis et hæredum suorum, et illam eidem præstito sacramento corporaliter, coram omnibus concessit, et per literas suas patentis mandavit omnibus hominibus de Melenyth, quod in omnibus essent intendentes et respondentes dicto Hugoni, sicut domino suo ligeo.

In prædicto verò colloquio notatum fuit de amissionibus et dampnis dicti Hugonis, per occupationem hominum suorum, et castri sui, et æstimata et taxata fuerunt^a dampna ad quingentas marcas; et per dominum Stephanum bonæ memoriæ tunc archiep. Cantuar., et per alios Angliæ magnates provisum fuit, quod dictus Lewelinus debuit reddere dicto Hugoni, tertiam partem dictæ pecuniæ, et Mailgon reddet eidem Hugoni aliam tertiam partem, et Wenhoven aliam tertiam partem. Hugone postea mortuo, successit ei Radulphus frater ejus, qui dictam terram tenuit usque ad mortem suam, et firmavit in ea duo castra, scilicet Kevencles, et Knoclas. Quo mortuo, quia Rogerus filius ejus, qui nunc est, non fuit plenæ ætatis, dominus rex habuit custodiam ditorum castrorum, et dictæ terræ, sicut aliarum terrarum suarum, quousque dictus Rogerus satisfecit regi pro terris suis; et extunc tenuit dictus Rogerus dictas terras et castra per xv. annos, donec imminente guerra prodita fuerant dicta castra per homines suos.

Domina Milesaunt filia . . . comitis Derbyæ, prima consors antedicti domini Rogeri, fundatoris secundi abbathie de Wygemore. Qui quidem Rogerus viii. kal. Julii A.D. m.c.c.xv. dies suos sic laude plenos, posteris suis, probitatis et bonitatis exemplum relinquens, eum parentibus suis gloriosè finivit et dominabatur; relictis duobus filiis Hugone et Radulpho successivè hæredibus: Hugonem verò ex prima uxore sua Milesaunt filia comitis Derbyæ; Radulphumque ex Isabella secunda uxore, filia domini de Ferrers de Lechelade, procreavit; necnon Robertum et Philippum. Quæ quidem Isabella fecit apud Lechelade domum religionis, et ibi sepelitur.

Hugo iste juvenis elegantissimus,^b fortis viribus, moribus præclarus, verax et justus, omnes in sui amorem suarum virtutum, exigentibus meritis, aliciebat. Barones tamen regni sui parcs, postea fervida guerra diu suum regem Johannem prosequentes, in istum dominum Hugonem postea, quia eis non faventem, Egidium Brewes episcopum Herefordensem, necnon Lewelinum apud Zeruorgh, Northwalliæ; necnon Wcnwyn-wen Powysia principes; necnon Maylgon alterum potentem Wallensem, ipsorum fautores et complices, in ipsum concitaverunt; qui concitati terras suas de Melnyth vastantes, infestârunt, castrumque suum de Camaron prostrârunt. Ipse tamen eos postea viriliter audaci sub clipco dictos Wallenses in deditionem et emendam coegit, ipsorumque rabies eocruit ac domavit, quingentas marcas in emendam ab eis recipiens: denique Lewelinus princeps ipsum eundem Hugonem, verum dominum de Melenyth etiam sub sigillo suo recognovit, seque de cætero ipsum in dictis terris nullatenus molestaturum ad sancta Dei Evangelia et juravit. Insuper et tenentibus eidem Hugoni, tanquam vero domino, ut parerent suis literis et mandavit.

Iste Hugo dominio de Cheilmersh, quo per patrem suum Rogerum prædictum infeodatus fuit, et Radulphum fratrem suum juniorem infeodavit. Demùm confractus et collisus in quodam torniamento, quarto idus Novembris A.D. m.c.c.xxvii. ab hac luce absque prole, prout nec uxoratus legitur, transivit ad æterna, juxta patrem suum in abbathia de Wygemore tumulatus.

Radulphus frater suus junior ex Isabella Ferrers, secunda uxore, collegii sive hospitalis de Lechclade fundatrice,^c et ibi tumulata, procreatus, successit in dominium. Iste Radulphus, bellicosus vir et strenuus, militatiter fines suos dilatavit, et ultra omnes prædecessores rabies Wallensium redomavit; et eos, ac præsertim dicti Lewelini principis terras devastando perdomavit; ac possessiones suas duobus castris de novo per eum constructis, scilicet Kenthles et Knokelas fortificavit; unde dictus Lewelinus princeps ipsius audaciam et fortunam sufferre nequiens, sibi Gwladusam Duy, filiam suam, cum omnibus terris de Kery et Kedewyn, castrisque et fortificiis, cum omnimodis earundem districta jurisdictione et honore, collocavit in uxorem. Et sic dilatato et pacificato quam gloriosè dominio suo ubique, viii. id. Augusti A.D. m.c.c.xlvii. ab hac luce subtractus, cum parentibus suis in abbathia de Wygemore exstitit sepultus.

Tempore etiam istius domini Radulphi, anno viz. Domini m.c.c.xxi. Hugone fratre suo superstite, Johannes rex Angliæ perdidit Normanniam, eò quòd pluries vocatus ad faciendum homagium regi Franciæ pro dicta Normannia, renuit omnino venire. In qua quidem Normannia iste dominus Radulphus existens ad defendendum, quantum in se fuit, justiciam dicti Johannis regis Angliæ, prout moris est progenitorum suorum, à rege Franciæ, manu centupliciter fortiori, captus est. Quo facto Wallenses læti et hillares, suas sævitias audaciùs exercentes, prima die dominica in Quadragesima, monasterium S. Jacobi de Wygemore antedictum, absque misericordiæ respectu invaserunt; et præter rerum mobilium substantiam, quam secum prædaverant, ac aliarum multitudinem, tribulationum, quam eis diutiùs intulerunt, omnes domos, officinas regulares, miserabili incendio in cineres et favillas combusserunt. Quæ quidem vorax flamma per filios iniquitatum, in camera sub dormitorio primò incensa, exierat; dormitorio ascendit, et flamma invalescente, ventoque contrario, omnes domos, officinas, cum quamplurimis hujus mundi divitiis transitoriis, quas enumerare longum est, in favillam et cinerem redegit, excepta majore ecclesia, quam Dominus misericordissima pietate sua, ad ineffabile doloris sibi in eadem famulantium solamen, incolumem reservavit.

Domina Gwladusa filia Lewelini principis Walliæ, et Johanniæ filia Johannis regis Angliæ, sponsa domini Rad. antedicti, peperit Rogerum de Mortuomari, primo-genitum, Petrum Johannem fratrem ordinis Minorum, domus sive conventus Salopiæ; et Hugonem dominum de Cheilmersh, qui jacet in medio capellæ beatæ Mariæ virginis.

dicta hastiludia in dictis regnis præconizata, flasculas lignecas, deauratis barris, et cera ligatos, vini sub specie, auro tamen plenos, in dicta abbathia de Wyggemore adhuc habitos, eidem Rogero fertur transmisisse. Ipseque dominus Rogerus, ejusdem reginæ ob amorem, carbunculum armis suis, ad totam vitam suam addidisse noscitur.

Inter alia istius Rogeri gloriosa facta, unum signanter duxi memorandum, quod rege Henrico tertio tunc regnante, et Edwardo primo-genito suo post eum rege, per Symonem Mountfort comitem Leycestriæ in bello de Lewis captivatis, idem Edwardus primo-genitus in castro de Hereford, sub carcerali custodiâ cõstitit positus, quem et idem Rogerus in hunc modum liberavit; unum dextrarium velocissimum sibi transmittendo et secretè per nuncium quod receptâ licentiâ a custodibus, ipsius velocitatem in Wydmersh probaret, et captatâ oportunitate, quando unum alium in equo albo ad ascensum montis versûs Tullinton sedentem (dominum de Crofte ad tunc ut dicitur) et capillum suum moventem videret, omni cautelâ possibili ad eum in eodem equo fugeret, velocitati ipsius equi satis confisurus; quod et concensum est; et die ad hoc statutâ, ac per dictum nuntium præcaptatâ, totâque patriâ ad custodiam dicti Edwardi, ne fugæ se poneret, congregatâ, dum idem Edwardus eundem equum ascenderet, bene illum nuncium, ut supra, capillum suum moventem conspexit, ac equum calcaribus coactum, omnibus invitis, evadendo se direxit; et licet à multitudine illa, in equis et pedibus persecutus fuerat; tamen in tantum omnes illius equi probitate præeessit, dictum nuncium sequendo, quod ad parcam de Tullinton, ubi dictus dominus Rogerus de Mortemer, in sui succursum, cum quingentis armatis dilituerat, salvus evasit; quos et idem Rogerus, tanquam leo rugiens invadendo et trucidando, usque portus Herefordiæ persecutus, eundem Edwardum primo-genitum ad castrum suum de Wygemore adduxit, ipsumque magno exercitu, et præcipuè Wallensium^a stipavit multitudine, ac cum eo in liberationem patris sui, regis Henrici, per dominum Simonem Mountfort, ubique etiam displicato vexillo, pro captivo ducti transivit, et bello exinde, quarto die mensis Augusti an. Dom. m.c.c.lxv. in valle de Evesham et prope eam, inter eos inito, cecidit dictus Simon Mountfort cum suis complicibus et fauctoribus, in multitudine etiam procerum et nobilium glomerata; et sic industria dicti domini Rogeri, dictus Henricus rex liberatur à dicto Edwardo primo-genito, stabilitur regnum.

Unde et idem rex Henricus dictum dominum Rogerum de Mortemer, dictarum terrarum de Kery et Kedewyn confirmationi, ac castrum de Delvoryn per David ap Lewelin avunculum suum constructi, collationi, et libertatis domini de Wyggemore innotata, roborationi, et aliis honoribus et munificentis remuneravit; et in vigilia apostolorum Simonis et Jude apud Kyngeston, an. Dom. m.c.c.lxxxii. ad sidera transcendit, cum progenitoribus suis in abbathia de Wyggemore tumulatur.

Domina Matilda de Breuse, uxor domini Rogeri præscripti, filia primo-genita domini Willielmi de Breuse, et Evæ, quintæ filiæ, et quintæ hæredis Willielmi Mareschalli comitis Pembrochiæ, qui dicebatur Vetus Mareschallus, filii Ricardi Strongebowe, filii et hæredis Gilberti Strongebowe comitis Pembrochiæ et domini de Strughul, ac totius Nether-Wencie, Waltero fratre suo seniore præmortuo, primo fundatore abbathie de Tinterna in Wallia, filii Ricardi comitis de O. filii et hæredis domini Willielmi domini de Wolaston et de Tudenham, qui primò venit cum Wil. Conquestore Angliæ, filii Osberti comitis de O. dicta etiam Matilda de Brewes, ex altera parte fuit filia Evæ, quintæ filiæ, et quintæ hæredis supradicti Willielmi Mareschalli, et Isabellæ uxoris ejusdem Willielmi filiæ unicæ et hæredis Evæ uxoris supradicti Ricardi Strongebow, filii et hæredis Mecmorwy reguli Lageniæ; cui Ricardo prædictus Mecmorwy dedit in maritagium cum dicta Eva filia sua unica et hærede, totam Lageniam in Hibernia, videlicet quartam partem Hiberniæ.

Quæ quidem domina Matilda præfata Rogero de Mortuomari viro suo peperit, Radulphum primo-genitum, militem, qui obiit ante decessum patris sui; Edmundum qui successit in hæreditate; Rogerum dominum de Chirke; Galfridum militem, qui etiam ante patris sui decessum, obiit, et in dicta abbathia jacet humatus; et Willielmum militem strenuissimum, ac propugnatores fortissimum.

Qui quidem Rogerus (tertio-genitus) fuit dominus de Chirke. Hic tùm propter illud dominum, eò quòd fuit annexum dominiis comitis Arundeliæ, cùm propter sinistra ex adversariis, sibi licet minus justè imposita, nequiter et injustè detentus erat in prisiona regis Edwardi tertii, infra Turrim Londini per quatuor annos et dimidium, et ibidem absque judicio et responsione obiit, viz. tertio die mensis Augusti, anno Dom. m.ccc.xxxvi. inde deductus fuit usque abbathiam de Wygemore, et ibidem sepultus est inter progenitores suos, per manus domini Adæ Herefordiæ episcopi, die dominica, in festa exaltationis S. Crucis anno supradicto. Hic habuit uxorem nomine Luciam, filiam domini Roberti de Wafre, quæ peperit ei filium nomine Rogerum, cui accidit tota hæreditas dicti domini Roberti de Wafre avi sui. Qui quidem Rogerus filius Rogeri et Luciæ habuit dominam Johannam de Tubervyle in uxorem.

Iste Edmundus regi et reginæ carus, moribusque præclarus, ipsorum in curia nutritus, ingruente postea guerrâ inter eundem dominum regem et Lewelinum ap Griffith principem Walliæ, propter consanguinitatem patruclum inter ipsum Edmundum et dictum Lewelinum habitam, aliquantulum ipsius gwerræ tempore in Wallia vibratâ, suspectus, quia habebatur fortius, rabiem et rebellionem ipsius Lewelini ad domandum laboravit; et finaliter in congressu et conflictu belli inter eos, apud Boelt, habiti, idem Lewelinus cecidit, per eum ad mortem prostratus, ac in castro suo de Wygemore, vii. die kal. August. an. Dom. m.ccc.iiii. ab hac luce ad sidera migravit, et in dicta abbathia de Wyggemore cum suis progenitoribus jacet humatus.

Qui quidem Johannes (filius secundo-genitus) tertio nonas Januarii an. Dom. m.ccc.xviii. in torneamento apud Wigorniam interfectus, in abbathia prædicta humatus. Ipse enim et Johannes de Leyburne simul colludere voluerunt, qui ambo quasi coetanei videbantur, ætatis circiter xviii. annorum; qui cum simul convenirent dictus Johannes de Leyburne, cum non posset hastam suam pro debilitate, juxta illius ludi naturam, pro voluntate rectè dirigere, percussit eundem dominum Johannem de Mortimer casu fortuito, invitum, in ventre; qui in crastino perceptis sacramentis ecclesiasticis, mortuus est, et cum dolore plangendus. Ae abbathiam antedictam adductus, ibidem inter progenitores suos jacet humatus.

cujus maritagium rex Edwardus secundus sibi contulerat, contra Griffinum ejusdem Hawysiae patrum, in ipsam et maritum suum, cum omnibus pagencibus insurgentem, ac ipsos dominio de Powys spoliare intententem, Powysiam manu militari intravit; necnon eundem Griffinum, post diutinos hujusmodi labores, quibus et patriam depredavit, ad pacem coegit; ipsosque Johannem et Hawysiam in dominium de Powys stabilivit, pacificavit, et optinuit; Necnon postea, Johanni, filio eorum et hæredi, filiam suam Matildam maritavit, et in remuneratione præmissorum, terras Powysiae, cum foresta de Ucheldre inter rivos de Ryw et Elegy situata, dominio suo de Kedewyn adjacentes, sibi et suis hæreditariè ab eisdem Johanne et Hawysia recepit possidendas.

Iste etiam Rogerus, vir magnanimus et strenuus, contra Hugonem, Despenser juniorem, in jure uxoris suæ, tertiæ filiae comitis Gloucestriae, tertiam partem comitatus habentem, licet quinque mille marcarum per annum valentem, ea tamen non contentum, sed alias duas sorores suis partibus spoliare nitendo, contra justitiam et regni jura, sibi illas duas partes, vi etiam armatâ et exercitus ducendo, commotiones et seditiones faciendo, pacem regni turbando sibi usurpare laborantem, in Glamorganciam, associatis sibi Humfredo Bowne comite Herefordiæ, et domino Rogero Mortimer, domino de Chirke, avunculo suo, acies dirigit, et villam de Kardyf, cum pago adjacente, ditioni suæ coegit: necnon dominum Georgium Gorges, castrum custodem, post magnos insultus labores militares captum et vulneratum, ad castrum suum de Wygmore secum captivum advexit. Deinde immediatè castrum de Clone, cum omnibus terris, forestis, villis, et juribus, districtoque jurisdictione et honore, ea ad se jure hæreditario pertinere informatus, occupavit, ac fidelitatem et homagium à tenentibus recepit: quas terras, cum omnibus aliis terris comitis Arundelliae, citra Sabrinam in Wallia sitas, per mortem Edmundi Arundelliae comitis, morti dampnati et traditi apud Hereford, quia forisfactas, sibi postea rex Edwardus contulit tertius.

Postea eodem anno Thomæ comiti Lancastræ, et dictis Humfredo et Rogero, ac omnibus magnatibus Marchiæ sociatus, in viridibus tunicis, cum manibus dextris crocei coloris, versùs Londinum in magno exercitu transiit, qui ab omnibus quasi prælatis et proceribus regni, tractantibus, et cordis cum tripudio, juramento etiam præstito quod ad emendationem regis et regni, et præsertim ad castigationem dicti Hugonis Spenser, ex viribus insisterent, extitit receptus; verùm quia rex Edwardus hujusmodi proposito non contentus, partem in contrariam fecit, ac comitivam sibi indies in ipsorum quassationem aggregavit et multiplicavit, unde dicti congregati et præsertim dicti domini Rogerus et Rogerus gratiam inde sperantes, regi se subdiderunt, quam et rex se facere finxit, ipsos tamen sic redditos, diversis Angliæ carceribus, dictos duos Rogeros Turri, Londonensi mancipavit.

Idemque dominus Rogerus, dominus de Wygmore, certificato quod rex incunctanter ipsum neci tradere proposuit, postquam ibidem per annum et dimidium in arcta stetit custodia, domino Rogero avunculo suo ibi demisso, et mortuo in vigilia advinculæ S. Petri, ejus evasit interventu carceris custodia, ad Franciam, ubi à rege Karolo, et ab aliis regni magnatibus, consanguineis suis, honorificè est susceptus; unde et in honorem S. Petri, capellam in ulteriori warda castrum de Lodelawe, illam capellam S. Petri vocatam, cum unius capellani ibi perpetuo celebraturi cantaria noscitur construxisse, reginam et Edwardum primo-genitum, et Edmundum comitem Kanciae, fratrem suum, dictumque dominum Rogerum, ac plurimos magnates in Francia tunc existentes, rex Edwardus secundus ab Angliæ exulavit regno, et exilium per regni comitatus publicari et mandari fecit. Necnon postea regem Franciæ, pecuniis corruptum, ad eosdem captivos sibi in Angliam transmittendos, nequiter corrupit; unde et regina, dictique magnates, dicta traditione præmuniti, ad dominum Willielmum comitem Henaudiae, quàm cautè, quàmque latenter recesserunt, cujus freti auxilio. Unde et Edwardus, dictus primo-genitus, postea rex, dominam Philippam ejus filiam duxit in uxorem, fratre suo domino Johanne eis capitaneum ad hoc delegato, cum mille quingentis armatis et aliis suis expensis in c.xl. navibus viii. kal. Octobris, an. Dom. m.ccc.xxvii. in Angliam direxit; quorum adventum proceres et populares laudantes, ad xx. milia statim adunati, receperunt in dextera; dictusque Edwardus hujusmodi adventu tertius, cum suis adulatoribus, retortisque consiliariis à facie reginæ et primo-geniti sui, ut supra, inter cæteros exulatorum ad montana Glamorganciae in Wallia fugam arripuit. De quibus, quotquot captis regina et primo-genitus, prout jura, regni que statuta exigebant, justiciam sunt executi.

Rogerus prædictus dominus de Wygmore à domino Edwardo tertio rege, anno regni sui primo, apud Sarum, unà cum Johanne de Eltham regis fratre, et Jacobo le Boteler de Hybernia, in comites Cornubiæ et Ormandiæ creatis, et Marchiæ creatur comes. Post hæc ad Fratres Minores Salopiæ in honore tumulatum in vigilia S. Andræ apostoli, an. Dom. m.ccc.xxxi.

Iste Rogerus comes et Johanna uxor ejus habuerunt exitum, Edmundum primo-genitum, Marchiæ comitem; Rogerum militem; Galfridum comitem Jubmensem et dominum de Cowyth, Johannem interfectum in hastiludio apud Salopiam; Katherinam nuptam domino Thomæ de Bello-campo comiti Warwykie; Johannam nuptam domino Jacobo de Audeley; Agnetam nuptam domino Johanni Hastyns comiti Pembrochiæ; Margaretam nuptam Thomæ filio Mauricii de Berkley; Matildam nuptam Johanni filio et hæredi Johannis de Chorleton domini de Powys; Blanchiam nuptam domino Petro de Graunson; et Beatricem nuptam Edwardo filio et hæredi domini Thomæ Brotherton comitis maresealli, et eo defuncto, domino Thomæ de Breusa.

^a Edmundus juvenis, probitate, sensu, et scientiâ præclarus, quo ævorum splendor in juventutis floribus posteris suis exempli gloriam relinquens; longè ante optatum finem successit telâ, heu! apud Staunton-Lacy labitur in fata, et apud dictam abbathiam cum suis progenitoribus humatus. Iste Edmundus suis meritis exigentibus, cum duobus fratribus suis, Rogero et Gaufrido, in coronatione regis Edwardi tertii, militiæ et gloriæ cingulum ab eodem rege recepit; uxoremque Elizabetham, filiam domini Bartholomei, dicti domini divitis, et Badelesmere et de Ledys, solempniter duxit; ex qua et infrascriptum Rogerum et fratrem suum subscriptum noscitur procreâsse.

Iste etiam Edmundus, inter cætera probitatis opera, memoriæ digna, nonnullas terras sibi et uxori suæ, per maritagium talliatas, per obitum patris sui injustè sibi ablatas, sensu et probitate recuperavit; et ut supradicitur, apud Staunton-Lacy xvii. kal. Januarii, an. Dom. m.ccc.xxxi. gloriosè finivit.

Quædam cronica dicunt, quod iste non fuit comes; quibus fides non est adhibenda, quia recorda regalia in contrarium testificant, per sic.

“Edwardus Dei gratia rex Angliæ et Franciæ, dominus Hiberniæ, omnibus ad quos præsentis literæ pervenerint salutem. Sciatis quod commisimus dilecto consanguineo et fidei nostro Will. de Bohun comiti Northamptoniæ, et Elizabethæ uxori ejus, quæ fuit uxor Edmundi de Mortuomari nuper comitis Marchiæ defuncti, qui de nobis tenuit in capite, custodiam castrum de Cnoklas et Pulithe cum pertinentiis in Marchia Walliæ, quod fuit predicti Edmundi, et quod ratione minoris ætatis Rogeri filii et hæredis ejusdem Edmundi, et in manu nostra, et in custodia dilecti nobis Johannis Dancok pro c^s. nobis inde annuatim reddendo existit; ut dicitur. Habendum et tenendum præfatis comiti et Elizabethæ matri prædicti hæredis à festo S. Michaelis proximo futuro, cum omnibus ad custodiam illam spectantibus, usque ad legitimam ætatem ejusdem hæredis, &c. T. meipso apud Certeseys vi. die Septembris an. regni nostri Angliæ xv. regni verò nostri Franciæ secundi.”

Rogerus^b filius ejus trium annorum ex præscripta Elizabetha, successit in hæreditate. Iste Rogerus postea fortis viribus, gloriâ belli strenuus, in consilio providus, in omni morum honestate laudabilis, summique regni consiliarius, regem Edwardum tertium prædictum, in sui belli Franciæ gloria, ejusque regnum sensu, probitate, et industria, rexit; à quo et reversionem sententiæ in avum suum Rogerum (Rogerum primum Marchiæ comitem) improvisè, et sine procerum regni assensu, injustè latæ, omnium terrarum restitutione gloriosè optinuit. Comes tamen Arundeliæ præterdit quo ad castrum de Chirk, cum pago adjacente, relaxationem in ea parte ab eo habere.

Iste etiam Rogerus ex Philippa uxore sua, filia domini Willielmi Mountagu comitis Sarum, Edmundum gloriosum infrascriptum filium procreatum hæredem dimisit, et in Burgundia expeditionis ducens exercitum, cum omni militia Angliæ dolore non modico, militiam suam terrestrem in cœlestem commutans, dies præmaturè apud Roneray xxvi. die mensis Februarii, an. Dom. m.ccc.lxx. finivit; cujus ossa abindè ad dictam abbathiam de Wygemore, cum suis progenitoribus transferuntur tumulanda.

Iste Edmundus, ipsorum Rogeri et Philippæ filius unicus et primo-genitus, natus est apud Langonith in vigilia Purificationis beatæ Mariæ Virginis, anno Domini m.ccc.li. et regni regis Edwardi tertii in Anglia xxv. ac regni sui Franciæ xii. Hic, propter teneritatem ætatis, in custodia regis Edwardi adhuc existens, tamen propter ingenii perspicacitatem virtutumque excellentiam, et alias morum probitates, quibus Deus ipsum insignivit, decimo octavo ætatis suæ anno, ad tractandum cum toto consilio Franciæ, de et super utriusque regni pace, et tranquillitate, sollempnis per regem et regnum transmittitur ambaciator; à quo tractatu cum laude regressus, et honorificè à rege et regno susceptus, ad regnum Scotiæ consimiliter ad tractandum transmittitur; in quibus, et omnibus suis exigentibus meritis, gloriam et laudem reportavit; ac regis et regni consiliarius præficitur supremus, ac si patricius omnibus diebus in gloria sublimatus.

Iste etiam Edmundus meritò dictus gloriosus, dominam Philippam filiam unicam et hæredem domini Leonelli ducis Clarentiæ, Angliæ regis Edwardi tertii secundo-geniti, ac Edwardo bellicoso primo-genito, Walliæ principi, quia sine hærede ex rege Ricardo secundo, unico suo prole, decedentis immediati, uxorem habens, non solùm per eam posteros suos Angliæ et Franciæ regum, jure et sanguine illuminavit, ac decoravit, verumetiam dicti ducatus Clarentiæ, Walsyng-ham, Berdefeld, Sudebury, Hyndene, Fynchefeld, Whaddon, Cranbourne, Knolle, Pymperne, Brymmesfeld, et Styple, in Anglia; verumetiam Uske, Carlyon, et Trillet, regalibus dominiis in Wallia; ac Ultoniæ, tertioque christianitatis comitatus in dominio Konaciæ in Hibernia possessionibus et aliis ditissimè et quàm gloriosè sublimavit. Iterum iste benignissimus Edmundus cum duce Britanniæ, rege et regno Angliæ confederato Britonum rebellionem ad domandum, in expeditionem grandi cum exercitu delegatur.

Interim dictâ Philippâ consorte suâ, cum ingenti Anglorum dolore præmortuâ, ex qua Rogerum, post eum comitem, suscepit; ipsius primò patris dicti domini Leonelli apud Augustinos Fratres de Clara prædicta; necnon ejusdem Philippæ apud abbathiam de Wygemore prædictam, exequias gloriosas, immo magis regales, et per orbem Europæ diffusè famosas, quam sumptuosas fecit. Ac per extunc immediatè in Hibernia, propter suæ strenuitatis et industriæ excellentiam, ad terram Hiberniæ coronæ Angliæ dominio subjectam regendam, et pagencium rebellionem debellandam locum tenens in expeditione, sed civilibus ut utar verbis, præses ac proconsul destinatur præfectus. Et in ejus ingressu Deum primitus et justiciam coli instituit, volentibus ad sui pacem venire gratiam, fidelibus remunerationem, et rebellibus belli vindictam et ingloriam proclamari fecit. Et sic immediatè Ultoniam sibimet pacificavit, ac sic cum suis ultrò progressus, tum belli fortuna, tum sensus industria, tum amore, tum timore, quosque suæ deditiōi et præsertim suis dapsilitate victualium, scilicet sumptuosa administratione, omnibus venientibus communi affabilitateque et eloquentia infra duos annos à tempore ingressus, laboribus immensis coegit pariter et allexit.

niam sumptuosè advexit, cum quibus et pontem in amni de Banne juxta villam de Kolleroth, rebellibus tutamen et refugio, quia minùs alto et profundo, pontem solempnem ex utroque capite, et in medio castellatum, ad sui et suorum receptionem et munimen, hostiunquè invasionem, ac finalem ipsorum, ut præmittitur, effectualem confusionem, et deditiōnem, sumptuosè fabricavit. Sed ante ejus egressum ab Anglia, mundi transitoria gaudia commutans in æterna, ad fabricam novæ ecclesiæ in dicta abbathia construendam, quia antiqua deformis et ruinosam erat, et ob alia caritatis opera in suæ et dictæ Philippæ animarum relevamen, disponenda, certos amicos terris de Raddenor, Kyngeston, et Pembrugge, et aliis ad valorem annuum duarum mille marcarum, regis cum licentia; sed perfectis hujusmodi operibus ad suos hæredes reversuris, tam sanctè quamquè consultè infeodavit: ad cujus fabricam ipsemet vestibus sui status insignibus indutus, primæ petræ fundator et positor fuit, et ipsam propriis manibus suis posuit; ac murum fere inde usque ad tectum exclusivè, artificiosè per se et suos construi optinuit. Sed, heu! mortis ejus præventio hujusmodi fabricam, prout intuentibus patet, nimis tardari causavit.

Iste Edmundus gloriosus suis factis, tam splendidus futuris dicti monasterii abbatibus, in mitra et baculo, dalmatica, et aliis insignibus pastoralibus, divina celebrare; et eis futuris, et temporibus perpetuis, jure dicti monasterii, uti a domino papa suis expensis sumptuosis optinuit, et eidem insignibus, ut patet in ejusdem monasterii mitris, baculis, et aliis insignibus, insignivit et ditavit. Ac ea cum sanctorum, et præsertim sancti Seyriolis corporis, sanctæ crucis magnæ partis, et aliorum reliquiis, ac vestimentis, preciosisque donariis diffusè et largiter unà cum ipsius monasterii jurium, libertatum, et privilegiorum, plenaria confirmatione erogavit quam benignè. Cui etiam monasterio aded affectionatus erat, ita quod ab Hibernia boves, et vaccas, ac pisces marinas, et alia donaria ad ejus necessaria, militari fortunâ sibi in prædam cedentia, transmisisse dinoscitur: propositum suum etiam dicti monasterii capitulo, in recessu suo inde ad Hiberniam, coram abbate et conventu lacrimando, et se eorum orationibus humillimè commendando^b exposuit, quod in felici regressu suo idem monasterium ecclesiarum de Kyngestane, de Pembrugge, et de Raddenore, ac prioratus de Stoke appropriatione, in possessionibus plus ditaret et sublimaret. Et post sudores hujus mundi militares depositos, se eorum et dicti monasterii professioni et religioni, licentiam, à rege et regno ad hoc obtinere si posset, quam citò se offerret, et cum eis ad vitam taliter religiosè conversaret. Sed, proh dolor! diu ante optatum à rege et regno, et præsertim à dicto monasterio finem, sed cum ingenti eorum dolore, ac totius Europæ vehementi clamore, die Veneris in festo S. Johannis Evangelistæ in natali Domini, an. Dom. m.ccc. lxxxi. ætatis suæ xxix. apud Cork in Hibernia vertitur in non esse; et abhinc ad dictum monasterium defertur, et cum dicta domina Philippa consorte sua, in dicta sua nova dicti monasterii constructura, honorificè tumulatur, quorum tale est epitaphium.

Vir constans, gratus, sapiens, bene nuper amatus,
Nunc nece prostratus, sub marmore putret humatus.
Hic jacet Edmundus moriens Cork corpore mundus;
Sisque pius Christe sibi, quem lapis opprimit iste.

Item de dicta nobili matrona, domina Philippa consorte sua supradicta, domini Leonelli ducis Clarentiæ filia, Marchiæ et Ultoniæ comitissa.

Nobilis hic tumulata jacet comitissa Philippa,
Actibus hæc nituit, larga, benigna fuit,
Regum sanguis erat, morum probitate vigeat,
Compaciens inopi, vivat in arce cœli.

Tibi et Edmundo et ego orator quam totius pensito, cum lacrymis addo.

O dolor immensis, status, ars, vel gloria sensus,
Non rediment sensus, quin casus sit tibi pensus.

Jam Edmunde præclare, cum dicti monasterii æterna benedictione, cum sancto rege Edmundo, tibi prædilecto, in præsentia æterni regis gloriæ æternaliter conregnare, vale, et valeat qui tui memoriam tanta laude dignam, in memoriam dignè recommendat, Amen.

Iste Rogerus suprascriptus, natus est iii. idus Aprilis, A litera dominicali, viz. die Martis in festo S. Guthlaci confessoris, an. Domini m.ccc.lxxiv. et regni regis Edwardi tertii xlvi. cujus baptismum delatum fuit usque diem dominicam proximam sequentem, in quo baptizatus fuit à reverendo patre domino Willielmo Herefordensi episcopo apud Usk, ubi fuit natus; cujus patrini fuerunt dominus Rogerus episcopus Landavensis, et dominus Thomas Hertton abbas Gloucestriæ, qui de sacro fonte dictum Rogerum levaverunt, unà cum patrino sua, viz. priorissa de Usk; ac die prænominata ab eodem domino episcopo Landavensi idem Rogerus confirmatur.

Ista Philippa, secundo-genita, nata est apud Loddelowe xxi. Novembris, anno Domini m.ccc.lxxv. et regni regis Edwardi tertii xlix. baptizator ejus prior Wigornix, patrinus comes Staffordiæ, et patrinx domina de Powys et domina de Audley, et tenetur per comitissam Staffordiæ ad confirmandam de domino episcopo Landavensi: quæ quidem Philippa postea nupta fuit domino Ricardo comiti Arundelliæ; quo etiam, unà cum prole inter eos habitis defunctis, nupta fuit domino Johanni St. John.

Decembris, quo die non venit episcopus prænominatus, ideo dictus abbas de Evesham, et abbas de Wygemore fuerunt ejus patrini, quem baptizavit abbas de Wygemore, et in crastino venit episcopus prænominatus, et eum confirmavit, et tenetur ad confirmandum per dictum abbatem de Wygemore.

Hic, prodicione præhabitâ inter Owenum Glendortwyth, prætendentem se principem Walliæ et quosdam de Melenyth in quodam bello inter dictum dominum Edmundo et dictum Owenum, pro jure regni Angliæ inito, super montem vocatum Brynglase infra Melenyth, juxta Knyghton, captus est, unà cum præmaxima populi multitudine interfectis, paucis elapsis, die viz. Jovis in festo St. Albani martyris, anno regni regis Henrici quarti, quarto.

^b Rogerus ipsorum Edmundi et Philippæ filius et hæres undecim annorum ætatis ei successit, sub warda et custodia regis Ricardi secundi educatus, cujus maritadium idem rex Ricardus primò vendidit comiti Arundelliæ pro filia sua, postea domino de Bergevenny, ac terras sub certa firma annua sibi solvenda, pro minoris ætatis tempore taliter possidendas concessit, ac fidejussoribus hujusmodi de Arundel prædictis, scilicet ac de Warrewyke et Northumbriæ comitibus liberavit; gubernationem tamen earum interim, ille inclitus leo, Hector secundus, ut Achilles strenuus, eternitatis militaris laude dignus, dicti Edmundi gloriosi fratris sui, militiæ princeps et capitaneus, ex nobili matris etiam prosapia, si illustrissima et latentis Venere, ut parcam, proles magnifica habuit et recepit, commendabiliterque gubernavit; ex cujus gubernatione ad plenam ætatem idem Rogerus perveniens, castra, mansiones, et alia habitationis suæ loca, benè reparata, et ornamentis et supellectili fulcita, maneriaque et culturæ loca benè bobus, aratris, et aliis instrumentis et jumentis, aliisque necessariis restaurata: Ne non gazofilacia quadraginta mille marcarum summis reperiit præditata: postea tamen idem dominus rex Ricardus, instantia matris suæ principissæ devictus, ipsius domini Rogeri maritadium à dicto comite Arundelliæ abstulit, et eum neptæ suæ dominæ Elianoræ, filix domini Thomæ Holland comitis Kancix, ejusdem principissæ ex diversis tamen patribus filii in maritum collocavit, ex qua dominum Edmundo jam comitem procreavit.

Iste Rogerus juvenis, probitate illius temporis præclarus, hastiludiis strenuus, in facescia gloriosus, in epulis dapsilis, in muneribus largus, in communiione affabilis et jocosus, pulchritudine et forma coetaneos excellens, in ætatis suæ vicessimo anno locumtenens Hiberniæ præficitur: unde, de et super castro et villa de Dynnebygh, cum Rosse et Ruwynnok pago adjacenti, per comitem Sarum, consilio, auxilio, et favore ducis Lancastriæ in eventum victoriæ idem sibi dominium captantis in ultimo parlamento dicti regis Ricardi, apud Salopiam tento, contra eum, causa motæ ad defensionem, militibus colore suo indutis, stipatus, et ab omnibus aliis pagentibus, etiam expensis propriis, pro majore parte, in coloribus suis, scilicet rubeo et albo vestitis, magnis cum gloria et gaudio receptus, in emulorum, et adversariorum confusionem non modicam advenit, et dictum dominum summaliter et diffinitivè evicit: Necnon à domino Despenser, si quod jus sibi in ea parte competebat, relaxationem habuit; et sic negotiis suis in Anglia dispositis ad locumtenentiæ suæ in Hibernia, cum honore rediit.

Iste Rogerus, vir licet bellicosus et inclitus, ac negotiis fortunatus, pulcherque et formosus, ut præmittitur, fuerit; nimis tamen lascivus, et in divinis, heu! remissus; consilioque juvenum, antiquorum rejecto, abductus nimia animositate, immo veriùs ferocitate leonina, Leonelli nepoti satis innata, sed (proh dolor!) non regulata, irruendo, excercitum præcedens, Hibernicali vestitus et equitatus apparatu, nec suos in succursum expectans, ac hostes invadens apud Kenles in Hibernia per homines Obrinque invasus, belli eventu in animas suorum hostium, in festo St. Margaretæ virginis, an. Dom. mcccxcviii. cecidit inde, quia hostibus ignotus quam dolenter trucidatus, et inde ad dictam abbatiam, juxta parentes suos transfertur tumulatus.

Domina Elianora antedicti Rogeri consors, domini mei illustrissima quinta filia et senior, hæresque domus et comitatus Kancie, domini Thomæ Holland, et dominæ Philippæ consortis suæ, filiæ domini Ricardi comitis Arundellie, patris secundi Ricardi comitis, sub rege Ricardo secundo minus justè, ut asseritur, decapitati.

Iste Rogerus comes ex Alianora prædicta, genuit Annam, Edmundum, Rogerum et Alianoram.

Rogerus, secundo-genitus, natus est apud Nethewoode xi. kal. Aprilis, viz. in festo S. Georgii martyris, anno regni regis Ricardi secundi xvi. obiit etiam sine prole, et jacet apud prioratum de Stoke.

Elianora uxor Courtney, primo-geniti comitis Devonie, obiit sine hærede de se.

Edmun.^a prædictus filius suus ex domina Elianora prædicta comitis Kancie filia procreatus, ætatis suæ anno sexto sibi successit in hæredem. Interim Hen. dux Lancastriæ ab exilio manu forti regressus, regni cum favore, dominum Ricardum prædictum regem Angliæ apud Flynt, in regressu suo de Hibernia captivat, custodiæque suæ mancipat, regno et corona privat, ac etiam de concensu parliamenti occupat et portat; dictumque Edmundum, cum Rogero fratre suo juniore, sub warda sua applicat, et postea Henrico primo-genito suo, principi Walliæ ad custodiam liberat. Verùm quia in ore populorum prædicabatur, quod iste dominus Edmundus à corona regni, jure dicti domini Leonelli secundo-geniti, Angliæ, proavi dicto regi Ricardo, quia sine prole sublato immediati, injustè stetit exclusus, et à pluribus ad regnandum affectatus, ætate licèt juvenis existat, moribus tamen gravis, actis compositus, fabulatione circumspectus, sapiensque et cautus tempus redimendo cum dies mali sint, refertur fore; et per omnia benè dispositus, prout naturæ ejus convenit, per dominam Despenser à custodia dicti principis, unà cum Rogero fratre suo, latenter et furtivè eripitur; sed per exploratores prosequentes, in silva de Chiltenham capitur, et ad dicti principis custodiam strictiorem mancipatur. Iste etiam Edmundus, præ nimia benignitate sua dictus est Bonus; nam in Dei servicio erat devotus, in rebus mundalibus discretus, in dandis facetus, et profusus.

[Ex cod. MS. in bibl. Cotton. sub effigie Cleopatrar, C. 11.]

Hic est sepultus, qui mansit laude refultus,
Rogerus mundus de Morte-marina secundus:
Cui fuerat gratus dominus Wygmore vocatus.
Hunc dum viverat vi Wallia tota timebat:
Et sibi donata permansit Wallia tota.
Militiam scivit, semper tormenta subivit.
Edwardus Anglorum dominus per regem bonorum usibus,
Et jura tenuit sua per loca plura.

Derley Priory, in Derbyshire.

TANNER calls this Monastery Little Derby, Derlega, or Darley. He says Robert de Ferrariis, second Earl of Derby, partly out of some of the crown monies granted him by King Henry I. or King Stephen, and partly out of his own estate, founded a religious House near the town of Derby, dedicated to St. Helen:^a but pretty early in the next reign the greatest part of these canons, and their endowment, were translated to Little Derby, a place not far off, situated on the river Derwent,^b which was given them by Hugh the priest, dean of Derby, whereon an Abbey of the Order of St. Austin was built to the honor of the blessed Virgin Mary.

The Appendix to the present Account contains a large body of the Charters granted to this Monastery; to which the Reader is referred.

The Abstract of the Valor of this House in the 26th Hen. VIIIth will be found below.^c where no other authority is quoted, has been taken from MS. Cole, Brit. Mus. vol. xxi. p. 153.

The following List of the

WILLIAM, 1192.

HENRY died 1229.

RALPH DE LEICESTER succeeded August 29th, 1229. He occurs in 1243.

WALTER DE WALTON was elected in 1247. He received the temporalities on the 4th of May.^d

^a A Concord between the abbat of Derley, and the Hospital of Jerusalem, printed in the Appendix to this Account, Num. XIV. dated in 1121, makes it clear that the Abbey must have existed in the time of Henry the First.

^b Tanner says, "There were either some Religious left here, or here was a Hospital, or some such House, as late as 20 Edw. I.; for in the Lincoln Taxation then made, there is 'Magister Domus S. Helenæ Derbeyæ' distinct from the abbat of Derley."

ANDREW occurs in 1259.

WILLIAM DE WYMONDHAM received the temporalities July 26th, 1260.

HENRY DE KEDLESTON received the royal assent 3d Feb. 1275.^e

WILLIAM DE ALSOP was elected in 1288. Upon his death

LAWRENCE DE BURTON in 1353. He received the temporalities Dec. 12th.

THOMAS DE HADDON, received the temporalities upon Burton's death, 17th July, 7th Ric. II. Upon his death

JOHN DE ASHBORN succeeded in 1392. He received the temporalities Sept. 21st.^g

SIMON DE REPINGTON, in 1401.^h

ROGER DE NEWTON was elected in 1432; he received the temporalities Dec. 10th.

HENRY DE KILLINGSWORTH, in 1453.ⁱ

JOHN ASHBY, 1477.^k

HENRY WYNDELEY received the temporalities 18th July, 10 Hen. VIII.^l

THOMAS GREVYS, May 2d, 16th Hen. VIIIth.^m

THOMAS PAGE, the last Abbat, surrendered this Convent, with thirteen Monks, Oct. 22d, 1539, 30 Hen. VIII.

Anno 1540, the Tombs and the whole Church were sold for twenty pounds, the Cloister for ten pounds, the Chapter House for twenty shillings. There was then received for six bells, 45*l.* 1*s.* 10*d.* The plate then weighing in all 134 ounces."

Cole has given a sketch of what he considers to have been the ARMS of this Monastery, viz. Arg. 5 horse-shoes sa. 3, 2, and 1. studded with gilt nails.

The SITE of this House was granted in the 32d Hen. VIIIth to Sir William West.

A CHARTULARY of Derley Abbey, imperfect at the beginning, occurs at fol. 39. of the Cottonian MS. Titus C. ix. written in different hands, but chiefly of the fourteenth century.^a

Dr. Farmer, the Master of Emanuel College, Cambridge, formerly possessed a Chartulary of Derley Abbey, a thin Quarto of twenty-one leaves on vellum. Cole, among his Manuscripts preserved in the British Museum, vol. xxi. p. 154 to 186. has a transcript of this Register. The Deeds amount to a hundred and twelve in number; Cole's transcript, however, omits the names of the Witnesses to the different Instruments.^b Appendant to the Harleian Charter 44 D. 18, a lease of a farm at Chylswyll Notts, is a large portion of an Impression from the SEAL of Derley Abbey, oval, in red wax. The Virgin seated, with the Infant in her lap, appear in the area. All that remains of the Inscription is, ILLVM: SANTE: MARIE: DE: D. The date of the Instrument to which it belongs is 27 Hen. VIII. In another broken Impression, attached to the Surrender in the Augmentation Office, DERLE appears to be the last word.

Some walls and out-houses, the latter converted into cottages, are all that now remain of the Buildings of DERLEY Abbey.

38. Confirmatio ejusdem de decimis et de ij. marc. annui redditus de ecclesia de Uttok. et de ij. marc. annuis et dimid. de ecclesia de Brailisford, ibid.

39. Confirmatio ejusdem Capituli de taxatione vicariarum nostrarum, fol. 164 b.

The ancient part of this Chartulary is separated into divisions, marked with the letters of the alphabet, from A to P. The Charters in them are in many instances relating to smaller portions of land, burghages, &c. in the several places.

^b There is a Memorandum amongst them in the shape of a record, which illustrates what seems to have been a very ancient custom, that the body of John Heriz of Gonaldeston was not suffered to be buried, till his executors had satisfied the abbat of Darley for the tythes of his under-wood in Wynnefeld, which were unpaid and detained, A.D. 1330, cart. 63, p. 170.

Et concedo abbati Derbeiensi curam virginum, quarum habitaculum ipse construxit; habitaculum dico, per miliarium à canonicis longè statutum; et damus illi abbati licentiam consecrare virgines, quarum curam illi commisimus. Abbey of St. Augustine, now Holy Trinity and Cathedral, Bristol.

WRITERS differ as to the date of the foundation of this House. Leland, Willis, and Tanner state it to have been founded by Robert Fitz Harding, mayor of Bristol, in 1148. According to a manuscript formerly in the possession of Dr. Cox Macro it must have been founded in 1120. It stood upon a rising ground in the north-west part of the city.

* Fitzharding is expressly called mayor of Bristol in the Manuscript which was Dr. Macro's, when King Stephen is said to have given the barony of Berkeley to his son Maurice Fitz Harding. Camden says, that he was of the blood royal of Denmark, an alderman of Bristol, and Robert Fitz Harding's Charter, with a confirmation from King Edward the Second of the possessions of the Monastery as they stood at that time, will be found in the Appendix.

Barret, in his History of Bristol, p. 251—257 enlarges upon the benefactions to this House from the Lords Berkeley. In another page he has given the regulations so great with King Henry that his son married the daughter of Lord Berkeley, and his posterity thereby became barons of Berkeley; so that he himself probably was not Lord Berkeley, as Leland, Collectan. vol. i. p. 85, &c. makes him to have been. See Tann. Notit. Monast. Bristol, 3.

established for it in 1374, at a time when disputes and disorders appear to have prevailed in it to a very considerable extent.^a

Tanner says, in the latter end of the reign of Henry the Eighth this PRIORY was changed into an ABBEY:^b but its Principals are frequently called abbats upon the Patent Rolls at a much earlier date, and Edw. the III's Charter already quoted names the abbat.

The particulars of the Revenues of this House as they stood in the Valor of the 26th Henry VIIIth. are no longer extant. After the suppression, A. D. 1542, King Henry the Eighth changed it into a CATHEDRAL, by the name of the Cathedral Church of the Holy Trinity; and founded therein a bishop, dean, six secular Canons or Prebendaries, one Archdeacon, six Minor Canons or Priests Vicars, a deacon and sub-deacon, six lay clerks, six choristers, two grammar school-masters, four almsmen, &c. who were endowed with the site, church, and greatest part of the land of the old Monastery.

PRIORS or ABBATS of ST. AUGUSTINE, BRISTOL.

RICHARD, the first Prior, was instituted in 1148. He died Sept. 1st, 1186.

PHILIP was removed to the Priorate of Bellalanda in Yorkshire in 1196.

JOHN died Feb. 12th, 1215. Another

JOHN was chosen to succeed him.

DAVID resigned in 1234.^c

WILLIAM DE BRADESTON was first Prior and then Abbat of St. Augustine, to which latter office he was elected May 11th, 1234. He resigned in 1242.^d Willis says he died May 20th, 1252. Upon his resignation

WILLIAM LONG (who is called in the Anglia Sacra "Camerarius de Keynsham") succeeded in 1242. He died May 17th, 1264.

RICHARD DE MALMSBURY received the royal assent to his election, 5th June, 48 Hen. III.^e He died Sept. 13th, 1276.

JOHN DE MARINA, or MARMA, received the temporalities Oct. 10th, 1276. Willis says he died Feb. 21st, 1286: the patent rolls say it was upon his cession that

HUGH DODINGTON succeeded, to whom the temporalities were restored 22 Nov. 9 Edw. I.^f He died Nov. 26, 1294.

JAMES BARRY obtained the royal assent Dec. 16th following. He died Nov. 12, 1036: and was succeeded by EDMUND KNULLE, or KNOWLE, in the month of December. Willis says, "During his Government he built the Church which is now standing, from the ground, with the Vestry, &c. and furthermore procured of the King a confirmation of all the possessions of the Monastery, dated 10th Edw. II. He died June 19th, 1332.

JOHN SNOW received the benediction July 7th, 1332. He died July 12th, 1341: on August the 2d following,

RALPH ASSHE was confirmed abbat. He died March 1st, 1351.

WILLIAM COOKE succeeded in the month of April, 1353. He resigned on Oct. 1st, 1363, and died April the 8th following: being first succeeded by HENRY SHELLINGFORD. He died Dec. 2d, 1388.

JOHN CERNE succeeded in 1388: and died Oct. 5th, 1393.

JOHN DANBURY, DANBERY, or DAUBENEY, succeeded 8th Nov. 6 Hen. Vth. He died Jan. 10th, 1428.

WALTER NEWBURY was next preferred. Willis says, in the administration of this House he met with great troubles; for being unjustly expelled for five years, one THOMAS SUTTON intruded into his place,^g and kept the same from him till he was thrust out of the convent for dilapidations and other wastes which he committed: on which account no mention is registered of his death. Abbat New- bury is reported to have been a good benefactor to his Church, and to have built the manor-place of Almondsbury, which still pertains to the bishopric of Bristol. He died Sept. 3d, 1463, and was succeeded by WILLIAM HUNT, who was elected Sept. 11th following. He died March 14th, 1481.

JOHN NEWLAND was elected April 6th, 1481. He added to the Buildings of his Monastery, and wrote a history of it with an account of the family of the Berkeleys. He died June 12th, 1515, and was buried in his Church. His successor was

RICHARD WALKER, who received the temporalities 13th August, 2 Ric. III.

ROBERT ELIOT, 4th Aug. 7 Hen. VIIIth.

WILLIAM BURTON, 18th Dec. 17 Hen. VIIIth.

JOHN SOMERSET died according to Willis in 1533.

WILLIAM BURTON succeeded Sept. 9th, 1534. He, with eighteen others, subscribed to the King's supremacy. Three years after which he either deceased or resigned, whereby room was made for MORGAN WILLIAMS the last abbat; who surrendered his Convent into the King's hands Dec. 9th, 1539, and obtained a pension of 80% per annum. Fuller, in his Church History, names him as charged with incontinency; though the pension assigned to him implies that there was little ground for the aspersion.

In the Augmentation Office, appendant to a Deed 1283, is an Impression of the SEAL of Abbat Hugh on Dark Wax; the Abbat is represented, holding in his right hand a Crosier, in his left a Book. Much of the Legend is gone; that which remains is, s. . HVGONIS . DEI . GR'A . ABB'IS.

The Church of this Augustine Abbey is now the Cathedral; two sides of the Cloisters, with the Chapter-house, are also entire: a part of the Refectory has been converted into a prebendal residence, and the Abbat's House under alterations made the bishop's residence.

Cokesford Priory, in Norfolk.

WILLIAM CHEYNEY, de Querceto, or Caineto, founded a Priory of Canons of the Order of St. Austin, as early as the reign of King Stephen, in the Church of St. Mary at East Rudham; which, about the beginning of the reign of Henry the Third, was removed to the extremity of the parish, eastward, to a place called Cokesford, which was also dedicated to the blessed Virgin.

John de Caineto's confirmation of various donations to this House, with Hervey Belet's grant of the manor of Rudham, will be found in the Appendix.

A fair here was granted to the Prior in the 11th of Henry the IIIrd, to be held upon the feast of the translation of St. Thomas the Martyr, and two following days; which was confirmed in the 35th Hen. III.^a

In the 3d and 15th Edw. I., the Prior had the lete and free warren, with a free market on Mondays, and a fair yearly on the vigil and day of St. Matthew the apostle: and in the 27th of the same reign, a three week court, which extended to the manor of West as well as East Rudham.^b

John Matthew, prior, granted April 30th, 20th Henry VIII. to Thomas Duke of Norfolk, the manor of Rilverston belonging to this priory, the Convent being in debt to the King, and the Duke covenanting to discharge the same.^c

Mr. Taylor, in his Index Monasticus, enumerates the following names of the many benefactors to this House:—Sir William de Cheney; Anne Cheney; Hervey Belet or Belet, 1181; Sir Peter de Alto Bosco, or Hautboys, 1199; Margaret de Cheney or Cressey, 1217; Nicholas de Burmere, temp. Hen. III.; Anne Verdun; Roger de Broom, 1249; William de Rothing, 1288; Geoffrey Lord Say, 1294; Sir Robert de Ufford, 1316; Cecilia his widow, daughter of Robert de Valoines, 1316; the Lady Maud de Toney, 1325; Robert de Broom, about 1350.^d

The continuator of Blomfield has preserved several notices of the minor possessions of this House, to which the Reader is referred. He says the Canons, beside the Prior, were eight in number.^e is chiefly taken from Blomfield.

The following List of the

MATTHEW DE CAINETO was the first Prior.

HEREBERT or HUBERT occurs t. Ric. I. and 4 Hen. III.

WILLIAM, 17th Hen. III.

ADAM DE DALLING, 29th Hen. III.

JOHN, 34th and 41st Hen. III.

JOHN THORP died in 1342.

JOHN DE THORNHAM was his successor.

PETER DE TEKENHOW, Willis calls him HEKENHOW, was elected in 1346.

JOHN DE WALSINGHAM elected in 1404.

EDMUND DE SNETESHAM occurs in 1430.

JOHN DE DEREHAM was chosen in 1438.

EDMUND DE SNETESHAM was again elected upon Dereham's death in 1449.

JOHN WICKINGHAM succeeded. He resigned in 1463; when

JOHN KNOLLYS, alias CLEMENT, was elected; and, on his death in 1478, HENRY MILEHAM was elected, and occurs Prior in 1498. Willis calls him JOHN MILEHAM.

THOMAS was Prior in the 21st of Hen. VIII. and after him

JOHN ADAMSON.

JOHN MATTHEWS occurs Prior in 1534. He subscribed with nine others to the king's supremacy: and had a pension granted to him, at the Dissolution, of 15*l.* per annum. Willis speaks of Adamson as the last Prior, and says that he had the pension.^f

King Henry the Eighth, on the 9th of May, in his 29th year, gave the manor of East Rudham, with the Site of the Priory of Cokesford, and the impropriate rectory and patronage of the vicarage, to Thomas Howard, Duke of Norfolk. In the 21st Elizabeth, Philip Howard, Earl of Arundel, son to the said duke, had license to alienate it to Sir Roger Townshend, whose immediate heir, the Right Hon. George Lord Viscount Townshend, succeeded to it. The property is at present vested in the trustees of the Marquis of Townshend.

The Abbey or Priory Church of Cokesford was standing in the reign of James the First.

The Minister's Accompts of this religious House being deficient in the Augmentation Office, by reason of its possessions having been granted immediately after the Suppression, temp. Hen. VIII. to the Duke of Norfolk, an abstract of the Return 26 Hen. VIII. is given in its room.

The Editors of the present Volumes have had no opportunity of examining the REGISTERS of this Monastery in the possession of Lord Townshend's trustees^g.

Bourn, formerly Brunne Priory, in Lincolnshire.

BALDWIN FITZ GILBERT, says Tanner, in or before the year 1138, settled here an Abbat and Canons of the Order of St. Austin. His charter, bearing this date, is recited in an Inspeximus of the 1st Edw. III. copied in the Appendix to the present Account.^a Another charter, printed by Dugdale, relates to the possessions of this House at Chichester.^b Tanner says, herein were maintained eleven canons.

The Return of the Revenues of this House in the 26th Hen. VIII. will be seen below.^c Willesford, or Wivelsford, an Alien Priory in this county, was settled upon the Priory of Bourne by Thomas Holand earl of Kent in the 20th Ric. II.

The only names of the

which have occurred are,

EVERARD CUT, upon whose death
WILLIAM DE REPTON became prior in 1236.^d

ROBERT DE HAMME, 1248.^e

WILLIAM.^f

No REGISTER of this Priory is at present known to be extant.^g

Appendant to the Acknowledgment of Supremacy of this Abbey in the Chapter House, Westminster, is an Impression on red wax of the COMMON SEAL, of a round form, having on it St. Peter with his keys, seated. Legend, SIGILLVM . ECCLESIE . BEATI . PETRI . AP'L . DE . BRVNNNA.

The Lansdowne Manuscript 255, fol. 12 b. contains the Coat of ARMS of this House, a sword between two keys, exactly similar to the Coat which Bishop Tanner gives to Bromere in Hampshire.

The Reversion of the Site and demesne of this House was granted in the 30th Hen. VIIIth, 21 Dec. to Richard Cotton of Bedhampton, Johanna his wife, and their heirs.^h

Some small Remains of Bourn Priory are still in existence.

NUM. II.

[Claus. 17. 2, m. 24.]

REX dilecto sibi Matheo Broun eseaetori suo in com. Linc. Northampt. et Roteland salutem. Cum nuper ad prosecutionem dilecti et fidelis nostri Thomæ Wake, nobis suggerentis, quod ipse et antecessores sui domini manerii de Brunne, patroni abbatiæ de Brunne, in singulis vacationibus ejusdem abbatiæ, à tempore cujus contrarii memoria non existant, certam custodiam abbatiæ illius habuerunt, et de eligendo abbates futuros ibidem licentiam concesserunt; et electioni de abbatibus ibidem factæ assensum patroni præstiterunt; et post electiones hujusmodi confirmatas fidelitates abbatum illorum receperunt. Et quod vos asserentes quendam abbatem loci illius adquisivisse sibi et successoribus suis in feodo quædam tenementa in Mortone in com. Linc. et tenementa illa de nobis tenere in capite, abbatiam illam jam vacantem occasione tenementorum illorum cepistis in manum nostram; non permittentes ipsum Tho. custodiam inde habere sicut antecessores sui semper hactenus habere consueverunt; vobis mandaverimus, quod super præmissis diligentem faceretis inquisitionem.

Ac per inquisitionem illam factam et in cancellaria nostra retornatam sit compertum, quod quidam Baldewinus filius Gilberti, unus antecessorum dominorum de Wake, centum et quadraginta et quinque annis elapsis, fundavit abbatiam prædictam, à tempore ejus foundationis, singuli domini de Wake, hæredes prædicti fundatoris, in singulis vacationibus abbatiæ prædictæ, habuerunt custodiam ejusdem abbatiæ, assignando unum hominem ad conservandum simul cum priore, et cæteris obedienciariis, bona et possessiones abbatiæ prædictæ, usque ad installationem abbatis futuri, absque aliquo proficuo ad opus dietorum dominorum inde capiendo: qui quidem domini licentiam dederunt de abbatibus eligendis, et electionibus de abbatibus ibidem assensum dederunt, et de confirmatis fidelitatem ceperunt ut patroni et advocati. Et quod quidam Everardus Cut quondam abbas de Brunne, centum et sex annis elapsis; videlicet tempore domini H. regis avi nostri perquisivit sex bovatas terræ, et duas partes unius mesuagii cum pertinentiis in Mortona juxta Brunne, per bovatas, aeris, rodas et perticas, de terris tenentibus Radulfi de Mortone per diversas cartas; videlicet de Agnete filia Willielmi de Mortone et aliis in prædicta inquisitione nominatis, tenendum omnia tenementa prædicta de prædictis feoffatoribus et eorum hæredibus in liberam, puram, et perpetuam elemosinam; et quod iidem feoffatores obligaverunt se et hæredes suos ad warrantiam et acquietantiam faciendum de tenementis prædictis, et abbates loci prædicti successivè de omnibus servitiis lucusque acquietaverunt; et quod prædictus Radulphus de Mortone tenuit de prædicto avo nostro in capite duo mesuagia et triginta et duas bovatas terræ in dominio et servitio in Skaupewyk et Morton per servitium medietatis feodi unius militis, de quibus unum messuagium et xiiii. bovata terræ sunt in Mortone. Et quod de ipso Radulfo, qui obiit sine hærede de se, descendit jus hæreditatis suæ quibusdam Agneti et Cæliæ, ut sororibus suis et hæredibus; inter quas hæreditas illa partita fuit. Et quod proparti ipsius Agnetis assignata fuerunt servicia prædictæ Agnetis filiæ Willielmi et aliorum tenentium prædicti Radulfi in inquisitione prædicta nominatorum.

Et quod de ipsa Agnete, sorore Radulfi, exivit Jocelus Russell ut filius et hæres, qui totam partem suam hæreditatis illius, tam in dominio, quàm in servitio, dedit Hugoni Wake proavo prædicti Thomæ, et quod ipse nunc est medius inter nos et feoffatores prædicti abbatis; et quod idem Hugo inde obiit seiscitus, post cujus mortem intravit Baldewinus Wake, ut filius et hæres; cui successit Johannes Wake filius et hæres ejusdem Baldwini; et quod idem Johannes omnia terras et tenementa quæ habuit in comitatu

Lincolniæ in dominico et servicio, dedit domino E. quondam regi Angliæ patri nostro, tenendum in feodo. Et quod idem pater noster habitâ inde seisinâ dedit et concessit omnia terras et tenementa illa præfato Johanni et Johannæ uxori ejus, tenenda sibi et hæredibus suis de corporibus suis ex-euntibus: de quibus exivit prædictus Thomas Wake qui nunc est, ut filius et hæres. Et quod magister Johannes Walewayn, nuper escaetor citra Trentam; videlicet anno regni nostri xii. tempore Willielmi de Albotesle, nuper abbatis loci prædicti, per cujus mortem abbatia illa jam vacat, asserens prædictas sex bovatas terræ et duas partes unius messuagii cum pertinentiis in Mortone adquisitas fuisse de prædicto Radulfo de Mortone, qui de dicto avo nostro tenuit in capite, tenementa illa seisivit in manum nostram, et ea sic detinuit, quousque idem abbas cartam nostram de tenementis illis rehabendis, et de nobis in capite tenendis, licet nunquam aliquid de nobis tenuisset, perquisivit in præ-judicium prædicti Thomæ Wake et hæredum feoffatorum suorum, qui fuerunt, et sunt medii inter nos et abbatem loci prædicti, qui pro tempore fuerit, de tenementis antedictis; et quod idem Willielmus abbas se de aliquo servicio inde nunquam nobis attornavit. Nos considerantes quod propter præmissa non debet dicto Thomæ super custodia abbatiae prædictæ præjudicium generari; vobis mandamus, quod de custodia abbatiae illius, seu aliquorum ad eam spectantium, si eam occasione prædictâ, et non aliâ, cepistis in manum nostram, vos ulterius non intromittatis, exitus si quos inde perceperitis illis quorum fuerint liberantes. T. rege apud Irenacton xii. die Februarii.

Newenham Priory, in Bedfordshire.

THE Priory of Newenham, situate in the parish of Goldington, near Bedford, was founded by Simon de Beauchamp, who, according to the design of his mother, the Lady Roaisa, removed hither the Priory of Black Canons from the Collegiate Church of St. Paul at Bedford, in the reign of Henry the Second. Tanner says, this new monastery was also dedicated to St. Paul.

King Henry the Second's confirmation of the possessions of this House, a grant from Henry the Third of the Church of Tindene in consequence of the injury done to its revenues by his father, and a charter of confirmation from Thomas Lord Mowbray, are the principal deeds which Dugdale has selected relating to Newenham.^a The Abstract of the Valor of Newenham in the 26th Henry VIIIth will be found in the note below.^b The Reader may also compare the Abstract of the Ministers' Accompts in the 34th Hen. VIIIth.^c

The Site of Newenham passed from the Crown in the 31st Hen. VIIIth to Sir Urian Brecreton.^e In the 3d Edw. VI. the reversion, in case of defect of heirs on the part of Sir Urian, was granted to Sir George Brooke.^f Lysons says the Site of this Priory was afterwards the residence of Sir Robert Catlin, Chief Justice of the King's Bench, who died in 1574. It was afterwards the property of William Lord Cobham.^g When Lysons wrote, in 1813, the proprietor was Mrs. Mary Best.

There is a REGISTER of Newenham Priory among the Harclian Manuscripts in the Museum No. 3656, a quarto volume of rather more than two hundred leaves.^h

The COMMON SEAL of this Priory was round and large, representing St. Paul with his sword, seated, having on each side of him several persons also seated, and in chief two angels: an Impression of it in red wax is attached to the acknowledgment of supremacy in the Chapter House, Westminster. The Legend is, SIGILLVM . PRIORIS . ET . CONVENTVS . SÈI . PAVLI . DE . NEWEHAM.

No REMAINS are now existing of the Conventual buildings of Newenham.

Butley Priory, in Suffolk.

RANDAL, or Ranulph de Glanvil, the celebrated lawyer (afterwards Justiciary of England), founded this Priory of Black Canons in 1171.^a

By Bertha his wife, the daughter of Theobald de Valoines, lord of Parham, he held the lands called Brockhouse, on which the Priory was afterwards built, in frank marriage. On his removal from office, he joined the crusades, and was with King Richard the First at the siege of Acre, having previously divided all his lands between his three daughters.^b The Convent was repaired or rebuilt some time afterwards by William de Auberville.^c

Other benefactors were, William Tarbus, bishop of Norwich, before 1174; John of Oxford, bishop of Norwich; 1180; Harvey Walter, before 1189; John de Gissing; John de Grey, bishop of Norwich, before 1214; the lady Margery de Cheney or Cressy, about 1217; Thomas de Hastings; Roger Niger and Stephen Gravesend, bishops of London; Walter de Constantis, and St. Hugh, bishops of Lincoln; Richard Monachus, Hubert, Walter, and John Peckham, archbishops of Canterbury; Popes Alexander III. and Celestine III.; Lady Cassandra Baynard, 1271; John Staverton; Ralph de Glanville, grandson of the founder; Richard, the son of Henry Naunton; William de Gisleham, 1276; Michael de la Pole, lord of Winifield, and earl of Suffolk, 1414; King Henry VIIth, 1508; Thomas Arden; John, Prior of Thetford Canons, 1519.^d

The Priory and Church were both dedicated to the Virgin Mary.

The appropriate Rectory of West Somerton, in Norfolk, was charged with the annual sum of 10*l.* to pay and to find food and clothing for two canons in this Monastery, who were to celebrate continually for the souls of Ralph Glanville and his father and mother, and for the souls of all the faithful deceased, according to the foundation deed.

^a His Deed of Endowment to the Priory is given in the App. Num. I.

By virtue of the same foundation, says Taylor, certain alms were distributed to poor persons on seven festivals in the year, amounting to 8*l.* 16*s.* 8*d.* per annum, chargeable on some lands at Chesilford, in Suffolk. There was also a distribution of alms at the Monastery to another class of poor people to the annual amount of 7*l.* 12*s.* 1*d.*

The following are the only names which have occurred of the

PRIORS of BUTLEY.

ROBERT BREMMORE received the temporalities 24th July, 21 Hen. VII.^f

THOMAS MANNING, alias SUDBURN, or SUDBORNE, occurs in 1538.^g

The Valor in the 26th Hen. VIII. is below.^h The Commendator and eight regular Canons signed the Surrender of this House in 1539.

The ARMS of this House, according to Tanner, were the same with those of Glanville the founder. In one of Le Neve's Manuscripts, there is added a Crozier bend-wise. Edmundson describes these Arms as Or, a chief indented Az. Over all, in bend, a Crozier, the staff gules, the crook of the first.

The SITE of Butley Priory was granted July 9th, 32 Hen. VIII. to Thomas, Duke of Norfolk;ⁱ and, July 3d, 36th Hen. VIII. to William of Hadleigh, Esq. in consideration of the sum of 910*l.* 2*s.* 3*d.*^k

There is an Impression of the COMMON SEAL of this Priory in the Augmentation Office, appendant to the Surrender, but it is so much mutilated, that nothing can be known of the subject, except that it is the Blessed Virgin and Divine Infant, with a monk under an arch below her, on his knees, in the act of praying.

The Buildings of Butley Priory were both large and magnificent; its WALLS and RUINS are said to occupy near twelve acres of ground. The Gate-House, which in 1737 was converted by George Wright, Esq., the then possessor of the Site, into a Mansion, was an elegant structure. The front is embellished with no fewer than five rows of Coats of Arms cut in stone. South of the Gateway are the remains of several other buildings, which formed the Offices of the Priory, and of a small Chapel.

mini Theobaldi de Valoniis senioris, domini de Perham: qui Theobaldus dedit dicto Ranulpho et Bertæ uxori suæ, totam terram de Brochous cum pertinentiis, in qua domus de Buttele sita est, cum aliis terris et tenementis, ut patet in charta dicti Ranulphi, in libero maritagio.

Prædictus verò Ranulphus procreavit de dicta Berta tres filias, viz. Matildem, Amabillam, et Helwisiam, quibus dedit terram suam ante progressum suum versùs Terram Sanctam. Matildis prima soror habuit ex dono patris sui, totam villam de Benhal integraliter, una cum advocacione ecclesiæ sive monasterii beatæ Mariæ de Buttele, et nupsit cuidam militi nomine Gulielmo de Aubervil, de quibus etiam processit Hugo de Aubervil: de ipso Hugone Willielmus de Aubervil, qui filius et hæres vendicavit advocacionem domus de Buttele, et conventus restitit ei ad portas. Prædictus verò Willielmus postea, per concordiam, quietum clamavit, liberè et pacificè ab omni servicio, dictam advocacionem priori et conventui imperpetuum, ita quod vacante ecclesia de Buttele, nullus custos ibidem apponeretur, ut patet per factum suum.

De ipso Willielmo, processit quædam Johanna, filia unica et hæres, quæ nupsit cuidam militi de Cancia, nomine Nicholao Kyriel; qui procreavit ex ea filium, nomine dominum Nicholaum Kyriel, qui duxit in uxorem Margaretam filiam domini Galfridi Pecche: et ille Nicholaus vendidit domino Guidoni Ferr, dictum manerium de Benhall. Et tamen ille Nicholaus de uxore sua, genuit alium dominum Nicholaum, militem in Cancia, qui vixit ante primam pestilentiam. Ipse autem Guido talliavit dictum manerium, in curia regis apud Westmonasterium, in crastino ascensionis Domini, anno regni regis Edwardi, filii Edwardi, primo, sibi et Alianoræ uxori suæ, et hæredibus de se exeuntibus, quod, si sine hærede decederent, remaneret Simoni de la Borde et hæredibus de se exeuntibus: et si ipse Simon, sine hæredibus decederet, remaneret Willielmo de S. Quintino et hæredibus suis: Ipso tamen Guidone, sine hæredibus mortuo, dominus rex concessit dictum manerium domino Roberto de Ufford comiti Suffolciæ.

Amabilla, secunda soror, habuit ex dono patris sui, medietatem villæ de Baudeseye et medietatem villæ de Finbergh. Amabilla prædicta habuit virum, nomine Radulphum de Ardern, de quo processit Thomas de Ardern filius et hæres. De Thoma Radulphus filius et hæres, qui feoffavit priorem et conventum de Buttele de medietate villæ de Baudeseye. De prædicto Radulpho processit quidam Thomas de Ardern, filius et hæres, qui feoffavit quendam Hugonem de Culesworth de medietate villæ de Finbergh prædicta: qui quidem Hugo dictos priorem et conventum de dicta medietate villæ de Finbergh feoffavit; quam medietatem prædictus Thomas, dicti Hugonis feofator, prædictis priori et conventui quietum clamavit.

Helwisa, tertia sororum, habuit ex dono patris sui, aliam medietatem villæ de Baudeseye prædicta, et aliam medietatem villæ de Finbergh prædicta. Helwisa prædicta habuit virum, nomine Robertum filium Roberti; de quo processit Radulphus filius et hæres, qui feoffavit Warinum de Insula de medietate prædictæ villæ de Finbergh. De Radulpho processit Robertus filius et hæres, qui feoffavit Ranulphum fratrem suum de medietate villæ de Baudesey, quam nunc comes Suffolciæ tenet in Baudeseye.

Priory of Newark, in Surrey.

TANNER calls this Priory Aldebury, in the manor and parish of Sende, afterward called Newark, New Place, or de Novo Loco juxta Guildford.

Manning says, it was a Priory of black Canons of the Order of St. Augustine, founded and built in the time of Richard the First or before, by Ruald de Calva and Beatrice de Sandes his wife, in a place called Aldebury in the parish of Send; and dedicated to St. Mary and St. Thomas à Becket. He dates the foundation before 1204.^a

The charter of the 14th Edw. II., given in the Appendix, recites and confirms the early endowment of this House. Its endowment as it stood at the Dissolution will be found in the Ministers' Accompts.

PRIORS of NEWARK.

JOHN occurs in 1189.

RICHARD occurs Prior in 1258.^b

ROGER DE EYNHAM was elected 26 Sept. 1312: but his election being declared informal, he was appointed on the bishop's authority Oct. 12th following. He resigned 1st July, 1344.

JOHN DE BARTON, or BURTON, was appointed Prior, July 2d, 1344.

ALEXANDER CULMESTON resigned on account of age and infirmity 25th Octob. 1387.

ROBERT ALDERLEY.

WILLIAM WHALLEY became Prior in the 24th Hen. VIth. He died early in the month of April, 1462.

RICHARD BRIGGE was elected Prior, and confirmed by the Bishop April 6th, 1462. He resigned Feb. 11th, 1486, having been chosen seven days previous Prior of St. Mary Overy in Southwark.

LAURENCE HARRYSON was elected Feb. 21st, 1486. He resigned 4th May, 1514, on account of age.

JOHN HASKENE, alias JOHNSON, was elected and confirmed by the Bishop the same day.

^a Hist. Surrey, vol. iii. p. 110.

^b MS. Cole, xxvii. fol. 92 b. xl. p. 87.

JOHN GRAVE is believed to have been appointed Prior in 1534. He certainly was Prior in 1536.

RICHARD LIPPESCOMB was the last Prior. He resigned his house into the King's hands, and received a pension of 40*l.* per annum.^a

The Site of this House was granted July 1st, 36 Hen. VIIIth, 1544, to Sir Anthony Brown, to hold in capite by a rent of 7*l.* 6*s.* 6*d.* He had at the same time a grant of the manors of Send and Jury, with which this passed till it was sold to Lord King. The present Lord King is the possessor A.D. 1826.

No REGISTER of this Priory is at present known to be extant.^b Mr. Bray has engraved a very imperfect impression of the COMMON SEAL in his Edition of Manning's Surrey, vol: iii. p. 109.

Part of the Church is all that remains of the Edifice of Newark. The stones which formed the walls, a few years ago, were gradually taken away to mend the roads.

Barlynch Priory, in Somersetshire.

THIS House, which was founded for Austin Canons in the time of Henry the Second by William Say, is called by Tanner Barlynch, Berliz, Berly, or Byrbyche Priory, in the parish of Brampton. He says it is in the utter part of Somersetshire, towards Devonshire. The Church and Priory were dedicated to St. Nicholas. Tanner says it had, about the time of the Dissolution, eight religious.

Edmund Fettiplace, of Besils Leigh in Berkshire, was the patron of this house in Leland's time.

An ample Charter of confirmation of the endowment of

Priory of Wombridge, in Shropshire.

OF the History of this Priory our information is extremely scanty. It was founded for Austin Canons in the reign of Henry the First by William Fitz Alan, and by him commended to the patronage of St. Mary and St. Leonard.

King Edward the Second's Charter reciting the particulars of its endowment will be found in the Appendix.^a

Tanner says, Herein, at the time of the Dissolution, were a Prior and three or four religious. The amount of their revenues as they were returned in the 26th Hen. VIIIth will be found below.^b

There is a Paper Survey of this Priory, temp. Hen. VIII. in the Augmentation Office.^c

No SEAL of this House or of any of its Priors have fallen within the view of the Editors.

Caldwell Priory, in Bedfordshire.

THE Messrs. Lysons have given the clearest Account of this Priory in few words. They say, "Caldwell or Cawdwell Priory, about a quarter of a mile west of Bedford, on the banks of the Ouse, was founded in the reign of King John, by Simon Barescot, or Basket, alderman of Bedford, for brethren of the Order of the Holy Cross or Holy Sepulchre, and was dedicated to the Virgin Mary; Robert de Houton gave the Site. The founder conferred the patronage of this convent on Roger le Mareschal. It passed afterwards to the Latimers and Uffords. The Order of the Holy Sepulchre falling to decay not long after the establishment of this monastery, it is probable that it was replenished with Austin Canons; for at the time of its suppression by Henry VIII. it was stated to be a Priory of the last mentioned Order, and was then dedicated to St. John the Baptist and St. John the Evangelist."^a

^a Tanner's opinion upon the foundation of this Priory is somewhat different. He says, "It occurs in anno 6 consecr. Hugonis Welles epise. Line. sc. A.D. 1214. Collect. M. Hutton. ex rotulis ejusd. in Reg. Line. See Madox's Form. Angl. p. 423. Mr. Burton or Mr. Speed makes this House to have been begun A.D. 1152. 13 Steph. and cite Leland for it, in whose works that date doth not now appear. Lel. Coll. vol. i. p. 73. indeed puts down Simon Basket (it should be Barscote) for first founder, but he seems to have been only patron; for it is expressly said to be 'ex

The Valor of this House in the 26th Hen. VIII. is abstracted below from the original Record.^b

The Site was granted in 1563 to Thomas Leigh, whose descendants continued there in 1620. In 1682 it was the property of Edmund Gardiner, Esq. who had a scat there, which was afterwards taken down, and a farm-house built in its place. The estate continued in the Gardiner family till about the year 1780. When the Messrs. Lysons wrote their Account of Bedfordshire in the Magna Britannia it belonged to George Livius, Esq.

No REGISTER of this Priory is at present known.^c

The Rev. G. C. Gorham has kindly communicated to one of the Editors of this Work, the Impression of a SEAL of one of the Priors of Caldwell. It is small and oval, representing a hand holding a staff: and it has for its Legend, SIGILL . PRIORIS . DE . CALDEWELLE.

Traces of the CONVENTUAL BUILDINGS may be seen in a field adjoining the Farm House.

Priory of Tunbridge, in Kent.

THIS Priory, reckoned of the Premonstratensian Order in the famous record of the 22d of Edw. Ist, was really a Priory of Austin Canons erected by Richard de Clare earl of Hereford, in the latter part of the reign of King Henry the First. Tanner says this House was dedicated to St. Mary Magdalen, but it was in fact dedicated to St. Mary Magdalen and St. Nicholas. The foundation and early endowment are ascertained from an Inquisition of the 19th of Edw. IIId.^a

In 1351 a fire happened in this Priory, which consumed every part of it to the ground; the church, chapter-house, dormitory, refectory, library, and vestry; buildings which are stated to have been "splendida et nobilia." In aid of the rebuilding of this House the Church of Leghe was appropriated to it.^b

This was one of the smaller Monasteries which were suppressed by Cardinal Wolsey, under the Bull of Pope Clement VIIth, dated in the month of September, 1524, for the endowment of his foundation of Cardinal College in Oxford. Upon Wolsey's being cast in a præmunire, the possessions of the College became forfeited; and the Site of Tunbridge Priory, as part of the revenue of the Crown, was granted in the 4th Edw. VI. to John Dudley earl of Warwick, who afterwards, as Duke of Northumberland, reconveyed it to the Crown in exchange. Queen Mary granted this Priory and its possessions in the county of Kent to Cardinal Pole, for the term of his natural life, and one year after. Upon whose death without a devise, the Site of the Priory again escheated to the Crown. Queen Elizabeth granted this Site to Sir Henry Sidney, knt.

Anglesey Priory, in Cambridgeshire.

THIS Priory was founded for Austin Canons by King Henry the First, as we learn from Knighton the Historian.^a Dugdale was able to discover no charter of foundation.^b Leland and Speed represented Richard de Clare as the founder, but he appears to have been only the patron, as was Edmund Mortimer Earl of March in the reign of Henry the Fifth.^c This Priory was dedicated to the honour of the blessed Virgin and St. Nicholas.

Thomas de Insula bishop of Ely visited this House with others in its neighbourhood in 1346.^d

Among the Chartæ Antiquæ and Miscellaneous Deeds in the Augmentation Office, are many relating to the lands and possessions of this Priory.

Cole has described a SEAL of Anglesey Priory which he saw appendant to an Instrument of the year 1351. Its area presented a figure of the Virgin Mary seated, holding the infant Saviour with her left, and giving benediction with the right hand. Two Angels at the side of her head. Round about was written, † ANGEL' . ANGLÉSIE . SVNT . SIGNATI . P' O . MARIE. The Counter Seal, † SIGILLVM . WILLIELMI . PRIORIS . ANGLESEE.²

The ARMS, as they occurred carved in stone upon the front of the House in 1744, were Or. three cheveronels Gu. impaling Or. a plain cross Gu.

The Messrs. Lysons say, "There are some remains of Anglesey Priory in the back part of a mansion-house which has been erected on its site, apparently not more ancient than the time of Queen Elizabeth; the most remarkable of these remains consist of a kind of undercroft, thirty-six feet by twenty-two, with a groined roof supported by clustered pillars, now divided into two rooms; and a row of arches supported by brackets, against a wall on the outside of the building."

Cole says, the Chapter House with several pillars in it remained entire in 1744.

Wormlepe Priory in Herefordshire.

WORMELEYE, or Wormesly Priory, olim de Pyonia, says Tanner; perhaps because near within half a mile of the parish church de Pyonia Regis, now King's Pæon. It was founded for Austin Canons of the Order of St. Victor, and dedicated to St. Mary and St. Leonard, by Gilbert Talbot in King John's time, or in the beginning of King Henry the Third. Richard Talbot of Painswike is called founder, that is patron, in Stowe's and Ashmole's manuscripts.^a

The Charters granted to this Priory, given in the Appendix, are somewhat numerous. They are entirely of Sir William Dugdale's selection.

PRIORS of WORMELEY.

In one of the Charters of the Harleian Register of this House, which will hereafter be described, fol. 24 b.,

EDWYNUS is called the "primus heremita" of this House: possibly this might have been the early designation of the Prior. The Charter, from one Robert Boter, is without date.

There is a Register of Wormlepe Priory among the Harleian Manuscripts in the Museum, No. 3586, in folio, written upon seventy-seven leaves of Vellum.¹ Tanner refers to another Register in the archiepiscopal Library at Lambeth.^m

The COMMON SEAL of this Priory was oval, small, but neat; two figures, an Abbot, with his Mitre and Crosier, and a Prior with his Pastoral Staff, formed the middle of the Seal; above them the blessed Virgin and divine Infant were placed, and below a Monk on his knees. Legend, s. COMMVNE . CAPITVLI . ECCE . SÇI . LEONARDI . DE . WORMELEYE. An Impression on Dark Wax remains in the Augmentation Office.

UNIVERSIS sanctæ matris ecclesiæ filiis, tam præsentibus, quàm futuris, ad quos præsens scriptum pervenerit, Rogerus de Mortuomari dominus de Wyfretone in Domino Jhesu Christo salutem. Noveritis nos vidisse et diligenter inspexisse quatuor sequentes cartas; cartam videlicet domini Walteri Muchegros senioris, et cartam domini Walteri Muchegros filii Milonis de Muchegros; et cartam domini Johannis Extranei, et cartam ejusdem Johannis Extranei filii domini Johannis Extranei sub tenore sequenti. Universis sanctæ matris ecclesiæ filiis, tam præsentibus quàm futuris ad quos præsens scriptum pervenerit, Walterus de Muchegros filius Milonis de Muchegros et Petronillæ in Domino Jhesu Christo salutem. Noverit universitas vestra, me assensu et consensu Ivetæ uxoris meæ, et Milonis de Muchegros filii et hæredis mei, dedisse et concessisse Deo et beatæ Mariæ et beato Kenedro et Deo servientibus, et divina celebrantibus in capellâ S. Kenedri quæ est in insulâ de Wynfretone, quæ insula ab incolis nuncupatur Heremitorium, totam terram de Brother-acres, sicut eam plenius colui ad meum dominium, cum assartis ad eandem terram pertinentibus. Et præterea duas acras in bosco meo proximas terræ de Stenniâ quæ vocatur Erme. Et duas acras et dimidiam proximas duabus prioribus acris, et Brother-acris quas Johannes Baner tenuit aliquando. Et unam acram et dimidiam quam Philippus Karles tenuit, juxta prædictam terram. Et ab eadem terrâ totam moram de Lynacres usque ad assartum Eynan. Et unam acram sub Stenniâ, quæ jacet in angulo juxta Peec, necnon et sedem molendini cum pertinentiis super Wayam in dominio meo de Wynfretone cum molaturâ villæ. Et unam particulam moræ sub villâ de Wynfretone, quam inveni sine redditu proximam croftæ quæ fuit Williemi de Hayâ, et particulæ ejusdem moræ, quam scilicet Alwredus Knave tenuit. Et præterea ad tres vaccas lacteareas, et ad unum palefredum in meâ dominicâ pasturâ de Wynfretone. Et totam croftam juxta capellam, quæ jacet juxta terram ecclesiæ de Wynfretone super Wayam. Habent etiam liberum exitum et introitum ad dictas terras colendas, et ad fructus prædicti molendini percipiendos in puram et perpetuam elemosinam, liberam et quietam ab omni servicio seculari, pro animabus antecessorum meorum. Prædicti verò Dei servientes et Deo militantes honestè et religiosè se habeant ut dompnus Walterus sacerdos, qui primus in dictâ capellâ regulam et habitum, per constitutionem, et providam considerationem domini episcopi Herefordensis, viz. illustris viri Hugonis Foliot, recepit. Inveniant autem præfati servientes Dei in supradictâ capellâ quicquid necessarium fuerit ad divina celebranda. Et quia volo quod hæc mea elemosina perpetuæ firmitatis robur optineat, hac præsentis cartâ meâ, et sigilli mei attestacione eam munivi. Si quis autem præsumperit contra hanc meam elemosinam brachia tendere, vel diminuere temptaverit, Dei omnipotentis, et beatæ Dei genetricis Mariæ virginis et beati Kenedri, et omnium sanctorum Dei, et domini episcopi Herefordensis sentiat indignationem. Hiis testibus, &c.

Notum sit omnibus sanctæ matris ecclesiæ filiis, præsentibus et futuris, quod ego Walterus de Muchegros filius Milonis de Muchegros et Margeriæ de Blechindon, pro salute animæ meæ, et antecessorum meorum et successorum, dedi et concessi Deo et beatæ Mariæ, et sancto Kenedro et fratri Stephano, et successoribus suis Deo servientibus in insulâ de Wynfretone, quod dicitur Heremitorium, totam elemosinam domini Walteri de Muchegros avi mei, adeo purè et liberè et plenariè, sicut eam dictus Walterus Muchegros avus meus dedit et concessit omnibus ibidem Deo servientibus, in puram et perpetuam elemosinam, cum omnibus libertatibus et liberis consuetudinibus suis, quæ in cartâ continentur quam habent à domino Waltero Muchegros avo meo.

Præterea dedi et concessi, et hac præsentis cartâ meâ confirmavi Deo et beatæ Mariæ et sancto Kenedro et dicto fratri Stephano, et suis successoribus in dicto heremitorio

Deo servientibus, quoddam incrementum terræ meæ circa dictum heremitorium, in circuitu protendens se ex utraque parte usque ad Wayam, cum totâ vivâ hayâ quam dictus frater Stephanus per consensum meum plantavit, cum omnibus pertinentiis. Et quia volo, quod fratres qui in dicto loco habitant, vel habitabunt, non vexentur per aliquem occasionem dictæ hayæ in circuitu dictæ elemosinæ meæ totam plantationem, quæ modò plantata est, eis quietè concessi, ita quod nullus absque eorum licentiâ audeat capere vel evellere de dictâ hayâ; cum libero ingressu et egressu, cum servientibus et averiis suis ad terram suam colendam, et ad pascua sua exercenda, et cum cæteris omnibus libertatibus suis et aysiammentis. Quod quia ratum et stabile, pro me et hæredibus meis imperpetuum volo permanere, præsentis scripto sigilli mei testimonio confirmavi. Hiis testibus, &c.

Et quia volo, quod hæc mea donatio et concessio rata et stabilis imperpetuum permaneat, præsentis scripto, una cum sigillo dicti magistri Emerici præcentoris Herefordiæ, et dicti Stephani heremite sigillum meum apposui anno Domini MCLXIII^o. Priory of Royston, or de Cruce Roesiæ,

IN HERTFORDSHIRE.

DUGDALE, in the former Edition, mistakes in placing this Priory in Cambridgeshire. Tanner calls it a Priory of black canons of the foundation of Eustace de Mere, and his nephew Ralph of Rochester,^a temp. Hen. II.^b and by them commended to the patronage of St. Thomas of Canterbury, the then newly canonized martyr.

^a He says, "I have placed him as co-founder, being informed by my good friend Mr. Baker, out of Mr. Chester's Evidences, that this Ralph built this Conventual Church, and placed seven canons therein, 'quibus Priorem præfecit.'" He is also mentioned by Leland as second founder, Collect. i. 56.

^b "The Charter of Richard Ist." (see the Append. Num. I.) "reciting the foundation and donations, bears date in the fourth month after that king came to the throne; so that probably it was founded some time before, in which I am confirmed by what Mr. Baker hath observed to me, that this Priory was in being temp. Gilberti Episc. London. who died two years before King Richard was crowned."

PRIORS of ROYSTON

JOHN ARMBURGH died July 25th, and JOHN WEST was elected Aug. 9th, 1369.^a

JOHN ADAM died 10 March, 1398.

WILLIAM PINCHEBEK elected 21 March, 1398-9.^b

RICHARD HUGH died 24th Dec. 1441.

GEORGE WRIGHT succeeded 23d Feb. 1441.^c

JOHN BOROUGH died Prior 26th April, 1484, and was buried at Royston.^d

ROBERT WHYTE died 2 April, 1532, and was likewise buried in the Priory Church.^e

RICHARD BRETTON was elected to succeed him. Cole^f speaks of WILLIAM CHAMBER as the last Prior, but he seems doubtful.

The Scite of Royston Priory was granted Dec. 29th, 32 Hen. VIII. to Robert Chester, Esq.^g in consideration of the sum of 1761*l.* 5*s.*: It recently belonged to Lord Dacre.

Leland, in his Itinerary, vol. ix. p. 133, says of Royston, "In the Towne is but one Church, the Este part wherof servid a late for the Priory of Chanons. The Weste Ende servid for a Chapel for the Toune. For afore the late Parliament the Toune longgid to a two or three Paroches withoute the Toune. Now all the Toune is allottid to one Paroche, and that ys kept in the Est ende of the Priory, and the West Ende ys pullid doune." From this passage it seems clear that the present Structure was only the Choir-part for the Canons. Cole says that an Arch in the Tower of the Church, filled up, confirms the conjecture.

An Impression of the COMMON SEAL of this Priory is appendant to the Acknowledgment of Supremacy, 1534, in the Chapter House, Westminster: it is rather large and handsome, and has two figures, one male and the other female, standing under a gothic canopy, in an arch below a Monk praying. The Legend imperfect.

The REMAINS of the Conventual Buildings at Royston are comparatively trifling.

Priory of Erdbury, in Warwickshire.

DUGDALE in his History of Warwickshire has himself given the History of this Priory. He says, "Within the precincts of Chilverscoton parish, stood the Monastery of Erdburie, built in King Henry the Second's time by Ralph de Sudley, for canons regular of St. Augustine." The original Endowment is stated to have consisted of the Church of Chelverdescote, with two yard-lands belonging to it; six yard-lands with a wood there, reputed for half a hide, ten acres of land in Broad-Meadow, and a place called the Breche at Whitmore, with certain mesuages, and half a wood called the Hudells; some lands and a meadow at Sulingfen; the Church of Dercet, and two hundred acres of land in one of Dercet fields; ten acres of meadow, half a yard-land there, then held by one Fulk, and a mesuage for barning; and one hide of land at Radway. The canons had also timber for buildings, and fuel upon all occasions throughout the founder's demesne lands, with liberty of pannage.^a Beside this the canons had anciently the Church of Weston subtus Wethele;^b one yard-land in Shireford granted by Robert de Chartres and confirmed by Ralph his son, who added ten acres more of his own gift;^c a meadow and certain privileges in Dercet, given by John de Sudley about the 31st Edw. Ist,^d who afterwards added other mesuages and lands in Dercet and Chelverscote.^e Sir Thomas de Astley, kn^t. in the 15th Edw. III. gave them a mesuage and thirty-six acres of land in Wolvey to maintain a canon to celebrate for him, his wife, and some of their relations for ever.^f These canons obtained other lands by purchase from Will. Boteler and William Babington, in Nun Eaton, Attilborough, Wyken Sow, Coventry, Hide, and Chelverscote, in the first Hen. Vth.;^g as also the reversion of the manor of Stockingford, from the Canons of Leicester, after the death of Hugh Lilburne.^h Their last acquisition in the 24th Hen. VI. was the advowson of the rectory of Westlegh in Lancashire.ⁱ

The Priors of this House were appointed by the Bishops of Litchfield and Coventry. The Lord Sudeley was the patron both in the 23d Hen. VI. and at the Dissolution.^l

In the 26th Hen. VIII. the total revenue of this Priory amounted to 122l. 8s. 6d.^m It was dissolved in the 27th Hen. VIIIth. with the smaller Houses: when William Clement the Prior received an annuity for life of twenty marks per annum.

The Scite was granted in the 30th Hen. VIII. to Charles Brandon Duke of Suffolk, to whose coheir Margaret wife of John Kersey it came in partition. John Kersey sold it to Sir Edmund Anderson kn^t Chief Justice of the Common Pleas in Queen Elizabeth's time, who totally demolishing the old fabric of the Houses and Church, built out of their ruins a fair structure of a quadrangular form; and having so done, passed the estate in the 28th Eliz. to John Newdigate of Harefield in the county of Middlesex in exchange for the manor of Harefield.

Various Charters relating to this Priory are printed in Madox's Formulæ Anglicanum, pp. 55, 68, 70, 88, 221, 359, 364.ⁿ

Dugdale has given an Inspecimus of its possessions, with a confirmation of 32d Hen. III.^a

According to Rymer this House was endowed in the time of Edward the Fourth with 50*l.* per annum.^b

A little before its suppression the revenues of this Priory amounted to 71*l.* 10*s.* 7*d.*; the spiritualities to 10*l.* and the temporalities to 61*l.* 10*s.* 7*d.* It was one of the smaller Monasteries dissolved by Cardinal Wolsey, but, after his fall, was given, 23d Hen. VIIIth, to the Abbat and Convent of Westminster, in exchange for a hundred acres of land, a part of which was afterwards made into St. James's Park. The Scite has ever since continued to belong to the Church of Westminster, under all its several endowments.

Abbey of Roucester, or Rocettur, in Staffordshire.

THIS Abbey was founded by Richard Bacon for black canons, about the year 1146. Tanner gives his reasons for assigning so early a date to it.

The Charters in the Appendix to the present account sufficiently explain its endowment.^a A manuscript in Benet College Library, Cambridge, says, that about the time of the Dissolution, it was inhabited by nine religious. The amount of its revenues in the 26th Hen. VIIIth will be found in the Note below.^a

WILLIAM GRAFTON was the last abbat.

In the 16th Ric. II. Sir Robert Belknap, Knt., defunct, gave the manor of Sharstede, near Roucester, a moiety of Lydesinge, and other lands, to find a priest here to sing for his soul.

There were two CELLS belonging to this House, LEES in Staffordshire, and HALYWELL in Warwickshire.

No REGISTER of this House has hitherto fallen under the notice of the present Editors.^b

The Editors have met with an Impression of the COMMON SEAL of this Priory, but it is imperfect as to the Legend; the subject is a Prior holding a Crosier in his right hand and a Book in his left, on each side of him are Monks praying, and over his head a representation of the Virgin Mary with the divine Infant, having an angel on each side of them. The Impression is on Red Wax: the Seal is round; it is attached to the surrender of the Priory in the Augmentation Office.

The Scite of Roucester was granted in the 31st Hen. VIIIth to Richard Trentham, Esq. The reversion of it had been previously granted Dec. 12th, 29th Hen. VIIIth, to Robert Southwell and Margery his wife.^c Combwell Priory, in Kent.

ROBERT DE TURNEHAM, or Thorneham, founded this Priory^a in the reign of Henry the Second, upon a spot called Henlie, for canons of the Order of St. Augustine, and endowed it in perpetual alms with lands at Henlie, Combwell, &c. The House was dedicated to St. Mary Magdalen. King Henry the Third, in his 11th year, granted to the canons a Fair, to be held here on the feast

^a Hasted Hist. Kent, vol. iii. p. 39. has the following Note: "Tanner says, this was founded an Abbey, but on account of the charge of supporting the state of so great a prelate as an abbot, was by reason of its slender revenues degraded to a Priory. If this was the and morrow of the patron saint.^b In the 8th year of Richard the Second, the whole Revenues of Combwell amounted to no more than 66*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.* It was subject to the See of Canterbury, the Prior constantly making his profession of obedience to the Archbishop. He was installed by the Archdeacon of Canterbury, who, as his fees for the same, had liberty of staying at the Priory two nights and case, which I find no where else mentioned, this change must have happened very early; for in 1285 it was again become a Priory. See Stev. Mon. vol. i. p. 326. Tann. Mon. p. xxvii."

one day, during which he was to be found in meat and drink at the expense of the Society, but was not to take any thing farther.^a

In the 27th Hen. VIIIth. this Priory was suppressed as one of those Houses whose revenues did not amount to the clear yearly value of £200. The Value as it had been returned the year previous will be seen in the Note below.^b

Leland says that the Lord Dacre was so considerable a benefactor as to be reputed the second founder of this Priory.^c

PRIORS of COMB WELL.

ROGER TYSHURST, Prior of this House, was removed in 1389, and again reinstated by the Commissioners of the Archbishop of Canterbury.^d

HENRY TALOW, who in 1423 was succeeded by

THOMAS PATENDON, June 3, 1512,^f

THOMAS VINCENT, el. May 30th, 1513.^g

The Site of this House remained but a short time in the hands of the Crown after its suppression. It was granted in the 29th of Hen. VIIIth, with the maners of Combwell, Lestherst, Hooke, and Coldred, to Thomas Culpeper gent. to hold in capite by knight's service. It afterwards came into the hands of the Campions of Dannye in Sussex, in whose possession it still remains.^h Mr. Clarkson of Richmond in Yorkshire is in possession of the original CHARTER of FOUNDATION of this Priory.ⁱ

The COMMON SEAL of this Priory was of handsome execution: it was round and large, with a Counter Seal, the Subject on both parts having reference to the Saint to whom the Priory was dedicated, namely Saint Mary Magdalen. A fine Impression on Red Wax exists in the Chapter House Westminster, appendant to the Acknowledgment of Supremacy, temp. Hen. VIII.

Priory of Worspring, or Woldspring, IN SOMERSETSHIRE.

THERE was at Dodelyng, in this County, a House of Canons Regular of the Rule of St. Austin and the Order of St. Victor, dedicated to the blessed Virgin and St. Thomas Becket: this Priory was removed to Worspring, by William de Courteneye, about the year 1210. In its removed state this priory was dedicated to the Holy Trinity, St. Mary the Virgin, and St. Thomas the Martyr. Its endowment is detailed in the Appendix. The Valuation of its estate, in the 26th Hen. VIIIth, will be found below. In the Valor, the head of this House is called ABBAT.^a

PRIORS or ABBATS of WORSRING.

THOMAS BANEWELL, upon whose death
PETER LOBIWRA was confirmed Prior, 8th Nov.
1414.^b
WILLIAM LUSCHE died 11th March, 1457, when

JOHN GURMAN was elected 14th April, 1458.^c

RICHARD SPRYNG occurs 1493.^d

ROGER THORNTON, probably the same person, occurs 26th Hen. VIIIth.

There is a PAPER SURVEY of the Possessions of this Priory t. Hen. VIIIth, in the Augmentation Office, and another in the Chapter-House at Westminster.^f

A very imperfect impression of the COMMON SEAL of this Priory is extant in the Chapter-House, Westminster, appended to the Acknowledgement of Supremacy, A. D. 1534. It represents an ancient Church, situate over an arch, underneath which is the gigantic head of a man; scarcely any part of the Legend remains; the impression is in red wax.

Litera Will. de Curtenai I. Bathon. Episcopo porrectæ, Propositum suum fundandi Domum Conventualem apud Worspring significantes.

[Ex ipso autogr. in Bibl. Cottonianâ.]

DOMINO suo et patri in Christo spirituali I. Dei gratiâ Batoniensi episcopo, suus devotus in omnibus, Willielmus de Curtenai salutem, et tam promptum quàm devotum in omnibus obsequium. Cum filii verè timentis sit semper ad pratem confugere tamquam ad initium et fundamentum suæ originis, ad vos tamquam ad fundamentum totius mei propositi, et tamquam ad patrem spiritualement, qui filio suo in seculo fluctuanti subvenire tenetur, confugio paternitati vestræ attentius supplicans, quatinus propositum meum ad effectum, si placet, perducere dignemini, cum meum propositum, nisi de auxilio et consilio vestro interveniente, nullatenus possit consummari. Noverit itaque paternitas vestra, quod habui et habeo in proposito fundare apud Worspring, in dominico meo, in quo constructa est capella beati Thomæ martyris, quandam domum conventualem de ordine canonicorum S. Augustini de Bristolliâ, vel de ordine aliquorum aliorum, secundùm quod magis videritis expedire, viz. pro salute animæ Roberti de Curtenai patris mei, cujus corpus ibidem requiescit, et matris meæ, et meæ propriæ; et uxoris meæ, et antecessorum meorum, et successorum; cujus domus foundationi perficiendæ, dedi et concessi totam terram meam de Worspring, et viris religiosis ibidem Deo, et beatæ Mariæ, et beato Thomæ martyri pro tempore servientibus, et quosdam etiam redditus dictæ domui fundandæ dedi, sicut ex inspectione cartæ meæ, exinde factæ, plenius vobis innotescet. Et ecclesiam de Worle, quæ de meâ advocacione est vacans, etiam vobis supplico, quatinus ipsam conferre velitis viris religiosis, qui apud Worspreng per vos et per me fuerint constituti; ita quod fructus dictæ ecclesiæ de Worle in usus proprios illorum, qui in prædicto loco de Worspreng, auctoritate vestrà, ut prædictum est, fuerint constituti, convertantur; et tam ex hiis fructibus quàm ex aliis rebus et redditibus, qui à me dicto loco fuerint collati valeant sustentari. Et noveritis in veritate, quæ Deus est, quod si propositum meum vobis placuerit adimplere, pleno conventui omnia necessaria temporalia sufficienter administrabo; ecclesias, quantum ad patronum pertinet, redditus et terras fertiles, prout videritis expedire conferendo. Noverit etiam paternitas vestra, quod fructus terræ de Worspring, quæ est de dominico meo, per me, et per latorem præsentium, Walterum presbyterum cultæ, pro animâ patris mei, et aliorum amicorum meorum, et omnium fidelium distribuentur, et distribuantur, donec super hiis quid utilius vobis visum fuerit agendum, et honestius mihi significaveritis. Et noveritis quod lator præsentium, Walterus presbyter, quem loco meo ad vos transmitti, vobis propositum meum, et petitionem, vivâ voce plenius expositorum, vir honestæ conversationis, et bonæ opinionis in partibus Sumersetiæ esse dinoscitur; cujus

Priory of Ivy Church. in Wiltshire.

THIS Priory, called also Monasterium Ederosum,^a was founded by King Henry the Second, in the neighbourhood of his Palace or Manor of Clarendon. It was dedicated to the Virgin Mary. Tanner says its first inhabitants consisted of four Canons only, of the Order of St. Austin. Just before the great pestilence of Edward the Third's time, however, it consisted of a Prior and thirteen Canons, of whom one only was left at the end of that visitation. The earliest endowments of this House appear chiefly to have consisted of lands and privileges in the forest of Clarendon.^b The series of its subsequent possessions may be traced, in Tanner's references to records given below,^c and in the Ministers' Accompts of the 28th of Henry the VIIIth.

ROBERT DE KATERINGTON was elected, 22d Sept. 9 Edw. I.^d

RICHARD WOTTON succeeded, in the month of Dec. 6th Hen. IVth.^l for a very short time. Upon his death, Priory of Old Buckenham, in Norfolk.

THIS Priory was founded by William de Albin Earl of Chichester or Arundel, in the time of K. Stephen, for black Canons of the Order of St. Austin, and the Institution of St. Mary of Mertune. Taylor in his Index Monasticus says it was the only Priory of this particular institution of Canons which occurs in England. It was dedicated, according to Blomfield to the honour of God, St. Mary, St. James, and All Saints, though Tanner says only to St. James. Dugdale from an Inspecimus of the 11th Edw. II. has given the Charter of foundation.^a

Blomfield has recited the particulars of various subsequent endowments of this Priory, nearly in chronological order.^b

The clear value of the Revenues of this House in the 26th Henry the VIIIth. amounted to £108 10s. 2½d.^c but received confirmation from the Bishop of Norwich. In 1493, the Convent here consisted of a Prior, Sub-Prior, nine canons, an auditor, a steward of the courts, keyward, woodward, and janitor; the Sub-Prior, Sacrist, and cellarer were yearly chosen from the Convent. The Prior and six canons subscribed to the king's supremacy in 1534.

The Scite of Buckenham Priory was granted, according to Blomfield, at the Dissolution to Sir Thomas Knevet: but the Repertories of the Originalia say^e on the 19th July, 1 and 2 Phil. and Mary, to Sir Thomas Lovel knt. and Elizabeth his wife.

The present possessor is the right honourable the Earl of Albemarle, by purchase.^f

Tanner's References, with a few others, to RECORDS concerning Buckenham will be found in the Note below.^g

Blomfield has engraved the SEAL, in the Inscription of which St. James alone is mentioned as the patron Saint. S. Prior . et . Cobent . Eccle . Canonicor . Sci . Jacobi . de . Bukeham.

The following is the Account which Blomfield gave of the ruins of Buckenham Priory in 1739.

"There are very few Ruins remaining, the Walls of the Church are quite down, but the foundations may be easily traced. It was in the Conventual form, with the tower in the midst, and had a nave, two aisles, two transepts, a choir and North vestry. The Monastery stood on the North side of it, and was a good square court. On the wood-work of an old Gate I saw the Arms of Albany carved, which looked very old." Scarcely any remains of this House are to be seen at present.

Priory of Cold Norton, in Oxfordshire.

TANNER says, William Fitz Alan the second, in the beginning of the reign of King Henry the Second, built here an Hospital or Priory of the Order of St. Augustine, which was dedicated to St. Mary, St. John the Evangelist, and St. Giles.

Upon the death of a Prior, 11th Hen. VII., for want of canons to elect another, the corporation was dissolved, and this Monastery (whose lands were then worth 50*l.* per annum clear) was, 22 Hen. VII. seized as an escheat to the crown, and given the next year by that King to the Dean and Chapter of St. Stephen's at Westminster, of whom bishop Smith not long after bought it, and gave it, 5th Hen. VIIIth, to his College of Brasen-nose in Oxford.

The early Dissolution of this House is the reason why no entry relating to it occurs in the Valor of the 26th of Hen. VIII. No Ministers' Accompts of it, are, of course, remaining.

Tanner's references to Records relating to it are below.ⁿ The most important Charters of this House have been preserved by Dugdale in the Appendix to the present Account.

No SEAL of this Priory, nor of any of its Priors, has hitherto been met with by the Editors of this Work.

No vestige of the Buildings of this Priory can now be traced: though a Farm and a Mill still bear the name of the Priory.

Abbey of Osulbeston, or Ouston, in Leicestershire.

OF this House our account will be summary; referring the Reader to the more elaborate Memoir of it preserved in the late Mr. Nichols's History of Leicestershire, where all that could by any possibility be recovered of its History is brought together.^a Osulveston was founded by Robert Grimbold one of the Justices of England, in the reign of Henry the Second, in honour of Jesus Christ, the Virgin Mary, and St. Andrew, for Austin Canons of the rule of the Church of Haghmon in Shropshire.

^a Hist. of Leicestershire, vol. ii. p. 757 and seq.

The Deed of foundation will be seen in the Appendix to this Account, accompanied by various other charters detailing its subsequent endowments. Several of these also, with additional charters to the number of fourteen are given in Mr. Nichols's Appendix, Num. xxii.;^a chiefly from Peck's Manuscripts in the Museum.^b Beside these, Mr. Nichols has given catalogues of the contents of fourteen Deeds of from this Abbey relating to its lands in Hungarton and Thorp, nineteen relating to Knossington, twelve relating to rents and possessions in Leicester, twenty-six to lands in Muston, Bottesford, and Normanton, and fourteen to the church and lands of North Wytham in the county of Lincoln, all likewise from the Peck Manuscripts.^c Abstracts of various deeds, relating to the township of Ouston are likewise given from some fragments of the original REGISTER of this Abbey, preserved in detached leaves in the Public Library at Cambridge,^d communicated to Mr. Nichols by Dr. Farmer.^e

JOHN SLAWESTON, 5th Nov. 12th Hen. VIIIth.^m

The Abstract of the Valor of Osulveston in the 26th of Henry the VIIIth will be found in the Note.ⁿ

Slauston was the last Abbat. He, with eleven other members of his House, subscribed to the King's supremacy, Oct. 17th, 1534.

Mr. Nichols has printed a curious Inventory of the goods of this Abbey, most of which were sold in 1539. The abbat's crozier staff, it appears, was of wood, gilt and enameled. The free-stone pavement was sold for 20s. ten glazed windows for 2l. 13s. 4d. The painted glass in two windows of the South aisle was valued at 13s. 8d.^o

At the Dissolution the Scite and demesne lands of Osulveston were leased by Indenture to Roger Ratcliffe, Esq. A grant in fee, however, of the Scite of the Priory, with the manor and impropriation and advowson of the Vicarage, was made in 1531 to John Harrington, one of the Esquires of the King's body. The Scite at present belongs to the Winchelsea family. Buck's View of this Church taken in 1730, is given in a reduced plate by Mr. Nichols, together with a ground plan of the Church and Priory buildings. Scarcely any vestiges of the Conventual buildings are now to be seen.

An Impression of the COMMON SEAL of this Priory is attached to the acknowledgement of supremacy, in the Chapter-House, Westminster. It represents the martyrdom of St. Andrew, the saint to whom the Priory was dedicated. The Legend is, SIGILL . ECCLIE . SCI . ANDREE . APLI . OSULVESTONE.

with the Conqueror. And possibly the founder of this Monastery might be descended from the said Hugh de Anesy; but that the Convent itself was not in being till towards the latter end of King Henry the Second's reign may be gathered from the witnesses to the foundation-charter, of which there is a copy still preserved among my lord Hatton's manuscripts. Two of the witnesses were Walkelin, abbat of St. James in Northampton, and Alexander, prior of Canons Ashby. Now Walkelin was not chosen abbat till the 26th year of Henry II., and sat till the 7th of King John, and Alexander was contemporary with him.^a

The Endowment of this Priory at its foundation, with certain subsequent benefactions, will be seen in the confirmation charter from King Edward the Third.^b

In the sixth of Edw. the Third, Edmund de Bereford, clerk, granted to this Monastery the manor of Granborough in Warwickshire, in return for which the Convent were to provide four canons to celebrate for the souls of his father and mother, himself, King Edward the IIIrd., and Henry, bishop of Lincoln.^c

Another Chantry appears to have been founded here in the 20th of Edw. III., by the Convent, for Sir John de Lyons, Knt., who had been a benefactor.^d Repingdon, or Repton Priory, in Derbyshire, including the Cell of Calke.

A MONASTERY of religious Men and Women appears to have existed at Repingdon in the Saxon times, before A. D. 660, under the government of an Abbess.^a This House was then called Hreopandune, and several of the royal line are said to have been there buried.^b The Names of two ABBESSES of this early Institution are recorded;

EDBURGA, daughter of Adulph, K. of the East Angles,^c and ALFRITHA, who occurs in the year 719.^d

This first House was destroyed by the Danes.

About the year 1172, MAUD, widow to Ranulph second Earl of Chester, who had previously founded a Priory of Austin Canons eleven years before at Calke in this county, removed the greater part of them here, having prepared a Church and conventual buildings for their reception; CALKE becoming from that time a Cell to Repingdon, and so continuing to the Dissolution.^e

Henry the Third's Charter of confirmation to this House, in the 57th year of his reign, reciting the donations to it up to that time, will be found in the Appendix;^f with another Charter of confirmation of King Edward the Second.^g

The Scite of Repingdon was granted in 1540 to Thomas Thacker, Esq., who had taken possession of it for the King's use in 1538, and who purchased most of the furniture and stock.^r

Fuller relates in his Church History, on the authority of his kinsman, Samuel Roper of Lincoln's Inn, that one Thacker being possessed of Repingdon Abbey in Derbyshire, "alarmed with the News that Queen Mary had set up the Abbeys again, (and fearing how large a reach such a precedent might have) upon a Sunday, (belike the better day the better deed) called together the carpenters and masons of that county, and plucked down in one day (church work is a cripple in going up, but rides post in coming down) a most beautiful Church belonging thereunto, saying he would destroy the nest for fear the birds should build there again."

Sir Henry Spelman, in his History of Sacrilege, notices Mr. Godfrey Thacker of Repingdon, as an instance of a person possessing church tithes and lands, and making a very insufficient allowance to the minister of his Church, and remarks his having been reduced in his circumstances without any assignable cause. Gilbert Thacker, Esq. the last of this family died in 1712, leaving an only daughter, who bequeathed the Priory estate to Sir Robert Burdett, Bart., grandfather to Sir Francis Burdett the present Proprietor.^s

Tanner's References to RECORDS concerning this Priory with a few Additions are in the Note below.^t

The COMMON SEAL of this Priory was Oval, and contained a male Figure seated. Legend, SIGILL. SANTE. TRINITATIS. DE. RAPENDON. There is a fair Impression of it in the Augmentation Office on Red Wax. Another occurs among the Harleian Charters, 44 H. 57.

The REMAINS of this Priory have been converted into the School-room and Offices belonging to Repton School. The mansion, which was the Seat of the Thackers, is rented of Sir Francis Burdett by the governors of the School, and is occupied by the head Master Dr. Sleath.^u

A portion of the Crypt beneath Repton Church has been engraved by the Messrs. Lysons.

An Impression of the COMMON SEAL of the Priory is appendant to the Acknowledgment of Supremacy, in the Chapter House, Westminster, but it has by some accident been so flattened, that the subject of it is no longer to be ascertained. It probably represented St. John the Evangelist, as some faint traces of the figure of a man remain on it, and he was the Saint to whom the Priory was dedicated.

Burcester Priory, in Oxfordshire.

KENNETT, in his Parochial Antiquities, under the year 1182, says, "Gilbert Basset, baron of Hedingdon and lord of the manors of Burcester, Wrechwike, and Stratton, who had his mansion seat and park at Burcester, this year founded there a religious House for a Prior and eleven Canons of the Augustine Order, dedicated to St. Edburgh, with consent of Egeline his wife, who surviving her husband and adding other benefactions was reputed a co-founder."^a "When the first Prior John," he adds, "and his eleven brethren (which institution was to answer to the number of our Saviour and his apostles) were introduced, he gave them the church of Burcester, with all its appurtenances, with the churches of Ardinton, Compton, and Missenden, with several lands, mesuages, tithes, and privileges in Burcester and Wrechwike," by a charter which he has printed.^b

Soon after, the said Gilbert Basset gave to the same Prior and Canons a second Charter, which recited the chapel of Stratton as an appurtenance to Burcester, with lands in the said parish of Stratton, repeating the former donation literally.^c

There is a third and larger charter made within the same year with the additional gift of forty acres of his demesne, twenty acres in one of the common fields, and twenty in the other, &c.^d

The charter of the founder recited in the Appendix to the present Account in the patent of Confirmation in the ninth of Edw. II. is made up of these three charters reduced into one, with some small additions and alterations.^e

^a One of Brian Twyne's MSS. at C. C. C. Oxford enters the foundation of this Priory thus, "Com. Oxon. Cœnob. Prioratus S. Edburgæ Bureestriæ pro canonicis xi. per Gilbertum Basset et . . . Courtney uxorem."

Tanner says this Priory was dedicated by the founder to the honour of St. Mary and St. Eadburgh:^f and it occurs by this name in the later Charters of the founder.

In 1193, the founder and his wife gave the canons here their lands of Wotesdune and Westcote:^g the former of which, Kennett suspects, was part of the dowry of Egeline. In 1201, the founder, on condition of being buried in the Priory Church, gave the land which he had bought of Baldwin de Munz, in the village of Kirtlington, burthened with certain payments.^h Gilbert de Basset died in 1203.ⁱ

Kennett, under the year 1267, 5 and 6 Edw. Ist., mentions a long slip of parchment, a Register for the year, of the receipts and dues of this Priory, given in by their respective stewards, and by their other officers, granger, cook, sacrist, and bursers, before the sub-prior, William de Thorneberg, Walter de Oxon, and Stephen de Oxon, deputed Auditors: whereby it appears by the bursar's accompts, that their receipts did then exceed their expenses 25*l.* 6*s.* 5½*d.* The title of this document is "Registrum Prioratus Berencestr. de anno R. R. E. quinto." The original is at present in the possession of Mr. H. Ellis.

Kennett has given the particulars of numerous small donations to this Priory previous to 1460. References to an Agreement between Philip Prior of St. Frideswides and the Prior of Burcester, respecting the tithes of Stratton; confirmed, p. 201, by Gilbert Basset the younger in 1188.

This Priory being obliged to maintain two scholars in Oxford, hired a tenement in School Street in that University, in or about the year 1233, of the abbat of Oseney, which they employed for the instruction and residence of scholars.^h

Dunkin, in the History and Antiquities of the Hundreds of Bullington and Ploughley, in Oxfordshire, has printed an

The SEAL of Burcester Priory which was attached to the Surrender, with an older Seal of the Chapter, and Hertland, or Hartland Abbey, in Devonshire.

GITHA, says Tanner, wife to Earl Godwin, is said to have placed Secular priests in the church of St. Nectan here, who enjoyed the prebends of it till the time of King Henry the Second, when Jeffrey de Dinham, by the authority of that King and of Bartholomew bishop of Exeter, and by the assistance of Richard, archdeacon of Poitiers, changed the Seculars into an Abbat and Convent of Austin Canons.^a

Oliver says, It is probable that the original Monastery was very incomplete, and of a rude style of architecture; for bishop Stapledon, who visited it in the year 1319, describes the Dormitory as being in a ruinous condition, and the lavatory as ill contrived. He complains that there was no locutorium for the Religious; that the Church was dark; and the belfry insufficiently covered in; and recommends to the Abbat to see that these defects be amended in the new Church which was shortly to be erected, "in Ecclesia noviter construenda."^b

Until the Dissolution of the Abbey, the patronage was vested in the Dynham family. Sometimes, however, the names of Fitzwarren, of Touche, of Carewe, and of Arundell, occur as patrons. The reason is this, the heads of those four families married the four daughters of the founder.^c Priory of Helagh Park, in Yorkshire.

A HERMITAGE in the wood, or park of Helagh, with liberty to clear the grounds about it, was granted to Gilbert, as monk of Marmonstier, in order, as it seems, to found a religious House by Bertram Haget, before the year of our Lord 1203, 5 Joh., and thereupon a Church was built to the honor of St. John the Evangelist, and some religious fixed here by Jeffery Haget son to Bertram; and about A.D. 1218, 2d Hen. III., a Convent of Regular Canons, under the government of a Prior, was established and endowed by Jordan de S. Maria and Alice his wife, who was grandaughter to Bertram Haget. This Priory was situated towards the east, as the water runs from Lairbrig to the passage of Langwet.

The possessions of this Priory lay in Askham, Aketon, Bernaudeby, Bilton, Bretteby, West Cotum, Crathorn, Egbure, Esedyk, Festayn, Hagenby, Helagh, Hoton near Rudby, Idle, Kathertor, Kernardby, Kildale, Knottingley, Marston, Marton, Plompton, Pyketon, Skalyng, Thorpearch, Thirsk, Tollesby, Touleston, Waleton, Wighale, Wyrkechale, Wombwell, Yarum, and in the city of York.*

Just before the Dissolution here were fourteen canons.

Et si feræ prædictorum Jordani et Aliciæ fortè transierint in boscum ipsorum canonicorum, licebit nobis et hæredibus nostris eas capere; et similiter esperveros ibi nidificantes; ita tamen ut intremus et excamus per portam ipsorum canonicorum sine dampno fossatorum et hayarum ipsorum canonicorum et omnium intra contentorum.

Concessimus quoque prædictis priori et canonicis, et successoribus eorum, liberum ingressum et egressum à domo sua usque ad portam de Wykale. Et prædicti prior et canonici remiserunt et quietum clamaverunt de se et successoribus suis nobis et hæredibus nostris totum jus et clamium quod habuerunt in villa de Helaghe, et in parco ejusdem villæ, extra clausuram et divisas ipsorum canonicorum. Priory of Canons Ashby, in Northamptonshire.

THIS Priory for Austin Canons was dedicated to St. Mary. Bridges says, that Stephen de Leye, who was lord of the manor of Ashby in the reign of Henry the Second, was most probably the founder of this House, as he stands first recorded in the list of its benefactors. Besides various lands, he gave the Canons here the church of Ashby, and that of Padington in Bedfordshire. Other of its greater benefactors were Herebert Golufra, Henry de Lanneya, Henry de Pinkeny, Robert de Pinkeny, Robert de Ho, Knight, and Emelina de Lacy.^a Bridges has given a list of its minor benefactors. The lands, with their value in each place, are enumerated in the Abstract of the Ministers' Accompts of the 28th Hen. VIII.^b The Canons here were once seised of the Church of Puttenham in Hertfordshire; but this they granted away, in the second year of Edward the Second, to the Bishop of Lincoln and his successors for ever.^c Haberford Priory, in Pembrokeshire.

WITHOUT the Town, says Tanner, was a Priory of Black canons before the year 1200, dedicated to St. Mary and St. Thomas the Martyr, and liberally endowed, if not founded, by Robert de Haverford lord of this place. The return of the Value of this House in the 26th Hen. VIIIth will be seen below.^a The early endowment of this Priory will be seen in the confirmation charter from King Edward the IIIrd. given in the Appendix.^b

The Scite of Haverford Priory was granted in the 38th Hen. VIIIth to Roger and Thomas Barlow.

 THOMAS DONSTOWE, rec. confirmation, Aug. 3d, 3 Ric. II.^d
 JOHN FENER, 1399.^e
 JOHN FREMAN, 1430.^f

Tanner has given three references only to public Records concerning this Priory, viz. "Pat. 18 Edw. II. p. 1, m. 8. pro eccl. S. Ismaelis in Lambert in Ross approprianda, Pat. 1 Ric. II. p. 5, m. 36. Pat. 2 Hen. V. p. 2, m. 14." See also the Taxat. P. Nich. IV. p. 275 b. In the Harleian MS. 832. is some account of the Impropriation of Haverford West, which belonged to this Priory.

The Priory was a large fabrick: the church about thirty feet high and thirty broad, and one hundred and fifty in length, only single aisled, in shape of a Cross. The ruined walls of this Priory are scattered over a considerable space of ground.

Attached to the Acknowledgment of Supremacy, 1534, in the Chapter House, Westminster, was an Impression of the COMMON SEAL of the Priory, but it has by some accident been so completely flattened that no part whatever of the subject it represented is to be seen, nor of the Legend.

Woodham Ferrars, in Bikenacre Priory, in Essex.

HERE, says Tanner, was at first a Hermitage, and then a Priory of Black canons, dedicated to St. John Baptist, built and endowed by Maurice Fitz Jeffrey of Tiretai sheriff of Essex, at the charge, for the most part, of King Henry the II., who forgave him on this account several sums of money, which otherwise he must have paid into the Exchequer out of the fermes and profits of his bailiwick.^a

Morant says, What particular Grants to this Priory appear upon record are as follow: "King Edward I., in the 13th year of his reign, gave leave to the Prior of Bikenacre to impark or inclose his waste in Woodham Ferrers and Dalingbury, being sixty acres of land.^b The next year he granted licence to Andrew de Woodegrie to give forty acres in East-Haningfield; to John Tolebarle and John Turpyne to give thirty acres of arable in Danbery; and to William de Ferrers to give thirty acres in Steple to this Prior and Convent.^c Six years after, he granted licence to Robert de Mapreshall to give them thirty acres; to John Langehurst, to give them also thirty acres, both in the Parish of Woodham; and to John de Malesho, to give them thirty acres in Danbury.^d In 1336, Richard Badew had licence to give them a mesuage, one carucate of land, eight acres of meadow, and twenty acres of pasture in Woodham Ferrers.^e And William Danbery, Adam Maylend, Roger Groome, and Robert Parker, to give them a mesuage, thirty acres of arable, one of meadow, and one of wood, in Woodham and Danbury."^f

^a Repert. Orig. vol. iii. p. 122. Morant, in his Hist. of Essex, vol. ii. p. 33. has strangely confused the latter part of his account of Bickenacre Priory. He calls St. Mary Spittle "the Convent of Elsing Spittle without Bishopsgate;" and says, the manor of Priors in Woodham Ferrars was annexed, not to St. Mary Spittle, but to St. Mary Bethlehem; thus confusing three separate foundations; and, which is still more careless, cites Newcourt, vol. ii. p. 206, as his authority.

This Priory having been annexed to the Hospital of Bishopsgate, London, in the reign of Hen. VII., there are no Ministers' Accompts of it in the Augmentation Office; but in that Repository there is the Particular for the Grant of it, in the 31st Hen. VIII., to Polsted, by which it appears to have had belonging to it, besides the manor of Bickenacre, lands, &c. in the parishes of Woodham Ferrars, Danbury, Norton, Steple, Chelmsford Mayland, Stowe, Easthaningfield, Hanningfield, Purleigh, Burnham, and Dunham, all in Essex, the whole value of it was 30*l.* per annum.

Priory of the Holy Trinity, at Ipswich.

WE have the evidence of Domesday that a Church of the Holy Trinity at Ipswich was endowed at least as early as the eleventh century:^a to which Tanner adds, that a Priory of Black Canons of the Order of St. Austin was begun in it before A.D. 1177, and chiefly endowed by Norman fil. Eadnothi,^b one of the first canons: but the Church and Offices being consumed by fire not long after, were rebuilt by the munificence of John Oxford, bishop of Norwich,^c whereupon King Richard the First in the 5th year of his reign, gave the patronage of this Monastery to him and his successors.^d

Taylor, in his Index Monasticus says, the Church and Offices which were destroyed stood near what is now St. Margaret's Church-yard in Ipswich.

To this Monastery were appropriated the Advowsons, Medieties, or portions of the Churches of St. Lawrence, St. Mary at Tower, St. Mary at Elms, St. Saviour, St. John Baptist, St. Margaret, Trinity, and St. Michael, in Ipswich; Tudenham, Mourningthorpe, Bentley, Higham, Foxhall, Willisham, Preston, Mendham, Rushmere, and Lecham; a mill in Hagenford; a fold-course and pasturage for four hundred sheep; free-warren in eleven or more parishes; a hundred and forty acres of marsh in Moulton and Reedham; and manors, lands, and rents in many other parishes.

The Convent consisted of a Prior and six or seven Canons.^e

The COMMON SEAL of this Priory has not yet been met with by the Editors, nor is it noticed by Mr. Taylor in his Index Monasticus of the Diocese of Norwich.

The ARMS of this Priory were a Trinity, Argent.

Taylor says, that this Priory was suppressed at the request of Cardinal Wolsey, and the revenues applied towards founding his two intended Colleges at Oxford and Ipswich. On the 21st March, 36 Hen. VIII. 1544. It was granted in exchange to Sir Thomas Pope, Knight. In the 37th Hen. VIIIth, according to the Repertories of the Originalia, Paul Withypole did homage for the Scite of this House. The present owner is the Rev. Charles Fonnercan.

On the Scite of this Priory, since its Dissolution, a spacious Mansion called Christ Church has been erected.

Castel Hymel, or Fineshed Priory,

IN NORTHAMPTONSHIRE.

BRIDGES, in his Account of Fineshed, Hist. Northamt. vol. ii. p. 307, says "Here was originally a Castle, named Castle-Hymel, in Laxton parish, demolished in the reign of King John. Upon the ruins of it was afterwards erected a Priory of Black Canons, to the honour of the Virgin Mary. It was first called the Priory of St. Mary Castel-Hymel. In later records it is named Finesheved, or Fineshed Priory, which name it still retains."^a Richard Engayne the elder appears to have been the founder of this Priory, at the very beginning of the reign of John. He died in 1208. His son's confirmation, with the more minute particulars of the foundation and endowment of this House, will be seen in the Appendix.

Tanner's references to Records of this House,^b with the Valor of the 26th Hen. VIII., sufficiently explain its possessions.

WILLIAM ENGAYNE, 1225.

PHILIP DE BEDEFORD, elected in 1233.

PHILEMON OCCURS in 1248.

JOHN, 1258.

WILLIAM OF ST NEOTS, elected 1265.

ERNALD DE SLAUSTON succeeded in 1274. He was afterwards abbat of Osulveston.

THOMAS DE TACHEBROK succeeded Slauston in 1288.

RICHARD DE HOLTE, 1309-1341.

JOHN BACOUN, the next Prior, died in 1343.

WILLIAM DE SPALDING succeeded.

ROBERT, who succeeded Spalding, died in 1356.

JOHN DE PIRY was the next Prior.

HENRY SUTTON resigned in 1421.

HENRY HEMMYNGFORD, canon of St. Oswald Nostel, succeeded in 1421.

SIMON BULWICK died in 1502.

ROBERT STOKYS was next chosen by the Convent, but set aside by the Bishop, when

ROBERT EXILBY, Prior of Newsted, was appointed to the government of the House. He died the same year; and, on the Bishop's nomination, JOHN MARKEFELDE, a monk of Land Abbey, was admitted his successor.

CHRISTOPHER HARPEWORTH, according to Bridges, subscribed to the King's supremacy as Prior (with five others), in 1534. He was the last Prior.^c The Valor of the 26th Hen. VIII. calls him HARYNGEWORTH.

In the 33d Hen. VIIIth, the Scite and demesnes of Castel Hymel Priory were granted to John Lord Russell, in exchange for lands in Devonshire: four years after which Lord Russell passed them away to Sir Robert Kirkham, Knt., whose descendants have ever since continued to possess them.

A handsome Impression of the COMMON SEAL of this Priory is attached to the Acknowledgment of Supremacy 1534, in the Chapter-House, Westminster: it represents the blessed Virgin crowned, and seated in a chair, under a Gothic arch, having in her lap the divine Infant. The Inscription is, S . ECCLESIE . BEATE . MARIE . DE . CASTRO . YMIELIS.

Bridges is very particular upon the Ruins of this Priory, as they stood in his time. He says, "Mr. Kirkham's house, as appears by the arched roofs and pillars in the lower rooms, which composed the cloisters, is built on the scite and foundations of the Priory. One gate to the north-west of the house was lately pulled down: and, in laying the foundation of a malting, several apartments or cells, about eleven feet square, were discovered under ground. Hymel-Castle and the Priory House stood both within a ditch or moat, the marks of which are yet visible on all sides, except where it hath been levelled for conveniency. The abbey-hall stood eastward of the House, where is now an arch remaining, and one under which they passed to the buttery. On the same side was the granary, lately taken down, the beams of which were of horse-chesnut." Contiguous to the north-west part of Mr. Kirkham's house was a heap of rubbish, made, as was supposed, by the ruins of the steeple, and near it an arch in the wall, by which it was conjectured the canons entered into the church. The pavement and foundation of the church were also discovered. The Scite of the Castle and Priory was computed to contain about seven acres of ground.

NUM. II.

Fundationis et Fundatorum Historia.

[Ex Rotulo quodam penès Edwardum Vaus, Baronem de Harwedon, an. 1620.]

REGNANTE rege Johanne vixit dominus Ricardus Engaine, senior, qui fuit dominus de Blatherwick, et primus fundator domus beatæ Mariæ de Castra-Hymel, qui nunc vocatur Finesheved; et habuit in uxorem Saram, filiam comitis Oxenford; de qua genuit duos filios, Ricardum videlicet, et Vitalem. Qui prædictus dominus Ricardus, senior, obiit nono kalend. Maii, a. Domini mcccviii. et a. regni regis Johannis decimo.

Post cujus decessum successit dominus Ricardus Engayne, filius ejus. Hic Ricardus non habuit uxorem neque filium, per modicum tempus vixit, et obiit tempore regis Johannis; sed quo anno, non invenio aliquid memorabile, quia sepultus est apud Huntington.

Post cujus decessum devolvitur hæreditas ad dominum Vitalem Engayne fratrem ejus, qui duxit in uxorem quandam Roesiam, quæ fuit una trium sororum, quæ dividebant hæreditatem feodi honoris de Montgomery in Wallia; cujus hæreditatis causa mutavit ipse arma sua partim de armis comitis Warrenæ, qui fuit capitalis dominus feodi illius, et partim de armis antecessorum suorum. De qua etiam Roesia prædicta genuit ipse quatuor filios; videlicet, Vitalem, Henricum, Willielmum, et Johannem; sed Vitalis obiit in juventute sua, superstite fratre suo, qui etiam dominus Vitalis pater obiit xi. kalend. Novembris a. Domini mcccxlvi. et anno regni regis Henrici filii Johannis vicesimo quarto.

Post cujus Vitalis decessum successit dominus Henr. Engayne filius ejus, qui non habuit uxorem neque filios; qui obiit 5 kal. Feb. an. Domini 1261, et an. regni regis Henrici 51. post cujus decessum, quia moritur dominus Willielmus Engaine frater ejus, devolvitur hæreditas ad dominum Johannem Engaine fratrem suum juniorem; qui habuit in uxorem quandam Joh. filiam et hæredem domini Henrici Gray . . . de qua genuit Johannem Engayne, qui temporibus domini Johannis fratris sui, moriebatur, et Nicolaum Engaine. Qui dominus Johannes Engaine obiit nonas Januarii a. Domini 1297, et anno regni regis Edw. filii regis Henrici 25.

Post cujus decessum successit dominus Johannes Engaine filius ejus, qui duxit in uxorem dominam Elenam filiam domini Roberti le Fitz-Roger, quæ omnino erat sterilis. Qui Johannes habuit dominium per 24. annos et plus, et obiit tertio kalend. Octobris, anno Domini 1322, anno regni regis Edwardi filii regis Edwardi sexto decimo.

Post hunc dominum Johannem Engaine juniorem, devolvitur hæreditas ad dominum Nicolaum fratrem ejus, qui habuit in uxorem dominam Amiciam, filiam domini Walteri Fawcomberg, de qua genuit ipse Johannem Engaine, et Henricum Engaine; sed iste dominus Nicolaus Engaine non vixit ultra duos menses, et duos dies post dominum Johannem Engaine fratrem suum et prædecessorem suum. Idem verò obiit pridie nonas Decembris anno Domini 1322. Et anno regni regis Edwardi sexto decimo.

Post prædictum dominum Nicolaum dominus Johannes Engaine filius ejus successit; qui duxit in uxorem suam dominam Johannam, filiam domini Roberti Peverell; de qua genuit duos filios, et tres filias, videlicet, Johannem Engaine, Thomam Engaine, Jocosam Engaine, Elizabetham et Mariam. Qui Johannes, pater prædictorum Johannis, et domini Thomæ, obiit anno Domini 1357.

Post decessum domini Johannis Engaine filii domini Nicolai Engaine devolvitur hæreditas ad dictum Thomam Engaine, filium et hæredem domini Johannis Engaine, qui duxit in uxorem dominam Katerinam filiam comitis Devonæ: Qui dominus Thomas obiit anno Domini 1367, sine hærede de corpore exeunte.

Et post ejus decessum devolvitur hæreditas ad tres sorores, videlicet, Jocosam, Elizabetham et Mariam, ut sorores et hæredes præfati Thomæ; quæ verò Jocosam, prima filia, cepit in virum Johannem Goldington, qui habuerunt exitum inter eos, quandam filiam, nomine Katerinam. Quæ verò Elizabetha, secunda filia, cepit in virum Laurentium Pabenham militem, et habuerunt exitum inter eos quandam filiam, nomine Katerinam, quæ verò Katerina cepit in virum Willielmum Cheney militem, et habuerunt exitum inter eos Laurentium et Armam. Quæ verò Maria tertia filia cepit in virum Willielmum Bernake militem, et habuerunt exitum inter eos Johannem et Mariam. Qui verò Johannes cepit in uxorem Armam filiam Edmundi None.

Hæredes Thomæ Engaine chivaler Jocosam, Eliz. Maria, Jocosam, uxor Johannis Goldinton militis, de cujus progenie, et recta linea venit Johannes Henxtewoth.

Et omnia maneria cum advocacione ecclesiarum, terrarum, et tenementorum, cum suis pertinentiis, dicti Thomæ Engayne chivaler partita fuerunt inter sorores prædictas, et pro defectu hæredum cujuscunque earundem, ad aliam sororem remanebit, prout patet per quendam finem factam in curia domini regis apud Westmonasterium in xv. Paschæ, anno regni regis Edwardi regis Angliæ tertii, à conquestu xlix. et regni ejusdem regis Franciæ xxxvi.

Keynsham Abbey, in Somersetshire.

THIS Abbey was dedicated to the Virgin Mary, St. Peter, and St. Paul. Tanner says it was founded by William Earl of Gloucester, between the years 1167 and 1172, as by the witnesses to the foundation; and probably soon after 1167: for Robert only son and heir of this Earl died A.D. 1166,^a and he desired his father upon his death-bed to build and endow this House.

According to the account, however, which Leland gives in his Itinerary, vol. vi. p. 92. here was a small Priory before the death of Robert, where his father "caussid him to be buried; and after He newly repayred and endowed it, making it an Abbey of Canons Regular."^b

The first Account is that to which most credit seems to be due.^c

The original endowment of this House may be gathered from the Inspeximus of Edward the IId, which recites the different donations;^d as they stood in his time. What were the rents and possessions in the reign of Henry the Eighth will be seen in the Abstract of the Ministers' Accounts.^e

According to the Harleian MS. 6964. p. 91. the Church of Hugh Littelton was appropriated to this Monastery, 4th Edw. II.

The COMMON SEAL was of elaborate execution, having for its Subject the Virgin crowned, holding in her right hand the divine Infant, and in her left a Sceptre, and having on one side of her St. Peter, on the other St. Paul, with the Arms of the Abbey. Six clarions in base. Legend, SIGILLVM . COMMVNE . MONASTER . BEATÆ . MARIE . DE . KEYNESHAM. It is appendant to the Surrender in the Augmentation Office.

Professor Ward, Feb. 9th, 1744, exhibited an impression from the Seal of a House, probably an Hospital near this Monastery, to the Society of Antiquaries. It had this Legend, SIGILLVM . DOMVS . BEATI . IOHANNIS . BAPTISTÆ . IVXTA . ECCLESIAM . KVNNAISHAM. The area presenting a figure of St. John, holding a book in his right hand, with the left hand over it, and a mitre on his left side.¹

Keynsham Abbey stood at the east end of the parish Church of Keynsham. Not the least remain of it is now extant.

Kertmel, or Cartmele Priory, in Lancashire.

WILLIAM MARESCHALL the elder, says Tanner, Earl of Pembroke, founded here, A.D. 1188, a Priory of Regular Canons of the Order of St. Austin, dedicated to the blessed Virgin.

Among the original Charters in the Harleian Collection of MSS. in the British Museum are one or two Charters which concern the foundation of this Priory. The Charter 83 A. 26. is a grant from John Earl of Moreton to William Marescall of lands in Caertmel. Another, 83 A. 27. is a Charter of John Earl of Moreton "quod Gulielmus Marescallus faciat Domum qualiscunque Religionis voluerit in terra de Kertmel, et det Domui illi Kertmel cum omnibus pertinentiis."^a

The Charter of King Edward the Second, reciting and confirming its endowments, will be found in the Appendix;^b with a Grant from the Earl of Pembroke of the Church of Balifax.

In this House, about the time of the Dissolution, were reckoned ten religious, and thirty-eight servants.^c

There are no Ministers' Accompts of this Priory in the Augmentation Office; for which reason an Abstract of the Valor 26 Hen. VIIIth. is substituted for them.^d

^a Johannes comes Morceton omnibus amicis et hominibus suis, Francis et Anglis, salutem. Sciatis me concessisse et presenti carta mea confirmasse pro salute animæ meæ et antecessorum meorum, quod Guillelmus Marescallus faciat domum qualiscunque religionis voluerit in terra de Kertmel. Et ut ipse Guillelmus det domui illi et illis qui ibi Deo seruiant Kertmel cum omnibus pertinentiis suis in perpetuam elemosinam, pro salute animæ suæ et antecessorum suorum, adeo liberam et quietam in omnibus sicut ego ipsi Guillelmo illam concessi et carta mea confirmavi. Quare volo et firmiter præcipio quod præfati religiosi cujuscunque religionis fuerint, habeant et teneant prænominatam terram de Kertmel in perpetuum liberam et quietam, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis in ecclesiis et capellis, in bosco et plano, in silvis et venationibus, in viis et semitis, in pratis et pascuis, in aquis et molendinis, in herbagiis et piscariis, in salinis et fabricis, et cum omnibus libertatibus et liberis consuetudinibus eadem terræ pertinentibus, adeo libere et quiete et honorifice et integre sicut carta donationis prænominati Guillelmi illis confirmat et testatur salvo servicio unius militis quod ipse Guillelmus M. mihi facere debet. Testibus Stephano Ridello cancellario meo, Willelmo Avenl., Rogero de Emundevill, Willelmo de Turbervill, Rad. de Ardern.

^b This Charter, which was among the archives of the Priory, is now Cart. antiq. Harl. 51 H. 2.

The Scite was granted in the 32d Hen. VIIIth. according to Tanner to Thomas Holcroft. The Repertories of the Originalia, MS. Brit. Mus. vol. iii. fol. 152 b, say to Thomas Holcreste, 5th Nov. 32 Hen. VIIIth.

Tanner's References to MSS. and Records concerning this House are below.^e

Of the COMMON SEAL of this Priory an Impression exists in the office of the Duchy of Lancaster, representing the blessed Virgin seated, and having in her lap the divine Infant. The Virgin is crowned, and holds in her left hand a Staff with a Dove on the top. Part of the Legend only remains, namely, . IGIL VEN MARIE . DE . KERMELE. The Deed to which it is attached is without date, but probably of the 13th century.

The ARMS of this House were those of the Founder, Party per pale, Or and Vert, a Lion rampant Gules.

Cole says, in Kertmel Church was this Inscription:

"Hic jacet frater Wilhelmus de Waltone Prior de Kertmel."

RICHARD is named as the last Prior of this House.

^e He says, "Vide Cartas quamplurimas ad hunc Prioratum spectantes, in bibl. Harleyana, 1710. In eadem bibl. MS. 1499. fol. 69. of the Foundation and Arms of this Priory. In bibl. Corp. Christi Cant. REX, &c. Inspeximus cartam, &c. Willielmi Marescalli, &c. in hæc verba. Omnibus sanctæ matris ecclesiæ filiis, ad quos præsens scriptum pervenerit, Gulielmus Marescallus salutem. Noverit universitas vestra, quod ego, ad dilatandum sacræ religionis cultum, dedi, et concessi totam terram meam de Kertmel, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, in liberam, puram, et perpetuam elemosinam, Deo et sanctissimæ ejus genetrici Mariæ et canonicis ibidem Deo servientibus, pro anima domini regis H. secundi, et pro anima regis H. junioris, domini mei, et pro anima regis Richardi; et pro anima mea, et anima uxoris meæ Isabellæ; et pro animabus antecessorum, et successorum et hæredum meorum. Dedi etiam eis, et pari devotionis affectu concessi, ejusdem terræ ecclesiam, cum universis capellis suis, et cum omnibus advocacionibus suis, et in omnibus rebus ad eas pertinentibus. Quare volo, et firmiter præcipio, quod præfati canonici habeant et teneant prædictam terram totam de Kertmel, imperpetuum, liberam et quietam, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis in ecclesiis, et capellis, in bosco, et plano, in silvis et venationibus, in viis, et semitis in pratis, et pascuis, in mari, et in omnibus aquis, et molendinis; in herbagiis, et piscariis, in salinis, et fabricis; in minariis ferreis, et in omnibus aliis rebus et locis, cum omnibus libertatibus, et liberis consuetudinibus suis, liberè et quietè, integrè, et honorificè.

Præterea volo et constituo, quod prædicta domus, et canonici ibidem Deo servientes, liberi sint, et immunes ab omni subjectione alterius domus, et quod nulli domui in aliquo nomine subjectionis, respondeant. Obeunte verò priore prædicti loci de Kertmel, canonici duos canonicos eligant, et mihi Willielmo Marescallo, eorum patrono, vel hæredibus meis repræsentent, ut ille, quem communis assensus noster elegerit, prior efficiatur; ita quod quicumque ibi prior statuatur, nomen et officium tantum prioris habeat imperpetuum; ita quod de prioratu illo nunquam fiat abbatia.

Hanc autem domum prædictam fundavi, ad sacræ religionis augmentum; donans ei, et concedens quicquid libertatis os loqui potest, et cor hominis cogitare; quicumque igitur jam dictæ domui, sive rebus suis decrementum aut detrimentum intulerit, Dei maledictionem, et beatissimæ Virginis Mariæ, et omnium sanctorum Dei, et meam incurrat; ut autem hæc donatio mea à præsentibus rata, et à posteris inconcussa permaneat, sigilli mei impressione præsens scriptum communivi. Hiis testibus, comite Willielmo Sarisbiriensi; Johanne domini regis Marescallo, fratre meo; Galfrido filio Petri, Roberto de Berkelay, Galfrido filio Roberti, Richardo de Mucegros, Radulpho Bloet, Philippo de Prendelegast, Johanne de Erleg, Willielmo de Sancto Leodgario, Nicholao de Avenell, Richardo de Stutecombe, Willielmo Waleran, Philippo de Sarum, Rogero capellano, Jocelino clerico, Michaele clerico, Pentecosto clerico, et multis aliis.

Nos autem concessionem, &c. necnon concessionem et quietam clamantiam, quas Adam filius Adæ de Winsterthwaites per scriptum suum fecit Willielmo priori et conventui loci prædicti, de tota terra cum pertinentiis, et toto jure et clamio quod idem Adam habuit vel habere potuit, in eadem terra, quam tenuit de prædictis priore et conventu in Winsterthwaites. Remissionem etiam et redditionem, ac quietam clamantiam, quas Thomas filius Radulphi de Windeth per scriptum suum fecit fratri W. priori, et conventui loci prædicti de tota terra ipsius Thomæ de Ketilstal, et toto jure et clamio quæ idem Thomas habuit vel habere potuit aliquo modo in tota terra de Ketilstal, et in tota terra de Ramswinderby, sine ullo retenemento. Redditionem etiam et concessionem, &c. quas Elias filius Godithæ de Stavelay, per scriptum suum fecit Willielmo de Waltone, priori et conventui loci prædicti, de tota terra ipsius Eliæ, quam habuit ex dono prædictæ Godithæ matris suæ in Madonstales, in villa de Brothone, in Kertmele; et de toto jure et clamio quæ idem Elias habuit, vel habere potuit in eadem terra sine aliquo retenemento, ratas habentes et gratas, &c. confirmamus, &c. Abbey of Westwood in Lesnes, in the Parish of Crith in Kent; called also Lesnes Abbey.

RICHARD DE LUCY, chief justice of England, A.D. 1178, and who had some years before discharged the trust of Regent or Governor of the realm during the King's absence in France, began an Abbey for black Canons upon his estate here, and the next year quitted all his great places, and took on him the habit of religion, and shortly after died in this House, which was dedicated to St. Mary and St. Thomas the Martyr: for so, it seems, Thomas a Becket, late archbishop of Canterbury, was called in about eight years after his death.^a

Geoffrey de Lucy, bishop of Winchester, in 1189, a near relation of the founder, was a great benefactor to this House.^b

In the 9th Edw. I. the Abbat of Lesnes had a grant of free warren for his lands here, at Tong, and at Acolt; and in the 5th Edw. III. a charter of confirmation. Charters of confirmation had previously been obtained from King John and King Edward the Second.

The abbat of Lesnes was summoned to Parliament in the 49th of Henry the Third, and in the 23d Edw. 1st; but when King Edward III. reduced the number of the Abbats summoned to Parliament, the abbat of Lesnes was omitted.^c

In the 21st of Edw. 1st, the abbat claimed to have wreck of the Sea in the Thames within the manor of Lesnes, against Joan Pecke as descendant of John Earl of Athol; the issue of which was given against him, the ancestors of the Earl abovementioned having always enjoyed wreck within the manor.^d when Cardinal Wolsey obtained permission to suppress it, in 1524, to assist in raising a revenue for his two Colleges at Oxford and Ipswich. It was granted to the Cardinal with other Houses, for this purpose, Feb. 8th, 17th Hen. VIIIth.^e The Scite and demesnes of this House were again granted by King Henry the VIIIth, 5th March, in his 25th year, to William Brereton, Esq.,^f but he becoming entangled with the charges against Queen Catherine Howard, the estate was again forfeited, and was granted 29th March, 28th Hen. VIIIth, to Sir Ralph Sadler, knt.^g Having subsequently passed through other hands, a Mr. Hawes of London, who had purchased the scite and demesne of this Abbey in the reign of King Charles the First, settled it by his last will, for ever, upon the Hospital of St. Bartholomew near Smithfield,^h a part of the endowment of which it still continues.

This Abbey continued without any very considerable additions of endowment till the reign of Henry the Eighth,

There are no Ministers' Accompts of this House in the Augmentation Office: an Abstract of the Valor 26th Hen. VIII. is therefore given instead of them.

An Impression from the COMMON SEAL of this House is in the possession of one of the Editors of this Work. The area is divided in two compartments; in the upper is, apparently, the figure of a Canon in a square cap, instructing a child: in the lower, St. Nicholas; round the area this inscription, SIGILL . SCI . NICHOLAI . DE . BVRIS-KOV . ✠ Another Impression from this Seal has been engraved by the Society of Antiquaries in their Vetusta Monumenta.

EDWARDUS Dei gratia rex Angliæ, dominus Hiberniæ et dux Aquitaniæ, archiepiscopis, &c. Inspeximus cartam quam celebris memoriæ dominus Edwardus, quondam rex Angliæ, pater noster, fecit dilectis nobis in Christo priori et conventui de Burscough, in hæc verba. "Edwardus Dei gratia rex Angliæ, dominus Hiberniæ, et dux Aquitaniæ, archiepiscopis, &c. Sciatis nos concessisse et hac cartâ nostrâ confirmâsse dilectis nobis in Christo priori et conventui de Burscough, quod ipsi et successores sui imperpetuum habeant unum mercatum singulis septimanis per diem Jovis apud manerium suum de Ormeschirche in comitatu Lancastriæ; et unam feriam ibidem singulis annis per quinque dies duraturam, videlicet in vigilia et in die et in crastino decollationis sancti Johannis Baptistæ, et per duos dies sequentes, nisi mercatum illud et feria illa sint ad nocumentum vicinorum mercatorum, et vicinarum feriarum. Quare volumus, &c. Hiis testibus, venerabilibus patribus Roberto Bathoniensi et Welleusi, Willielmo Norwycensi, Godefrido Wygornensi episcopis; Edmundo fratre nostro, Willielmo de Valencia avunculo nostro, &c. Data per manum nostram apud Westmonasterium vicesimo octavo die Aprilis, anno regni nostri quarto decimo."

Inspeximus etiam quoddam scriptum indentatum in hæc verba. "Anno regni regis Edwardi quartodecimo, in festo sancti Michaelis, apud Lancastriam, ita convenit inter dominum Edmundum filium inclitæ recordationis Henrici regis Angliæ, ex parte una, et priorem et canonicos de Burscough ex altera; videlicet quod dictus dominus Edmundus pro se et hæredibus suis concessit dictis priori et canonicis, quod habeant liberum mercatum in villa de Ormeskirk singulis septimanis per diem Jovis, et nundinas secundum quod continetur in carta domini regis, quam ipsi habent de prædictis mercato et nundinis. Habendum et tenendum prædictis priori et canonicis et eorum successoribus, sine contradictione vel impedimento prædicti domini Edmundi, seu hæredum vel ballivorum suorum imperpetuum: et pro hac concessione prædicti prior et canonici reddent prædicto domino Edmundo et hæredibus suis per manum ballivorum suorum de Lyverpull annuatim, unam marcæ argenti in festo Nativitatis beatæ Virginis, loco et nomine stallagii et tolneti, quæ in dicta villa idem dominus Edmundus capere solebat; et pro omnibus quæ ad dictum dominum Edmundum vel hæredes suos de prædictis mercato et nundinis poterunt pertinere. Et si casu contigerit, quod prædictum mercatum aliquo tempore defecerit, ita quod nullum sit, tunc prædicti prior et canonici et eorum successores à præstatione dietæ marcæ annuæ sint quieti. In cujus rei testimonium prædictus dominus Edmundus uni parti istius scripti sigillum suum, et dicti prior et canonici alteri parti sigillum suum commune apponi fecerunt. Hiis testibus, dominis Willielmo le Botiller, Roberto Banastre, Roberto de Heland, Johanne

Inspeximus etiam cartam quam Robertus filius Henrici fecit Deo et ecclesiæ sancti Nicholai de Burscough et canonicis ibidem Deo servientibus, in hæc verba. "Notum sit omnibus sanctæ matris ecclesiæ filiis, tam præsentibus quam futuris, quod ego Robertus dominus de Lathom, filius Henrici, concessu hæredis mei, dedi et concessi, et hac præsentem cartâ meâ confirmavi Deo et ecclesiæ beati Nicholai de Burscough et canonicis ibidem Deo regulariter servientibus, in puram et perpetuam elemosinam, terram illam quæ est in capite de Burscough per divisum terræ Stephani Calvi, usque ad Egeacres; inter magnam viam de Wirpilmosse et rivulum de Egeacres; et sic per rivulum de Egeakirs, usque ad divisum inter Ormeskirk et Brakenthwayt; et sic usque ad Scarth; et de Scarth usque ad Westhed; et de Westhed usque in rivulum de Scakerdaleheved; et sic per rivulum usque ad radum qui radit de Altona usque Urletonam; et de vado illo in transverso usque ad divisum inter Gaufridum Travers et Stephanum Calvum; et totum nemus de Grytteby cum exartis circumjacentibus, scilicet terram Roberti Carpentarii, eum Brakenthwaite, et terram Ricardi, junioris filii Roberti et Amabillæ sponsæ suæ, cum terra Mathei filii Baldewyni.

"Dedi etiam eis totam villam de Mertona cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, in bosco, in plano, in pratis, in pascuis, cum therlescogh, et omnibus aliis asiamentis. Et concessi eis, ut habeant curiam suam plenariè, cum omnibus libertatibus, quas ego ipse habeo. Et dedi eis ecclesiam de Ormeskirk, eum omnibus pertinentiis suis; et ecclesiam de Hutona, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis; et ecclesiam de Flixton, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis. Concessi etiam ad necessaria prædictorum canonicorum, molendinum de Lathom et omnia molendina de meo dominico, tam ea quæ faciendâ sunt, quam ea quæ jam facta sunt. Dedi etiam eis locum sancti Leonardi in Knouseley, cum pertinentiis suis, et materiem lignorum omnium nemorum meorum canonicis et hominibus eorum, præter Burscough concedo. Totam istam dictam elemosinam ab omnibus consuetudinibus, placitis, et querelis et inquietudinibus ita solutam et quietam, et liberam esse concedo, sicut ulla elemosina liberior et solutior dari debet vel potest. Hanc itaque elemosinam ego et hæredes mei defeudemus de forinseco servicio apud dominos vestros. Hanc verò elemosinam feci pro anima Henrici regis junioris, et pro anima Johannis comitis de Mortune, et pro anima mea, et uxoris meæ; et pro animabus patris mei et matris meæ, et omnium antecessorum et successorum meorum. Staberdale Priory, in Somersetshire.

TANNER calls this a small Priory of Canons of the Order of St. Austin, but under the subordinate regulation of St. Victor, said to have been built by Sir William Zouch, to the honour of St. James.* A commission was issued by the bishop of Bath and Wells in 1443 for consecrating the nave, choir, and chancel of the Conventual Church, which had then been just rebuilt by John Stourton, probably the patron of the House as in some way descended from the founder.^a

Sir Richard Lovel is said to have been the patron of this House in 1309 and 1333.^b In the 35th of Edw. III. it is spoken of as of the patronage of the heir of Nicholas de St. Maur and Mauriel his late wife.^c Bishop Tanner observes that Nicholas St. Maur, in the time of Edward the First, had married one of the heiresses of Alan la Zouch,^d a direct descendant of the founder.

This Priory having been annexed in 24 Hen. VIII. to Taunton, there are no Ministers' Accompts of it in the Augmentation Office, but the Particular for the Grant of it to John Earl of Oxford in the 36th year of that reign is there, and a full copy of it was printed by Sir Richard C. Hoare, Bart. in a 4to. 1824.

In the same Work is also a Copy of the Letters Patent of 24 Hen. VIII., annexing the Priory of Staverdale to that of Taunton, as before observed in that year, and references to all the Deeds that could be collected concerning this small and obscure Religious House.

In this privately printed Book, are two Engravings of the exterior, and one of the interior remains of the Priory, as also an Engraving of the COMMON SEAL, representing St. James, and having for its Legend, SIGILL . ECCLESIE . SANCTI . JACOBI . DE . STAVERDALE, taken from a Deed in the Archives of the Dean and Chapter of Wells, and dated A.D. 1263.

Abbey of St. Mary de Pre, or de Pratis, near Leicester.

OF the History of this Abbey we shall present a succinct outline only, referring the reader, for extensive details, to the elaborate Memoir of this House printed in the second portion of the Second Volume of Mr. Nichols's History and Antiquities of Leicestershire.

St. Mary de Pre was founded by Robert de Bossu, Earl of Leicester, in 1143, in honour of the Assumption of the blessed Virgin Mary, for Canons regular of the order of St. Austin. Its first endowment was in some degree from the estates which had been settled upon a Collegiate Church originally founded within the Castle of Leicester, to which other lands and rents were added, as will be seen in Dugdale's Extracts from the Abbey Register.^a

The Countess Amicia the wife of the founder, Robert the founder's son, Robert Fitz Parnell, the Countess Petronell, Margaret de Quincy youngest daughter of Robert Fitz Parnell and wife of Saher de Quincy, Roger de Quincy Earl of Winchester, Saher de Quincy, Simon de Montefort, Alan la Zouche, Ernald de Bossu, the first, third, and fourth of the name, were all benefactors;^b as was also Robert Fitz Ralph.^c King Stephen, King Henry the Second, and King John, each gave them charters of confirmation.^d

In 1148, the Abbat and Convent obtained several material privileges from Pope Eugenius the Third, which were confirmed by succeeding pontiffs.^e

In 1252, they had a charter of confirmation from King Henry the Third for three hundred acres of wood in the forest near Leicester.^f

In 1279, the Abbey Church was solemnly dedicated.^g

In 1300, Robert, son of Robert de Burstall, had liberty to grant lands to this Abbey; and in the same year it was found that Prince Edmund, Earl of Leicester, the king's brother, was the patron of this Monastery.^h

In 1311, Anthony Bek, bishop of Durham, had licence to give seventy-four acres of land at Ratby.ⁱ

In 1323, John de Tours had licence to found a chantry in this Abbey; and to endow it with eighty-eight acres of arable land, and four acres and a half of meadow at Burstall, Leicester, and Stanton under Burton.^k

In 1326, the amount of lambs received by the Abbey for tithes in the High Peak of Derby was 237; of fleeces, 426, reckoning by the great hundred, which weighed eighty-seven stone.^l

Among the Records in the Tower during the reign of Edward the Third, occurs, "Litera missa domino Papæ, de licentiâ dandâ Abbati et Conventui de Leicester, quod ipsi adquirere valeant ecclesiam de Humberston, diocesis. Lincolnensis. Data apud Eltham, 30 Martii."^m

In 1329, the abbat and convent were, by the king's writ, put into possession of a parcel of wood at Haliwellhagh, near Loughborough, which they had purchased from Henry de Beaumont.ⁿ

In 1352, Henry, Duke of Lancaster, was a benefactor to this Abbey; in which year also, Simon de Islip, archbishop of Canterbury, had licence to found a Chantry here;

^a Compare the Deed in the Append. Num. I.

It may be curious here to notice, as relating to Rob. de Bossu, the founder of this Monastery, that in one of the MSS. now in the British Museum, formerly Dr. Charles Burney's (Num. 357.), are, "Versus Sygerii Lucani in Sanetorum laudem Monachorum." At the end of which it is said, "Rob. comes Lecestriæ solebat hos versus memoriter recitare." The verses and the remark are in a hand certainly not later than the twelfth or thirteenth century.

^b See the respective Charters in the Appendix, Num. II. to XIII. inclusive.

^c Ibid. Num. XXI.

and, in 1361, Simon Pakeman, Thomas de Rappele, clerk, and Richard of Leicester, had licence to grant to this Abbey the manor and advowson of Kirkby Malore.^o

Such were the greater benefactors to this House.

JOHN BOURCHIER occurs in 1534, on August 11th, in which year he, with certain members of his Convent, subscribed to the King's supremacy. He surrendered his office in 1539. Nichols says he was one of the last surviving Abbats, having received a general pardon from the Crown as late as the month of August 1584.^p

At the time of the Dissolution the debts of this House are said to have amounted to 410*l.* 10*s.* 0*d.* to divers creditors, exclusive of the King. The weight of plate amounted to one hundred and ninety pounds. The lead, by estimation, was valued at 1000*l.* The bells at 88*l.*^q

The Abbey of Leicester had the usual suite of officers that were found in the larger Religious Houses.^r

"Of the original Abbey, or of its church," says Nichols, "we know but little. The only shadow I have ever found of a view of either, is in the slight sketch given at the corner of Plate XVII. from Speed's Map (not published till 1610); but even this will give some little idea of the original, which appears to have consisted of three bays of building besides the Church.

The Abbey, Leicester.

“The principal Chapel, dedicated to the Virgin Mary, was ornamented with paintings, the gift of William Geryn, sometime treasurer, who built a new ceiling to the choir and body of the Church, and had the whole new painted.” In this chapel Cardinal Wolsey, the last scene of whose life within these walls is so minutely depicted by Cavendish, was interred.

The boundary wall of the Abbey, with a portion of a Gateway, are the chief remains now existing of the ancient structure.

The total of the Revenues of St. Mary de Pre, or Leicester Abbey, returned in the 26th Hen. VIIIth, will be seen below.^a The Scite was granted in the 4th Edw. VI. to William Marquis of Northampton.

Nichols is minute upon the history of the possessions of this Abbey: and as an Appendix to his account of it, has printed the whole of the Register called Charyte’s “Rentale;” a MS. finished by William Charyte, then Prior of this House in 1477: subjoined to which is Charyte’s Register of the Books in the Abbey Library, a singular and very curious bibliographical document, not only as it relates to the History of Leicester Abbey, but to the Literary History of England in the 15th Century.

Mr. Nichols has engraved the COMMON SEAL of this Abbey in the Volume already quoted, Plate XVII. fig. 3. p. 274. The subject is the Virgin Mary seated, holding the infant Jesus in her lap, with a fleur-de-lis in her right hand. The Inscription, SIGILLVM . SANCTE . MARIE . DE . PRATIS.

Historia Foundationis, et Progenies Fundatoris.

MEMORANDUM quod Robertus comes Mellenti, veniens in Angliam cum Willielmo duce Normanniæ, adeptus consulatum Leycestriæ ex dono dicti ducis et conquestoris Angliæ, destructâ prius civitate Leycestriæ cum castello et ecclesia infra castellum, tempore prædicti conquestoris, reædificavit ipsam ecclesiam sanctæ Mariæ infra castellum, statuens ibidem xii. canonicos seculares, et unum decanum, conferens eisdem et approprians omnes ecclesias Leycestriæ præter ecclesiam S. Margaretæ, quæ non erat suæ ditionis, eo quod fuit et est præbenda ecclesiæ Lincolnensis, cum quinque carucatis terræ, ex parte boreali civitatis, et aliis possessionibus in ipsa civitate, et cum omnibus ecclesiis de soca de Schepesheved, et Halso, et pluribus aliis ecclesiis, redditibus, et possessionibus.

Ipsa quoque Roberto defuncto, successit ei Robertus le Goczen, filius et hæres ejusdem; et de consilio domini Alexandri, tunc episcopi Lincolnæ, et aliorum discretorum, fundavit abbathiam istam de Pratis Leycestriæ; transferens possessiones et præbendas dictæ ecclesiæ S. Mariæ de Castro, cum omnibus aliis redditibus et possessionibus suis, in usum canonicorum istius abbathie; largiens et approprians eisdem, tam per se, quàm per suos, plures alias ecclesias, redditus, et possessiones, cum una carucata terræ in Leycestria jacente ad cuneos monetæ, cum prato adjacente usque Narsike, et aliis pertinentiis suis. Qui quidem Robertus, de consensu Amiciæ uxoris suæ, sumpsit in abbathia ista habitum nostræ religionis; vivens justè et sanctè quindecim annis et ampliùs. Ipsa quoque Amicia uxor sua sanctimonialis apud Eton est effecta.

Isto Roberto fundatore nostro defuncto, successit ei in hæreditatem Robertus filius ejus, et vocabatur Robertus as Blanches meyns; qui Robertus accepit in uxorem Petronillam filiam Hugonis de Grantmenyl, cum honore de Hynkelee, et aliis possessionibus ipsius Hugonis, quas habuit in Anglia. Et extunc primò honor de Hynkelee est conjunctus comitatu Leycestriæ. Et ex dicta Petronilla genuit tres filios, et duas filias; scilicet Robertum, qui vocabatur Robertus filius Petronillæ, ad differentiam prædictorum; et qui successit patri suo in hæreditatem; sed nullum habuit hæredem de se genitum; et Willielmum leprosum, secundum filium. Et Galfridum episcopum sancti Anderæ in Scotia, tertium filium. Et Amiciam primogenitam filiam, et Margaretam juniorem.

Illo quoque Roberto as Blanche meyns in redeundo de

Terra Sancta defuncto, et apud Duraz in partibus transmarinis sepulto, successit ei prædictus Robertus filius suus et hæres, vocatus filius Petronillæ, in hæreditatem. Ipso quoque sine hærede defuncto, divisa est hæreditas inter prædictas sorores, Amiciam et Margaretam, eo quod dicti duo fratres sui fuerant jam defuncti; et Amicia desponsata fuit domino Symoni de Monteforti, patri illius Symonis, qui moriebatur apud Evesham. Et Margareta desponsata fuit Sayero de Quincy; et facti sunt duo comitatus, scilicet de Leicester et Wyncester, de comitatu Leycestriæ priùs integrè existente.

Wellow or Grimesby Abbey, in Lincolnshire.

LELAND, in his Collectanea, vol. i. p. 93, ascribes the foundation of this Abbey to King John: but Knighton, and he is decidedly corroborated by King Henry the Second's confirmation charter, says it was founded by King

Henry the First. It was for black canons, and was dedicated to the honour of St. Augustine. King Henry the Second's charter calls this Abbey Welhove: among its endowments we find the churches of St. James in Grymesby, Clee, Tetenay, Hotoft, Riebi, and Catebi.^a

Very little more is to be gathered of the History of this Abbey except the names of its

ABBATS.

Priory of St. Thomas, at Stafford.

TANNER, in the Text of the Notitia Monastica, calls this a Priory of Black Canons built by Richard Peche, bishop of Coventry and Litchfield, about the year 1180, to the honor of St. Thomas the Martyr, viz. Becket of Canterbury.^a

In the Notes, he says, "There is reason to think, from the charter of Gerard Stafford, fil. Brieni,^b that HE was the true founder, and brought these canons hither from Darby or Darley, and fixed them here upon land which he held of the bishop of Litchfield, as chief lord; and from thence might compliment him with the title of founder." It is observable, Tanner adds, that the Litchfield Annals, both in the Monasticon,^c and in the Anglia Sacra,^d only say that this bishop founded this Church "de episcopio." No doubt but he was a great encourager of the building of this Monastery, and had a great liking to it; for, when he resigned his bishoprick, he became a canon here, ended his days, and was buried here: but Gerard seems to be more likely to have been the real founder.^e

Erdeswick, and Loxdale in his MS. Collections for Staffordshire, are of the same opinion with Tanner. The latter says, "However this may be, the bishop was certainly a great benefactor to the place: to him they owe all their lands on the south side of Sow, with the churches of Baswick, Acton, and Bednall, and perhaps Charnes.^f

Robert de Ferrars, Earl of Derby, gave the canons here two mesuages in Chartley, and the advowson of the church of Stow.^g

Newstead Abbey, in Nottinghamshire.

THE Priory of Newstead, or de Novo Loco in Shirwood, says Tanner, was built about the year 1170, to the honour of the blessed Virgin Mary. Geoffrey, archdeacon of Canterbury, one of the witnesses to the foundation charter, attained the high preferment of the See of Ely in 1174.

Tanner mentions several REGISTERS of this House.^a

In the Valor of the 26th Hen. VIII. we read,
 "Prioratus Beatae Mariæ de Novo Loco in Shirwood.

"Summa totalis Valoris tam Spiritualium quam Temporalium Prioratus prædicti 219l. 18s. 8½d."

In the 31st of Henry the VIIIth, we find homages entered among the Originalia for the Scite of Newstead of John Bellone and Richard Manners. It was, however, granted 27th May, 32 Hen. VIIIth, to John Byron, knt. of Colewyke.

Newstead Abbey was, of late, the Seat of Lord Byron. The front of the Abbey Church still remains, adorned with pinnacles and carvings. It has been engraved for the present, as well as for several other works. Sir John Byron, to whom it was granted soon after the Dissolution, as has been already mentioned, fitted up a part of the Abbey Offices as a dwelling-house, incorporating in the Apartments a portion of the South Aisle of the Church. There is much of picturesque ruin about what remains of Newstead Abbey, which is now by purchase the property of Col. Wildman, who has made considerable improvements to the House and Grounds.

Priory of Moberley, in Cheshire.

HERE, says Tanner, Patrick de Modberley founded a Priory of Black Canons to the honour of the blessed Virgin Mary and St. Wilfrid, about or before A.D. 1206. The moiety of the Church of Moberley was its first endowment.

Mr. Ormerod, in his History of Cheshire, vol. i. p. 330 and some following pages, has given a collection of the Charters of this Priory, forming nearly a complete series^g from the time of its foundation to that of its annexation to the Priory of Roucester, which happened in the time of Walter abbat of Chester, between 1228 and 1240.

One thing, says Mr. Ormerod, is inexplicable, how, in the course of the next fifty years, every trace of these arrangements should vanish, and not the slightest connection remain between Moberley Church and Roucester Priory, to which Gilbert de Barton had transferred it, but that the Advowson should be decidedly vested in William de Moberley.

Nothing more is known of this Priory.

^g These are twenty-seven in number. The charter marked x. grants the second moiety of the Church of Moberley with its appendant courts, &c. given by William son of Ralph de Moberley, and is so far of importance. Other grauts to this Priory by the Tattons of Tatton follow, with the confirmation of the baron of Dunham-Massey. The charters xx. to xxii. relate to grants by the families of Wereford and Wyninton; followed by four charters of Sir Gilbert Barton, knt. The last of these is the charter already referred to in the text.

UNIVERSIS sanctæ matris ecclesiæ fidelibus, Patricius de Modberleya, salutem. Noverit universitas vestra, quod ego Patricius, pro salute animæ meæ et patris mei et matris meæ, et omnium antecessorum et successorum meorum, dedi et concessi, et hâc chartâ meâ, in puram, et perpetuam elemosinam confirmavi, Deo et S. Mariæ et S. Wilfrido, et canonicis regularibus in Modberleya ecclesia perpetuo mansuris, totam illam medietatem ecclesiæ de Modberleya, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis, et aisiamentis et libertatibus et liberis consuetudinibus suis, quæ ad donationem meam pertinent. Et præterea dedi in incremento eidem medietati prædictæ ecclesiæ et eisdem canonicis, in puram et perpetuam elemosinam, de dominio meo in eadem villa, sex seilluns in Chirchecroft, et totam culturam, quæ est inter parvum rivulum et pratum de Farneleia, et inter Walleschæ, et viam quæ vadit ad Farneleiam; et totam Duningcroftham; et totam culturam meam in Bakestaneshull; et unam salinam liberam in Norwyco, quam tenui de Aytrope de Mulintone et uxore ejus Christiana; salvâ et dimidiâ marcâ quam ei annuatim reddidi. Hæc omnia dedi, et in puram et perpetuam elemosinam confirmavi prædictis canonicis, et eorum successoribus sine ullo retinemento mihi vel hæredibus meis, libera et quietâ ab omni servicio et exactione de me et hæredibus meis, et de omnibus hominibus; ita quod personæ alterius medietatis ecclesiæ de Modberle, quæ non est de donatione mea, nihil juris poterint exigere in prædictis tene-mentis.

Et sciatis, quod concessi et assignavi prædictam elemosinam Waltero canonico, et canonicis ibidem Deo servientibus imperpetuum, hunc Walterum elegi et constitui primum priorem in prænominata elemosina, assensu et auctoritate domini G. Coventrensis episcopi. Volo autem, et eadem charta confirmo, quod prior et canonici prædicti loci faciant molendinum et vivarium ad opus suum proprium, ubicunque benè viderint super terram suam in eadem elemosina. Quare volo, quod prior et canonici ejusdem loci, teneant hæc omnia prædicta, benè et in pacè, liberè et quietè, in bosco et plano; in pratis et pasturis; in viis et scmitis; in maris et in aquis, et in omnibus locis: ubicunque verò tempore pastionis mei dominici porci et hæredum meorum in boscis meis fuerint, concedo quod prædicti canonici et eorum homines, porcos suos liberè sine pannagio habeant, et ad omnia averia sua libertatem cum omnibus communionibus et aisiamentis prædictæ villæ, in boscis et ubique; ita quod homines canonicorum ex toto sint canonicis intendentes. Et volo, ut prædicti canonici habeant curiam suam et omnes libertates suas, tam liberè, sicut ego meliùs unquam habui. Et concedo canonicis ejusdem loci, ut decedentibus prioribus ejusdem loci, habeant liberam potestatem eligendi, per se, quemcun-que voluerint, priorem. Et ego et hæredes me warrantizabimus eisdem canonicis omnia prædicta contra omnes homines. Hiis testibus, domino G. OMNIBUS, &c. Gilebertus Barton miles, salutem in Domino. Noverit universitas vestra me, pro salute animæ meæ et antecessorum meorum et successorum, dedisse, &c. Deo et ecclesiæ beatæ Mariæ Roucestr. et canonicis ibidem Deo servientibus tres acras terræ in Modberley, illas scilicet quæ jacent in quodam campo qui dicitur Farley, propinquiores terræ prioratus de Modberley, et advocacionem prioratus de Modberley cum omnibus ad dictum prioratum pertinentibus, tenend. et habend. dictis canonicis et eorum successoribus in puram et perpetuam elemosinam sicut ego vel aliquis antecessorum meorum dictam terram et advocacionem unquam liberius tenuimus. Ita quod nec ego vel aliquis hæredum meorum jus vel clamium in dicta terra vel advocacione exigere vel habere poterimus præter orationes. Ita videlicet quod dicti canonici possint se et domum de Rouc. appropicare de terris, redditibus de boscis, de wastis, de ædificiis, et de tenentibus dictæ ecclesiæ de Modberley sicut melius poterunt. Abbas vero dictæ domus de Roucestr. quemcunque canonicum vel sacerdotem voluerit ad dictum prioratum de Modberley destinabit secundum voluntatem suam et quemcunque voluerit removebit sine impedimento de me et de hæredibus meis. Concessi etiam quod prædicti canonici habeant communia in boscis et in terris et in wastis et in omnibus aliis, sicut alii priores de Modberley unquam liberius habuerunt, salvis in assartis meis quas assartare voluero, ad tenend. in dominico dummodo dicti canonici habeant sufficientem circumam et nullis assartis habebunt ingressum sicut in aliis locis postquam blada fuerint asportata. Priory of Spiney, in Cambridgeshire.

TANNER says, "Sir Hugh de Malebissa having married, temp. Joannis, Beatrix,^a lady of the manor of Wykes, they, in the beginning of King Henry the Third's reign, built and endowed here a priory for three Regular Canons of the Order of St. Austin, to the honour of the blessed Virgin Mary and the Holy Cross. This manor, with the advowson of the Priory, descended afterwards to Mary Thornton, who married Sir Humphry Bassingborn; after whose decease, she augmented this Monastery with lands for the maintenance of four canons more, about 31st Edw. I., and there were other benefactors to this House; which however being much run to decay, both in its revenues and buildings, was, A.D. 1449, perpetually united to the Cathedral Monastery of Ely (wherein the founders were buried), by Walter bishop of Norwich, ordinary of the place,^a with the leave of King Henry VI. and the consent of the patron John Tiptoft earl of Worcester; and so it continued till the Dissolution, after which, 36 Hen. VIII., it was granted as parcel of the possessions of Ely to George Carleton, in trust, as it seems,^b for Sir Edward North."^c

HENRY DE MALEBISSE occurs PRIOR of this House in the last year of Henry the Third.^d

Cole, in his xviiiith volume, p. 126, has given a Deed

Tanner's References relating to it are in the Note.^e

No Seal of Spinney Priory has fallen under the observation of the Editors.

The REMAINS of the Priory House at Spinney were pulled down in 1775, by Lord Besborough, and entirely rebuilt. Cole has a rude sketch of them in ink as they then stood in one of the Volumes of his Manuscripts.

OMNIBUS Christi fidelibus ad quos præsens scriptum pervenerit indentatum, Ric. Aithilwald de South Croyk et Matilda uxor ejus, consanguinea et hæres dominarum de Wykes, Beatricis Malebisse, et Mariæ de Bassynburne, fundatricium prioratus de Spineto, salutem in Domino sempiternam. Cum dicta domina Beatrix in prima sua fundatione dederit Deo et ecclesiæ beatæ Mariæ, et Sanctæ Crucis, quendam locum in territorio de Wykys, qui vocatur Spinney, et certa terras, prata, mariscum vocatum Frythfen, jus patronatus ecclesiæ parochialis de Wykys antedicta, cum communis et aliis libertatibus, in puram et perpetuam elemosinam, ad sustentationem trium canonicorum regularium. Ac etiam cum prædicta domina Maria, postea per finem in curia domini regis tunc levatum, dederit priori et canonicis ejusdem loci certa terras, prata, gurgites aquarum, et redditus, in augmentationem prædicti numeri canonicorum; viz. ad sustentationem quatuor canonicorum divina celebrantium in ecclesia dicti prioratus; ita quod post decessum vel cessionem alicujus prædictorum quatuor canonicorum, prior et successores sui, qui pro tempore fuerint, habeant annum integrum ad supplendum numerum dictorum quatuor canonicorum. Et cum postea prædicti prior et conventus concesserunt dictæ dominæ Mariæ per factum suum, quod duo de canonicis suis venirent singulis diebus ad ecclesiam de Wykys divina ibidem celebraturi.

Insuper cum prædicta domina Maria, pro salute animæ, et pro salute virorum suorum et parentum, antecessorum, hæredum et liberorum suorum postea per factum suum dedit eisdem priori et canonicis unum messuagium, lxii. acras terræ arabilis, viginti quatuor acras prati, et quendam mariscum vocatum Frythfen in Upwer, cum pertinentiis suis, et redditum tresdecim solidorum et quatuor denariorum ad inveniendum per annum septem hominibus debilibus et pauperibus in mesuagio prædicto, domicilium competens, in quo possunt benè morari, et cuilibet eorum per diem unum panem precii unius quadrantis, et unum allec, et unum denarium cervisiæ, inter ipsos septem pauperes participandum, et illis omnibus, prout decet, distribuendum, et cuilibet eorum per annum tres ulnas lineæ telæ, precii ulnæ duorum denariorum, et unum garmamentum laneum quolibet altero anno, precii duorum solidorum et sex denariorum, et quolibet anno cuilibet eorum unum par sotularium, ^a This Priory, says Tanner, with Soham, Fordham, and Mermand, though all in Cambridgeshire, are within the great Ditch, and so part of the old kingdom and bishoprick of the East Angles, and of the present bishoprick of Norwich.

^b Because in the exemplified copy of the lands belonging to the Monastery of Ely, in the Treasury of the church of Ely, against Spinney lands, towards the top, is put "Reserv. pro domino Rege," and a little lower, "Concess. domino Ed. North."

Priory of Motisfont, in Hampshire.

TANNER says that this Priory of Austin Canons was founded by William Briwere, in the beginning of King John's reign, and dedicated to the Holy Trinity.^a The number of Religious, which by the foundation was to be Eleven, being reduced to Three, A.D. 1494, King Henry the Seventh procured a bull from Pope Alexander to suppress it, designing first to change it into a Collegiate Church for a Dean and Prebendaries; afterward to annex it to a Chantry and Hospital he was about to build at Windsor; but again changing his mind, and erecting that stately new Chapel at Westminster, the Abbat and Convent had leave,

^a He adds, in a Note, "Founded by Ranulph Flambard bishop of Durlham, Richard de Ripariis Earl of Devon, and Will. de Brewere, temp. Will. Rufi. Speed. So also the author of Magn. Britan. Antiq. et Nov. makes that bishop of Durlham to have founded four monks in this House of Canons; of which there is no mention in the Angl. Saer. among the Acts of that Bishop. It was in the patronage of Maud daughter and heiress of Patric de Cadureis, then a minor. Pat. 21 Edw. I. And shortly after Henry Earl of Lancaster was patron, as Reg. Winton."

Frithelstoke or Fristoke Priory, in Devonshire.

THIS small House of Austin Canons from Hertland was founded by Sir Robert Beauchamp, knt., about the year 1220.^a It consisted but of a Prior and four or five Religious.

Mr. Oliver says, The Religious of this House were generally procured from Hertland Abbey, and at every election of the Priors of Frithelstoke, the abbat of Hertland, and any one of the canons whom he thought proper to select, had a right to be present, and to vote in chapter on the occasion. Moreover the Prior of Frithelstoke had always a voice in the election of the Abbats of Hertland. The conventual Church of Frithelstoke was dedicated to St. Gregory.

The Site and lands of this Monastery were granted in the 36th Hen. VIIIth to Sir Thomas Pope, knight, who bestowed the same, or the greater part of them, upon Trinity College, Oxford.^l

Tanner's References to Records and Manuscripts concerning this House are below.^m

At the Suppression, a part of the buildings were ordered to be destroyed. Few traces of its ruins are now observable; though some arches and others remains have been incorporated into the present edifice, a Seat of the noble family of Guilford, which still retains the name of Wroxton Abbey.

The COMMON SEAL of Wroxton has not yet been met with by the Editors.

Skelton says, the Inscription on the Seal of this Monastery was, ELEEMOSINA . MICHAELIS . BELET, which was reversed with St. Michael killing the Dragon.

Abbey of Creyk, in Norfolk.

TANNER'S is the clearest Account of this Abbey. He says, "On a close of forty acres, near North Creyk, called Lingeres-croft, was, A.D. 1206, a Church built to the honour of the Virgin Mary, by Sir Robert de Nerford, chief-governor of Dover Castle, who some time after founded here also a Chapel dedicated to St. Bartholomew, with an hospital for a Master, four Chaplains, and thirteen poor lay Brethren, which being farther endowed by Dame Alice Nerford, widow to the said Robert, and daughter to John Pouchard, it was changed into a Priory of Regular Canons of the order of St. Austin, about A.D. 1226. The patronage of this House being granted by the said lady to King Henry the Third,^a he, anno regni 15, made it an ABBEY, and it was usually styled, 'Abbatia S. Mariæ de Pratis inter Creyk et Burnham Thorp.'" About the twenty-second year of King Henry the Seventh,^b this Monastery was looked upon as dissolved, because the Abbat died without a Convent to elect another, whereupon the lands and revenues, by the procurement of that king's mother, the Lady Margaret, countess of Richmond, were settled upon Christ's College in Cambridge, being of her foundation.

A later History of the foundation of Creyke is given by Dugdale in the Appendix to the present Account, with two Charters of Alice de Nerford, the Charter of Henry the Third, which changed the Priory to an Abbey, and a Charter of Sir Ralph de Gatle, by which he gave two pieces of land in Gatle, and the advowson of the church there.^c

The CHARTULARY of North Creyk, probably the same as that mentioned by Tanner,^a as being in 1632 in the possession of Henry Dereham, Esq. of West Dereham, now belongs to Sir Thomas Phillips, Bart. of Middle Hill in Worcestershire. It is a small Folio of the xiiiith Century in seventy-nine leaves, and begins with an account of its Foundation by Robert de Nerford in Lingerscroft containing forty Acres (not 400, as stated by the Continuator of Blomfield and by Taylor in his Index Monasticus).

It appears from this Chartulary that the Abbey had its principal Estates in Lingerscroft, North Creyk, South Creyk, Quarles, North Barsham, Holcham, Thorp et Brunham.

No SEAL of this small Abbey or of any of its Abbats has yet occurred to the Editors.

The Remains of Creyke Abbey were engraved for the Excursions in Norfolk in 1818 by Greig from Cotman.

Foundationis Historia.

[Ex Cartulario dictae domus penès Hen. Derham, gen. an. 1632.]

ANNO Incarnationis Domini nostri Jesu Christi M.CCVI. in honore gloriosae Virginis Mariae, fundata fuit ecclesiola in situ seu fundo de Lingerscroft, à re nominato; continente quadraginta acras terrae fruscae, pasturae, et pratis seperalibus, jacentibus in Burnham juxta Creyke, ex utraque parte viae regalis, undè nomen sortita est, sancta Maria de Pratis juxta Creyke et Burnham, per quendam nobilem virum dominum Robertum de Nerford, cui desponsata fuerit nobilis mulier domina Alicia, filia Johannis Pouchard, filius Willielmi Pouchard militis: ad quam quidem Aliciam, mortuo viro suo, fundatio jure hæreditario pertinebat. Quas quidem quadraginta acras prædictas, Philippus de Candous de Burnham, Deo et ecclesiae beatæ Mariae, et priori et monachis, et eorum successoribus de Estacre, in puram et perpetuam elemosinam donavit, tempore regis Stephani, longo tempore ante concilium Lataranense, sine aliquo seculari servitio, et sine decimis alicui ecclesiae solvendis seu subjectione, quia inanes erant, et vacuae; et quicquid ante illud tempus conferebatur religiosi, sive alicui ecclesiae, sive de terris, redditibus, vel decimis, ratum, et firmum haberetur imposterum. Postea Rogerus prior, et monachi de Estacre, dictum dominum Willielmum feofaverunt de dictis xl. acris in Brunham jacentibus, et hæredes, et assignatos suos imperpetuum pro decem solidis annuis, ut patet in carta inde confecta.

Anno regni illustris regis Henrici filii regis Johannis primo, celebrata est in dicta ecclesiola, missa, per magistrum Adam de Walsingham, tunc decanum de Brunham, anno videlicet primo, quo Pandulphus, apostolicæ sedis legatus, factus fuerat Norwicensis episcopus. Deinde idem dominus Robertus, principalis custos castri Dovoræ, per dominum Hubertum de Burgo, tunc temporis principalem justiciarium Angliæ, et regni costodem, optinuit victoriam in mari, die scilicet Bartholomæi apostoli (Francorum venientium Angligenas debellare) per voluntatem, et consensum devotæ mulieris, dominæ Aliciæ prædictæ, uxoris suæ quendam capellam construi fecit, in honore sancti Bartholomæi apostoli, cum quadam domo hospitali tresdecem pauperum ibidem refugientium, suscipiendo; omnibus et singulis diebus, providentes sibi capellanum ydoneum, dominum Willielmum de Geystre, qui aliis fratribus quatuor capellanis, dicti loci præesset magister; et elemosinæ dictæ hospitalis, et ecclesiae curam impenderet. Et ipse Robertus prædictus, statim postea in pace quievit.

Postea, multo tempore elapso, præfatus Willielmus, ecclesiae et hospitali dictus magister, per voluntatem dictæ Aliciæ fundatricis, et assensum concilii sui, suscepit habitum canonicalem, à domino Thoma de Blundevilla tunc Norwicensi episcopo, quem dedit fratribus suis; et extunc vocatus est prior canonicorum dicti loci sanctæ Mariae de Pratis juxta Creyke, per quos primò quadraginta acrae prædictæ pro parte, ex parte scil. orientali, occidentali, et australi, manibus et sumptibus propriis, sunt de novo cultæ. Et dicta capella, cum toto loco prædicto circumjacente, dedicata fuit anno Domini M.CC.XXI. per dominum Galfridum Eliensem episcopum, nepotem dictæ Aliciæ, et fratrem Huberti de Burgo prædicti, suffraganeum episcopi Randulfi prædicti; videns prædicta domina Alicia, quod hæredes sui minùs essent providi, et timens ne fortè gravamina, aut dilapidationem domui prædictæ inferrent; et hujus dispendium præcavere volens in futurum, concilio vocato tunc magnatum et sapientium, ab eis consulebatur, quod ipsa redderet jus suum advocacionis, et dominii, domino regi Henrico prænominato, et hæredibus, et successoribus suis, regibus, de se et hæredibus suis imperpetuum, etiam et patronatum præfatæ domus, quod factum est. Carta Aliciæ de Nerford, de Fundatione et Ordinatione ejusdem Domus.

[Ibid.]

OMNIBUS Christi fidelibus, ad quos præsens scriptum pervenerit, Alicia de Nerford filia Johannis Pouchard, salutem in Domino sempiternam. Noverit universitas vestra, me in honorem beatæ Dei genetricis Mariæ, domum hospitalem, super terram meam de Lingerescroft fundasse; quæ nomen sortita est domus beatæ Mariæ de Prato, inter Creke, et Brunham, et in eadem domo tresdecem lectos sufficienter ornatos, ad refugium et susceptionem pauperum Christi, constituisse; communicato etiam concilio virorum religiosorum, et Domino credentium, constitui in domo prænominata, quinque sacerdotes, imperpetuum, divina celebraturos, et prædictis pauperibus ministraturos; quorum qui præest, magistri nomen habeat: cæteri verò sacerdotes et confratres ejus nominentur. Constitui etiam in eadem domo fratres laycos, qui ad expedienda prædictæ domus negotia, et ad ministerium prædictorum pauperum Christi poterunt sufficere. Omnes verò tam sacerdotes quàm fratres in prædicta domo admissi, habitu decente, et honesto, prout decet viris hospitalitatis utantur. Prænominatus verò magister refectorem, et indumenta prædictis fratribus, de bonis prædictæ domus, Deo ex pietate sua et fidelium largitione collata secundum possibilitatem, et facultatem ejusdem domus providebit; ita quod nullus frater sive laicus aliquid proprium habeat: Prædictis etiam pauperibus in tresdecem lectis prænominatis quiescentibus, sicut decet, et sicut prædictum est, secundum ejus loci possibilitatem, et facultatem, et secundum talium domorum consuetudinem, idem magister refectorem ministrabit. Si verò domus prænominata per propriam curam, et diligentiam, vel fidelium largitionem habundaverit uberius, secundum communem prænominatorum fratrum providentiam, et hæredum meorum, numerus lectorum, et numerus fratrum, et sacerdotum augeatur.

Volo autem, quod memoratæ domus magister, omnium possessionum, terrarum, et reddituum, et omnium rerum prædictæ domui pertinentium, liberam habeat administrationem, et potestatem, ita quod nullus hæredum meorum in bona prædictæ domus, vel possessiones, manus extendat, vel de eis deprehendat, vel in suos usus convertat, nisi quæ prædicti magister et fratres, de communi consilio, . . . de rebus suis propria voluntate providerint idoneum et necessarium. Obeunte verò prædictæ domus magistro, alius à fratribus prædictæ domus liberè eligatur, et per assensum hæredum meorum episcopo diocæsano ibidem instituendus, præsentetur. Quicquid enim idem magister in suscipiendis fratribus per commune consilium fratrum suorum fecerit, ego et hæredes mei ratum habebimus; ita quod nullus clericus, vel laicus per me vel hæredes meos, ad dispendium prædictæ domus, et contra prænominatorum magistri et fratrum voluntatem, intrudatur. Ego autem et hæredes mei imperpetuum prædictam memoratæ domus ordinationem, perpetuis temporibus observandam procurabimus, et si memoratæ domus magister aliquo tempore de bonis ejusdem domus manifestam fraudem fecerit, vel eandem in consanguineis suis, vel alienis, propria voluntate, manifeste alienaverit; vel crimen manifestum commiserit, et super hoc convictus fuerit, si à confratribus ejusdem domus, et ab hæredibus meis, sicut decet, monitus, incorrigibilis extiterit, et dispersa non revocaverit, communicato episcopi diocæsani et hæredum meorum, et fratrum memoratæ domus consilio, juste deponatur. Et alius, secundum formam memoratam, ibidem instituendus, liberè eligatur. Præterea quicumque in societatem fratrum præfatæ domus venire voluerit . . . inprimis promittet; scilicet castitatem, et obedientiam; hoc est, quod faciat quod a magistro domus ei præcipitur; et quod nullam habeat proprietatem: volo etiam, quod lumen die nocteque sit in ecclesia. SCIANT præsentem et futuri, quod ego Katerina de Lacy filia Walteri de Lacy, dedi, concessi, et hac præsentem cartam meam confirmavi Deo et ecclesiæ Sanctæ Crucis de Acornberia, ac priorissæ et monialibus ibidem Deo servientibus, totum tenementum quod tenui de domino Waltero de Clifford in manerio de Corsham, tam in bosco, quam in plano, eum omnibus aliis pertinentiis; scilicet, Borleie, et boscum qui vocatur Veruhales, et unam virgatam terræ, quam tenuit Eytrop de Sibetone; et tres nocas terræ quas tenuit Willielmus Gloyn, cum pertinentiis; ita videlicet, quod dictæ moniales omnia prædicta habeant et teneant in perpetuum, in liberam, puram, et perpetuam elemosinam, ad sustentandum unum capellanum idoneum in præfata ecclesia de Acornberia, celebrantem missam cotidianam beatæ Virginis Mariæ, pro animabus patris mei et matris meæ et fratris mei, et mea, et antecessorum et successorum meorum; et pro salute dieti Walteri de Clifford et Margaretæ uxoris suæ, ac domine Mathildis de Longespe filiæ suæ, et Margaretæ filiæ ipsius, in perpetuum. Ita quod si præfatum servitium, aliquo tempore, fuerit fraudulenter substractum, volo et concedo, quod dominus Herefordensis episcopus, qui pro tempore fuerit, possit prædictam priorissam et moniales compellere, per prædictam, et alio quocunque modo, sibi videbitur, secundum Deum, ut dicta missa, in dieto loco de Acornberia honorificè, honestè, et plenariè perpetuè, ut dictum est, celebretur. Et hæc omnia universæ moniales et singulæ de prædicta domo de Acornberia, pro se, et pro sibi successuris ibidem libera ac legitima promissione concesserunt. Volo igitur et concedo ut dicta priorissa et dictæ moniales omnia supradicta teneant et possideant, quieti et soluta ab omnibus servitiis et exactionibus secularibus, consuetudinibus, sectis curiæ, et universis aliis demandis, quæ ad terram pertinent vel pertinere poterint, sine aliquo retinemento, sicut libera, pura, et perpetua elemosina unquam meliùs et quietiùs potuit, aut poterit optineri. Ego autem Katerina de Lacy eandem warrantizationem, quam de prædictis et eorum pertinentiis et libertatibus, per cartam dicti domini Walteri de Clifford aliquando habui, dictis monialibus quietam clamavi; et ad majorem securitatem, eandem cartam ipsis sursum liberavi, ad retinendum penès se, ut idem dominus Walterus, et hæredes sui juxta tenorem ejusdem cartæ, præfate ecclesiæ et monialibus prædictis, sicut meis assignatis, totam prædictam, et tenementa, cum universis ad eadem spectantibus, warrantizent, defendant, et in omnibus adquietent. Ut igitur hæc mea donatio et concessio, et confirmatio, rata, et stabilis imperpetuum perseveret, præsens scriptum sigilli mei impressione corroboravi. Austin Priory of Michelham, in Sussex.

THIS Priory was founded about or before the 16th Hen. III. by Gilbert Lord of the Eagle, "Dominus Aquilæ," as he styles himself in the charter of Endowment,^a to the honour of the Holy Trinity. An inspeximus of the 14th Edw. II. preserves the names and gifts of subsequent benefactors.^b Tanner says, "Not long before the Dissolution, herein were eight canons, whose yearly revenues were worth 160*l.* 12*s.* 6*d.*" in the clear.^c

WILLIAM, prior of Michelham, occurs in 1273 as a witness to Queen Eleanor's foundation of the Hospital of S. Katherine near the Tower of London.

JOHN, 4th Ric. II.

JOHN, 24th Hen. VIII.

THOMAS, A.D. 1533, is mentioned as Prior in Fiddes's Life of Cardinal Wolsey, p. 199. of the Collections.

In the 29th Hen. VIII. the Site of this House, situate in the parish of Haylsham, was granted to Thomas Lord Cromwell: and afterward by way of exchange in the 33d Hen. VIII. to William Earl of Arundell.^d It afterwards went to the Pelhams, and then to the Sackvilles, and was the property of the late Duke of Dorset.

Tanner's References concerning this House will be found below.^e No SEAL of Michelham Priory has been discovered.

Some considerable parts of the Priory still exist; particularly an embattled tower, with four gothic windows.

Ratlingcope, or Ratelynghope Priory,

IN SHROPSHIRE.

THIS Manor, says Tanner, being given to the Monastery of Wigmore, here were temp. R. Joan. a Prior and a few black Canons, as a Cell to that House, and, as parcel of the same, was granted 37th Hen. VIII. to Robert Long.^a

The only Instrument which Dugdale met with relating to this House, was a Letter of protection for the Canons, from Llewelin the son of Gervase, Prince of Wales.

In the Ecclesiastical Valor, 26 Hen. VIII. this small Cell is thus described under the Monastery of Wigmore.

ROLLYNGHOPE.

Valet per annum in redditibus et firmis ibidem	4l.	0s.	0d.

Inde allocatur pro vadis Rogeri Rawlyns

Collectoris ibidem per annum	0l.	6s.	8d.
Et remanet	3l.	13s.	4d.

From this it should seem that the possessions of the Cell extended no further than to Rotlinghope itself; and with this agrees the Particular for the Grant to Robert Longe, Citizen and Mercer of London, dated 16 May, 37 Hen. VIII. remaining in the Augmentation Office, except that there it is stated to consist of the Manor of Rotlinghope; value per annum 5l. 11s. 1½d.

No SEAL of Rotlynghope has been met with by the Editors.

Literæ Lewelini Principis Walliæ, de Protectione ejusdem.

[Ex ipso autogr. penès Owenum Wyn de Gwedir, Baronettum.]

LEWELINUS filius Gervasii Dei gratia princeps Norwalliæ; dilectis sibi, et cognatis et amicis, Madoco filio Mailgwn, et fratribus ejus; et Howelo filio Cadewathlon, et Meredith filio Roberti, et Gervasio Goch, et Meuric filio ejus, et aliis filiis ipsius; et Gervasio et Meredith, filiis Heinoun Clut, et Gervasio filio Meirioun, et omnibus aliis per Walliam constitutis, tam notis sibi quàm extraneis, salutem, et in omnibus necessitatibus et justis petitionibus suis, pro posse suo, non minus auxilii quàm consilii solacium. Quia tam vobis quàm nobis expedit, omnia loca Deo consecrata, et maxime ea quæ sanctæ religioni sunt deputata, pio charitatis affectu fovere, et eorum indemnitati providere, et omnes in sacris ordinibus constitutos, et maxime viros religiosos piâ devotione colere et venerari, et nullâ molestiâ infestare vel insequi, ut pacificè et quietè pro nostrâ omniumque salute Dominum, cujus servicio se penitus mancipârunt, jugiter possint interpellare: Precor vos

obnoxius et expostulo; et illis omnibus de vobis, quibus possim præcipere, firmiter præcipio, quatinus sicut me diligitis, et honorem meum; et sicut ad me liberum accessum vultis habere, et reditum; ut pro loco et tempore consilium meum et subsidium, fratrem Walterum Corbet canonicum diligatis; et in negotiis suis, pro Dei amore et meo promoveatis; et terram quam ipse ad honorem Dei et obsequium, et sanctæ religionis incrementum adquisivit; scilicet Ratlincope et Cotes; quæ terra, sicut mihi relatum est, proxima et vicina est terræ de Keri, manuteneatis et protegatis, et defendatis: Et tam homines et servientes præfati loci, quàm animalia et cætera omnia, quæ illic sunt et futura sunt, ad usum fratrum et pauperum Christi necessaria, à furto et rapinà, et à depredatione, et ab omnibus aliis molestiis et gravaminibus et damnis: Noverit enim universitas vestra, quod ipse Walterus cognatus noster est et familiarissimus; et pro religione suâ et honestate, mihi multum dilectus, et frater Willielmi Corbet avunculi mei. Quapropter iteratis precibus rogo vos omnes accuratiùs, quatinus erga jam sæpeditum locum et fratres ibidem Deo servituros, et homines illorum, et omnes terras suas, fidem et pacem habeatis et teneatis. Si quis enim, ex vobis, post hanc petitionem meam, ipsis damnum aliquod vel injuriam intulerit, pro certo sciat se deinceps familiaritatem meam amissurum et amicitiam. Et præcipuè hoc vobis dico, Madoce filii Mailgwn, quem nutriti et exaltavi, ut non reddas mihi malum pro bono, sed intendatis honori meo, ut ego vobis amodo, sicut priùs consulam et succurram ex animo. Valete.

Rabenston Priory, in Buckinghamshire.

DUGDALE, in the former edition of the Monasticon, placed this Priory in Lincolnshire: but it was really situated in Buckinghamshire, upon the border of the county of Northampton, nearly six miles north of Newport-Pagnell, and about three miles west of Olney.

King Henry the Third, says Tanner, about the 39th year of his reign built here and endowed, out of the lands of Peter de Chaceport, rector of Ivingho, archdeacon of Wells, and master of his wardrobe, a small Monastery of Black Canons, which was dedicated to the blessed Virgin Mary.

It was surrendered by the Prior and four Canons, 16th Hen. VIIIth, A.D. 1525, into the hands of the bishop of Lincoln, as ordinary of the place. In 1526 it was given to Cardinal Wolsey, toward the endowment of his colleges, when it was valued according to one accompt at 57*l.* 15*s.*, and in another at 66*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* Upon Wolsey's fall it came again to the crown. In the 2d Edw. VIth, the Site of this House was granted to Sir Francis Bryan; in the 4th of Mary, to Sir Robert Throgmorton; and in 1591, by Queen Elizabeth, to Sir Moyle Finch, whose descendant, the Earl of Winchelsea and Nottingham, lately possessed it.^a

No REGISTER of this House is at present known to be extant. By an inquisition, of which an imperfect copy exists in the Chapter House at Westminster, it was found that Cardinal Wolsey was in the 17th Hen. VIII. seized in his demesne, as of fee, of the Scite and Precinct of the Monastery or Priory of the most blessed Virgin Mary of Ravenston in Bucks, and of the manors of Ravenston and Stoke Goldington in the said county, and of Court-Baron within the manor of Ravenston, and of the advowson and patronage of the Church or Rectory there, with all Tithes, &c.; also of a water-mill in Ravenston and thirty mesuages, forty acres of arable land, three hundred acres of pasture, one hundred acres of meadow, one hundred acres of wood, and ten pounds of rent in Ravenston, Weston, Pedington, and Stoke Goldington. These Premises seem to have constituted the entire possessions of Ravenston Priory.

In the King's Remembrancer's Office is a Commission touching the Site of the late Priory of Ravenstone. Easter Term, 30 Eliz.^y

REX archiepiscopis, &c. salutem. Sciatis quod cum bonæ memoriæ Petrus Chaceport, quondam custos garderobæ nostræ, emisset à Saero de Walville totam terram quam idem Saerus habuit vel habere potuit in Ravenston, cum capitali mesuagio et advocacione ecclesiæ ejusdem villæ, et omnibus aliis suis pertinentiis; et eadem terra cum omnibus prædictis post decessum ipsius Petri ad Hugonem Chaceport fratrem et hæredem ejusdem Petri, jure hæreditario devoluta esset. Ac idem Hugo prædictam terram cum omnibus prædictis ad ipsam pertinentibus de assensu et voluntate Walteri de Wahul filii et hæredis prædicti Saeri, qui eandem terram immediatè tenuit de nobis in capite, nobis reddidisset. Nos laudabilis et diutini obsequii ejusdem Petri nobis impensi, et laboris sui continui non immemores; et quod in servicio nostro diem clausit extremum attendentes; pro salute animæ nostræ et animarum antecessorum et hæredum nostrorum, necnon pro salute animarum prædicti Petri Chaceport et Hugonis de Vynon avunculi sui, qui similiter diu grata nobis præstitit obsequia; et animarum antecessorum et hæredum ipsorum Petri et Hugonis, dedimus, concessimus, et hac cartâ nostrâ confirmavimus priori et canonicis regularibus ordinis sancti Augustini apud Ravenston moraturis, et ibidem Deo imperpetuum servituris, totam prædictam terram, cum capitali mesuagio et advocacione ecclesiæ, et omnibus aliis suis pertinentiis sine ullo retinemento. Habendum et tenendum eisdem priori et canonicis, et eorum successoribus de nobis et hæredibus nostris in liberam, puram, et perpetuam elemosinam; ita scilicet, quod unus ipsorum de beata Virgine Maria singulis diebus, et duo pro animabus antecessorum nostrorum et prædictorum Petri et Hugonis et aliorum fidelium defunctorum divina celebrent in prioratu prædicto.

Volumus etiam, quod cum creverint eorum possessiones, ipsorum numerus, juxta quod possessiones eorum videbuntur sufficere, augeatur; et loci diocæsano solum et non alicui religiosæ domui in spiritualibus, ratione subjectionis intendant. Volumus etiam et concedimus, pro nobis et hæredibus nostris, quod cum per cessionem vel decessum priorum de Ravenston ipsius prioratum vacare contigerit, nos vel hæredes nostri, seu aliqui ballivi nostri, vel hæredum nostrorum, licet ejusdem prioratus fundatores simus et patroni, nullam administrationem de aliquibus bonis ejusdem prioratus in posterum habeamus, nec ad custodiam ejusdem manus extendemus, set singulis vacationum temporibus ejusdem prioratus, habeant canonici ejusdem domus curam et custodiam et liberam administrationem de omnibus bonis et possessionibus ad eandem domum pertinentibus, ut de eisdem bonis et possessionibus vacationum temporibus liberè et sine contradictione, reclamacione, vel impedimento nostri et hæredum nostrorum et omnium ballivorum nostrorum disponere possint et ordinare, prout eis et domui suæ et priori futuro magis viderint expedire. Ita quidem, quod nos, vel hæredes, vel ballivi nostri, vel hæredum nostrorum, nichil juris vel domini nobis vindicare poterimus, nec debemus in dicto prioratu, vel terris ipsius aut possessionibus ratione juris patronatus ejusdem prioratus; nisi solummodo, quod vacante dicto prioratu, ejusdem domus canonici à nobis seu hæredibus nostris, vel ab ipsis, quibus regni nostri Angliæ custodiam commiserimus, nobis seu hæredibus nostris extra idem regnum existentibus, licentiam petant eligendi, et facta electione, noster vel hæredum nostrorum seu ipsorum, quibus dicti regni custodiam commiserimus, requiratur assensus: Ita quod dicti canonici vel eorum successores, pro licentia eligendi petenda, vel assensu regio de electione sua optinendo, non exeant regnum prædictum, set de seipsis priorem sibi liberè eligant, ipsamque electionem examinandam loci diocæsano, more aliarum ecclesiarum conventualium, representent, qui de ea statuet vel etiam ordinabit prout canonicè fuerit faciendum.

Et quia de terris, possessionibus, et bonis prædicti Petri supradictum prioratum fundavimus, nos intuitu Dei, et propter merita prædictorum Petri et Hugonis prædicto prioratu hanc libertatem, pro nobis et hæredibus nostris, de gratia speciali concedimus imperpetuum, quod priores prædicti prioratus, vel eorum successores, qui pro tempore fuerint, ratione foundationis nostræ vel juris patronatus nostri, more abbaciarum seu aliorum prioratum, à nobis seu prædecessoribus nostris fundatorum, non teneantur providere ad instantiam seu mandatum nostrum vel hæredum nostrorum, alicui clerico nostro vel alieno in camerari seu quavis alia pensione vel beneficio ecclesiastico; nec etiam teneantur ad sustentationem vel exhibitionem alicujus clerici, servientis, ballivi, nuncii, vel alicujus alterius ministri seu etiam conversi; vel alicujus equi nostri vel aliorum, set ipsos priorem et canonicos et suos successores de omnibus exhibitionibus nostrorum et aliorum pro nobis et hæredibus nostris quietos esse volumus et absolutos imperpetuum. Hiis testibus, venerabilibus patribus, Waltero Wigornensi et Willielmo Sarresberiensis episcopis, Ricardo de Clare comite Gloucestræ et Hertefordiæ, Ademaro Wintoniensi electo, Johanne comite Warrenæ; Galfrido de Lez-gnan, Willielmo de Valencia fratribus nostris; Johanne Maunsell præposito Beverlaci, Johanne priore de Novo-burgo, Johanne de Grey, Willielmo de Grey, Petro de Ryvallis, et aliis. Data per manum nostram apud Clarendon xx. die Maii.

Et mandatum est vicecomiti Buck. quod magistris Hugoni de Mortuo Mari; Johanni de Chishull, et Johanni de Sancta Maria, executoribus testamenti prædicti Petri, vel uni eorum, has literas regis deferenti, de omnibus prædictis terris et possessionibus cum capitali mesuagio et advocacione prædictæ ecclesiæ, et omnibus aliis pertinentiis suis plenam seisinam ad opus canonicorum ibidem moraturorum habere faciat. Nunnery of Lacock, in Wiltshire.

ON April the 16th, A.D. 1232, says Tanner, Ela, countess dowager of Salisbury, laid the foundation of two monasteries, this in Snaylesmead near Laycock in the morning for nuns,^a and in the afternoon that at Henton in Somersetshire for Carthusian monks. The religious ladies here were in number about eighteen,^b of the Order of St. Austin. This abbey was dedicated to the Virgin Mary and St. Bernard.

Stevens has been profuse in his extracts from the Charulary of this House.^c Want of room forbids us to abridge their contents here in English. Tanner in his Notitia has done it in part.

ABBESSES of LAYCOCK.

In 1238 ELA, the foundress, took the habit of a nun here; and two years afterwards was elected abbess. She ruled the monastery in this capacity seventeen years: and then resigned. She did not die till four or five years afterwards, when she ordered her body to be interred in the abbey church.^d

BEATRIX DE CANTIA was the next abbess, A.D. 1257.

ALICIA.

JULIAN DE LACOCK, 1288.

AGNES, 1299.

JOAN DE MONTFORT, 1309.

MARGERY DE GLOCESTER elected 1482. She died in 1517.

^a In a note Tanner says, "The countess of Salisbury's intention to found a Nunnery here, and her gift of the manor of Lacock for that purpose (called the foundation charter) was in the year 1229, as appears from the confirmation of King Henry III. of it anno reg. 13. and her agreement with the Rector of Lacock upon giving his consent, dated A.D. 1229. But it was 1232, before it was actually begun, as Monast. (former edit.) vol. ii. p. 342 a. Leland, Collect. vol. i. p. 49. Matth. Westm. in anno. So that the Chronicle in the Monast." (See Num. 1.) "which places the first Nuns here in 1222, seems to be mistaken ten years. Leland, Collect. vol. i. p. 305. placeth the foundation in A.D. 1131. But all the dates in that page are false, perhaps errors of the press; 1100 always for 1200.

^b The Abbess and eighteen Nuns were pensioned at the Surrender. Willis, Hist. of Abbies, vol. ii. Append. p. 28.

^c See the Numbers VI.—XXI. in the Append.

^d The inscription for her still remains.

JOAN TEMMYS was the last abbess.

Lacock, though one of the smaller monasteries, was continued by King Henry the Eighth till the general suppression. Its value in the 26th Hen. VIII. will be seen below.^e

The Scite was granted in the 32d Hen. VIII. to Sir William Sharington: and has since descended to the Talbots, William Henry Fox Talbot, Esq. being the present owner; but the Abbey is the residence of J. R. Grosett, Esq.

The ANNALS written by a chaplain of this house, which once formed a part of the Cottonian Volume Vitellius A. VIII. were much injured in the fire of 1731.

Tanner's, with some other references to Records concerning the property of this monastery will be found below.^f

The COMMON SEAL of Lacock had for its subject the blessed Virgin and divine Infant, seated under a gothic canopy, and beneath them the representation of a church, under an arch whereof a monk was on his knees in the act of praying. Legend, s. CONVENT. BEATE. MARIE. SANCTI. BERNARDI. D'LACOC. Of this Seal there are several imperfect Impressions in the Chapter House, Westminster, one of the date of 1300.

The REMAINS of Lacock Abbey are considerable. A minute Account of them will be found in the Beauties of England and Wales, vol. xv. p. 557—561.

Postquam Walterus le Ewrus genuit Edwardum, natione Anglicum natum, postea vicecomitem Wiltes, qui habuit uxorem, de qua genuit quandam filiam nomine Matildem, quam postea Humphridus de Bohun duxit in uxorem, et quandam filium nomine Walterum de Saresburia. Iste Walterus duxit uxorem nomine Sibillam de Cadurcis; de qua genuit Patricium, primum comitem Sarum. Idem Walterus verò fundavit prioratum de Bradenestok, et constituit in eodem, Deo perpetuo deservientes, canonicos regulares; qui post mortem uxoris induit tonsuram, et habitum canonicorum, et ibidem corpora eorum in uno tumulo collocantur, juxta presbiterium, quorum animæ requiescunt in cœlo.

Patricius vero ejus filius genuit ex uxore sua Ela, Gulielmum comitem Sarum, Gulielmus verò duxit in uxorem Alianoram de Viteri; de qua genuit filiam unicam, nomine Eliam. A.D. 1188, quæ data est domino Gulielmo Longespee filio regis Henrici secundi; cui dominus rex Ricardus reddidit comitatum de Rosmar, sicut hæreditatem et jus hæreditarium suum et ipsius Elæ, quod sibi accessit, et accidit de jure hæreditario Edwardi de Saresburia filii Walteri de Ewrous.

Gulielmus Longespee ex prædicta Ela liberos genuit, quorum nomina sunt hæc; Gulielmus Longespee secundus, qui viriliter contra hostes Christi in Terra Sancta dimicans ibidem pro nomine Jesu contumeliam patiens, vitam temporalem finiens, in Christo sine fine victurus, ut fertur, athleta Dei ad cœli palatium A.D. 1249. ascendit, cujus animam domina Ela mater ipsius tunc existens abbatissa de Lacock, vidit cœlos penetrans in stalio suo, et horam cæteris sororibus denunciens. Genuit etiam Ricardum, qui fuit canonicus Sarum, cujus corpus apud Lacock tumulatur; Stephanum comitem Ultoniæ, cujus corpus apud Lacock humatum est, cor verò ejus apud Bradenestok optinet sepulturam; et Nicolaum, qui fuit episcopus Sarum, cujus corpus apud Sarum tumulatur, cor itaque ejus apud Lacock, viscera verò apud Ramisberiam; Isabellam de Vescy; Elam, quam duxit comes Warwyk, et postea Philippus Basset, quæ remansit sterilis; Idam de Camyle, quam duxit in uxorem Walterus fil. Roberti, de qua genuit Catherinam et Loricam, quæ velata erant apud Lacok; Elam, quam duxit primò Guillelmus de Dodingeseles, de qua genuit Robertum qui Ela ergo uxore Guil. Lungespee primi, nata fuit apud Ambresbiriam, patre et matre Norman. novem pater itaque ejus defectus senio migravit ad Christum anno Domini M.CXCVI. mater ejus ante per biennium obiit, quorum corpora apud Bradenestok sunt tumulata, juxta vestibulum ibidem sub lapide marmorea. Interea domina carissima Ela, patre et matre orbatâ . . . Dani per cognatos et notos adducta fuit in Normanniam, et ibidem sub tuta et arcta custodia nutrita.

Eodem tempore in Anglia fuit quidam miles, nomine Gulielmus Talbot, qui induit se habitum peregrini, in Normanniam transfretavit; et ibi moratus per duos annos; huc atque illuc vagans, ad explorandum dominam Elam Sarum, et illa inventa exiit habitum peregrini, et induit se quasi cytharicator, et curiam, ubi morabatur, intravit; et ut erat homo jocosus, in gestis antiquorum valde peritus, ibidem grater fuit acceptus, quasi familiaris. Et quando tempus aptum invenit, in Angliam reparavit, habens secum istam venerabilem dominam Elam, et hæredem comitatus Sarum, et eam regi Ricardo præsentavit. At ille lectissimè eam suscepit, et fratri suo Gulielmo Lungespee maritalitatem, per quem liberos subscriptos habuit; viz. Gulielmum Lungespee secundum, Stephanum, Ricardum, Nicholaum, Isabellam Vescy, Petronillam, quæ obiit in virginitate, et apud Bradenestok, juxta latus aviæ suæ dextrum, ibidem sepultum, sub lapide marmoreo, Elam, et Idam, A.D. M.CCXXVI.

Dominus Gulielmus Longespee primus, nonas Martii obiit; cujus corpus apud Sarum est humatum. Ela verò uxor ejus septem annis supervixit in viduitate, et proposuit autem sæpius ut fundaret monasteria Deo placentia, pro salute animæ suæ, et mariti sui, et omnium antecessorum suorum, quæ per revelationes habuit, ut, in prato testudinum, Anglicè Snayles mede, propè Lacok, monasterium ædificaret in honore S. Mariæ, sanctique Bernardi, et usque ad finem complevit sumptibus suis propriis, id est de comitatu Sarum, quæ fuit hæreditas sua.

Fundavit etiam prioratum de Henton, ordinis Cartusiæ, unâ die duo monasteria fundavit; primò mane xvi. kal. Maii A.D. M.CCXXXII. apud Lacok, in quo sanctæ degunt canonissæ continuo Deo famulantes et devotissimè; et Henton post nonam.

A. verò ætatis suæ xlv. Alicia Garinges apud Lacok prima cononissa velata, A. septimo post foundationem domus de Lacok, hoc est A. D. M.CCXXXVIII. domina Ela de Lungespee, nobilis matrona, assumpsit habitum religionis apud Lacok, PLACITA coram domino rege apud Westmonasterium de termino Sanctæ Trinitatis, anno regni regis Henrici octavi viii^o. rot. xiii. inter placita regis. Memorandum quod reverendissimus in Christo pater Thomas permissione divina cardinalis archiepiscopus Eboracensis, domini regis cancellarius, die Veneris proxima post octabas sancti Johannis Baptistæ, isto eodem termino, coram domino rege, apud Westmonasterium, per manus suas proprias, deliberavit hic in curia quoddam recordum coram domino rege in cancellaria sua, apud Westmonasterium, secundo die Junii, anno regni regis Henrici octavi, post conquestum Angliæ viii^o. Suth.

Compertum est per quandam inquisitionem captam apud castrum de Carsbroke in insula Vecta, in comitatu Suthampton, tertio die Novembris, anno regni regis Henrici septimi vicesimo quarto, coram abbate de Quarre, Amicio Paulet milite, Nicholao Wadham milite, Thoma Woodshawe, et Thoma Thomas armigeris, necnon Johanne Grence, jurisperitis commissionariis dicti domini regis in insula prædicta, virtute commissionis dicti domini regis eisdem commissionariis directæ, et huic inquisitioni consignatis per sacramentum xii^{cim.}, &c. Qui inter alia dicunt super sacramentum suum, quod abbatissa domus et ecclesiæ de Laycock, in comitatu Wiltes, ex fundacione dicti domini regis, fuit seisita de manerio de Schorewell cum pertinentiis in insula prædicta in dominico suo et de feodo, et tenuit manerium prædictum cum pertinentiis de Edwardo quarto nuper rege Angliæ in capite per servitium militare, et quod manerium prædictum cum pertinentiis valet per annum in omnibus exitibus ultra reprisas sexdecim libras, et quod prædicta abbatissa obiit sexto die Februarii, anno regni Edwardi quarti nuper regis Angliæ vicesimo secundo; et quod Margeria Gloucestræ abbatissa immediatè post mortem prædictæ abbatissæ intravit et intrusit in manerium prædictum cum pertinentiis, et manerium prædictum cum pertinentiis à tempore mortis prædictæ abbatissæ prædecessoris suæ tenuit et occupavit, et omnia exitus et proficua inde, per totum idem tempus, et deinceps usque tempus captionis inquisitionis prædictæ habuit et percepit, absque aliqua restitutione inde habita extra manus regias, prout per inquisitionem illam in cancellariam domini regis retornatam et in filaciis ejusdem cancellariæ remanente, plenius apparet. Et modo hic terminus Sanctæ Trinitatis, videlicet secundo die mensis Junii, anno regni regis Henrici octavi octavo, venit hic in curiam cancellariæ ejusdem domini regis, coram eodem domino rege, Johanna Temys abbatissa de Laycock, per Ricardum Wellys attornatum suum, et queritur prædictam Margeriam, nuper abbatissam de Laycock prædicta, in dicta inquisitione nominatam, prædecessorem ipsius Johannæ nunc abbatissæ à possessione manerii prædicti colore inquisitionis prædictæ ammotam fore et expulsam. Et hoc minus justè, quia protestando quod prædicta inquisitio minus sufficiens est in lege, ad quam ipsa nunc abbatissa necesse non habet, nec per legem terræ tenetur respondere, pro placito die quod prædictæ domus et ecclesia de Laycoke in inquisitione prædicta specificatæ sunt, ac toto tempore dictorum nuper regis Henrici septimi et Edwardi quarti et diu antea fuerunt ex fundacione domini regis, ratione ducatus sui Lancastriæ, ac quod prædicta nuper abbatissa in dicta inquisitione primò nominata, prædecessor ipsius nunc abbatissæ, fuit seisita in dicto manerio de Shorewell cum pertinentiis in dominico suo, ut de feodo in jure domus et ecclesiæ suarum prædictarum, et illud tenuit de hæredibus Amiciæ quondam comitissæ Devonix et dominæ de insula prædicta, in liberam, puram, et perpetuam elemosinam, et obiit de tali statu inde seisita; post cujus mortem prædicta Margeria nuper abbatissa in abbatissam domus et ecclesiæ prædictarum debitè electa et præfecta fuit, per quod eadem Margeria nuper abbatissa, &c. in manerium prædictum cum pertinentiis intravit, et inde fuit seisita in dominico suo ut de feodo in jure domus et ecclesiæ suarum prædictarum, ac exitus et proficua inde per tempus prædictum habuit et percepit, prout ei bene licuit, quousque ipsa à possessione manerii prædicti, colore inquisitionis prædictæ minus justè ammotam fuit et expulsa, ditaque Margeria nuper abbatissa postea obiit; post cujus mortem eadem Johanna nunc abbatissa in abbatissam domus et ecclesiæ prædictæ debitè electa et præfecta fuit, absque hoc, quod prædictæ domus et ecclesia sunt aut unquam fuere ex fundacione dicti nuper regis Henrici septimi, aut aliquorum progenitorum suorum regum Angliæ, ut de jure coronæ suæ Angliæ, prout per inquisitionem prædictam compertum existit; et absque hoc, quod prædicta nuper abbatissa in dicta inquisitione primò nominata tenuit prædictum manerium cum pertinentiis, seu aliquam inde parcellam, de dicto nuper rege E. quarto in capite, per servitium militare aut aliter, vel aliquo alio modo quam per eandem transactionem allegatur, aut quod habeat seu unquam habeatur aliquod recordum præter recordum inquisitionis prædictæ, per quod liquere potest quod prædictum manerium seu aliqua inde parcella unquam tenebatur de prædicto nuper rege Edwardo quarto, aut aliquo alio rege Angliæ in capite, aut per servitium militare, prout per inquisitionem prædictam similiter compertum existit. Quæ omnia et singula eadem nunc abbatissa parata est verificare, prout curiæ constabit, &c. unde petit judicium, et quod manus domini regis inde ammoveatur, &c.

Et Johannes Erneley, qui pro domino rege sequitur in hac parte inde allocutus, dicit protestando quod prædictæ domus et ecclesiæ sunt, et a tempore quo non extat memoria fuerunt ex fundacione prædicti nuper regis Henrici septimi, et progenitorum suorum regum Angliæ prout per inquisitionem prædictam superius compertum existit. Pro placito dicit quod prædicta nuper abbatissa in inquisitione prædicta primo nominata tenuit prædictum manerium cum pertinentiis de prædicto nuper rege E. quarto in capite per servitium militare, prout per inquisitionem prædictam supe-

“Isabella de Fortibus comitissa Albemarlæ et Devonix et domina Insulæ, filia Amiciæ comitissæ prædictæ, confirmavit donationem matris suæ.” Fol. 129 b.

“Eadem Isabella remisit eisdem monialibus sectam curiarum, wardam, et relevium quæ ei debebant de manerio de Schorewell supra dicto.

Carta Petri de Rupibus Wintoniensis Episcopi, de Fundatione ejusdem.

[Anno 1233. Ex ipso autogr. in archivis Collegii Magdalanensis Oxonii. Vide Cart. 10 Edw. III. n. 24. Et Pat. 12 Edw. III. m. 3.]

OMNIBUS Christi fidelibus ad quos præsens scriptum pervenerit, P. divinâ miseratione Winton. ecclesiæ minister humilis, salutem in Domino. Ex officio pastorali tenemur viros religiosos, qui pauperes spiritu esse pro Christo, neglectis lucris temporalibus, elegerunt, speciali affectu diligere, fovere pariter et creare, eorumque quieti sollicitè providere; ut tanto uberiores fructus de continua in lege Dei meditatione percipiant, quanto à conturbationibus malignorum amplius fuerint ex patroni provisione et ecclesiastica defensione securi. Hinc est quòd universitati vestræ notificamus, nos divinæ caritatis instinctu, de assensu conventûs ecclesiæ nostræ Winton. fundâsse domum religiosam ordinis magni patris Augustini, in honore Dei et gloriosæ semper virginis ejusdem Dei genitricis Mariæ, apud Seleburne, ibidemque canonicos regulares instituisse. Ad quorum sustentationem, et hospitum et pauperum susceptionem, dedimus, concessimus, et præsentî cartâ nostrâ confirmavimus eisdem canonicis, totam terram quam habuimus de dono Jacobi de Acangre; et totam terram, cursum aquæ, boscum, et pratium, quæ habuimus de dono Jacobi de Nortone. Et totam terram, boscum, et redditum quæ habuimus de dono domini H. regis Angliæ, cum omnibus prædictarum possessionum pertinentiis,

Dedimus etiam et concessimus in proprios usus eisdem canonicis ecclesiam prædictæ villæ de Seleburne, et ecclesias de Basing, et de Basingestock; cum omnibus earundem ecclesiarum capellis, libertatibus, et aliis pertinentiis; salvâ honestâ et sufficienti sustentatione vicariorum in prædictis ecclesiis ministrantium; quorum præsentatio ad priorem prædictæ domûs religiosæ de Seleburne, et canonicos ejusdem loci in perpetuum pertinebit. Præterea possessiones et redditus, ecclesias, sive decimas quas in episcopatu nostro adepti sunt, vel in posterum, Deo dante, justis modis poterunt adipisci, sub nostra et Winton. ecclesiæ protectione suscepimus, et episcopali auctoritate officii confirmavimus: eadem auctoritate firmiter inhibentes ne quis locum in quo divino sunt officio mancipati, seu alias, eorum possessiones invadere vi, vel fraude vel ingenio malo occupare audeat, vel etiam retinere, aut fratres, conversos, servientes, vel homines eorum aliquâ violentiâ perturbare; sive fugientes ad eos, causâ salutis suæ conservandæ, à septis domus suæ violenter præsumat extrahere.

Præcipimus autem ut in eadem domo religiosa de Seleburne ordo canonicus et regularis conversatio secundum regulam magni patris Augustini, quam primi inhabitatores professi sunt, in perpetuum observetur; et ipsa domus religiosa à cujuslibet alterius domus religiosæ subjectione libera permaneat, et in omnibus absoluta; salvâ in omnibus episcopali auctoritate et Winton. ecclesiæ dignitate. Quod ut in posterum ratum permaneat et inconcussum, præsentî scripto et sigilli nostri patrocinio duximus confirmandum. Hiis testibus, domino Waltero abbate de Hyda. Domino Waltero priore de Sancto Swithuno. Domino Stephano priore de Motesfonte, magistro Alano de Stoke, magistro Will. de sanctæ Mariæ ecclesia, tunc officiali nostro. Dat. apud Wlues per manum P. de Cancellis, in die sanctorum martirum Fabiani et Sebastiani, anno Domini millesimo ducentesimo tricesimo tertio.

Priory of Kirkby Beler, in Leicestershire.

TANNER calls this House Kirkby on the Wrethek, or Kirkby Beller. Roger Beler, or Beller, in the ninth of Edward the Second, he says, began a small chantry in the chapel of St. Peter near his manor-house here, which he some few years after increased into a sort of College for a warden and twelve secular Priests. It was made Conventual for a Prior and Regular Canons of the Order of St. Augustine in 1359.^c

Robert Crumbwell in 1375, and Ralph Crumbwell in 1392, were considerable benefactors to this Priory.^d

ROGER DE COTES was the first Prior of this House.^d
WILLIAM KYRKEBY occurs in the 26th Hen. VIII.

Nichols, in his Appendix to Vol. II. Part i. of the History of Leicestershire, p. 120-125, has printed several other charters relating to this foundation beside those in the Appendix to the present Account. Among these is, Et præterea concessi pro me et hæredibus meis, quod dictus custos et successores sui omnia blada sua, quæ pro sua et liberæ familiæ suæ sustentatione fuerint molenda, ad dicta molendina quietè de multurâ molent imperpetuum, in quorumcunque manus dicta molendina devenerint. Quas quidem donationes et concessionem omnium terrarum, tenementorum, bladi, et quietè multuræ prædictorum ratifico per præsentis et pro me et hæredibus meis imperpetuum confirmo. Noverint omnes me dictum Rogerum Beler ad laudem Dei omnipotentis, in augmentum cultus divini et foundationis memoratæ, et in honorem beatæ Mariæ virginis et beati Petri apostolorum principis, pro salute animæ meæ, et Alicie uxoris meæ; necnon pro animabus Willielmi Beler patris mei, et Avicie matris meæ, et animabus hæredum meorum, et omnium aliorum in dictâ foundatione contentorum, et animabus omnium fidelium defunctorum dedisse, concessisse, et hac præsentis cartâ meâ confirmasse Deo et beatæ Mariæ virgini, et beato Petro apostolo, et capellæ beati Petri prædictæ et custodi ejusdem capellæ, et capellanis ibidem Deo servientibus, et imperpetuum servituris, et eorum successoribus, quinque messuagia cumcroftis adjacentibus in villâ de Kirkeby super Wrethek, cum advocatione ecclesiæ parochialis beatæ Mariæ ejusdem villæ, cum omnibus pertinentiis suis: De quibus quidem messuagiis unum messuagium cumcrofto adjacente quod vocatur Bromhull jacet ex parte boreali ejusdem ecclesiæ et cimiterii ecclesiæ prædictæ; et fuit aliquando capitale messuagium Johannis de Houby in eadem villâ; et aliud messuagium jacet ex parte australi dictæ ecclesiæ et cimiterii prædicti; et extendit se in longitudine à messuagio Roberti Bele usque ad dictum cimiterium; et in latitudine ab alto vico usque ad aquam quæ dicitur Wrethek, et vocatur le Wastnerescroft: quæ quidem messuagia cumcroftis et advocatione ecclesiæ prædictæ habui ex dono et feoffamento Rogeri Kemerheved; et unum messuagium cumcrofto jacet juxta messuagium ejusdem custodis, quod aliquando fuit Willielmi Edelyn: Et unum messuagium cumcrofto et duobus selionibus, qui fuere Willielmi Foucher, jacent juxta tenementum Willielmi filii Edæ ex parte australi.

“Rentale de Kyrkby Beler, renovatum, &c. anno regni regis Henrici Sexti 6^o.”^e

In the Augmentation Office there is a Paper Survey of Kyrkeby Beler, temp. Hen. VIII.

In the Chapter-House, Westminster, attached to the Acknowledgment of Supremacy 1534, is the COMMON SEAL, representing St. Peter seated, with his right hand uplifted, and in his left the keys: underneath him a shield, having a lion rampant crowned. Legend, s. ECCLESIE . BEATI . PETRI . DE . KIRKEBI . SUPER . WRETHEK.

Et præterea dedi, concessi, et hac præsentis cartâ meâ confirmavi Deo et beatæ Mariæ, beato Petro apostolo, et capellæ beati Petri prædictæ, et custodi ejusdem capellæ, et capellanis prædictis, et eorum successoribus, manerium de Bukemynstre in comitatu Leyc. cum omnibus pertinentiis suis. Habendum et tenendum dicta quinque messuagia cumcrofto adjacente, cum advocatione ecclesiæ de Kirkeby prædictæ, cum omnibus pertinentiis dictis messuagio et advocationi qualitercunque pertinentibus; ac manerium de Bukemynstre prædictum, cum omnibus dominiis et pertinentiis suis, ut in terris, tenementis, molendinis, &c. tam in villâ de Seusterne quàm Bukemynstre, in liberam et perpetuam elemosinam, sub formâ quæ sequitur imperpetuum. Et ego dictus Rogerus et hæredes mei omnia prædicta messuagia, &c. cum advocatione ecclesiæ prædictæ, ac prædictum manerium de Bukemynstre, cum omnibus juribus et pertinentiis suis, dicto custodi et capellanis, et eorum successoribus, ut prædictum est, contra omnes gentes warrantizabimus, et in omnibus defendemus imperpetuum.

Et ne super formâ et conditionibus ipsam primam foundationem, seu etiam istam meam præsentem donationem contingentibus aliqua oriatur dubitatio in futurum, tam pro terris et tenementis ejusdem capellæ et custodi in prima foundatione datis, quàm pro terris et tenementis dictis capellæ et custodi, ac capellanis prædictis per præsentis collatis; volo et ordino, quod forma, ordinationes, et conditiones infra scriptæ perpetuis et futuris temporibus in hac parte inviolabiliter observentur; videlicet quod cum in ipsâ primâ foundatione, ut præmittitur contentum existit, quod custos duntaxat et unus capellanus stipendiarius in dictâ capellâ Deo deserviant, volo et ordino, quod in augmentum cultus divini et foundationis memoratæ idem custos et duodecim alii capellani perpetui sint in capellâ memoratâ, et eidem laudabiliter, ut sequitur, deserviant in divinis. Idemque custos et capellani in manso juxta capellam prædictam pro ipso custode et aliis capellanis in dictâ capellâ perpetuo, ut præmittitur, celebraturis, per me ibidem constructo et assignato, moram faciant, et vitam communem simul ducant juxta ordinationem inferiùs annotatam.

Verum, quia dictus custos et successores sui, qui etiam in ipsâ primâ fundatione, tam in ipsorum præsentatione, institutione, et inductione nomen custodis capellæ beati Petri de Kirkeby optinere dinoscuntur, inter cæteros principaliores personæ merito nominantur, hujusmodi nomen imperpetuum optineant. Et ubi in primâ fundatione continetur, quod dictus custos et successores sui domino Lincolniensi episcopo per me et hæredes meos instituendi præsententur; volo et ordino quod de cætero decanus et capitulum ecclesiæ Cath. Lincoln. idoneam personam in sacerdotio constitutam, de capellanis in dictâ capellâ commorantibus, si habilis in eâ inveniatur ad hujusmodi custodiam, quotienscunque et quandocunque ipsam custodiam vacare contigerit, loci diocesanum præsentent, per eundem diocesanum sine difficultate qualibet admittendam; et per eundem, nisi evidenter ostendatur inhabilis vel indignus, ob Dei reverentiam et divini cultus augmentum, sub nomine prædicto, et in formâ prædictâ instituendam.

Si verò simul et semel custodem et sub-custodem ejusdem loci mori, vel alias eorum officium vacare contingat, locum tenens sub-custodis custodiam spiritualium et temporalium habeat, et computum coram cæteris capellanis reddat in formâ superius annotatâ.

Et nolo quod ego seu hæredes mei, aut quivis alius seisinam terrarum aut tenementorum, reddituum vel profectuum quorumcunque, ad sustentationem custodiæ et cantariorum prædictarum per me collatarum, seu imposterum conferendarum tempore alicujus vacationis ipsius custodiæ qualitercunque ipsam vacare contigerit aliquantulum occupem vel occupent per se vel alios; nec de terris, tenementis, advocacionibus, redditibus, proficuis, seu rebus aut bonis quibuscunque ad dictam capellam spectantibus aliquantulum se intromittant, nec manus apponant quovis quæsito colore: nec etiam quicquid aliud exigant hæredes mei in capellâ et bonis ejusdem, seu personis ministrantibus in ea nisi orationes tantummodo speciales, et ea quæ per præsentem ordinationem meam eisdem specialiter sint assignata.

Item custos et cæteri capellani bona immobilia dictæ capellæ, liberationes, seu corrodia, obligationes, seu aliqua alia onera imperpetuum, vel ad non modicum tempus post mortem meam nullatenus vendant, ad firmam dent, vel aliter alienent, nisi ex causis aliquibus arduis et necessariis, episcopo Lincoln. qui pro tempore fuerit, ac ipsius capitulo Lincoln. primitus exprimendis, et per eosdem approbandis; ex quorum concensu expresso, et etiam hæredum meorum præmissa fiant si immineant facienda.

Et pro præmissis et consimilibus nomine dictæ capellæ faciendis, et aliis factis perpetuis ejusdem volo et ordino, quod dicti custos et capellani unum habeant commune sigillum, cujus formam et impressionem fieri feci penès dictos custodem et capellanos perpetuo remansurum.

Et quia propter malam custodiam sigillorum fraudes et maliciæ Indies contingere dinoscuntur, volo et ordino, quod custos hujusmodi et singuli capellani memorati singulas claves, decanus et capitulum prædicta unam clavem habeant;

ita quod sub omnium custodiâ remaneat sigillum memoratum, sine quorum omnium et singulorum consensu nichil omnino sigillo prædicto consignetur. Et si aliqua obligatio terrarum aut tenementorum oneratio jurium, reddituum, possessionum alienatio imperpetuum ad terminum vel ad vitam per dictum custodem, capellanos, vel eorum aliquem sub sigillo alio, vel etiam sub eodem, nisi de consensu personarum prædictarum et cum solemnitate prædictâ post mortem meam factæ fuerint, ipso jure sunt nullæ, nec aliqualem habeant effectum.

In cujus rei testimonium huic præsentis scripto concessionis et ordinationis meæ sigillum meum apposui; hiis testibus Willielmo de Brackley abbate de Croxton, &c. Data apud Kirkeby super Wrethek die dominicâ proximâ post festum S. Bartholomæi apostoli anno Domini M.CCC.XIX.º et anno regni regis Edwardi filii regis Edwardi XIII.º.

Augustine College of Ashridge, in Buckinghamshire.

THE inhabitants of this College, as well as those of the monastery of Edingdon in Wiltshire, were called Bonhommes. This sect has been differently represented; by some they have been considered mystics; Tanner speaks of them as friars; but that they were of the Rule of St. Austin is unquestionable; and as Dugdale has classed both houses among the Augustine Canons, the present Editors have not disturbed the arrangement.

The History of Ashridge was undertaken a few years ago, at the expense of the late earl of Bridgewater, by the Rev. H. J. Todd. It has since been completed in a splendid volume of the larger size, richly embellished, and has been privately distributed by the earl of Bridgewater's executors.

From this work the present account of Ashridge has been principally gleaned.

Ashridge College was founded by Edmund son and heir of Richard earl of Cornwall, in honour of the blood of the holy Jesus, a portion of which he believed himself to have brought from Germany to England, which he divided between the two monasteries of Hailes in Gloucestershire and Ashridge: giving one-third to Hailes and two-thirds to Ashridge. Tanner dates the foundation of this house for a rector and twenty brethren or canons in 1283. Mr. Todd seems to place it earlier. He says the College was finished in 1285.

The original Statutes and Ordinances of this College are still preserved among the Muniments at Ashridge House; as well as a copy of the statutes which were given to the rector and brethren about a century later.^a

About 1288 the earl of Cornwall, in addition to the endowment contained in his foundation charter given in the Appendix, bestowed upon the canons here the manors of Ambrosden and Chesterton in Oxfordshire, together with the advowsons of both churches. He died at Ashridge in 1300.

JOHN MALDEN, 1521. He died the 12th July, 1529.

The value of this House in the 26th Hen. VIII. will be seen in the note below.^c

King Edward VIth, on April the 24th, in the fifth year of his reign, granted the Site of Ashridge to his sister the Princess Elizabeth: Mr. Todd has printed the Instrument.^d Tanner says, John Dudley and John Ayscough, 17 Eliz. had the site and demesnes of this College in exchange with the Crown for some other estate. In the 32d Eliz. we find them in the possession of the Lady Jane Cheyney. In the 2d of James the First the site and principal possessions of the suppressed College of Ashridge came into the possession of Sir Thomas Egerton, Lord Ellesmere, from whom they descended to the last duke, and to the late earl of Bridgewater.

The References which Tanner preserves to the different documents relating to this House will be found with some others in the note.^e In the Augmentation Office, there is a Paper Survey of Ashridge of the time of Henry the Eighth.

An imperfect Impression of the SEAL of Ashridge College is engraved in Mr. Todd's Account, p. 81. appendant to the Surrender in the Augmentation Office. The area represents the Agnus Dei. The earl of Cornwall's Lion at the bottom. Scarcely any thing of the Legend is preserved.

The original mansion of the College stood within a park which was nearly five miles in circumference. The entrance was through a handsome gateway, formerly the porter's lodge, but large enough to contain several good apartments, in which the last duke of Bridgewater resided. His grace, not many years after his accession to the title and estates, had intended to pull down the college, and build a new mansion. And in order to this design many fine materials were accumulated. The lodge also formed part of a residence which the late earl of Bridgewater occupied sometime after the death of the duke, and there witnessed what had been projected by his noble predecessor, a splendid renovation of Ashridge; the college having been pulled down about three years before his grace's decease.

Fuller in his Church History, B. vi. p. 273, says he was informed that more of a Monastery was in his day visible at Ashridge than in any other House in England.

Willis has noted the dimensions of the old Refectory and Cloisters, and has preserved some few items of the presumed dates of different parts of the buildings.

For an account of the present magnificent edifice of Ashridge the reader is referred to Mr. Todd's volume. It is built in the Gothic taste, in a style of peculiar purity and beauty; is of vast extent; and is one of the finest mansions in the kingdom.

Reygate Priory, in Surrey.

THE Priory of Reygate was founded by William de Warren Earl of Surrey and Isabel his wife, very early in the thirteenth century; it was dedicated to the Virgin Mary and the Holy Cross, and consisted of a Prior and some few Regular Canons of the Order of St. Augustine. William de Warren the founder died in 1240.

Several writers, Speed, Reyner, and Stevens, have represented this House as one of Crutched friars: and there are some contradictory accounts in regard to the Founder.

Its revenues were not at all considerable. The chief of its temporal possessions were the manor of the Priory in Reygate; fifty acres of land called Brokes; and the manor of Southwick in Sussex; given by the Earls of Warren. The spiritualities consisted principally in the Advowsons of Dorking and Mickleham: the former having been first given by an Earl of Warren to Lewes Priory, was transferred to the monks of Reygate in 1337: the latter given by John de Mickleham in 1343.

The Site of this Priory was granted in the 33d Hen. VIII. in exchange for the rectory of Tottenham in Middlesex to the Lord William Howard, eldest son of Thomas second Duke of Norfolk by his second wife.

Priory of Haltemprice, in Yorkshire.

BURTON calls this Priory Cottingham, Newton, or Alta-prisa, Haltemprice, Hawtemprice, or Howdenprice, in the deanry of Harthill, and archdeaconry of the East-riding.

Thomas Lord Wake of Lyddel, says Tanner, 15 Edw. II., began to build a religious house in his manor at Cottingham, which he furnished with canons of the order of St. Augustine, from the abbey of Brunne in Lincolnshire. But because a perpetual title could not be made to this Site, the Monastery was removed, about A.D. 1324, by licence from the Pope, to a hamlet in the neighbourhood then called Newton, and there dedicated in honour of the Nativity of our blessed Saviour, the annunciation of the Virgin Mary, and the exaltation of the holy cross, though generally distinguished by the last.^a Herein were, about the time of the Dissolution, a Prior and eleven or twelve Black Canons.

Burton has gone minutely into the designation of the property of this House; to whom, for numerous particulars relating to its estates, the reader is referred. Tanner's references to public Records also concerning it, with a few others, will be found in the Note below.^b

There is in the Augmentation Office a Paper Survey temp. Hen. VIII. of this Priory.

The letters patent of King Edward the Second, for founding the House of Newton, Pope John XXII's bull for removing the House from Cottingham, the Lord Wake of Lyddell's charter of endowment, with one or two other Instruments, will be found at length in the Appendix to this Account.

The Value of this Priory in the 26th Hen. VIII. is given below.^d

The Site of this House was granted, in the 32d Hen. VIII., to Thomas Culpeper.

No SEAL of Haltemprice has yet been seen by the Editors of Dugdale.

The situation of this House was low, on the edge of a flat country, betwixt the hills or wolds and the town of Kingston upon Hull, from which place it was five miles distant; commanding a prospect of the Humber. There were no REMAINS of this House even in Burton's time, nor scarcely any mark to be found where it had stood.

Bulla Johannis Papæ XXII. pro Translatione Monasterii de Cotyngam usque ad Haltemprise.

[Ex autographo in bibl. Hatton.]

JOHANNES episcopus servus servorum Dei, venerabili fratri archiepiscopo Eboracensi, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem, pia desideria devotorum benevolè favore prosequimur, et eorum justis precibus assensum favorabiliter impertimur. Peticio siquidem dilecti filii nobilis viri Thomæ Wake domini de Lydel tuæ diocesis nobis exhibita continebat; quod eo dudum significante nobis, quod in villa sua de Cotyngam, dictæ diocesis, proponebat unum monasterium, ordinis S. Augustini, ædificare, et de bonis suis propriis illud dotare. Nos tibi per nostras, certi tenoris literas commisimus, ut eidem nobili, faciendi prædicta autoritate nostra, licentiam largireris: et deinde monasterio prædicto fundato, et sufficienter dotato, tu in eo, juxta facultates ipsius, certum canonicorum numerum, necnon personam idoneam, quem ipse nobilis nominaret, eâ vice in abbatem institueres, vel priorem. Et quod extunc, ipso monasterio vacante, abbatis vel prioris electio, penès conventum dicti monasterii remaneret. Quodque parochialem ecclesiam dictæ villæ de Cotyngam, in qua idem nobilis jus obtinet patronatus eidem monasterio, certo modo annecteres, et unires.

Tuque postmodum, memorato nobili, licentiam tribuisti antedictam, prout hæc, tam in prædictis nostris, quàm tuis literis plenius continentur. Postque idem nobilis prælibatum monasterium, inibi ædificare cœpit, ecclesiamque oratoria, et domos plures construxit; et plures canonici monasterii de Brunne, dicti ordinis Lincolnensis diocesis; de licentia tamen abbatis ipsorum, ad ipsius nobilis instantiam, ad ipsum monasterium incœptum accesserunt, et inibi commorantes missarum solempnia, et alia celebrarunt divina. Verùm, comperto postmodum, quod, propter nonnulla statuta, constitutiones, et consuetudines regni Angliæ hæredes sive successores ipsius nobilis, in loco, ubi dictum monasterium est fundatum, monasterium ipsum possint diruere, ac etiam demoliri; propter quod, monasterium ipsum verisimiliter instabile fieret; idem nobilis nobis humiliter supplicavit, ut providere super hoc de opportuno remedio dignaremur: Nos itaque ipsius nobilis supplicationibus inclinati, fraternitati tuæ per apostolica scripta, committimus, et mandamus, quatinus prædicto nobili transferendi prædictum monasterium, ad alium locum suum proprium, ydoneum, et honestum dictæ tuæ diocesis, illudque ibidem fundandi, et ædificandi in eo ecclesiam et domos congruentes, cum aliis necessariis officinis, dote priùs sufficienti pro canonicorum numero ibidem canonicè instituendo, et servitorum aliorum, per ipsum nobilem constituta; et etiam assignata, autoritate nostra licentiam largiaris. Et postquam hujusmodi monasterium, ut prædicatur, fundatum fuerit, pariter et dotatum, tu ibidem certum canonicorum numerum instituas; necnon, et præfatam parochialem ecclesiam eidem monasterio unias, ac cætera prædictæ plenæ executioni demandare procures, juxta prædictarum prioris, tibi, ut prædicatur, directarum, continentiam literarum, ipsis literis quoad alia in suo robore permansuris. Datum Avinioni, kal. Januar. pontificatus nostri anno nono.

Possunt etiam eligere constabularios, et habere nominationem constabulariorum, et aliorum officiariorum et ministrorum, et eos jurare, et juramentum eis præstare in sua curia, sicut eis magis expediens videtur ad suam propriam commoditatem, quietem, proficuum, et amicitiam inter proximos atque tenentes fideliter observandum, de hiis et omnibus aliis, et singulis tenentibus suis in Cottingham cum suis summonicionibus, attachiametis, et amerciametis per suos ballivos faciendum et levandum, et omnibus libertatibus, et commoditatibus ad liberam curiam qualitercunque spectantibus. Badlesmere Priory, in Kent.

KING EDWARD THE SECOND, in his thirteenth year, grãnted a licence to Bartholomew de Badelesmere^a to found upon his demesne lands in Badelesmere a House of Regular Canons. This licence is given at the end of the present Account. But in consequence of that powerful baron's troubles, and his execution in the following year, Tanner supposes the foundation to have been never perfected. Still we find King Edward the Third, in the fourth year of his reign, confirming the endowment by Inspeximus, as if the Convent had been confirmed. No farther notice however occurs at any subsequent period of Badlesmere Priory: and its endowment continued in the hands of lay proprietors. Tanner says, "Vide Rot. pat. 13 Edw. II. m. 6. de fundatione et dotatione xxiv. acr. terræ de dominicis, una cum advoc. eccl. de Badlesmere, Whitstaple, Redingweld, Old Romney, Northfield, et Charleton, Kent. Northmms, Hertf. et Luddington, Huntingd."

^a He was for several years steward of the king's household, and governor of Tunbridge Castle.

Licentia Regis Edwardi Secundi pro Fundatione ejusdem.

[Pat. 4 Edw. III. p. 2, m. 41. per Inspex. Vide Pat. 13 Edw. II. m. 6.]

EDWARDUS Dei gratia rex Angliæ, dominus Hiberniæ et dux Aquit., omnibus ad quos præsentis literæ pervenerint salutem. Priory of Marstoke, in Warwickshire.

SIR WILLIAM CLINTON, afterward earl of Huntingdon, having thoughts of founding a large Chantry or College in the parish Church of St. Michael here, says Tanner, purchased, 5 Edw. III., the advowson of the same, and bestowed it, with other lands and rents, upon a warden and five secular priests; but, some few years after, A.D. 1336, he changed his mind, and altered the said religious foundation into a prior and convent of twelve canons regular of St. Austin's Order, whom he recommended to the patronage of the Holy Trinity, the blessed Virgin Mary, St. Michael, and all Saints, and endowed with annual revenues, of which the amount in the 26th Hen. VIII. will be seen below.^a Dugdale, in his History of Warwickshire, pp. 730, 731, has given a translation of the charter which forms the principal article in the Appendix to the present Account.

He adds that the next year after the foundation the earl of Huntingdon gave the canons here the advowson of the moiety of the church of Halughton in Leicestershire: in the 14th Edw. III. the advowson of the church of Tamworth, which was immediately afterwards appropriated to them:^c and in the 17th Edw. III. the manor and church of Shustoke.

Dugdale also recites some other donations, the chief of which will be seen in Tanner's references to records.

Mr. Hamper has an imperfect impression from the SEAL of this Priory, representing St. Michael slaying the Dragon; on one side of him the arms of Sir William Clinton

[Pat. 12 Edw. III. p. 1, m. 22. per Inspex.]

UNIVERSIS, &c. Willielmus de Clinton, comes Huntingdoniæ, salutem, &c. Unigenitus Dei Filius de sinu Patris ad yma descendens, natus de virgine, factus homo in sua humilitate, jacentem mundum erexit, et peccata nostra pertulit in suo corpore super lignum, in quo servitutis nostræ cirographium suo sanguine cancellavit; in memoriam suæ mortis, summum et magnificum instituens sui corporis et sanguinis sacramentum, in quo humani generis grata redemptionis memoria recensetur; ut qui peccatis mortui fuerant, pro memoriale tam dignissimum, et præcipuis excolendum laudibus, veniam delictorum et perennis vitæ gloriam consequantur: sperans igitur per institutionem et provisionem religiosorum virorum, qui placidis servitiis Deo, ac missarum solennis dignè recolant et frequenter ipsum memoriale salvificum, et tam excellens ac mirandum sacramentum præconiis dignis exalant, et devotis obsequiis prosequantur; ac per elemosinarum largitionem perpetuò faciendam, de bonis mihi à Deo collatis, qui illa et majora de suo proprio mihi dedit, remissionem misericorditer meorum consequi peccatorum; et ex miseratione ejus, cujus misericordiæ non est numerus, et cujus miserationes sunt super omnia opera ejus ad cœlestem gloriam pervenire.

[Dedicatio Ecclesiæ.]

In honore sanctæ et individuæ Trinitatis, Patris, et Filii, et Spiritus Sancti, ac beatæ Mariæ virginis gloriosæ, sancti Michaelis archangeli, et Omnium Sanctorum, quoddam monasterium, seu prioratum canonicorum regularium ordinis Augustini, in quadam placea mea in Maxstoke, juxta manerium ejusdem villæ, Coventriensi et Litchfeildensi diocesi, de concensu et assensu expresso serenissimi principis domini Edwardi Dei gratiâ regis Angliæ illustrissimi, ac venerabilis patris domini Rogeri, permissione divina Coventrensis et Litchfeld. episcopi; et fratris Henrici prioris de Coventria, magistri Ricardi decani Litchfeldiæ et capituli dictarum ecclesiarum, et omnium singulorum aliorum, quorum consensus requiritur in hac parte, de novo fundavi, construxi, ac dotavi de propriis bonis meis, pro statu meo salubri, et Julianæ uxoris meæ, domini nostri domini Edwardi, Dei gratia, nunc regis Angliæ illustrissimi, Laurentii de Hastynges, domini Rogeri episcopi antedicti, fratris Henrici prioris prædicti, Richardi decani præfati, monachorum de Coventria, canonicorum Litchfeldiæ existentium, dum vixerimus. Et pro animæ meæ salute, et Julianæ uxoris meæ, prædicti domini nostri regis, Laurentii, Rogeri, Henrici, Richardi, monachorum, et canonicorum, cum ab hac luce subtracti fuerimus: necnon pro anima Johannis de Clinton patris mei, Idæ matris meæ, Johannis fratris mei germani; et pro eorum liberis, vivis et defunctis; et pro animabus regum Angliæ, quorumcunque dominorum de Hastynges, episcoporum Coventriæ et Litchfeildæ ecclesiarum, dictorum prioris et decani, monachorum et canonicorum prædictorum, parentum, et aliorum benefactorum nostrorum, et omnium fidelium defunctorum, volens, statuens, et ordinans ut inferiùs continetur.

[De Numero et Regula Canonicorum.]

Videlicet, quod in ipso prioratu de cætero sit unus prior electivus, et unus conventus duodecim canonicorum præter priorem, qui secundum regulam et ordinem beati Augustini religiosam, honestam, regularem, et Deo ac hominibus placidam vitam ducant, et die ac nocte jugiter illum colant, illum glorificent, illum laudent, ac dignè et laudabiliter serviant, illi soli, qui me et illos fecit ex nihilo, sicut et omnem aliam creaturam, et sinceris affectibus, et mentibus puris, tractent illud venerabile sacramentum pretiosi corporis et sanguinis Jhesu Christi, humani generis redemptoris; qui suum corpus in cibum, et sanguinem in poculum suis reliquit fidelibus tribuendum.

[De Habitu.]

Item volo et ordino, quod prior et canonici supradicti, et successores eorum, pro superiori indumento, tam in yeme, quàm in æstate, utentur nigra cappa et nigro capucio regulari, et sub cappa, indumento lineo, ac aliis vestibus, tam de die quàm de nocte, sicut utuntur alii canonici regulares ordinis antedicti. Et quod de bonis ipsorum prior distinctam non habeat portionem à conventu, nec conventus à priore; sed sicut sunt (volente Deo) unum corpus, et habere debent cor unum, et animam unam in caritate non ficta, ita sint eorum bona omnia in communi distribuenda, secundum statum et gradum cujuslibet, servatis ordine et regulâ memoratis.

[De Electione Prioris.]

Item volo, statuo, et ordino, quod quoties dicto prioratu quomodolibet notoriè vacante, prioris dicti monasterii fuerit electio facienda, statim infra quinque dies vel sex post publicè notam vacationem hujusmodi in ipso prioratu, celebratâ missâ Sancto Spiritu solempniter in choro, subprior et conventus ejusdem, ad futuri prioris electionem, prout sacris convenit institutis faciendum, procedant liberè, nullâ licentiâ eligendi à me, hæredibus, vel successoribus meis requisitâ.

[De Vacatione.]

Item volo, statuo, et ordino, quod quodocunque et quotiescunque dictum prioratum vacare contigerit, nullus ejusdem prioratus vel bonorum ipsorum custodiam habeat, vel administrationem ipsam, vacatione durante, nisi duntaxat subprior et conventus voluerint deputare, qui de administratione hujusmodi fidele ratiocinium seu comptum reddere teneantur futuro priori, et ejusdem loci conventui, vel aliis, quos ad id duxerint administrandos, cum fuerint legitime præmuniti.

[De Canonicorum Admissione.]

Item, quod nullus in canonicum admittatur in ipso prioratu, nisi tempore ingressus sui fuerit liber, et pro libro habitus, et publicè reputatus bonæ conversationis et honestæ, competenter pro statu regularis canonici literatus, et ad cantandum divina, vocem habeat competentem, vel saltem adeo fuerit aliunde præcellens, quod pro melioratione status monasterii in admissione ipsius ad statum regularem cæteris præscriptæ conditionis hominibus meritò debeat anteferi; et decimum octavum annum suæ ætatis attigerit. Et ad suscipiendum sacramentum presbyteratus ordinis cum legitimam ætatem pervenerit habilis et idoneus verisimiliter debeat reputari. Qui etiam in fine primi anni, cum debeat profiteri, ante professionem suam legat vel coram se legi faciat palam et publicè in communi, omnia et singula contenta in hujusmodi foundationis meæ literis; et deindè statim bona fide promittat, quod ea omnia et singula, quatenus eum concernunt, vel concernere poterint, et in eo fuerint observanda, et faciet observari.

[De Numero Canonicorum.]

Item cum dictis priori et conventui jam sit per me provisum ducentarum librarum annui redditus in ecclesiis, terris, et redditibus in villis de Maxstoke et Longa Itchinton pro numero duodecim canonicorum et priore, ut præmittitur, volo et ordino, quod cum per me, vel per alium, aut ex industria propria, de decem marcis annui redditus sint ad-aucti in terris, vel aliis redditibus, numerum suum statim infra mensem sequentem, per unum idoneum admittendum in fraternitatem et canonicum, si infra mensis spacium inveniri valeat idoneus admittendus; alioquin, quamprimo poterit idoneum invenire, augere teneantur. Et dum tresdecim canonici fuerint cum priore, novem semper, sicut quatenus possibile, fuerint sacerdotes. Et si contingat augeri bona prioratus per decem marcas annuas, sic crescat numerus canonicorum, et proportionaliter juxta numerum adauctum canonicorum, adaugeatur absque more dispendio numerus sacerdotum.

[De Pensionibus et Corrodiis.]

Item quod dictis priori et conventui nullum corrodiium, nullum annuam pensionem quibusvis personis liceat vendere, sive concedere, dare, aut alias ipsum monasterium quavis occasione perpetuò onerare, nec aliquo modo obligare, nisi propter utilitatem evidentem, vel inevitabilem necessitatem aliquoties contingentem; quæ utilitas et necessitas, ab eisdem loci episcopo, qui pro tempore fuerit, sufficiente examinatione præhabitâ, primitus approbentur.

[De Compoto.]

Item quod omnes et singuli officarii, obedientiarii, et alii administrationem bonorum dicti prioratus seu ecclesiæ optinentes super receptis suis et expensis, ad administrationem bonorum dicti prioratus quater singulis annis coram dictis priore et conventu, vel tribus personis idoneis et discretis ab eisdem priore et conventu electis, fidele ratiocinium seu computum reddere teneantur; et super hoc fiat indentura evidens, quæ coram conventu legatur, ut super hoc totus conventus statum monasterii scire possint. Et deinde dicta indentura in thesaurario monasterii prædicti ponatur et fideliter observetur.

[De Anniversario Fundatoris.]

Item ordino, quod cum fuero viam universæ carnis ingressus, quolibet anno imperpetuum, die obitus mei, dicti prior et conventus, ac subprior et conventus dicto prioratu vacante Placebo, et Dirige, missam solennem in choro, et totum officium mortuorum in conventu solemniter dicere teneantur pro anima mea, animabus prædictis, et omnium fidelium defunctorum. Et quod ipso die obitus mei, fiat distributio centum pauperibus, cuilibet videlicet unus panis ponderantis quinquaginta solidos, de parochia de Maxstoke: et pauperibus ab aliis locis venientibus quolibet die imperpetuum, deferatur hora prandii coram priore vel ipsius locum in refectorio tenente, ultra panem consuetum, unus panis albus conventualis, et unum ferculum de coquina, qui assignentur et dentur pauperiori de Maxstoke, vel alia, quotidie per discretionem prioris, vel elemosinarii, cum una lagena cerviciæ conventualis pro anima mea et pro animabus superiorum nominatorum, et omnium fidelium defunctorum.

[De Missis.]

Item quod missa beatæ Mariæ virginis, missa capitularis et de die, communiter celebrentur, horis et locis debitis, ut in aliis prioratibus ejusdem ordinis consuevit; ita quod in omnibus missis præterquam in festis majoribus in choro solemniter celebrandis, fiat memoria pro me et Juliana uxore mea, domino nostro rege et aliis superioribus nominatis, dum in præsentem vitam fuerimus. Et cum ab hac vitâ substracti fuerimus, fiat memoria de nobis sicuti pro mortuis est consuetum, et pro omnibus mortuis superioribus nominatis.

[De Observantia Foundationis ex parte Prioris.]

Item volo et ordino, quod quilibet prior confirmatus, seu professus antequam in spiritualibus vel temporalibus administraret coram conventu, et illum qui ipsum installabit, cum fuerit installandus, omnia et singula contenta in his literis foundationis meæ monasterii antedicti, palam et publice faciat recitari et statim postea, bona fide promittat, quod ea quatenus eum contingat, et in ipso fuerit, observabit, et faciet adimpleri et observari.

[De Excommunicatione Malefactorum hujus Cænobii.]

Item volo et ordino, quod nullo tempore, nec ex aliqua causa, ego, hæredes mei, vel successores, quin aliquid aliud, quàm ut superioribus ordinavi, ratione patronatus vel superioritatis aut juris alterius cujuscunque à prædictis priore et conventu, aut subpriore et conventu, prioratu vacante vel pleno, petere, exigere, vel habere poterunt ullo modo; nec in commodum aliquod per me vel hæredes meos, aut successores meos; nec per familiam meam, vel suam, monasterium prædictum incurrat, nec meo vel ipsorum nomine de bonis dicti monasterii aliquid ex aliqua causa, seu aliquo colore quæsto capiatur. Et quicumque aliud vel aliter fecerit, maledictionem Dei Patris omnipotentis et beatæ Mariæ virginis gloriosæ, beati Michaelis archangeli, et omnium sanctorum cœlestis curiæ ipso facto incurrat, donec congruè satisfecerit de præmissis, Amen.

[De Salutatione Angelica.]

Item zelo piæ devotionis, sicut cæteri Christi fideles erga matrem gratiæ, gloriosam virginem Mariam accensus, et ipsius virginis intuitu, erga beatissimam Annam ejusdem virginis genetricem; volo, ordino, et statuo, ut post officium Matutinarum beatæ Mariæ virginis in choro completum; et post missam ejusdem; et post singulas horas, dicat sacerdos qui missam celebravit, et executor officii, eadem voce quæ officium compleverit, salutationem angelicam, et recommendationem genetricis ejusdem, temporibus imperpetuum futuris, hoc modo. "Ave Maria, gratia plena, Dominus tecum, benedicta tu in mulieribus et benedictus fructus ventris tui, Jhesus, Amen. Et benedicta sit venerabilis mater tua Anna, ex qua tua caro virginea et immaculata processit." Et respondeat chorus, Amen.

[De Pœna Transgressoris.]

Item volo, ordino, et statuo, si prior prædictus ea quæ, ut præmittuntur, statui et ordinavi, quatenus eum contingunt, vel contingere poterunt, ex malicia vel malo ingenio non servaverit; vel non fecerit per malitiam seu notandam negligentiam adimpleri. Aut si per eum aliquid contra præmissa vel eorum aliquod fuerit damnabiliter attentatum, teneantur quilibet dicti prioratus canonicus, et confrater tam in virtute obedientiæ, quàm in sua professione regulari dinoscitur promississe, quamprimo sibi placuerit libera facultas ad præsentiam episcopi Litchfeildensis personabiliter accedendi, excessum ipsius prioris hujusmodi, ejusvè negligentiam, seu injuriam, ipsi episcopo (cessantibus favore et odio) fideliter intimare; super quorum correctionem celebrè faciendam, dicti domini episcopi (qui pro tempore fuerit) conscientiam, quatenus eum onerare ausus sum et possum, coram summo judice onero et requiro. Si autem aliquis de prædictis canonicis monasterii antedicti non servaverit per malitiam supradictam, quatenus eum contingere dinoscuntur; vel si contra ea vel eorum aliquod per aliquem dictorum canonicorum aliquid maliciosè fuerit attemptatum; et de hoc fuerit evidenter convictus coram suo priore, seu aliquo judice competenti, canonicus delinquens realiter in præmissis eo ipso per quinquennium sit inhabilis ad statum prioris et ad omnia alia officia in ipso monasterio optinenda, nisi prior de concilio sanioris partis conventus, de triennio vel aliqua parte triennii, staute triennio propter evidentem utilitatem monasterii duxerit, cum eo fore mitius agendum, et rationaliter dispensandum.

Subscriptas autem ordinationes meas volo et præcipio futuris temporibus imperpetuum inviolabiliter observari: Et ad futuram præmissorum memoriam, eorumque perpetuam firmitatem, præsentem literas meas per modum indenturæ triplicari mandavimus, ut una pars remaneat penès dictos priorem et conventum de Maxstoke imperpetuum, alia penès decanum et capitulum ecclesiæ de Litchfeild in thesaurario ejusdem ecclesiæ perpetuò conservanda, tertia penès me Willielmum fundatorem, hæredes meos et successores, per quam voluntatis meæ in hac fundatione perpetuam habeant noticiam, sigilli mei appensione munivi. Et ut præscripta omnia et singula perpetuis temporibus robur obtineant firmitatis, præfatam ordinationem meam, sigillis venerabilis patris domini Rogeri Dei gratia Coventriæ et Litchfeildæ episcopi supradicti, necnon prioris, et decani, et capituli prædictorum, procuravi munimine roborari. Datum apud Maxstoke decimo die anno Domini millesimo trecentesimo trigesimo sexto.

Nos igitur Rogerus episcopus supradictus, considerantes quanto nostræ devotionis affectu præfatus dominus comes cupiat suum in hac parte laudabile propositum adimpleri; quoque per præmissa gratum et acceptum impenditur Altissimo famulatum, prædictam ordinationem auctoritate nostra pontificali ratificamus, approbamus, et etiam confirmamus. Et in testimonium præmissorum sigillum nostrum singulis partibus indenturæ prædictæ duximus ap-ponendum. Datum Heywode quarto nonas Aprilis, anno Domini millesimo trecentesimo trigésimo septimo, consecrationis nostræ decimo quinto.

Bustlesham, Bisham, or Bysham Montague Priory,

IN BERKSHIRE.

TANNER'S is the most succinct account of the Foundation of this Priory, which, though latterly of the Augustine Order, was at first a Preceptory of the Templars.

He says, Robert de Ferrariis, in the time of Stephen, gave the manor of Bistlesham to the Templars, who thereupon made here a Preceptory for the Knights of that Order.

Upon their dissolution, temp. Edw. II., this seems not to have passed with the greatest part of their estates to the Knights of St. John of Jerusalem, for they had before granted it away in fee to Hugh de Spencer, jun.^b Afterwards it came to William Montacute, earl of Salisbury, who, A.D. 1338, built a Priory here for Canons of the Order of St. Austin, which was endowed 26 Hen. VIII. with a gross income of 185*l.* 11*s.* 0*d.*^c

The Prior and Convent having surrendered this Monastery, 5th July, 1536, King Henry the Eighth in the year following refounded and more amply endowed it with the lands of the late dissolved Abbey of Chertsey, and the Priors of Cardigan, Bethkelert, Ankerwike, Little Marlow, Medmenham, &c., to the value of 66*l.* 14*s.* 9*d.* per annum for the maintenance of an Abbat, who was to have the privilege of wearing a mitre, and thirteen Benedictine Monks.

But this new Abbey was of short continuance, being again surrendered to the King 19th June, 30th Hen. VIII. The Site was first granted by K. Edw. VIth to his Father's repudiated wife Anne of Cleve, who having surrendered it to the Crown again in 1552, it was then given, not as Tanner states to Sir Edward, but to Sir Philip Hoby.^d

In the charter of the first foundation, this Monastery is said to be dedicated to Our Lord Jesus Christ and to the blessed Virgin his mother; and in that of the second foundation to the blessed Virgin Mary; yet, in the time of Richard the Second, and in both the Surrenders, as well as in the Valor Ecclesiasticus, it is styled the Conventual Church of the Holy Trinity.^e

There is a Paper Survey of this Priory, temp. Hen. VIII. in the Augmentation Office.^f

JOHN COUDREY, the last abbat, made the second surrender of it, with fifteen monks, June 30th, 1539, according to Willis. Tanner says on June 19th.

No original SEAL of this Priory has been found by the Editors; the modern Seal of the Foundation by Henry the Eighth is appendant to the last Surrender.

Bisham Abbey is now the seat of the Vansittarts. No Remains of the Conventual Buildings, except a door-way of entrance to the Seat which goes by the name of Bisham Abbey, are now extant.

Priory of Flanesford, in Herefordshire.

OF this House our information is extremely scanty. The licence of foundation shows it to have been built and endowed by Richard Talbot lord of Castle Goodrich in 1347, in honour of God, the Virgin Mary, and St. John Baptist. Its value remained so small in the 26th of Henry the Eighth^a that it may be suspected that no increase was ever made to its endowment. Tanner says, "Vide Cartam fundationis originalem penes v. cl. Petrum Le Neve arm. Norroy."

There are no Ministers' Accompts of this Priory in the Augmentation Office, nor has any Conventual or other SEAL of the Priory been met with by the Editors.

Flanesford Priory is in the parish of Goodrich. In one of the buildings now used as a Barn, and which seems to have been the refectory Chapel, are some neat windows in the pointed style.

Prioratus de Flanesford, in agro Herefordensi.

Literæ patentes Regis Edwardi Tertii, Licentiam fundandi eundem, concedentes.

[Pat. 20 Edw. III. p. 3, m. 6.]

Edindon, Edyngdon, or Hedington Priory, in Wiltshire.

THE church and manor here were anciently a prebend of the abbey of Rumsey in Hampshire,^a said to have been worth a hundred marks by the year, and more.^b

William de Edindon, bishop of Winchester, built a new church at this his native place, and therein founded, to the honour of the blessed Virgin, St. Katherine, and All Saints, a large chantry^c or college of a dean and twelve ministers, whereof part were prebendaries,^d about the year 1347.^e These were afterward, at the desire of the Black Prince, changed into a reformed sort of Friars of the Order of St. Austin, who have been already mentioned in the account of Ashridge College, called BONHOMMES,^f who were settled here under the government of a rector, A.D. 1358.

In the Register of Edindon, preserved among the Lansdown Manuscripts in the British Museum, WALTER DE SEVENHAMPTON, Custos CANTARIÆ, occurs 5th April, 1358, at fol. 14.; after the mention of whom follows an Instrument intituled "Transmutatio Cantariæ de Edyndon."

JOHN DE AYLESBURY, the first rector of Edindon, was instituted to his office 5 kal. March, 1358.

THOMAS ODYHAM became rector 1st April, 1382.^g

JOHN RYVE was rector in the 26th Hen. VIII.

^a Of the gift of King John. Lel. Collect. vol. i. p. 63. "Gislebertus de Middleton præbendarius ecclesiæ de Edindone 7 Edw. II." Madox. Formul. p. 386.

^b Lel. Itin. vol. iv. p. 25.

^e "About the time that King Edward wan Calays." Lel. Itin. ut supr.

^f Leland says, "Prince Edward caullid the Black Prince had a great favor to the Bones-Homes beyond the Se. Wherapon cumming home he hartely besought bisshop Hedington to chaunge the Ministers of his Colledge into Bones Homes. Hedington, at his desire, entreatid his Collegians to take that Ordre. And so they did, all saving the Deane. Hedington sent for ii. of the Bones-Homes of Asscheruge to rule the other xii. of his Colledge. The elder of the ii. that cam from Ascheruge was caullid JOHN AILESURI and he was the first Rector at Hedington." Itin. ut supr.

Dugdale, in the Appendix to the present Account, has given an earlier date from another part of Leland's Itinerary to the founding of the monastery, but Tanner refers the date of 1352 to the Colledge; for the Seculars, he says, were here in March 1354-5, and confirmed by Patent 29 Edw. III. p. 1, m. .

Dertford Nunnery, in Kent.

DETRFORD or DARTFORD Priory was founded by King Edward the Third, according to Tanner, about the year 1355; though the great patent of endowment to it was not granted till 1371.^a It was placed by the king under the patronage of St. Mary and St. Margaret. The Prioress and Nuns were first of the Order of St. Augustine,^b then of St. Dominic,^c after that Austin's,^d again at the Dissolution Dominicans,^e but under the government of Black Friars; and those of Langley in Hertfordshire appear to have had that care.

Dugdale has preserved a previous charter of King Edward the Third to this House in 1357,^f together with one of Richard the Second granted in 1385.^g

This was a Nunnery to which the best and noblest families of the country sent their relatives, both for education and as Nuns. Bridget, the fourth daughter of King Edward the Fourth, was a Nun here.

The Prioress and Convent subscribed to the King's supremacy May 14th, 1535; subsequent to which they surrendered their House, the Prioress, JOAN FANE, or VANE, receiving a pension of 66*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* per annum, and twenty-three Nuns smaller pensions, of from forty shillings to six pounds per annum each.

In the Valor of the 26th Hen. VIII., this House is named as dedicated to St. Mary and St. Katherine; the clear income to have amounted to 280*l.* 9*s.* 0 $\frac{1}{2}$ d.^h

There is a Paper Survey of this Priory, temp. Hen. VIIIth, in the Augmentation Office.ⁱ

King Henry the VIIIth kept the Site of this Priory for some time in his own hands, as a residence for himself and his successors. In the 36th Henry VIIIth, however, Tanner states the Priory to have been granted to Edmund Mervyn, Esq.; but adds, that in the 5th and 6th of Philip and Mary, it was with all its lands settled upon the Prioress and Convent of Langley Regis. Another suppression brought Dertford Nunnery again into the hands of the Crown; and Queen

Syon Nunnery, in Middlesex.

THIS Monastery was founded in the manor of Isleworth, in Middlesex, in 1414, by King Henry the Fifth: and is most singular in its history. It was of the order of St. Austin, as reformed by St. Bridget Queen of Sweedland, and consisted of eighty-five persons, answering to our Saviour's thirteen apostles (St. Paul included) and seventy-two disciples, viz. of Sixty Nuns or Sisters, whereof one to be Lady Abbess, thirteen Priests (one to preside over the men by the name of Confessor), four Deacons, and Eight lay Brethren. It was dedicated to our holy Saviour, the blessed Virgin Mary, and St. Bridget.

Lysons informs us that the original Site of this House was in the Parish of Twickenham, most probably in the meadows which formerly belonged to Lord Frederick Cavendish, formerly called Istleworth, or Twickenham park. The dimensions of the premises, he adds, on which the Convent stood, are thus stated in an antient record:^a the length, towards the river, 2820 feet; towards Twickenham field, 1938 feet; the breadth on one side was 980, on the other 960 feet. Some Alien Monks, Lysons continues, are said to have been settled on the same spot,^b but there does not seem good ground for such a supposition. If it had been so, no doubt it would have been mentioned in the Charter. On the contrary, in the record just quoted, the Convent is spoken of as newly built by the King's command, and the value of the land appropriated out of the Royal demesnes, for the Site, is there valued at 33s. 4d. per annum.^c

In the year 1432, eighteen years after the foundation of the Monastery, Henry the Sixth granted permission to the Abbess and Convent of Sion to remove to a more spacious edifice, which they had built upon their demesnes within the parish of Isleworth.^d

The Abbess and fifty-one Nuns, four lay Sisters, twelve religious men, and five lay Brethren of this House, in all seventy-three, were pensioned at the Dissolution. Sion was one of the first of the large Monasteries that was suppressed, the Convent having been accused of harbouring the King's enemies, and having entangled itself with the affair of the Maid of Kent. The Conventual House remained in the King's hand, and served in 1541 as a prison for Queen Katherine Howard.

The Site of Syon was granted in the 1st of Edward the Sixth to Edward duke of Somerset, and in the 7th of Edward the Sixth to John duke of Northumberland. In the 3rd and fourth of Philip and Mary an abbess and nuns were replaced here;^e but Queen Elizabeth sent them away in the first year of her reign.

^f The Abbé Mann, in his Account of English Convents on the Continent, says, they went from Zealand to Antwerp, where they resided in 1571, and whence they were driven by the Low Country wars. Archæolog. vol. xii. p. 258.

The following curious particulars respecting this removal to Lisbon were communicated in a Letter from Mr. Correa de Serra to the Rev. John Brand, Secretary of the Society of Antiquaries, in a Letter dated Pentonville, 10th March, 1800, from two Portuguese Books,—Geografia

The nuns of Syon, with what little they could save, went first to Zurickzee in Zealand, whence they removed almost immediately to Mechlin in Brabant,^f thence to Rouen in Normandy, and thence to Lisbon, where Philip the Second of Spain settled upon them a pension of five crowns a day and an allowance of wheat. Afterwards, says Stevens, several charitable persons contributed to their support, and a Portuguese lady becoming a nun among them, conveyed to their house an estate she was heiress to.

The destruction of the church and monastery of the Syon nuns in 1651, mentioned in Note^f below, was not their only misfortune at Lisbon. The calamitous earthquake of 1755, which destroyed that city, again demolished the convent of the English nuns. The reader will not be displeased to see the little State of their Case, which they printed and sent at that time to England:

“WE the underwritten, and company, having on the first of November last suffered such irreparable Losses and Damages by the dreadful Earthquake and Fire which destroyed this City and other Parts of the Kingdom, that we have neither HOUSE nor SANCTUARY left us wherein to retire; nor even the necessaries for life; it being out of the power of our Friends and Benefactors here to relieve us; they all having undergone the same Misfortune and Disaster: so that we see no other means of establishing ourselves here than by applying to the Nobility, Ladies, and Gentlemen of our dear Country; humbly imploring your tender compassion and pious charity, that so being assisted and succoured from your bountiful hands, we may for the present subsist under our deplorable misfortunes, and in time retrieve so much of our losses as to be able to continue always to pray for the prosperity and conservation of all our Benefactors.

The Nuns continued as an English community at Lisbon till 1810, when the greater part of them, nine in number, fled to their native country; leaving three in possession of the house at Lisbon, who subsequently quitted it, it being converted into a hospital for the sick of Lord Wellington's army. The nine Sisters, in 1811, inhabited a small house at Walworth in Surrey. The remnant, advanced in years, and reduced to two or three in number, in 1825, were still living in the vicinity of the potteries in Staffordshire. The last remnant of an English convent dissolved in the time of Henry the Eighth.

Historica of Lima, tom. ii. p. 150, and Corografia Portugueza of Carvatho, tom. iii. p. 515:—

“On the 4th day of May, in the year 1594, arrived in the Port of Lisbon fifteen English Nuns of the Order of St. Bridget, with a novice, accompanied by three Fathers of the same Order. They were the only remaining part of the community of Mount Sion near London, which before the abolition of that Monastery consisted of sixty Nuns and twenty-five Friars, who after that disastrous event had wandered through France and Flanders in an unsettled state, and forced by the wars to change often their asylum. On their arrival at Lisbon they were hospitably received by the Franciscan Nuns of the Monastery of our Lady of Esperanza, and in that convent they lived, till Isabel de Azevedo, a noble lady, made them a gift of some houses and Grounds in the place called Mocambo, where they built their Church and Monastery. The then reigning sovereign, Philip the II^d, endowed them with a pension of two milres per diem (11 shillings 1 penny halfpenny) and twelve mayos of wheat yearly (thirty-six English quarters), paid from the revenue of the Fens belonging to the Crown at Santarem. This revenue they enjoy at present, and beside that, several legacies of Houses and Lands. As far back as 1712, their revenue was valued at five thousand cruzados. The Sacraments are administered to them by two secular Priests, one of whom is also the administrator of the temporal concerns of the community.

“On the 7th of August 1651, both Church and Monastery were burnt to the ground, and the Nuns of Esperanza afforded again for five years an asylum to the distressed English nuns. In the same year, 1651, on the 2d of October, the first stone was laid in the foundations of the new building, and in 1656 they returned to their present Monastery. The Church was finished some time after, by the benefaction of Ruy Correa Lucas, and his wife D. Milicia, who remained with the honours and profits of the advowson.”

Weever in his Funeral Monuments says, the nuns and friars here had but one church in common; the nuns had their church aloft in the roof, and their brethren beneath on the ground; each convent severally inclosed,^m and never allowed to come out except by the Pope's special licence; upon whom, when the King had bestowed a sufficient living, he provided by a law, that contenting themselves therewith they should take no more of any man, but what overplus remained of their yearly revenue, they should bestow it on the poor.ⁿ

The Seal of the Confessor-General of this Monastery is engraved in Watson's Halifax, pl. iv. p. 41.

The Seal which the nuns used as their Common Seal in later times at Lisbon, has recently been engraved in the Appendix to the XXIst Volume of the Archæologia.

In 1604, Sion House and the manor of Isleworth were granted to Henry earl of Northumberland, in whom were already vested the various leases made by Queen Elizabeth of the demesne lands. It is now one of the seats of his grace Hugh duke of Northumberland.

Little more than a few fragments in some walls are remaining of the old Conventual buildings here. Some very ancient mulberry trees here, the branches braced with irons, are believed not only to have been planted but to have been in bearing growth before the Dissolution of the Monastery.

Bulla Martini Quinti Papæ, de Approbatione Fundationis Monasterii de Syon in Comitatu Middlesexiæ, et appropriatione duarum Ecclesiarum ad idem.

[Fœd. et Convent. vol. ix. p. 611, A.D. 1418. Ann. 6 Hen. V. Bubl. Cott. Tiberius, b. vi. fol. 41.]

MARTINUS episcopus, servus servorum Dei, carissimo in Christo filio, Henrico, regi Angliæ illustri, salutem et apostolicam benedictionem.

Eximie devotionis, et sinceritatis affectus, quem ad nos, et Romanam geris ecclesiam, promeretur ut piis desideriis tuis gratum adhibeamus assensum; et illis, quæ sacræ religionis et divini cultus augmentum respiciunt, ut votivis continuè proficiant incrementis, apostolicæ sedis præsidium benevolis favoribus præbeamus.

Cum igitur (sicut exhibita nobis nuper pro parte tua petitio continebat) tu, inter alia monasteria, et loca religiosa, in regno per te fundata, venerabile monasterium de Syon, ordinis Sancti Augustini, Sancti Salvatoris nuncupati, Londiniensi diocesi, et

Pro una abbatissa, quæ ipsi monasterio de Syon pro tempore præesse debeat, et uno confessore, ac aliis utriusque sexus personis, inibi pro tempore religiosè, sub regula et secundum instituta Sanctæ Brigittæ, perpetuo Domino servituris, Solempniter, sumptuosèque, in Dei omnipotentis laudem, divini cultus augmentum, religionisque propagationem, ac pro tuæ, et progenitorum tuorum, divæ memoriæ, Angliæ regum, animarum salute, fundaveris et erigi feceris,

Nonnullaque etiam alia, ejusdem ordinis, monasteria et loca, Deo tibi propitio, fundare, et dotare proponas,

Pro parte tua nobis fuit humiliter supplicatum, ut fundationem et erectionem prædictas auctoritate apostolica ratificare et approbare, ac tibi hujusmodi alia monasteria et loca, ejusdem ordinis fundandi et dotandi licentiam concedere, necnon de Yevele et Croston, Wellensi et Lichfeldensi diocesi, parochiales ecclesias (quarum jus patronatus, quod ad te pertinere dinoscitur, ad hoc liberè donare paratus es) cum omnibus juribus et pertinentiis suis, in subsidium et partem dotis eidem monasterio de Syon, quod nondum dotatum est, et quod tu, Domino concedente, ulterius de bonis tuis sufficienter dotare intendis, appropriare et in perpetuum incorporare, annectere et unire, de benignitate apostolica, dignaremur;

Nos igitur, (tuum pium et laudabile propositum plurimum in Domino commendantes) hujusmodi supplicationibus inclinati, fundationem et erectionem prædictas, auctoritate apostolica ratificamus et approbamus; ac tibi hujusmodi alia monasteria et loca dicti ordinis fundandi et dotandi plenam licentiam, præsentium auctoritate, elargimur,

Et nichilominus de Yevele (quæ perpetuum vicarium ab antiquo habere dinoscitur) et cujus ducentarum, necnon de Crofton, cujus centum et quadraginta marcharum sterlingorum, fructus, redditus, et proventus, secundum communem æstimationem, valorem annuum, ut asseritur, non excedunt, parochiales ecclesias prædictas, cum omnibus juribus et pertinentiis suis, eidem monasterio de Syon, in subsidium et partem dotis hujusmodi, eadem auctoritate, appropriamus ac incorporamus, annectimus et unimus;

Ita quod abbatissa ipsius monasterii, quæ tunc fuerit, earundem ecclesiarum, cum, cedentibus vel decedentibus earum rectoribus, vel ecclesiis ipsas alias quomodolibet dimittentibus, vacaverint, seu ad præsens vacant, corporalem possessionem (diocesanorum locorum, et alterius cujuscunque licentia super hoc minime requisita) auctoritate propria apprehendere, et perpetuè in suos et dicti monasterii usus retinere;

Non obstantibus si aliqui, super provisionibus sibi faciendis de hujusmodi parochialibus ecclesiis, aut aliis beneficiis ecclesiasticis in illis partibus, speciales vel generales prædictæ sedis, vel legatorum ejus, literas impetraverint,

Etiamsi per eas ad inhibitionem, reservationem, et decretum, vel alias quomodolibet sit processum,

Quas quidem literas, et processus, habitos per easdem, ad dictas ecclesias volumus non extendi; sed nullum per hoc eis, quoad assecutionem parochialium ecclesiarum, aut beneficiorum aliorum, præjudicium generari;

Et quibuscumque privilegiis et indulgentiis, ac literis apostolicis, generalibus vel specialibus, quorumcumque tenorum existant, per quæ, præsentibus non expressa vel totaliter non inserta, effectus earum impediri valeat quomodolibet vel differri, et de quibus, quorumcumque totis tenoribus, datis habenda sit in nostris literis mentio specialis.

Volumus tamen quod, de hujusmodi fructibus, redditibus, et proventibus, ipsius ecclesiæ de Crofton, congrua pro perpetuo vicario, inibi pro tempore instituendo, per loci ordinarium reservetur portio; de qua idem vicarius valeat congruè sustentari, episcopalia jura solvere, et alia sibi incumbentia onera supportare; alioquin præsentibus literæ nullius existant roboris vel momenti, Et, insuper, ex nunc irritum decernimus et inane, si secus super hiis à quoquam, quavis auctoritate, scienter vel ignoranter, contigerit attemptari.

Nulli ergo hominum liceat hanc paginam nostræ ratificationis, approbationis, concessionis, appropriationis, incorporationis, annexionis, unionis, voluntatis et constitutionis, infringere, vel ei ausu temerario contraire; si quis autem hoc attemptare præsumpserit, indignationem omnipotentis Dei, et beatorum Petri et Pauli, apostolorum ejus, se noverit incursurum.

Dat. Gebennis xv. kal. Septembr. pontificatus nostri anno primo.

Austin Priory of Benethley, or Bentley, in Middlesex.

OF this Priory, which appears to have been founded for Austin Canons, the best Account is probably to be met with in Lysons's Environs of London. Speaking of Harrow on the Hill, he says, "There was formerly a Priory called

Burnham Abbey

Founded A.D. 1265, by

BUCKINGHAMSHIRE.

Richard, King of the Romans

Benethley or Bentley, situated at the extremity of this parish towards Stanmore." Very little is known of this Monastery. Dugdale has nothing relating to it. Tanner merely mentions its existence, and speaks of its unfortunate end in the year 1258; but he has mistaken the fact, for it was a Prior of this house who met with an untimely fate by being suffocated under a mow of corn.^a The Priory appears to have existed till the suppression of the smaller monasteries in the early part of the reign of Henry VIIIth, when, it is probable, its demesnes were granted to the monks of St. Gregory at Canterbury; for it appears upon record that Archbishop Cranmer, in the year 1543, gave to the King in exchange for other lands, the late Priory of Bentley, with all lands, tenements, &c. thereunto belonging, in Harrow and Stanmore, being part of the possessions of St. Gregory's Priory at Canterbury.^b

"The Priory of Bentley, with the priory-house, and all profits, rents, &c. was granted by Henry VIII. in the year 1546, to Henry Needham and William Sacheverell,^c and was alienated by them the same year to Elizabeth Colte.^d

"In the year 1706, the manor or priory-farm of Bentley belonged to the family of Coghill, and was bequeathed in 1734, by Thomas Coghill, Esq. to his nephew Thomas Wittewronge, who left it, in 1761, to John Bennet.^e Mr. Bennet sold it the next year to William Waller, Esq.; the latter alienated it about the year 1776, to Mr. James Duberly, of whom it was purchased, in 1788, by the Marquis of Abercorn. The Marquis soon after his purchase made very large additions to the dwelling-house, and converted it into a noble mansion."^f

In the Hundred Roll for Buckinghamshire, of the 39th Hen. III. in the hundred of Wotton in that County we read: "Prior de Benettleye tenet in eadem villa tres virgatas terræ, unde duas tenet in dominico, et unam quam Michahel de Hamme tenet de eo reddendo quatuor sol. per annum. Unam habet de dono Fredeshent de Wottone, et duas habet de dono Aliciæ de Rupell. et est totum de honore Giffard."^g

No SEAL of Bentley Priory has been met with.

Burnham Abbey, in Buckinghamshire.

DUGDALE, in the old Edition of the Monasticon placed this House among the Benedictine Monasteries. The Surrender, however, expressly states it to have been Augustine, for Nuns of which last Order it was founded by Richard King of the Romans, A.D. 1265.^h

In 1338 Roger le Strange of the then Lincoln family gave the Abbess and Convent the manors of Holmere and Little Missenden in Bucks.ⁱ

The following is a List of the

ABBESSES of BURNHAM.

^d Pat. 38 Hen. VIII. p. 12, Nov. 23. From the Particular for this Grant made in the 38th Hen. VIII. to Henry Nedeham and William Sacheverell, and remaining in the Augmentation Office, it appears that the Priory of Bentley, in the county of Middlesex, with all its lands, tenements, rents, services, woods, underwood, oblations, emoluments, fruits, and profits whatsoever, was granted to them, the whole yearly value thereof being no more than 4*l.* 10*s.* The entire Priory had been leased to Sir Arthur Darey, Kn^t, by Indenture of the Prior and Convent of St. Gregory, without the Walls of the City of Canterbury, dated 24 Hen. VIII. for the term of 80 years. Subject to this Lease the Priory went by exchange with the Crown, 28 Hen. VIII. to the Archbishop of Canterbury, and back again to the crown 34 of the same reign.

^h See the foundation Charter, Num. I. Cole, whose MSS. are preserved in the British Museum, and who was rector of the parish of Burnham from 1774 to 1780, thought that Richard King of the Romans was only honorary founder, and that this Nunnery was really built and endowed by one of the family of Molins of Stoke Poges. There can be no doubt that the Family of Molins were among the benefactors to this House, but Mr. Cole's chief reason for supposing this seems to have of Religious Houses from Willis says she was elected in 1406.

AGNES STURDY, 1459.

JOANE RADCLIFFE resigned in 1507.

MARGARET GIBSON, elected in 1507. She resigned in 1536, having, two years before, subscribed to the king's supremacy.

The Valor of this House in the 26th Hen. VIII., when Margaret Gibson was Abbess, will be seen in the Note below.^k

ALICE BALDWIN was the last Abbess. She surrendered her House in September 19th, 1539, and received a pension of 13*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* Anne Benfield, the Prioress, received a pension at the same time of 4*l.*^l

In the 36th Hen. VIII. the Site of Burnham Abbey was granted to William Tyldesley, Esq., but soon afterwards reverted to the Crown. In 1574 Paul Wentworth, Esq. occurs as Lessee under the Crown. Of the families through whose hands the lease of the abbey estate has subsequently passed an account will be found in Lysons's Buckinghamshire, vol. i. p. 531. Add. pp. 718* 729*. The reversion was purchased about 1812 by William Wyndham Lord Grenville, to whose liberality the Editors have been indebted for an engraved View of the Abbey Ruins.

In the Augmentation Office, says Willis, Mit. Ab. ii. p. 16. is the original Surrender, and a Letter from the Visitors recommending the Religious to the King's favour, on account of their readiness to yield to the King's measures; and the following Survey of this House, taken among the returns of the lesser Houses. "The Monastery of the Order of St. Austin, value 51*l.* 2*s.* 4*d.* Nuns, 9. Incontinent, none. All desire to go into Religious Houses. Servants 37; whereof priests 2, hinds 21, women 14. Woods, 160 acres; whereof in woods under twenty years of age 80 acres; old woods, 80 acres."

Tanner's References to RECORDS concerning this House are below.^a

The COMMON SEAL of this Abbey was oval and neat; an Impression of it on red wax is attached to the Surrender, 31 Hen. VIII., in the Augmentation Office. It appears to represent a King seated (probably Richard King of the Romans, the founder), crowning a Female. In base is a Shield of Arms; on a chief three fusils. Legend, SIGILLVM . CONVENTVS . MONIALIVM . DE . BVRNHAM.

The Cloister and Chapel of Burnham Abbey were supposed by Cole to have been destroyed at, or very soon after, the time of the Dissolution.^b

The present Remains are small. They appear to consist of what was the lodging-part of the Monastery. They stand above a mile from the village of Burnham, a little to the south of the Bath road.

Abbey of Missenden, in Buckinghamshire.

THE Instruments heretofore printed in Dugdale's Monasticon have involved the foundation of Missenden Abbey in some obscurity. An Inquisition upon oath taken in the 51st Edw. III. states its foundation to have taken place in 1293:^a while another places it in 1336.^b The Register of this Monastery, however, in the British Museum presents us with the Foundation Charter,^c whence we learn that it was built and endowed by Sir William de Missenden, Knt., in 1133. An ancient court-book of the manor, according to the Messrs. Lysons, says that it was founded by the D'Oyleys, and augmented by the Missendens, pursuant to a vow made on escaping from shipwreck.^d The patronage was afterwards in the Brudenells.^e

JOHN OTEWELL, or WESTWICK, was the last Abbat. This Abbat had a pension of fifty pounds a-year assigned to him at the Dissolution. He did not however remain in a state of celibacy. The Messrs. Lysons say that by his last will, bearing date in 1558, he makes his wife Margaret Otewell, alias Westwick, sole executrix; and bequeathed legacies to his son Samuel and his daughter Lettice.

The Value of the Revenues of this Monastery, in the 26th Hen. VIIIth, will be found in the Note below.^e

The Site of this House was granted in the 7th of Edward the Sixth, to John Duke of Northumberland, and in the 16th Eliz. to Robert Earl of Leicester. Later in Queen Elizabeth's reign the Abbey Estate was purchased by Sir William Fleetwood Recorder of London, in whose male descendants it continued till the beginning of the last Century, after which it passed by female heirs to the families of Ansell and Goostrey. After the death of Thomas Goostrey, Esq., it was purchased under a decree of Chancery in 1787, by J. Oldham Oldham, Esq., who modernized and nearly rebuilt the Abbey-House.

A REGISTER of Missenden Priory is preserved among the Harleian MSS. No. 3688, written upon 207 double pages of vellum, of the larger folio size, intitled "*Liber Cartarum Monasterii Beatae Mariae de Messendene, compilatus et completus Communitati Conventus de Messenden per fratrem Robertum de Welwes, decimo kal. Nunnery of Cornworthy, in Devonshire.

TANNER calls this a Priory of Seven Nuns of the Order of St. Austin, said to be founded by the ancestors of the Edgcumbs. Mr. Oliver in Historic Collections relating to the Monasteries in Devon, p. 116, says, the arguments are in favour of the Zouches. At the election of Honora Vivyan as Prioress in 1461, only five nuns had voices. Mr. Oliver says, on account of the poverty of the Convent, it was generally exempted from paying the King's Tenth. The Religious presented to the Churches of Cornworthy, Clawton, and Mercland.

Mr. Oliver has given the following Names and Dates of the PRIORESSES OF GREISLEY.

MABILLA DE BRADFORD was her successor.

The Site of this House had been granted in the 2d Eliz. to Edward Harris and John Williams. The Priory estate is now in the family of Hilditch.

A very slight and imperfect Impression a SEAL of this Priory is in the Augmentation Office; it represents the Tower of an ancient Church. Scarcely any part of the legend is remaining.

Berden Priory, in Essex.

THIS was a small Hospital, or Priory, for Canons of the Order of St. Augustine, dedicated to St. John the Evangelist. It is not known when, or by whom it was founded, but most probably, says Morant, in the beginning of the reign of Henry the Third, by some of the Rochfords. The patronage of it was given by William Bohun, earl of Northampton, in 1343, to the abbey of Walden in Essex. The grant of the advowson has been already printed in the Appendix of Instruments to that Abbey.

The Prior of Berden was also Patron of the Rectory, which, in 1427, on account of the poverty of the House, was appropriated to the Priory by Bishop Grey: a vicarage was now appointed and endowed, but which also became appropriated to the Priory in 1514. Priory of Blackmore, in Essex.

THIS Priory was founded, according to Bishop Tanner,^a before or in the beginning of King John's reign, by Adam and Jordan de Samford; but Richard St. George, Esq.^b affirms that it was founded about the reign of King Henry the II^d by Sir John de Saundfort, who, by his wife Alice Basset, left two sons, Alan and Nicholas: the eldest whereof desired to be buried in this Priory Church by his ancestors.^c

Morant says, John de Sandford had also, about the year 1165, the manors of Fingreth in this parish, of Ginge-Margaret, and Wolveston-hall in Chigwell in this county; and Great Hormead, and Nuthamstede in Hertfordshire.

This Priory was for Austin Canons, and was dedicated to St. Laurence.

This House continued till 1527, when it was dissolved, and on the 21st December and 20th Jan. in that and the following year it was granted to Cardinal Wolsey as a part of the endowment for his College at Oxford. The earl of Oxford claimed at this time to be what was called founder.

THOMAS GOODWINE, 18th March 1512.^h He was prior at the time of the Suppression by Cardinal Wolsey. The Revenues of this House, at that time, amounted to 85*l.* 4*s.* 7*d.*: in Spiritualities 41*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.*: in Temporalities 43*l.* 11*s.* 3*d.*

Upon the Cardinal's attainder in 1529, Blackmore Priory came again to the Crown; and two years after, 1st Jan. 1531, was granted by King Henry the VIIIth to the Abbey of Waltham Holy Cross, in exchange for the manor of Stansted Abbots and other lands which they yielded to the King. In the grant the monks of Waltham were allowed to hold the fair at Blackmore on St. Laurence's day, and the day before and the day after; viz. Aug. 9th, 10th, 11th.

Upon the general Dissolution of the Monastery the estate of this Priory again reverting to the Crown, King Henry VIIIth granted it, in 1540, to John Smith and his heirs.ⁱ

Lighes, or Lees Priory, in Essex.

PRIORS of LIGHES.

LEES Priory was founded in the reign of King Henry the Third, about the year 1230, by Sir Ralph Gernon, for Augustine Canons, and was dedicated to the Virgin Mary and St. John the Evangelist. The advowson and patronage of the Priory remained in the founder and his heirs. Sir John, the last male of the Gernons of the direct line, died in the 7th Ric. II^d possessed of it. Morant has given the further descent of this advowson to the time of Henry the VIIIth, when Sir Roger Wentworth of Codham-hall was patron in the right of his wife.

In the 26th Hen. VIIIth, the revenues of Blackmore amounted to 114*l.* 1*s.* 4*d.*

The Site of Lighes Priory was granted, in the 28th Hen. VIIIth, to Sir Richard Rich, chancellor of the Court of Augmentations. It afterwards passed through the hands of other families; and was finally sold by Sir Charles Herbert Sheffield to the governors of Guy's Hospital, who caused the Priory and Seat of the Riches to be taken down, all but the Gate-house, and the lands to be converted into farms.

HENRY DE LONDON was confirmed 19th Aug. 1385. HENRY BROMPTON died 1395, when JOHN COLCHESTER was elected.^l He died in the month of Oct. 1396.^m Thoby or Ginges Priory, in Essex.

TANNER calls this a Priory of Austin Canons, placed here temp. Steph. between the years 1141 and 1151, by Michael Capra, Roise his wife, and William their son. It was dedicated to St. Mary and St. Leonard. Speed says, to St. Margaret. Tanner says, this Priory or Hospital being founded in the wood of Ginges, was sometimes called Ginge or Gingeattaston Priory, though it is in the parish of Ginge Mountney or Munnasyng; and the same was more generally called Thoby, perhaps from Tobias the first Prior; though Speed makes these two distinct Monasteries.

This House also was suppressed to aid Cardinal Wolsey in the foundation of his College at Oxford. Its spiritualities were then worth 18*l.* 13*s.* 4*d.* The temporalities, 56*l.* 13*s.* 6½*d.* In the total, 75*l.* 6*s.* 10*d.*

Tiptre Priory, in Essex.

MORANT says this Priory was dedicated to the Virgin Mary and St. Nicholas. Tanner dedicates it to St. Nicholas only.

When and by whom it was first founded is unknown. It, however, existed in the beginning of Edward the First's reign; for in the 9th of that King, the prior of Tiptre had licence to impark sixty acres of his own soil within the Forest of Essex.^a

The chief benefactors to this House were the Montchensy family. In 1299 or 1300, Ralph de Montchensy and Albrida his wife gave to the Convent a mesuage, a hundred and forty-nine acres of arable land, and four acres of wood in Great Braxted; which lands were held in capite of Dionysia de Montchensy by the service of 13s. 2d. and suit at the Court of Great Braxted from three weeks to three weeks.^b

This Priory had also the impropriate tithes and advowson of the vicarage of Tolleshunt-Darcy. Morant has given the substance of an Inquisition taken at Ralegh in Essex, 24th April, 1528, which details these rents and emoluments at that time.

This was one of the smaller monasteries which were granted 21 December and 20 January 1524-5 to Cardinal Wolsey for the endowment of his Colleges. The revenues were valued at this time at 22l. 16s. 4d. per annum, of which 4l. consisted in spiritualities.

Tanner says that, at the time of the Dissolution, Anthony Darcy claimed to be founder; Morant, that his claim was a false pretence, because that at the time of the foundation there were none of the name of Darcy who held lands in Essex.

Tanner says, that upon Wolsey's attainder Tiptre having reverted to the Crown, was granted in the 24th Hen. VIII. with Stanegate to the Hospitalers. Morant, that it was granted to John Huddleston, Esq., who alienated it 1st April, 1547, to the Darcies. It is now the property of Peter Ducane, Esq.

The Priory Church has been long since demolished.

Priory of Wymondesley Parva, in Hertfordshire.

TANNER calls this a Hospital^b or small Priory of Black Canons, built by Richard Argentein in the time of Henry the Third, to the honor of St. Laurence.^c

In the 26th Hen. VIII. the gross value of the Revenues of this House amounted to 37*l.* 10*s.* 6½*d.*: the clear revenue to 29*l.* 19*s.* 11½*d.* The Site was granted in the 29th Hen. VIII. to James Nedeham surveyor of the King's works. The Priory Estate is now the property of Sam^l. Heathcote Unwin, Esq.

The possessions of this Priory were probably too compact and small to need a Register of the Deeds relating to them.^d

JOHN DE BUCKEDEN occurs Prior of Wilmundele 21 Edw. III.

The COMMON SEAL, small and plain, having for its subject the blessed Virgin and divine Infant, with this Legend, s . CAPITVLI . BEATE . MARIE . DE . WILMVNDE . . is extant in the Chapter-House, Westminster, attached to the Acknowledgment of Supremacy, 1534.

Chauncy, Hist. Hertf. p. 361. says, "This Priory has been a fair old building with cloisters. There was a Chapel in it, consecrated since the Dissolution. Almost surrounded with a mote; is situated upon the side of a small hill, encompassed with near four hundred acres of rich meadow, pasture, and arable land enclosed to it, with a very fair orchard and garden, yielding the best sort of fruit. The House is supplied from a conduit, with sufficient water to turn the spit in the kitchen upon all occasions."

Ellesham, Elsham, or Ailsham Priory,^a

IN LINCOLNSHIRE.

BEATRICE DE AMUNDEVILL, says Tanner, began here a Hospital for several poor brethren, which her son Walter confirmed and augmented, and committed to the care of a Prior and Regular Canons of the Order of St. Austin, before A.D. 1166.^b The Knights Hospitallers made some pretences to it about the year 1180, which they were obliged to quit. This Priory was dedicated to St. Mary and St. Edmund, and had but five Canons a little before the Suppression, when the total of its revenue was valued at 83*l.* 17*s.* 10*d.*: the net income at 70*l.* 0*s.* 8*d.*

The Site, &c. of this Priory having been granted almost immediately after its Dissolution, 30th Hen. VIII. to Charles duke of Suffolk, there are no Ministers' Accompts of it in the Augmentation Office.^c

There is an Impression of the COMMON SEAL of this Priory on red wax in the Chapter-House, Westminster, appendant to the Acknowledgment of supremacy, 1534: it represents the blessed Virgin seated, having the divine Infant stretched naked across her knees. Legend imperfect, having no more than SIGILLVM . COMVNE MARIE LESHAM.

Appendant to the Harleian Charter 44 D. 32, is another Impression of the Convent Seal of Ellesham, scarcely more perfect than the preceding: but it has the counter-seal of one of the priors, with the Inscription, s . WILL'1 DE BARTONA PRIOR' D The Deed to which it is attached is dated in 1295.

OMNIBUS Christi fidelibus, præsentibus et futuris, præsens scriptum visuris vel auditoris, Johannes de Dive, filius Willielmi de Dive, æternam in Domino salutem. Noverit universitas vestra, me intuitu caritatis et pro salute animæ meæ, et prædicti domini Willielmi patris mei, et Ermetridæ matris meæ, et omnium antecessorum et successorum meorum, concessisse, et hoc præsentis scripto confirmâsse Deo et ecclesiæ conventuali beatæ Mariæ de Ellesham, et canonicis et fratribus ibidem Deo servientibus et in perpetuum servituris, in liberam, puram, et perpetuam elemosinam, solutam et quietam ab omni seculari servicio, consuetudine, et demanda imperpetuum, quicquid feodi prædicti canonici habent de dono Walteri de Amundevilla in villa de Ellesham; videlicet quicquid idem Walterus habuit in Ellesham in terris et tenementis, excepto servicio Ingelrami de Moncellis, cum pertinentiis, et advocaciones ecclesiarum de Ellesham, Kyrkeby, Kyrerby, Narthford, et Winthorp, cum omnibus suis pertinentiis; et tria molendina apud Winthorpe super Trentham sita; et quartum molendinum in villa de Winthorpe, et unam bovatom terræ et dimidiam in eadem villa, quam Ranulphus tenuit.

Ad hæc sciatis me, pro me et hæredibus meis, memoratis canonicis et fratribus et ecclesiæ suæ prædictæ in formâ præscriptâ concessisse et confirmâsse unam bovatom terræ in Wulrikby, quam habent ex concessione Simonis de Rople, &c. et duas bovatas terræ in Kyrerby et Ouresby de dono dominæ Ermetridæ de Amundevilla, &c. NUM. VI.

[Ibid.]

REVERENDISSIMO et dilectissimo patri in Christo, domino papæ, Jolanus de Hamundevill, salutem et debitam obedientiam. Sanctæ paternitati vestræ notum sit, quod fratres Hospitalis Iherosolimitani jamdudum per fallaciam à me impetraverant ut hospitale quoddam in Lincolnensi diocesi constitutum, quod domina mea et avia Beatrix incæpit et constituit, cujus ego advocatus sum, eis tradere. Quod utique hospitale ab aviâ meâ institutum, Walterus de Hamundevill, filius prædictæ Beatricis, per consensum et auctoritatem episcopi diocesanæ Roberti de Kayneto, canonicis regularibus dederat, et cartâ suâ confirmaverat ad pauperum et hospitalitatem servandum et manutenendum.

Ipsæ quoque Walterus de Hamundevill, avunculus meus, in ipso hospitali canonicus affectus vitam finivit, consummavit, ibique requiescit. Successores verò ejusdem Walteri Will. et Helias de Hamundevill pater meus, idem hospitale memoratis canonicis concesserunt, et cartâ suâ confirmaverunt. Contra quorum constitutionem dum per fallaciam prædiator fratrum Hospitalis Iherosolimitani venire temp-tarem, per literas à domino papa Alexandro impetratas, sicut justum fuit, ipsi hospitalarii quieti cesserunt. Ego verò nihilominus injuriam meam recognoscens, in capitulo Lincolnensi me obligavi nunquam amplius constitutioni et elemosinæ antecessorum meorum nociturum, vel impedimentum facturum ullâ arte, vel propriâ, vel alienâ. Memoratis insuper canonicis cartam dedi, qualis eis erat necessaria.

Quoniam autem sæpefati fratres Hospitalis Hierosolimitani jam nuper literas, ut dicitur, domino Papæ impetratas, contra priorem prædictæ domus de Ellesham attulerunt; ipsum priorem et canonicos socios suos et elemosinam meam injustè et insipienter vexare volentes, sanctissimæ paternitati vestræ supplico, quatenus præfatis canonicis et domui suæ, pacem faciatis; et prædictis fratribus Hospitalis Hierosolimitani super præfata domo de Ellesham silentium perpetuum imponi jubeatis. Valetè semper in Christo.

Newstede Priory, in Lincolnshire.

TANNER calls this House Newstede, or De Novo Loco juxta Stanford, or Ad pontem de Uffington. It was built in the beginning of the reign of Henry the Third, in honor of the Virgin Mary, by William de Albinus the third, for Canons of the Order of St. Austin, and certain poor persons. Its endowment is amply detailed in the Charters which follow this Account.^a Leland reckons the sum of its revenues in Henry the Eighth's time at the annual income of 30*l.* The Valor of the 26th Hen. VIII. makes it more.^b The Site of this House was granted in the 31st Hen. VIII. to Richard Manours.

RICHARD LYNNE was the last Prior.

Tanner's References to public Instruments concerning this House are below.^c

Sandlesford Priory, in Berkshire.

TANNER calls this House Sandlesford, or Newtoun, near Newbury. It appears to have received its second name from that of the parish in which it is situated. So MS. Ashmol. 1114.

From the confirmation Charter of Stephen, archbishop of Canterbury, to this House, it appears that it was founded by Jeffrey Earl of Perch and Maud his wife, for Austin Canons, before the year 1205. It was dedicated to St. Mary and St. John the Baptist.

About 1480, the religious wholly forsook this Monastery,^a whercupon King Edward the Fourth, with the consent and at the instance of the Ordinary of the place, Richard Beauchamp, bishop of Salisbury, and then dean of Windsor, annexed it to the Collegiate Church of Windsor; among the possessions of which, in the 26th Hen. VIIIth, it was valued at 10*l*.

^a The Messrs. Lysons say this was owing to a dispute between the then Prior and the Bishop of Salisbury. They add, that "In the reign of James the First the rector of Newbury and the lessee of Sandlesford, having had a dispute about tithes, there was an award of Chancery, by which Sandlesford, consisting only of the Priory House, was declared to be a separate and distinct parish. The owner of Sandlesford was to have a pew in Newbury Church, and to pay 8*l*. per annum to the Rector, in Dugdale, in the former edition of the present Work, vol. i. p. 482. printed a Charter granted to Sandford otherwise Litelmore, in Oxfordshire, as belonging to this Monastery.

WILLIAM WESTBURY was Prior in 1457.^b

DUGDALE, in the former edition of the Monasticon, had nothing to present the reader with concerning this Priory, but the notice of it in Leland's Collectanea, vol. i. p. 74.

Tanner makes it the Union of two Priories, and heads his account "Charley^a and Ulvescroft,^b or Oulescroft." These, he says, were two solitary places in the forest of Charnwood, in each of which were settled three friers heremites, by the favor of Robert Blanchmains earl of Leicester, temp. Hen. II. But by the consent of the earl of Winchester, patron of both Houses, temp. Edw. II.^c they were united at Ulvescroft, where a Priory of Canons regular of the Order of St. Austin continued till the general Suppression.

Collect. i. p. 74. in the passage which has been already mentioned as quoted by Dugdale, calls Roger Quincy, earl of Winchester, Founder of this House, whereas he was in reality only patron or modern founder of this House in right of his wife the descendant of Robert Fitz Parnel, earl of Leicester. He has printed a bull of Pope Alexander III. sent to William prior of Ulvescroft, in 1174, which not only gives a circumstantial detail of the possessions of the House, but shows that it had existed as a Priory more than forty years; and that ROBERT BOSSU was the founder.^a

Margaret de Quincy, grand-daughter of Robert Bossu, and daughter of Robert Blanchemaines, confirmed to this House certain land in Riehull and Bissopehul.^b

Nichols details the particulars of numerous other benefactions of a similar kind, for which the Reader is referred to his History.

The Priory of Ulvescroft was suppressed in 1534, but was refounded by Henry the Eighth, possibly in consequence of the very favourable account which George Gyffard, one of the Commissioners for visiting the Religious Houses, gave of the manners of its inhabitants. The original of his Letter, which Nichols has printed, dated from Garendon, June 19th, 1534, is preserved in the Cottonian MS. Cleop. E. iv. p. 213. Nichols has also printed^c the Exemplification of the Letters Patent for the refoundation of this Priory in 1537.

Grace-Dieu Priory at Belton, in Leicestershire.

THE Priory De la Grace Dieu was founded by Roesia de Verdon, about the 24th of Henry the Third, to the honor of St. Mary and the Holy Trinity, for Nuns of the Order of St. Austin. These Nuns were sometimes called the Nuns of Belton, the neighbouring church of which was appropriated to them by Robert Kilwardeby, archbishop of Canterbury in 1277.

Nichols, in his History of Leicestershire, vol. iii. p. 651—655, has been more minute than the limits of the Monasticon will allow us to be upon the history and possessions of this Priory. He has printed, p. 653, an Inventory of the Household Furniture and Stock of this Priory, taken in the 30th Hen. VIIIth. from the original in the Augmentation Office.^a

PRIORESSES of GRACE-DIEU.

AGNES DE GRESLEY, supposed to have been the first, occurs in 1242.

MARY DE STRETTON, occurs in 1243.

AGNES LITHERLAND was the last Prioress. She, with the sub-prioress and fourteen Nuns, surrendered her Convent to the King, Oct. 27th, 1539.

The Site and demesne lands of this Priory were granted

30th Hen. VIII. to Sir Humphrey Foster, kn^t., by the service of the fourth part of one knight's fee, and the rent of 50s. a year; by whom it was immediately conveyed in fee to John Beaumont, Esq., and Elizabeth his wife. The subsequent holders of this property will be seen in Nichols's History.

There is a Paper Survey of the Lands of this Nunnery temp. Hen. VIII. in the Augmentation Office, and an Inventory relating to it of the same period in the Chapter-House, Westminster.^b

Nichols, in his History of Leicestershire, vol. iii. part ii. pl. 87, has engraved a SEAL of Agnes, one of the Prioresses of this House.

A considerable fragment of the RUINS of Grace-Dieu Priory, beautifully situated near the centre of Charnwood forest, is still remaining. The Tomb of Roesia de Verdon, the foundress, formerly in the Priory Chapel here, was removed at the Dissolution to the Church of Belton, and is also remaining. Buck has given a View of the Ruins of Grace-Dieu as they remained in 1730. The Priory precinct originally included a space of about two acres.

Beeston Priory in Norfolk.

BEESTON, near or upon the Sea, says Tanner. The Lady Margery de Cressy, in the latter end of King John's reign or the beginning of King Henry the Third, built in a meadow near this Town a small Monastery for a Prior and about four Austin canons, to the honour of the blessed Virgin.^a The style of this House in the Norwich Registers is, "Ecclesia S. Mariæ in prato de Beston juxta mare."

The following is the List which the Continuator of Blomfield gives of the Lucia abbess of Caen in Normandy granted by fine, 52 Hen. III., the advowson of Staninghall Church in Norfolk to this Convent.

The income of this House was never sufficient to maintain more than a small number of canons. The prior and four only subscribed to the King's supremacy in 1534.

The Site was granted Dec. 5th, 37 Hen. VIII., to Sir Edmund Wyndham and Giles Seafole, Esq. Samuel Hoare, Esq. was lately the possessor.

There is a Paper Survey of this Priory, temp. Hen. VIII. in the Augmentation Office.^b

The Ministers' Accompt of Beeston, 31 Hen. VIII., is in the Augmentation Office, but containing little information, an Abstract of the Valor has been printed instead of it.

No SEAL of Beeston has yet been discovered.

The Tower, side walls, and western gable of the Conventual Church are still remaining.

Lantony Priory, Monmouthshire

Priory of Bromehill, or Bromwell, in Norfolk.

THIS Priory, according to Blomfield, was founded by Sir Hugh de Plaiz, in or about the reign of John.^a It was situated in the parish of Weting, and was dedicated to the Virgin Mary and St. Thomas the Martyr. King Richard the II^d appears to have favoured this Priory, and, in the 9th year of his reign, gave to it the Church of Abingdon in Northamptonshire.^b

THOMAS AXILL, or EXALE, 1491.

WILLIAM BARLOW, alias FINCH, occurs in 1525: he had been successively Prior of two or three other Austin Houses, and was afterwards successively bishop of St. Asaph, St. David's, Bath and Wells, and Chichester.

This House was suppressed by Pope Clement's bull, May 14th, 1528, and granted by the King in the month of December following to Cardinal Wolsey, toward the endowment of his College at Ipswich. Upon the disappointment of which design by the Cardinal's fall, it was, in the 23d Hen. VIIIth, granted to the Master and Fellows of Christ's College in Cambridge, in exchange for some other lands,^c and though resumed by the King shortly after, was again granted to them by King Edward the Sixth, and still belongs to them.

Blomfield gives a wood-cut of the COMMON SEAL of this House. Oval. Inscribed, SIGIL . PRIORIS . ET . CONVENTUS . D' BROMH.

A Farm-house, called Bromhill-house, has been built out of the Ruins of the Priory.

Lantonia Prima, Lantony, or Llanhodenei,

IN MONMOUTHSHIRE.

THE History of this Foundation, from a Chronicle of one of its monks, has been already given in the Appendix to the history of Lantonia Secunda, to which Lantonia Prima, though first a parent, afterwards becomes a daughter-monastery or cell.

Tanner, speaking of Lanthony in Monmouthshire, says, "Here, in a very solitary valley, not long after the year 1108, was settled a Priory of Canons-regular of the Order of St. Austin, dedicated to St. John Baptist,^e who acknowledged Hugh Lacy for their founder.^f In the beginning here were above forty Religious; but by reason of the hard usage they met with from the rudeness, poverty, and barrenness of the neighbouring country and people, the greatest part of them removed, first to the bishop's palace in Hereford, and after, viz. A.D. 1136, to a place near Gloucester, which was also called from this mother-monastery Lantony (and sometimes for distinction's sake Lantony the Second), so that only thirteen canons were left here, which number in process of time decreased, and the House was almost ruined;

when King Edward the Fourth (anno xxi.) gave leave for the annexing this Priory to Lantony near Gloucester, here being to be maintained a prior dative and four canons; but it is to be doubted whether this union ever took full effect, because the estate of Lantony the First is valued distinct in the Valor of the 26th Hen. VIII."^g

Tanner says, the Site was granted 38 Hen. VIIIth to Nicholas Arnold: Coxe in his Tour in Monmouthshire, from Jones's Index to the Originalia Records, says, to Richard Arnold.^h He adds that it was in late times purchased of Captain Arnold of Lanvihagel by auditor Harley, and is now the property of the Earl of Oxford.ⁱ

An impression of the COMMON SEAL of this House is in the Chapter-House, Westminster; it is apparently from the identical matrix used by the Canons of Lanthonia Secunda, and is attached to the same kind of Instrument, viz. the Acknowledgment of Supremacy, 1534.

The ARMS of this House were party per pale Az.

Nunnery of Crabhouse, or Wigenhale, in Norfolk.

TANNER'S Account of this House shall be, in the first instance, transcribed. He says, "In an old Hermitage, dedicated to St. John the Evangelist, on the south part of the parish of Wigenhale St. Mary Magdalene, was a Nunnery of St. Austin, founded with the consent of William de Lisewis chief lord of the soil, by Roger prior, and the Convent of Reynham, about A.D. 1181. It was by Godfrey son of William de Lisewis given and made subordinate to Castleacre. There were in it a Prioress and six or seven Nuns, but their revenues were returned 26 Hen. VIII. at no more than 24*l.* 19*s.* 6*d.* per annum, as Dugdale, and 31*l.* 16*s.* 7*d.* as Speed. This House was granted 1 Mariæ to Sir John Gage."^d

Taylor, in his Index Monasticus, calls this House of the Order of Fontevrault.^e He says it was dedicated, in one Grant, to God, St. Mary, St. John, and St. Thomas. Among its benefactors he enumerates K. Hen. II. Reg. de Thorpland, t. Hen. II. John rector of Castre St. Edmond, 1364. Nicholas Beaupre, 1367. John Elvered, clerk, 1416. Edward Parys, rector of Watlington, 1427. William Trusbut rector of Watlington, 1450. John Gilham of Stow Bardolph, 1468. Eliz. de Clare, 1492. Bishop Goldwell, 1497.

Priory of Hempton, in Norfolk.

TANNER calls this House Hempton, Fakenhamdam, or Dammesende: and says, "Upon or at the end of the causey or dam between the towns of Fakenham and Hempton was an ancient Hospital dedicated to St. Stephen,^b which afterward became a small Priory of three or four Canons of the Order of St. Austin. Roger de S. Martino is said to have been the original founder, temp. Hen. I.^c The Earls of Oxford were afterwards patrons."^d Weever, however, ascribes the foundation to one Richard Ward, who took upon him holy orders and lived here.^e

In the 2d of King John the archdeacon of Worcester, (probably John de Brancaster) gave a palfrey to the King, for a fair to be held yearly, on Tuesday in Whitsun week, for the profit and use of the brethren of this Hospital, which fair is still held upon Hempton green. Robert Bernard of Sculthorp, about the 6th Hen. IVth, gave lands in Sculthorp to this House, the inhabitants of which had also the manor of Waterden.^f

At fol. 42. Rentale eodem anno.

HENRY SALT, or SALTER, occurs in 1534. He had a pension of 4*l.* a year at the Dissolution of the Priory, and was alive to receive it in 1553. Sir John Bardolfe of Maple Durham is said to have been patron of this House in the reign of Edward the Third. King Edward the IVth is said to have been subsequently patron in right of the Duchy of Lancaster. Tanner says the Earls of Oxford were afterwards patrons.

The Site of Hempton Priory, with the manor and appropriated rectory, were granted in the 37th Hen. VIII. to Sir William Fermer and the Lady Catherine his wife. They afterwards passed through various hands. Sir Henry Spelman in his History of Sacrilege traces them through seven owners, who were all unfortunate. The Site is at present in the possession of the Marquess of Townshend's Trustees.

The COMMON SEAL of this House in 1449 was oblong in shape. The area represented the figure of St. Stephen, standing between two tapers: under him, the prior within an arch, kneeling. The Legend, † SIGILLUM . COMMUNE . SANCTI . STEPHANI . DE . HEMPTON .

There is a Ministers' Accompt of Hempton 29th Hen. VIII.,^g but as it answers only for the gross value, the Valor of 26th Hen. VIII. is inserted in its room.

Priory of Massingham Magna, in Norfolk.

HERE, says Tanner, was an Hospital or Priory of the Order of St. Austin,^a dedicated to St. Mary and St. Nicholas,^b founded before the year 1260 by Nicholas le Syre of Massingham; the buildings of which being decayed, and the estate wasted, A. D. 1475 it was united to the Priory of Westacre, and afterwards became a Cell of two Canons and two poor men to that House, and as parcel thereof was granted 2 and 3 Phil. et Mar. to Sir Thomas Gresham.^c Mountjoy Priory, in Norfolk.

TANNER calls this House de Monte Jovis,^f Montegaudio,^g Mountjoy,^h or Monge Priory, in Heveringland. In a place called Thweyt, he says, in this parish of Haverland, William de Gisneto, temp. R. Joannis,ⁱ founded first a chapel dedicated to St. Lawrence, and gave it to the Prior and Convent of Wymondham, who were to keep two or three of their Monks here, where afterward were settled a Prior and several Black Canons.^k In later times, this House appears as dedicated to the Virgin Mary, St. Michael, and St. Lawrence.

Pope Clement IVth, in 1264, favoured this House, granting among other things a licence for the Prior and Convent to hold all their lands exempt from tithes, and the privilege of celebrating divine service in their Priory Church during any interdict. Pope Urban V. also took this Priory under his protection, and in 1364 granted to all who should

This Monastery was suppressed among others in the 20th Hen. VIII.,^c and given to Cardinal Wolsey toward the better endowment of his College at Ipswich. After the Cardinal's fall,^d it was granted to; but it may be doubted, says Tanner, whether the Cardinal ever got possession of it; for on its dissolution, William Hals, the patron, is said to have seized it as an escheat, and it has since gone along with the manor. The manor and site of Mountjoy Priory, united to Heveringland Hall, is the property of William Fellowes, Esq.

Several Papal Bulls concerning this Priory are printed in Rymer's Fœdera.^e Tanner's References relating to it will be found below.^f Peterston Priory or Hospital, in Norfolk.

TANNER calls this Priory Peterstone, Petreston, or De Petra S. Petri, in the parish of Burnham St. Clement or Overy. He says, "Before the year 1200 here was a House of Canons of the Order of St. Austin, who were under the patronage of St. Peter, and subordinate to the Monastery of Walsingham, to which this Priory or Hospital (being fallen into decay) was wholly annexed A.D. 1449, and as parcel of the possessions of Walsingham was granted in augmentation of the revenues of the bishoprick of Norwich 4th Edw. VIth."^a

The Continuator of Blomfield thought that the founder of this Priory was one of the ancestors of the Cheneys, which family had the patronage of it, and from whom it descended to the Claverings, the Lords Dacre, &c.^b

Robert, son of Arnold de Munteny, granted by fine in the 54th Hen. III. to the Prior here five roods of meadow and 20*d.* rent, with a moiety of the advowson of the Church of Beeston. In the 16th Richard II., Simon Barret, &c. alienated to the Prior one mesuage, twenty-six acres, and a rood of land in the towns of Burnham Overey, Burnham Thorpe, and Holkham.^c

A Grant of a piece of land to this Priory, from William de Caletorp and Cecilia his wife, adjoining to the Monastery, without date, was exhibited to the Society of Antiquaries by John Adey Repton, Esq. in 1806. The SEAL appendant represented a figure holding two Keys in one hand, and the model of a Church in the other, inscribed s. COMMUNE CAPITULI DE PETERSTON. On the back a Counter Seal of smaller dimensions, representing a hand grasping two Keys: Inscription, SIGILL. SECRETUM. PRIOR' DE PET'STON.

Austin Cell of Sheringham, in Norfolk.

TANNER calls this "Sheringham, olim Siringham:" and says, "The Church of this place being given by Walter Giffard Earl of Buckingham temp. Hen. II. to the Abbey of Nuttale in Buckinghamshire, and appropriated thereunto, here was some time a Cell to that Abbey." He adds, in a Note, "The Canonici de Schyringham are mentioned in the Norwich taxation of Sparham deanry, A.D. 1256.

And the rents due to that Abbey from Middleton near Lynn were made payable at Sheringham, as appears from some leases in Registr. Prior. de Blackburgh MS." There is, however, but one entry as to it in Pope Nicholas's Valor, where Schyringham is valued at 18*l.*; and the Church is said to be appropriated to the Abbat and Convent of Nuttele.

Westacre Priory, in Norfolk.

DUGDALE, in the former edition of the Monasticon, placed this House as a Cell to Lewes, in Sussex, and represented it as of the Cluniac Order: a mistake which bishop Tanner sufficiently explains.

A Priory of Black Canons, it appears, who afterwards became Canons of St. Austin, was begun here by Oliver the parish priest and his son Walter, in the time of king William Rufus, under the protection of the then lord of the manor, Ralph de Tony, who confirmed the grants made to the same.^a Parkins, the Continuator of Blomfield, calls Ralph de Tony himself the founder.

The chief donations to Westacre by subsequent benefactors will be found enumerated in Tanner's references to Records concerning this House.^b

In the time of Edward the Fourth, this Priory had the manor of Godscroft, then valued at 15*l.* per annum.^c

Westacre had also the patronage of the following Churches, or Vicarages, their rectories being appropriated to it: Breccles, Rougham, West Barsham, Marham, Narford, Appleton, Ashwicken, Lesgate, Wigenhale, St. Mary's, and South Lynn, with two parts of the rectory of Narburgh, and the rectory appropriated of Necton. The Churches of Westacre and Runhale were wholly appropriated, and served by a curate. The Church of Bodney was also in their patronage.^d

The next value of this Priory, in the 26th Hen. VIIIth, amounted to 260*l.* 13*s.* 6¼*d.*^e the Vetusta Monumenta of the Society of Antiquaries, and is described by Parkins, Blomfield's Continuator, and by Taylor in the Index Monasticus. The obverse bore this Inscription, † SIGILLUM . CAPITULI . BEATE . MARIE . ET . OMNIUM . SANCTORUM . DE . WESTACRE † : The reverse, round a head couped with a star above and a crescent below, † MUNDUS . AGIT . MUNDUM . CONTERE . MUNDUS . ERIS † .

Of this Priory the Gatehouse is now the chief remain, ornamented with the Arms of four principal benefactors; viz. Tony, Guy Earl of Warwick, and Beauchamp and Tarquin Earls of Warwick.

Blomfield, vol. iii. p. 526, says that Westacre Priory had a CELL at NARFORD in Norfolk, consisting of a custos and two or three monks, who officiated in an adjacent chapel dedicated to St. Thomas a Becket. Tanner found no other mention of this place.

MASSINGHAM MAGNA and WOBURN were also CELLS to this House.

Rothwell Nunnery, in Northamptonshire.

THE founder of this House is no where mentioned, but probably was one of the Clare family, whose successors in the manor were patrons of it. In the 9th Richard the II^{d.}, the rectory of Desborough in Northamptonshire was appropriated to it.

Dugdale says this Monastery was valued, at the time of its Dissolution, at 5*l.* 19*s.* 8*d.* per annum. Speed valued

MARY LAFFENHAM, 1498.^a

MARGARET LOFTUS was Prioress in 1534.

The Site of the House was granted in the 37th Hen. VIIIth to Henry Lee: a private Residence has since risen upon it.

No SEAL of this Monastery has been yet met with by the present Editors.

There is a Paper Survey of the lands of this House temp. Hen. VIII. in the Augmentation Office. Tanner has only two References to Records relating to it: "Pat. 9 Ric. II. p. 2, m. 19. pro eccl. de Desburgh approprianda. Pat. 1 Hen. IV. p. 1, m. 1 vel 2."

Priory of Shelford, in Nottinghamshire.

THIS Monastery, as we learn from the verdict of a Jury given in the 42d Hen. III., was founded by Ralph Haunselyn in the time of Henry the Second. Tanner says, not long before the Suppression, here were twelve canons; the statement of the value of this House, in the 26th Hen. VIIIth., will be seen below.^b

The SITE of this House was granted in the 29th Hen. VIIIth, and the greatest part of its possessions in the 31st Hen. VIIIth, to Michael Stanhope.

There is a Paper SURVEY of Shelford in the time of Henry the Eighth in the Augmentation Office.^d

A fragment of the COMMON SEAL, merely sufficient to show that it represented the Blessed Virgin and divine Infant, is extant in the Augmentation Office. Legend so imperfect that two words only remain, viz. SIGILLVM SHELFORD.

quod scrutatis rotulis ipsius Hugonis de tempore prædicto, qui sunt in thesaurario nostro, sub custodiâ vestrâ, ut dicit, recordum et processum ejusdem loquelæ cum omnibus ea tangentibus, nobis sub sigillo vestro distinctè sine dilatione mittatis; et hoc breve T. meipso apud Westmonasterium vii^o. die Octobris anno regni nostri xiiii^o.

Prætextu cujus brevis iidem thesaurarius et camerarii miserunt recordum et processum hic in hæc verba: Placita de assisis et juratis capta coram Hugone Bigod justiciario Angliæ in diversis comitatibus, et de coronâ, à navitate S. Johannis Baptistæ, anno regni regis Henrici filii regis Johannis xlii^o. usque ad Octab. S. Mich. proximum sequens.

Præceptum fuit vicecomiti quod venire faceret, &c. xvi. &c. per quos, &c. qui nec, &c. ad recogn. &c. utrum prioratus de Shelford fundatus fuit à prædecessoribus Willielmi Bardolf vel à prædecessoribus Adæ de Everingham, et quis eorum sit verus patronus ejusdem prioratus; quia tam prædictus Willielmus quàm prædictus Adam coram domino rege apud Cestriam posuerunt se inde in jur. illam; et unde prædictus Willielmus dicit, quod quidam Radulphus Haunselyn antecessor ipsius, cujus hæres ipse est, tempore H. regis avi domini regis nunc fundavit prædictum prioratum, et feoffavit prædictum prioratum cum omnibus terris et tenementis quæ habuit in villâ de Shelford, et de quibusdam aliis terris et tenementis, et advocacionibus ecclesiarum. Et dicit, quod post mortem cujusdam Laurentii quondam prioris ejusdem prioratus, elegerunt canonici dicti prioratus quendam Thomam de Lexinton, et ipsum præsentaverunt ipsi Willielmo tanquam advocato ejusdem prioratus, tempore domini regis nunc, qui electionem illam acceptavit, et eundem Thomam præsentavit W. tunc Eborum archiepiscopo, qui ad præsentationem ipsius eundem Thomam admisit, et ipsum in eodem prioratu canonicè installavit: et quod ita sit petit quod inquiratur.

Et Adam dicit, quod quidam Robertus de Cauz antecessor ipsius fundavit prædictum prioratum: et dicit, quod post mortem prædicti Laurentii quondam prioris prædicti prioratus, canonici prædicti prioratus factâ electione in prædicto Thomâ de Lexinton, præsentaverunt eundem Thomam cuidam Johanni Berkin antecessori prædicti Adæ, cujus hæres ipse est, priusquam ipsum prædicto Willielmo præsentâssent.

Et super hoc venit prior prædicti prioratus, et quæsitus quem clamat patronum suum prædicti prioratus, dicit quod planè non potest scire, eo quod feoffatus est tam ab antecessoribus prædicti Adæ quàm prædicti Willielmi, et profert quandam cartam sub nomine Radulphi Haunselyn antecessoris prædicti Willielmi Bardolf, quæ testatur quod idem Radulfus in honore Dei et beatæ Mariæ fundavit prioratum, de Shelford, et dedit eidem prioratui totam terram et tenementum suum de Shelford cum pertinentiis, et quasdam alias terras, tenementa, et advocaciones ecclesiarum, &c. Profert etiam quandam aliam cartam sub nomine cujusdam Roberti de Cauz antecessoris prædicti Adæ, quæ testatur quod idem Robertus dedit et concessit monachis suis de Shelford totam terram et tenementum suum in Shelford, cum pertinentiis, et quasdam alias terras, tenementa, et advocaciones ecclesiarum. Profert etiam tertiam cartam, quæ testatur quod prædicti Radulphus Haunselyn et Robertus de Cauz conjunctim feoffaverunt prædictos monachos suos de prædictis terris et tenementis, et advocacionibus ecclesiarum, &c.

Et juratores de consensu partium clecti, scilicet Benedictus de Rolleston, Galfridus de Barry, Galfridus de Stan-ton, Johannes de Villers, Philippus de Colewyke, Rogerus de Alneto, Reginaldus de Annesleye, Radulfus de Coleston, Walterus de Staunton, Johannes Barry, Ricardus de Burton, Johannes filius Cecilie de Hokesworth, Henricus de Bireheworth, Rogerus de Somervill, Ricardus de Weston, et Willielmus filius Hervæi de Muschamp, qui dicunt super sacramentum suum, quod prædictus prioratus fundatus erat à prædicto Radulpho Haunselyu antecessore prædicti Willielmi Bardolf; et quod idem Willielmus est inde verus patronus: et ideo consideratum est quod prædictus Willielmus recuperet prædictam advocacionem, tenendam sibi et hære-dibus suis quietam de prædicto Adâ et hæredibus suis imperpetuum; et Adam in misericordiâ.

Et mandatum est archiepiscopo Eborum, quod ad præsentationem ipsius Willielmi idoneam personam admittat in priorem; et quod suum est in hac parte exæquat, &c.

Prætextu cujus brevis, ac etiam recordi, ad sectam Thomæ Bardolf consanguinei et hæredis prædicti Willielmi, præceptum fuit vicecomiti, quod scire faceret Adæ de Everingham, consanguineo et hæredi prædicti Adæ de Everingham, qui prædictam advocacionem ipsi Thomæ contra considerationem prædictam injustè deforceat, ut dicit, per duos liberos et legales homines, &c. quod esset coram rege hic ad hunc diem; scil. à die sancti Martini in xv. dies ubicunque, &c. ostensurus si quid pro se haberet vel dicere sciret quare prædictus Thomas advocacionem prædictam, juxta recuperacionem prædictam habere non deberet. Et ulterius, &c. quod curiæ, &c.

Et vicecom. retornavit, quod scire fecit præfato Adæ consanguineo, &c. per Willielmum Forset de Laxton et Willielmum Lewys, qui per præmunitionem ei factam in propriâ personâ suâ venit, &c. Et prædictus Thomas Bardolf per Ricardum de Oxwyke attornatum suum similiter venit, et petit executionem juxta recuperacionem prædictam, &c. Et prædictus Adam venit, et nihil dicit quare executio inde retardari debeat: ideo prædictus Thomas habeat inde executionem secundum tenorem considerationis prædictæ, &c.

Et præceptum est vicecomiti, quod eidem Thomæ advocacionem prædictam juxta recuperacionem, &c. sine dilatione habere faciat; et quid inde, &c. Scire faciat regi à die S. Hillarii in xv. dies ubicunque, &c. Et mandatum est archiepiscopo Ebor. quod ad præsentationem ipsius Thomæ idoneam personam admittat in priorem, &c.

Austin Cell of Caversham, in Oxfordshire.

AFTER long search, the Editors of these Volumes can make no addition to Bishop Tanner's account of Caversham. He says, "The Church here was part of the first endowment of the Abbey of Nottesley in Buckinghamshire, A.D. 1162, and afterward, the manor and a good estate coming to them, here seems to have been a Cell to that Monastery, which was enriched by the offerings made in the Chapel of Our Lady here. 'Wherein' (saith Dr. London, one of the Visitors temp. Hen. VIII.) 'was a famous relic shewn by one of the Canons, viz. the Angel with one wing, which brought to Caversham the spear-head that pierced our Saviour on the Cross.'"^a Austin Cell of Carham upon Tweed, Northumberland.

CARHAM was a Cell of Black Canons, subordinate to Kirkham Abbey, at the west end of Carham Town, almost on the brink of the Tweed, and at the east end of the Church. This religious House was burnt by the Scots in 1296. To it belonged the Vill, Lordship, Advowson, and Impropriation of the Living, the Vill and Manor of Tillington, &c.

Carham was formerly the property of the family of Forster: it is now the property and residence of Anthony Crompton, Esq.

No SEAL of Carham has been discovered. The House is mentioned in the Taxation of Pope Nicholas the Fourth, A.D. 1291, p. 318.

Brioptune, or Briontune, in Wiltshire.

SPEED and Gervase of Canterbury are probably both mistaken in assigning this place to the county of Wilts, where no such name is to be found. Briontune is perhaps Bruton, in Somersetshire, a Monastery already disposed of.

Priory of Ovingham, in Northumberland.

The Cell of Ovingham, a village about eleven miles west from Newcastle, stood opposite to the Church, which is built in the cathedral form. It was founded by one of the Umfravilles of Prudhoe, and was subordinate to the Priory of Hexham. This estate, with the tithes and advowson, was long in the possession of the Addisons, from whence it went to Charles Clarke, Esq. It now belongs to C. W. Bigge, Esq. of Lindon.

In the 26th Hen. VIIIth, the clear yearly value of the Cell of Ovingham amounted to 11*l.* 2*s.* 8*d.*

No SEAL of this Priory has been discovered.

Tanner gives a Reference to one Record only concerning this House, "Pat. 1 Ric. II. p. 6, m. 28. pro eccl. de Ovingham approprianda Priori de Hexham."

Cell of Lees, in Staffordshire.

LEES, or LEYES. "At a place of this name, either in this County or Derbyshire," says Tanner, "seems to have been a House of Austin Canons dedicated to St. Michael, and Cell to the Abbey of Roucester, to which Fulcher fil. Fulcheri, temp. Hen. II. gave the Church of St. Peter at Edneshoure or Edynsar in the County of Derby." This charter has been already printed in the Appendix to the Account of Roucester Abbey. No other mention of this House has occurred to the Editors of the Monasticon.

^a Tanner, Notit. Monast. Oxf. v. His References to Books and Records relating to it, are, "Vide Parochial Antiquities, &c. p. 188. of William Mareschall earl of Pembroke's Donation to the Chapel of Our Lady here. Dugdale's Baronage, tom. i. p. 247. of the gift of Isabel, countess of Warwick, to our Lady of Caversham. Pat. 50.

Edw. III. p. 1, m. 2. de mess. vocat. Capella S. Annæ in Caversham concess. canonicis de Notele." The Chapel of St. Anne was upon the bridge, and a free Chapel, to which a secular priest was presented by Matilda de Lacy, countess of Lincoln and Pembroke, A.D. 1258, as Collect. cl. m. Hutton. ex Reg. Lincoln.

Priory of Chirbury, in Shropshire.

"THERE was at Snede or Snet, in this County," says Tanner, "a Priory of Black^a canons founded by Robert de Boulers, in the beginning of the reign of King Henry the Third, which before the eleventh of that King was translated to Chirbury, where they seem to have continued till the Dissolution. Under this name the Priory was valued in the 26th Hen. VIII. and 20th Edw. I., and is so styled in all the intermediate charters, notwithstanding the licence which Dugdale has preserved, of the 9th Edw. Ist, to remove back to Snede.^b The total of the value of this House in the 26th Hen. VIII. will be found below.^c

Tanner's references to Records concerning Chirbury are also below.^d

Hermitage or Priory^e of Byrkley, in Somersetshire.

TANNER calls this House Byrkley, alias Sprawlesmede, now Burtle-house, in the parish of Merlynch; and says it was a Hermitage or small Priory, founded by William, son of Jeffrey of Edyndon, in the year 1199.^a It was of the Order of St. Austin,^b and dedicated to St. Stephen.^c The entry relating to it in the Valor of the 26th Hen. VIIIth will be found in the Note below.^d

There is, in the Augmentation Office, a small Roll, 8th

Edw. II., respecting this Priory and its Founder William Fitz Jeffery of Edingdon, and especially as to the right of digging turves in Edingdon.^e

In the 7th Edw. VIth, this House was granted as parcel of the possessions of the Monastery of Bath to John and James Bisse. The Particular for the Grant is extant in the Augmentation Office.

No SEAL of this Priory has yet occurred.

GORING, or GARINGES. Tanner says, "Here was a small Priory of Nuns of the Order of St. Austin,^f in the time of King Henry the Second.^g It was dedicated to the Blessed Virgin Mary, and valued, 26th Hen. VIIIth, at 60l. 5s. 6d. per annum. Dugd. Speed.^h The Site was granted, 30th Hen. VIIIth, to Charles, Duke of Suffolk; and, six years after, to Sir Thomas Pope." It must, however, have been granted sooner to Sir Thomas Pope, as he, on the 4th July, 32 Hen. VIIIth, demised the site and demesnes of this Priory to Thomas Taylor of Goring for the term of eighty-one years, to commence at Michaelmas 1557.

The following is the Valor of this Monastery in the 26th Hen. VIII.

Flitcham Priory, in Norfolk.

TANNER calls this House Flitcham, St. Mary at the Welle,^a or Domus S. Mariæ ad Fontes de Flitcham;^b and says it was a Priory or Hospital^c of the Order of St. Augustine, subordinate to Walsingham, to which it was given by Dametta de Flitcham niece to Emma de Bellofago, temp. Ric. I.^d It was dedicated to the blessed Virgin Mary.

The Continuator of Blomfield considers Sir Robert Aguillon or Aguylon, who married Agatha de Beaufoe, as the founder and patron of this Priory in the beginning of the reign of Henry the Third.

According to other authorities, says Taylor in the Index Monasticus, p. 23, Damietta de Flitcham, niece to Emma and Agatha de Beaufoe, and widow of Thomas Avenel, was the foundress, about A.D. 1251. But this Lady appears only to have given the manor of Snoring in Flitcham to Walsingham Priory, to which this House was a Cell.

^a Pat 9 Hen. V.

^c Registr. Norvic. vol. viii. p. 130., but in other places upon the Books they are called sometimes "Prior et Confratres," sometimes "Prior et Canonici Ord. S. Augusti," but no mention of Nuns, as in Speed.

^d Collect. Petri Le Neve ex Registro Walsingham; but Rob. de Aguylyon, temp. Hen. III. is said to be founder, Plac. de banco, 27 Edw. I. Mich. rot. 27. And in a return made into the Exchequer 4 Hen. V. (Registr. Norvic. vol. viii. p. 130.) this Priory is said to have been founded A.D. 1251. And Andrew de Saukewill recovered the Advowson of this Priory against William de Anemcre, as heir to Aguillon, Plac. 28 Edw. I. Trin. rot. 77. as cited in Hist. of Norfolk, vol. iv. p. 530.

^e The following is the account which Stevens gives of Flitcham, in his Continuation of Dugdale.

"We here give it a place without knowing to whom it belonged, having met with it no where, but in Sir H. Spelman's Hist. of Sacrilege, p. 263, who only tells us the fate of those who had it after the Dissolution; thus, Sir Thomas Hollis had it, and was (by report) at dinner taken out of it in execution for debt by the sheriff, and his goods sold. Much suit there was about it, between one Payne and him, or his heir, but the matter being at length referred to the duke of Norfolk, he bought both their titles.

"The duke had it and was attainted and beheaded, and it then came to the crown.

"King James gave it in fee to the Lord of Suffolk, who was fined in the Star-Chamber, and put out of treasurership, and suffered much affliction by the attainder of the Lady Frances, countess of Somerset, his daughter, and of her husband the Earl.

"The Lord Cook bought it of the earl of Suffolk, and bought out the fee-farm from king James. He was put out of the place of chief justice of the King's Bench, fell into great displeasure of the king, and was loaded with afflictions, proceeding chiefly from his own wife, who lived in separation from him.

"His eldest son Sir Robert, having been married many years, had no issue. His daughter the lady viscountess of Purbeck, the fable of her time, and her husband a lunatic.

From the year 1316 the Vicars of the Parochial Church here were presented by the Prior and Convent of St. Mary AD FONTES de Flitcham.

Flitcham Priory, says Taylor, had rents and interests in about thirteen parishes.^e

There are no separate Ministers' Accounts of the Priory of Flitcham in the Augmentation Office, it being answered for under Walsingham.^f

No SEAL of this Priory has been discovered.

The Site was granted in the 30th Hen. VIIIth to Edward Lord Clinton. It went back to the Crown upon the attainder of Philip Earl of Arundel; and was again granted by King James the First to Lord Chief Justice Coke. The present owner of the Site is Thomas William Coke, Esq. M.P.

A few REMAINS of this Priory are still visible in the form of barns, stables, and inferior offices.

"This Flitcham. I am apt to believe, is the name that Mr. Willis, in his History of Abbies, vol. ii. p. 146, calls Hitcham, and only tells us of it, that JOHN MARTIN occurs prior, anno 1514; and that anno 1553 there remained in charge on it 18s. 4d. in annuities. The reason that induces me to be of this opinion is the likeness of the names, and that I can find neither abbey, nor town, nor so much as a village called Hitcham in this county, where this learned author places it, but only one place called Hyncham. If I err, such as know better are desired to rectify my mistake."

Longleat, or Langelete Priory, in Wiltshire.

TANNER calls this "a small Priory of Black Canons, dedicated to St. Radegund," said to have been founded by Sir John Vernon, Knt.^a which, having run much to ruin, was by the bishop of Salisbury, with the consent of Peter Stantour patron and founder, 21 Hen. VIII., annexed to the Carthusian Priory of Henton in Somersetshire; and, as parcel of that Monastery, was granted 31 Hen. VIII. to Sir John Horsey, who sold it in 32 Hen. VIII. to Sir John Thynne.

Rymer in his Fœdera, old edit. vol. xiv. p. 297. has printed the Patent of the 21st Hen. VIII. p. 1, m. 27. for the appropriation of this House to Henton.^b

Sir Richard Colt Hoare, in his History of Wiltshire, Heytesbury Hundred, p. 55. has given some further particulars of Longleat Priory. He says, Sir John Vernon, who is supposed to have been the founder, was sheriff of Wilts in the 48th Hen. III. and was living at the end of that reign.

In 1291 the temporal possessions of Longleat amounted to the sum of 5*l.* 6*s.* 7*d.*

In the 17th Edw. II. Robert le Bor became a second founder to this Priory; he gave to it in Codford three messuages, fifty acres of land, and pasture for two hundred and sixty-three sheep, eight oxen, two horses, and twelve hogs; in Warminster two messuages, fifty-six acres and a half of land, two acres of meadow, and ten shillings rent; in Hull Deverill one messuage, fifty acres of land, and forty-six shillings and eight pence rent; in Deverill Longbridge 10*s.* rent; acroft of land in Horningsham, and 6*s.* 8*d.* rent in Anstegh. In consideration of this Grant, four new canons were to be added to the Convent. Sir Richard Hoare has printed this Grant at length; as well as an Inventory of the Books and Ornaments of this House taken in 1408.

PRIORS of LONGLEAT.

WILLIAM occurs in 1326.

HENRY, 1334.

JOHN FROME died Oct. 1404.

JOHN SAMPSON, elected Oct. 26, 1404.

In the 10th Henry IVth, 1408, Sir Walter de Hungerford, Knt. gave to this Priory his Church of Rustall.

The SEAL of Longleat Priory had this Inscription round a figure of its patroness saint: SIGIL. SANTE. RADE . . . DIS DE LONGALET.

The sale of the Site to Sir John Thynne has been already mentioned. He founded upon it the mansion, which, standing upon the same spot, still perpetuates the name of Longleat.

Alensborne, Anesborne, or Alborne Priory,

IN SUFFOLK.

HERE, says Tanner, was a small Priory of Austin Canons, dedicated to the blessed Virgin, which seems to have been about 1466, or however some time before the general Suppression, joined and appropriated to the Monastery of Woodbridge, and, as parcel of the same, was granted, 33d Hen. VIII. to Sir John Wingfield.

In a Note, Tanner says, "This place being now depopulated and unknown, I think it needful to observe, that it was near the river between St. Clement's in Ipswich and Naeton; for in the extent of the Priory Manor of Woodbridge, and this manor of Alvesborn thereunto belonging, in the hands of Thomas Carthew, esquire, the present lord, A.D. 1739, a large piece of land there, called Risings Pastures, is said to lie 'in hamletta de Alvesburne in paroch. de Hallowtree inter terram manerii de Alvesburn ex partibus occid. boreal. et austral. et viam processionalem dividentem Naeton et Alvesborne ex parte orient.' And in the Inquisition, 29 Edw. I. ad quod damnum, it might be to give the advowson of the church of Halghtre, Halwetre, or Hallowtre, and two acres of land to this Priory, the Jury return that the said advowson was appurtenant to the Manor of Naeton."

Taylor, in the Index Monasticus, p. 92, from Blomf. vol. v. p. 107, ii. p. 761, says,

"Hugh Bigot infeoffed Albert de Nevilla or Nevil in Nevil's manor in Hethel Thorp, who seems to have been concerned in the foundation of Alvesborne Priory, to which he gave that manor and the advowson of Carlton St. Mary. The revenues of this House were confirmed to the Prior and Canons about A.D. 1280. In 1315 the Prior of Alvesbourne was returned lord of it. In 1391 ROBERT BRETENHAM Prior of Alvesborne held it; and this manor remained in this Priory till 1424, and then John Duke of Norfolk and others purchased it and the advowson of Carlton, and two hundred and ninety-eight acres of land, of JOHN TURNOUR Prior of St. Mary at Alvesbourne and the Convent there for St. Giles's Hospital in Norwich."^c

In 1530 the Prior and Convent of Woodbridge leased their Priory of Alnesborne, with all the lands thereunto belonging to Thomas Alverde gent. at the rent of 13*l.* 6*s.* 8*d.* for ninety-nine years. The grant to Wingfield already mentioned was made in 1541.

The present possessor is Sir Philip Bowes Vere Broke, Bart.

Taylor says the site of this Priory is now occupied by a farm; and that a barn is built upon the Site of the Conventual Church.

It is said that there is an Impression from a Seal of Alnesbourne Priory among Bishop Tanner's Manuscripts in the Bodleian Library at Oxford.

Tanner says, "Before 7 Ric. I. Theobald de Valoines gave all his estate in this place to his two sisters, Joan and Agnes, with design that they should build a Monastery to the honour of the blessed Virgin Mary, wherein they and other religious women might live to the service of God. 1.

"The Grant of Simon de Bruna.

"To all the faithfull of Christ who shall see or hear this writing, Symon de Bruna of Totingetun, greeting. Be it known to you all, that I have granted, given, and by this my present deed confirmed to God and the church of St. Mary of Campesse, and to the nuns there serving, for ever, for the health of my soul, and for the souls of my father and mother, in pure and perpetual alms, the homage of my daughter Katherine, and the service of sixpence of yearly revenue, which the said Katherine used to pay to me, for a certain messuage and four acres of arable land, which she held of me, viz. Threepence at the Nativity of our Lord, and threepence at Easter, in lieu of all services, customs, and secular demands; and to the end that neither I, nor my heirs, may at any time contradict this grant, donation, and confirmation of my deed, I have as well for myself as for my heirs, affixed my seal to this writing. These being witnesses, Henry Turnetur, John Germin of Martim, Roger Joseph, Gilbert and William Fitzstephens, Robert Tailor, Richard More, John More, Alexander Stanburg, the King's Remembrancer, and others.

"Another Grant of the same Simon de Bruna.

"Be it known to those present and to come, that I Simon de Bruna have granted and given, and by this my present deed have confirmed to God, and the church of St. Mary of Campesse, and to the nuns there serving God, for the health of my soul, and those of my ancestors, all the piece of my land in the town of Totingtune, lying between the land of Henry Turnetur and the land of Robert the tailor, one end of which abuts on the pasture of Westmerc, to be had and held by the aforesaid nuns of me and my heirs, in free, pure, and perpetual alms. And I Simon, and my heirs, will warrant the aforesaid piece of land to the aforesaid nuns and their successors against all men. These being witnesses, William Clerk, Robert Tomcston, William Venum, John his brother, Roger Joseph, Alexander Stanburg, Richard his brother, Richard Fitzstephen, Thomas Plessit, William Perham, Hugh Berking, and others.

"The Seal appending in white wax, not broken, but so defaced as not to be known. The Deed without date.

"The Grant of John L'Estrange.

"Be it known to all present and to come, that I John L'Estrange have given, granted, and by this my present deed confirmed to the Prioress of Compesse, and to the nuns there serving God, for the health of my soul, and of the souls of my predecessors, in pure and perpetual alms, a certaine messuage in the Town of Totington, which is called Herrephord, as it is inclosed with ditches, with the messuage that belonged to Simon de Bruna, with free ingress and egress, and one acre of land and an half by the croft of Roger Fuller, and two acres and an half of land by Sotteland, and Katherine, the daughter of Simon de Bruna, with all her followers, to be had and held of me and my heirs for ever. And I, the aforesaid John, and my heirs, will warrant the aforesaid messuage, and the aforesaid land, and the aforesaid Katherine, with all her followers, against all people for ever; and in testimony hercof I have affixed my seal to this writing. These being witnesses, Mr. Roger Mushell, William the son of Richard Hunstanston, Roger Hony of the same, Geoffrey Hamard of the same, Henry Turnetur of Totington, Adam Sulldham, Andrew Sutcliam, German Meinton, Roger Joseph of Totington, Gilbert and William Fitzstephen, Robert Tailor, John More, Richard More, Alexander Stanbure, and others.

"The Seal appending in yellow wax entire, and but little defaced, yet not so plain but that I doubt whether the bearing be two Greyhounds passant, or other creatures, palewise, on a triangle. The Inscription about them, SIGILLUM JOHANNIS ESTRANGE. The deed has no date.

"Another Grant of John L'Estrange of Hunstanton.

"Be it known to those present and to come, that I John L'Estrange, Esq. of Hunstanton, in the county of Norfolk, son and heir of John L'Estrange, knight, of the aforesaid county, have granted, given, and by this my present deed confirmed, remitted, released, and altogether for and from me, and my heirs for ever, quitted claim to Alice Corbet, prioress of the conventual church of St. Mary of Compesse, and to the Convent of the same place, in the county of Suffolk, and to their successors for ever, all my right, and claim which I had, have, or may any way have hereafter, to that manor called Stranges, with its appurtetained in the first Charter of the Appendix to the present account. The next charter contains a confirmation of the manor and advowson of the Church of Karleton given to the Nuns by John de Framlingham clerk. The third relates to the foundation of a chantry here in 1348 by Maud de Lancaster Countess of Ulster, which in 1354 was removed to Rokchall in Brusyard.^a

Two Charters of Stephen, and one of William de Ludham, follow these, with a Decd of Composition between Robert de Valoynes, the patron of this Priory, and the Nuns, dated in 1244.^b

nances, in the town of Totyngton, in the county of Norfolk, and with its homage, revenues, and services, as well of the free tenants, as of the natives, which John L'Estrange, knight, my father, of the county of Norfolk, lately gave and confirmed to the use of Mary Felton, late prioress of the conventual church of St. Mary of Compesse aforesaid, and to the convent of the same place, and their successors, as appears by his deed; the said manor, with its appurtenances aforesaid, to be had and held by the said prioress and convent, and their successors aforesaid, of the chief lords of that fee, by the services due from the same, and by right used. And I the aforesaid John L'Estrange, Esq. and my heirs, will for ever warrant, against all people, to the aforesaid prioress and convent, and to their successors, the aforesaid manor, with its appurtenances, as is aforesaid. In testimony whereof I have affixed my seal to this present writing. These being witnesses, Edmund Oldehall, Henry Nottingham, John Shouldham, William Salion, John Hed, Thomas Trypolot, and others. Given at Totyngton on the Monday next after the feast of the ascension of our Lord, in the fifth year of the reign of King Hen. V. after the conquest.

"The seal appending on red wax partly broken, the bearing on the escutcheon not to be distinguished, and of the Inscription thus much to be seen, viz. SIGILLUM JOHANNIS.

"The grant of Elianor L'Estrange, dated the same year as her husband's above, confirms his deed, and by it he appears to have been then dead, forasmuch as she calls John L'Estrange her late husband."

The Site of this House in 1543 was granted with the adjacent demesnes to Sir William Willoughby. The present possessor is Jacob Whitbread, Esq.

The RUINS of Campess Monastery are now inconsiderable. The Nunnery was six miles from Woodbridge, lying on the right of the high road.

Bliburgh, or Blythburrow Priory, in Suffolk.

TANNER, upon the authority of Cart. 22 Edw. I. and of the Norwich Registers, calls this an Austin Priory; Dugdale had, by mistake, placed it in the former edition of this work among the Premonstratensian Houses.

It was a Cell to the Abbey of St. Osithe in Essex, to which the Church of Bliburgh had been given by King Henry the First.^a It was dedicated to the blessed Virgin.^b

^a Leland, Itin. vol. viii. p. 45. "But who founded this House," says Tanner, "is uncertain. Weever makes King Henry the First founder, and Richard Beauveys bishop of London co-founder. But the patronage," Tanner observes, "was not in the Crown, as it would have been if of royal foundation." And nothing of this work is ascribed to that bishop by either Wharton, Godwyn, or Newcourt, in their lives of him. Leland. Collect. vol. i. p. 62. saith, "Abbas S. Osithæ fundator primus et modernus." and probably the Abbat and Convent might build the House, after King Henry I. gave the church to them: but they were not sole patrons, for they only nominated the Prior, and he was presented by others, viz. first by the Claverings, then by the Audeles, then by the Uffords, and last by the Lords Dacres, (see the Norwich registers) which families seem to have been successively owners of some considerable estate thereabouts, (Dugdale saith, that Sir John Clavering

The Prior and Canons of this House held considerable possessions in the town of Dunwich.^c was, temp. R. Edw. II., lord of the manor of Bliburgh, and of the hundreds of Blything and Wangford, Dugd. Baron. vol. i. p. 109.) and had that privilege probably on account of their ancestors having been either partly founders or considerable benefactors.

Cardinal Wolsey obtained a Bull for the Suppression of Bliburgh, amongst other Priories, in 1528;^a but it did not take effect. It was intended to have annexed it to the Cardinal's College at Ipswich.

In the 30th Hen. VIIIth the Site was granted to Sir Arthur Hopton, Knt. The present proprietor is Sir Charles Blois, Bart.

An Impression of the COMMON SEAL, somewhat oval, large, but inelegant, representing the blessed Virgin, bearing a sceptre in her right hand, and having the divine Infant in her lap, is attached to the acknowledgment of Supremacy in the Chapter-House, Westminster. It is tolerably perfect, and has for its Legend, SIGILLVM. . SANCTE . MARIE . DE . BLIEBVRGH.

Taylor says, "Some portion of this Priory is yet standing about a hundred and fifty yards to the N. E. of the parochial church." A considerable quantity of the stone from the ruins, he adds, was carried to form the adjoining bridge and dam in 1785.

Chipley Priory, in Suffolk.

THIS was a small Priory of Austin Canons dedicated to the Virgin Mary, the Founder unknown. Not exceeding ten pounds per annum in its revenues, and the buildings being ruined, Walter Ly-hert, bishop of Norwich, A.D. 1468, united and annexed this House, with the little estate thereunto belonging, to the Dean and Chapter of the College of Stoke next Clare, who were patrons of the same.^a Taylor says, Index Monasticus, p. 95, that John Cheeke and Walter Mildmay were the Grantees of the Site of Chipley Priory in 1548.

He adds, this estate has hitherto been in the Vernon family. Sir Robert Harland, bart. is the present proprietor in right of his wife.

No COMMON SEAL of this Priory has been met with; but an Impression of a Prior's Seal, 1271, small, with the Virgin and Child, and beneath them a Monk on his knees, has been seen by one of the Editors of this Work.

The Priory has been converted into a farm-house, and is yet partially remaining. The Conventual Church or Chapel, which was built of stone, was entirely demolished in the year 1818; previously to which it was appropriated to the purpose of a Cow-house. Many human bones and some stone coffins were disturbed by the workmen at this time in digging about the cemetery.

The demesnes of the Priory of Chipley appear to have occupied upwards of two hundred acres of a wet and poor soil.

Priory of North Ferreby, in Yorkshire.

HERE, says Tanner, was a Priory of Knights Templars^b of the foundation of the Lord Eustace Vesey,^c which, upon the Suppression of that Order, seems to have become a Priory of Canons of the Order of St. Augustine,^d and to have continued so till the Suppression, when the total of their income amounted to 95*l.* 11*s.* 7½*d.*^e The Site was granted to Thomas Culpeper 32 Hen. VIII.

Tanner's References to Records relating to this House will be found below.^f

^a Tanner's References to Records, &c. concerning Chipley, are, "In librum instit. &c. Walteri Ly-Hert episc. Norwic. scil. xii. fol. 36. Instrumentum unionis hujus Prioratus decano et capitulo eccl. John's; the latter seems most likely to be founder. Henry Bromflete de Vesey, chivaleir, was acknowledged founder 3 Edw. IV. as Dugd. Baron. vol. ii. p. 234., from whom the patronage of this House descended to the Cliffords, earls of Cumberland; and from hence Speed saith the ancestors of the earls of Cumberland were founders."—Tann.

^d So they expressly style themselves in their acknowledgement of Lord Vesey to be their founder, A.D. 1463, to which the old seal of the Templars is put. Dugd. Baron. vol. ii. p. 234. calls them then Hospitalers; but neither in the Valuation, nor in any of the deeds, doth any dependence on St. John's of Jerusalem appear; besides their priors were confirmed by the archbishop of York, which was not usual for the Hospitalers. The Corp. Christ. Coll. Cant. MS. calls them Premonstratensians.

Dodnash Priory, in Suffolk.

DODNASH, olim Dudenasch. Tanner calls this a Priory of black canons, dedicated to Saint Mary, said to have been founded by one Wymarus, or as others by the ancestors of the Dukes of Norfolk, to whom the patronage or foundership belonged from the time of King Edward the first till the Dissolution.^b

This Priory, says Taylor, was endowed with the tithe of barley in Falkenham in Colneis, three hundred and twenty acres of land in Hemingston, Codenham, &c., two hundred and eighty acres in Burstall, Bramford, &c.

granted by Roger de Wolveston, a house and thirty-nine acres of land in Bergholt, and free warren, rents and lands in fifteen parishes. The temporal revenues of Dodnash, in 1221, amounted to 19*l.* 19*s.* 5*d.*^c

Beside the Rental of this Priory in the Chapter-House at Westminster, of which an Abstract is here given, there is in the same Repository, and during the reign of Hen. VIII. a statement as to the manor of Dodnash, with the customs due thereunto.^d

Wayburn Priory, in Norfolk.

TANNER says Sir Ralph Meyngaryn, knt. temp. Hen. II. founded this small Priory for black or Austin Canons, which was at first subordinate to Westacre.^g The Continuator of Blomfield says, it is more probable that Sir Ralph Meynelwaryn Justice of Chester and lord of this town was the founder in the reign of John.^h Dugdale, in the former edition of the Monasticon, placed this House among the Benedictine Monasteries.

PRIORS of WAYBURN.

RICHARD DE HOXNE occurs in 1309.
JOHN DE FRENES was elected in 1314.
ROGER DE GEISTWEYT, Dec. 1, 1334.

JOHN FROST, adm. June 15, 1526.

THOMAS BULMAN, July 16, 1530; also called JOHN BULMAN. He was the last Prior, and received a pension in the 28th Hen. VIIIth of 4*l.* per annum. He was still alive in 1553.ⁱ

The Valor of the 26th Hen. VIIIth of this House is below.^k

The Site of Wayburn was granted in the 37th Hen. VIIIth to Richard Heydon, gent. in whose family it remained till toward the close of the reign of Queen Elizabeth.

The right hon. the Earl of Orford is the present lord of the priory manor.^l

Kersey Priory, in Suffolk.

DUGDALE in the former Edition of this Work placed Kersey among the Benedictine Houses; but the word Canonici, in several of the Charters granted to it, plainly intimates it to have been of the Order of St. Austin.

This House was dedicated to St. Mary and St. Antony, and was in being before the third year of Henry the Third, but when and by whom founded, or upon what occasion dissolved, is not said. Edmund Earl of Kent had the advowson by the gift of King Edward the Third.^a John Holland, Earl of Huntingdon, was patron in the year 1431:^b and Sir Henry de Grey, lord Powis, shortly after: and he, 25th Hen. VI., gave this Monastery, with all the revenues thereunto belonging, to King's College in Cambridge.^c

Tanner's References to Records concerning Kersey are below.^d

Kersey is situated in the Hundred of Cosford, and franchise or liberty of St. Edmund.

The chief benefactress to Kersey was Nesta de Cockefeld, whose charters, with two from Thomas de Burgh her husband, follow.

Herein were a Prioress and six or seven Nuns; yet the revenues in the 26th Hen. VIIIth were but of small value.^a

The particulars of the endowment of this House will be seen in the Abstract of the Ministers' Accompts of the 28th Hen. VIIIth appended to the present Account.

In 1320 the Prioress and Nuns exchanged the Rectory of Helmington for that of Flixton.

Bishop Bateman was a patron and benefactor to this Nunnery, and drew up the statutes by which it was governed.

Taylor in his Index Monasticus enumerates as benefactors to this House, Henry de Bosco, 1268; Roger Fitz Peter Fitz Osbert, and Sarah his wife, 1285; John Bishop of Norwich, 1321; Bishop Bateman, about 1350; and bishop Walter Lyhert, 1472.

Stevens, in his continuation of the Monasticon, has given the following List of the

from Willis's History of the Mitred Abbies.

"EMMA DE BEHOLM. She was admitted Prioress the 11th of the cal. of Decemb. 1301. The next that occurs is

"MARGERY DE STONHAM; upon whose death

"ISABELLA DE WELTHAM was confirmed Prioress April 9, 1345; as was

"MARGERY HOWELL, April 3, 1376; and upon her death

"CATHERINE HERWARD, elected and admitted Oct. 1392. After her I meet with

"ELIZABETH MOORE: on whose resignation,

"CATHERINE PILLEY was confirmed Prioress Sept. 28, 1414. She governed till the year 1432, when resigning,

"MAAD PITCHER was admitted to this dignity Oct. 31, 1432. Her successor, as I guess, was

"MARIONE DALINGHO: upon whose death, which happened anno 1446,

"CECILIA CREIKE was elected June 10, the same year. The next I meet with is

"HELEN. Upon whose resignation,

"MARGERY ARTIS's election was confirmed May 12, 1466. After her

"ISABELLA occurs Prioress, anno 1503; as does

"ELIZABETH WRIGHT, A.D. 1532."

Flixton Nunnery was one of those which were suppressed by a Bull of Pope Clement the VIIth in 1528. In the 36th Hen. VIIIth, the Site was granted to John Tasburgh. The present owner is Alexander Adair, Esq.

Taylor says, the ARMS of this House were Az. (not Gu. as Blomf.) a St. Catherine's wheel with a Calvary Cross projecting from it in chief, Arg.^b

Among Tanner's References to Records concerning this Nunnery, he says, "Vide Cartam foundationis, Ordinationes Vicariarum, Cartasque alias plus minus centum huic Prioratui spectantes penes Thomam Astle arm."^c These Charters are now bound up in a Volume in his Grace the Duke of Buckingham's Library at Stowe, Press iii. No. xcvi. A few Charters which were also Mr. Astle's are preserved in the British Museum, Cart. Antiq. L. F. C. I. 4, 6. II. 4, 8, 9. III. 7, 16. V. 14, 15. VI. 6, 7. VII. 7. VIII. 3. Some slight REMAINS of this Nunnery are yet visible.

Cell of Calewich, or Calewyk, in Staffordshire.

TANNER says, "The Hermitage^b here was given to the Priory of Kenilworth before the year 1148,^c by Nicholas de Greselei Fitz Nigell, and therein was placed a small Convent of Black Canons. This House was given by the King, 27th Hen. VIIIth,^d to the Monastery of Merton in Surrey, in exchange for the manor of East Molsey, and, as parcel of the same, was again granted, 34th Hen. VIIIth, to John Fleetwood."^e The Particular for this Grant is in the Augmentation Office.

Tanner says "Vide Cartas originales, &c. penes . . . Fleetwood Var. de Plac. in com. Staff. 21 Edw. I. quo war. rot. 6. alloc. libertatum in maner. de Adelaxton, &c."

The only names of PRIORS or MASTERS of this House which have occurred, are HUGH BELY, and THOMAS DE FAMCOTE; the latter of whom occurs in the Registers of the See of Canterbury about A.D. 1388.

Austin Cell of Halywell, in Warwickshire.

THE following Observations on this Priory were communicated to the Society of Antiquaries, in 1817, by William Hamper, Esq. in a Letter addressed to one of the Editors of the present Work.^f

"Bishop Tanner in his Notitia Monastica, under Warwickshire, article xiii., places the Austin Cell of 'Halywell upon Watling Street,' and describes it as 'a Cell or chantry of Black Canons belonging to the Abbey of Roucester in Staffordshire, which, on account of its solitary and dangerous situation, was, 19 Edw. II. A.D. 1325, removed to the conventual church of the Abbey.' He then adds, as his authority, the following extract from the Patent Roll of that year, p. 1, m. 10. 'Rex concessit Abbati de Roucestre in Dovedale, quod ipse Capellam de Halywell in com. Warwic. quæ sita est in loco solitario et periculoso super regiam stratum de Watlyng Strete, ubi latrones frequenter latitant et canonicos ibidem morantes depredantur, a loco illo amovere, et Cantariam pro animabus Roberti de Cotes et Ricardi Filon^g in eadem capella dudum ordinatam in ecclesia conventuali ipsius Abbatis de Roucestre facere et sustentare, ac duas virgatas terræ et dimid. cum pertinentiis, in Halywell, Churchwaure, et Clifton, quas idem Abbas tenet pro cantaria illa prædicta facienda et sustentanda, libere retinere,' &c.

"Dugdale does not notice this ancient religious establishment; and from the circumstance of finding no place now known by the name of Halywell, either upon or near the Watling Street, Mr. Carlisle, in the Sixteenth Volume of the Archæologia, p. 326, conjecturally places it at Stonythorpe near Southam, in another part of Warwickshire, where a spring of fine clear water is still called Holywell, or Halywell; observing, at the same time, that, 'as the Roman Fosse Way running northward out of Gloucestershire, is about two miles and three quarters from hence, and the Watling Street being far distant from it, it would seem more proper to designate this Cell, Halywell near the Fosse Way, than upon the Watling Street.'

"The result, however, of a recent investigation, in company with my friend Abraham Grimes, Esq. of Coton House, the proprietor of the estate, joined to the advantage of reference to his title deeds, enables me to fix its site at Cave's Inn, upon the Watling Street, in the manor of Coton, and parish of Church Over; where a rapid and unceasing spring still preserves the character of the spot, though the tradition of its former sanctity and importance has totally ceased; and where, in the year 1791, in sinking the foundation for the present Inn, which succeeded a decayed half-timbered house, several bushels of human bones were discovered. Cave's Inn was so denominated, as will be seen below, from its occupier Edward Cave, grandfather of the original projector of the Gentleman's Magazine, whose biographer, Dr. Johnson, calls it 'Cave's in the hole, a lone house on the street road,' adopting the very phraseology of the above-recited Patent, in the 19th Edw. II. '... in loco solitario . . . super regiam stratam de Watlyng Strete.'

"I shall now proceed, as far as my scanty materials will allow, to trace the history of this long-neglected place; premising that Mr. Caley did me the favour to examine the Ministers' Accompts and various other records in the Augmentation Office, relative to Roucester Abbey, both before and after the Dissolution, without finding one word of Halywell, though as he observes, 'it undoubtedly belonged to it at an early period, as is apparent both from the Patent and Close Rolls.' Robert de Cotes and Richard Fiton, whose Chantry was here established, were contemporaries or nearly so, the former residing at Cotes, or Coton, in 1206,^a and the latter at the adjoining parish of Shawell in the county of Leicester, in 1235;^b and it seems likely that its establishment took place between the years 1240 and 1270. A.D. 1279, the following Inquisition occurs: 'Shathewell^c est de feodo Verdon, et Willielmus Fyton tenet in eadem quartam partem unius feodi militis, &c. Item, Prior de Halywell, et Abbas de Croxton,^d tenent duas virgatas terræ in perpetuam eleemosynam; quo warranto ignorant.'^e

"The following process concerning a boundary ditch at Shawell, is undated. 'Prior de Haliwell nihil capit per assizam versus Thomam Fithon, Alanum Ram, &c. de fosato quodam levato in Chawell.'^f A.D. 1291, in the Taxation of Pope Nicholas IVth the abbat of Roucester is rated twenty-six shillings and eight pence for temporalities within the Archdeaconry of Leicester, fol. 109 b, which subsequently appear, fol. 119 b, to have been in the Deanry of Gudlakston, doubtless at Shawell beforementioned. A.D. 1301, Pope Boniface VIII. in a Bull of Confirmation and Protection to the Abbat and Convent of Roucester, of which a curious early English translation is now before me, recognizes, inter alia, their 'Chirche of Seint Gyles of Halywel.'

"Bishop Tanner, under Roucester, Notitia Monastica, Staffordshire, xxi., refers to the Patent Roll 11 Edw. II. p. 2, m. 35, for an entry, 'de messuagiis et terris in Holm juxta Clifton,' (now called Biggin, and lying contiguous to Cave's Inn); and to Dodsworth's MSS. in the Bodleian Library, for 'Præceptum regis de Capella de Haliwell, in com. Warwic. habenda Abbati et Conventui;' also to the Close Roll of the 14th year of that king.

"A.D. 1325, 19 Edw. II., license was obtained, as has been before observed, to remove the establishment at Halywell to the Conventual Church of Roucester, for which the abbat paid a fine of twenty shillings;^g and from that time, for a period of two hundred and sixty years, viz. till the 28th of Queen Elizabeth, A.D. 1585, I find no traces of it; when 'a close or pasture in Coton, called Hallowell,' occurs as part of the possessions of Elizabeth Dixwell, widow, by whose family it was probably purchased at the dissolution."^h

Austin Cell of Letheringham, in Suffolk.

LEATHERINGHAM, CREW, or TREW, says Tanner. "William de Bodevile or Bovileⁱ having given the Church of St. Mary of Crew,^k and all the tithes of Letheringham, to the Monastery of St. Peter in Ipswich, temp. . . . here was settled a small Priory of three or four Black Canons (as a Cell to that House) to the honour of the

"In the last named year, 1657, Elias Ashmole, Esq. writing to Dugdale on the subject of Roman Antiquities in this neighbourhood, says, 'a mile further (from Lilburn), in the valley, stands a house called The New Inn, distinguished only by its lying under Shawell. Mine host told me it had been an Abbey called Holywell.' See Nichols's Leicestersh. ut supra, p. 82.

"A.D. 1687, Brent Dixwell, Esq. granted a lease of it for sixty years to Edward Cave, by the concise designation of 'The New Inn;' and, the name of the tenant ultimately prevailing, the place from thenceforward appears to have been known only, as it is at present, by the appellation of Cave's Inn: to the utter exclusion and extinction of its once celebrated name of Halywell."

ⁱ Sir John Boyle, as Leland. Not Sir John Boinet, as Weever and Speed.

^k "This might perhaps be the old name of the parish in which Letheringham was a hamlet, but the name not having elsewhere occurred, nothing can positively be asserted. In above twenty confirmations of the elections of Priors which are upon the bishop of Norwich's Registers this House is always called Letheringham; which is not

THIS was a Priory of five or six regular Canons of the order of St. Austin, dedicated to St. Mary Magdalene, and founded by the lady Hadewisa Corbet, before King John's time.^a

At the Parliament holden at Westminster, March 16th, 3 Hen. V., the Prior and Convent of St. Mary Magdalen of Tortington next Arundel, desired remedy, for that the Earl of Arundel had encroached from them the manor of Clay, and sundry other hereditaments in the County of Sussex, there particularly named. It was answered, after livery sued out of the King's hand, that the Chancellor of England for the time being, calling to him the Justices of both Benches, should thereby have power to take order therein.^b

The amount of the revenue of this Priory, as stated in the Valor Ecclesiasticus, will be found below.^c

Austin Cell of Calke, in Derbyshire.

MAUD, widow of Ranulph the second Earl of Chester, had before the death of Walter bishop of Coventry, which happened A.D. 1161, fixed here a Convent of Regular Canons of the Order of St. Austin; but afterward she removed most of them to the Priory of Repindon, to which this House at Calke continued a Cell till the Dissolution; and, as parcel of the possessions of Repindon, was granted

1 Edw. VI. to John Earl of Warwick.^a It is now the property of Sir George Crewe, Bart.

Mention of Calke has been already made in the Account of Repindon, Repingdon, or Repton Priory, in the present Volume, p. 429. We have here but little to add. Tanner refers to some Excerpts from the Charters granted to this House, preserved in the Harleian Manuscript 2044. fol. 82.^b

Thirling Priory, in Cambridgeshire.

BISHOP TANNER, Lysons in his Cambridgeshire, and Taylor in the Index Monasticus, are the only writers who have given us an Account of this Priory. Tanner, in the text of the Notitia Monastica, merely says, "A small Priory near Upwell." Adding in a Note, "I cannot give any account either of the foundation or valuation of this Priory; and yet it was in being 20 Hen. VIII., for I find it mentioned that year in the following manner: 'There is a with several mesuages, lands, &c. in Thirling and Upwell were granted, 30th Hen. VIII., to Thomas Meggs, as part of the possessions of the Priory of Ixworth in Suffolk; unless it be a mistake in the abstracts I have procured."

Lysons says, lands called Thirlings, and an old mansion in the village of Upwell, which bears the appearance of having been a religious house, are now the property of Sir — L'Estrange.

Taylor inserts this Priory, in his Index Monasticus, among Houses of the Austin Order. He says, "From a Register of the See of Ely it appears that, in the reign of Edward the First, the Canons of Thrilling had twenty-four acres in the bishop's manor at 6d. an acre." He describes the situation of this House, "in the Isle of Ely, the Hundred of Wichford, the parish of Upwell, and the bishop of Ely's manor, extending into Norfolk."

Priory of St. Peter and St. Paul, in Ipswich, Suffolk.

TANNER says this Priory was "founded^a in the latter end of the reign of King Henry the Second, or beginning of that of King Richard the First, by the ancestors of Thomas Lacy and Alice his wife, which was suppressed by the authority of Cardinal Wolsey, March 6th, 1527, who having obtained bulls from the Pope, and letters patent from the King for the site and estate belonging to this Priory, founded 20th Hen. VIII., in the place where it stood, a College for a Dean, twelve secular canons, eight clerks, and eight choristers, to the honour of the blessed Virgin Mary, together with a grammar school, which he designed as a nursery to his great College in Oxford. And for endowment of the same he farther procured the possessions of the late Monasteries of Snape, Dodnash, Wikes, Horkesley, Tiptre, Romborough, Felixstowe, Bromehill, Blyburgh, and Montjoy. But this noble foundation was scarce brought to perfection before the disgrace of that prelate (who was born in the town of Ipswich), and the site of the College, with good part of the lands belonging to St. Peter's Monastery, were granted, 23d Hen. VIIIth, to Thomas Alverde; and 9th James I. to Richard Percival and Edmund Duffield."^b

Taylor, in the Index Monasticus, speaking of the Priory of St. Peter and St. Paul, says, the churches of St. Edmund a Pountney, St. Austin, St. Mildred, St. Nicholas, St. Clement, St. Mary at Kay, St. Peter, and Thurleston, in Ipswich, and of Cretingham, Crew, Wherstead, Dokesworth; and the manors of St. Peter in Ipswich, Harrold in Burstall, St. Peter in Cretingham, and Hintlesham, and the tithes of St. Matthew in Ipswich, Letheringham, Thorp, &c., with revenues in many other parishes, were impropriated to this Priory.^c

An Impression from the COMMON SEAL of the Priory of St. Peter and St. Paul exists in the Chapter-House, Westminster, of the date of 1290. The subject of it is a Church with a Tower, on the right side of which is St. Peter, on the left St. Paul. Legend. SIGILLVM . ECCLESIE . S̄CI . PETRI . ET . PAVLI . DE . GIPESWIC. The Seal is round.

On the Site of this Priory, since its Dissolution, a spacious Mansion called Christ Church has been erected. The present possessor of the Site is Dykes Alexander, Esq.

Some of these are also in the Appendix to the Cardinal's Life by Fiddes, London, 1724. fol.

^c Dugdalc in the former edition of the Monasticon, vol. i. p. 1036. inserted the name of this Priory among those Aliens which were suppressed by the Statute of Leicester 3 Hen. V. 1414: a mistake, not easily to be accounted for.

Heryngflet, or Herlyngflete Priory, in Suffolk.

THIS also was a House of Austin Canons. Taylor says Roger Fitz-Osbert of Somerley erected this Priory near the ancient ferry across the Waveney, and the present bridge of St. Olave, about the beginning of the long reign of Henry III., perhaps earlier; for Roger Fitz-Osbert flourished in the time of King John, but did not die till 1239. He gave to this House forty acres of land in Tibenham, and bequeathed his body to be buried in the Conventual Church. Peter his son gave the advowson of Wittingham, and was also buried in the Priory Church in 1275, as was Beatrix his wife in 1278.^a

To this Monastery were appropriated the Churches of Heryngflete, and a portion of the rectory and the advowson of Burgh in Suffolk, and the churches of Hales and Wittingham in Norfolk.^b

This Priory was dedicated to the Virgin Mary and St. Olave. Among the benefactors, Taylor reckons the Jernegans of Somerley; Roger de Burgh, 1269; Ralph de Chedgrave and Emma his wife, 1275; Ralph son of William le Ferya; Stephen de Astley, 1300; Roger son of Peter Fitz-Osbert, 1305; Sir George Felbrigge, knight, 1372; Edwin Bacon, Roger de Ludham, Alan de Hekyngham; Roger Rogers, 1392; Joan wife of Sir Thomas de Ludham, knight, 1399; Roger Betts, 1456; John Jernegan, Esq. 1470; and John Reppys, 1473.

The Site was granted Jan. 26th 1546,^c to Henry Jernegan or Jernyngham, Esq. the patron, and Frances his wife, for the consideration of 92*l.* 8*s.* 6*d.*

About the middle of the last century the SITE of this House, and nearly the whole of the parish which belonged to it, passed from the Bacon family to Hill Musenden, Esq., and from him to his brother Carteret, who had taken the name of Leathes.

The present Possessor is Anthony Merry, Esq. in right of Elizabeth his wife, late Elizabeth Leathes, wife of John Leathes, Esq.

There is a Paper Survey of this Priory temp. Hen. VIII. in the Augmentation Office.^d

In the Chapter-House, Westminster, is an imperfect Impression of the COMMON SEAL, representing St. Olave King and Martyr, seated, and having in his right hand an Ax, in his left a Staff, and with a Cross at the top. Legend, s. COM'VNE . ECCLESIE . SANCTI . OLAVI . DE . HERLINGEFLET. . . . The Remains of the Priory existed till 1784, when they were mostly pulled down, but parts of them are still to be seen.

Weever from the Woodbridge Register says, that Sir Hugh Rous or Rufus was founder, but does not say whether original founder or patron. Stow also, in the preface to his Annals, quotes the "Liber de Woodbridge."^b

Taylor says the Priory of Woodbridge was situated on the south side of the present parochial Church, to which it joined; and was endowed with the Churches of Woodbridge, Brandeston, and St. Gregory, in Ipswich; with titles in Stradbrook and Wingfield; with the manors of Woodbridge, Alnesbourne, and Haspely in Newbourn; a water-mill at Woodbridge; and with houses, lands, and rents in several other parishes in Suffolk. The Priory of Alnesbourne, as has been mentioned in a former page, was united to it about A.D. 1466.

The Priory and five Canons subscribed to the King's Supremacy in 1534.

Latton Priory, in Essex.

MORANT^d says, that the Possessions which St. Edmunds Bury Abbey held in Latton at the time of the Domesday Survey, were afterwards converted into a Priory, though independent of the great Abbey; but when or by whom this Priory was founded he could not discover; only, that it was for Augustine Monks, and was in existence before 1270.

The manor and advowson of the Priory of Latton were held by Augustine le Waleys, 22 and 23 Edw. III.^e

John Taylor, the last Prior, held, 9th Sept. 1534, the Site of this Priory of Thomas Shaw in pure and perpetual alms, with all the houses, lands, tenements, and hereditaments thereto belonging, containing two hundred acres of arable, two hundred of pasture, thirty of meadow, ten of wood, and 3*l.* rent; and the advowson and patronage of the Church of Latton: the whole then valued at 10*l.* per annum.^f

This Priory is situated three miles or more south of the Parish Church of Latton, on a lone spot, at no great distance from the London road, between Epping and Harlow. A fragment of the Church is yet remaining converted into a barn. It was originally a stately building, in the form of a Cross, with arches and windows of freestone curiously executed.

No SEAL of Latton Priory has been discovered by the Editors.

DUGDALE, in the History of Warwickshire, p. 362, has himself written an Account in English of this Priory, and entered fully into the minutiae of its endowment.

On the north side of the town of Warwick, says Tanner, where once stood a parochial church of St. Helen, Henry de Newburgh Earl of Warwick began, and his son Earl Roger finished, temp. Hen. I., a Hospital or Priory of Canons regular, in honour of the Holy Sepulchre, and of the Order. No charter of foundation, however, from either Earl exists.

The enumeration and value of its possessions, in the 28th Hen. VIIIth, will be seen in the abstract of the Ministers' Accompts.

Among its more important possessions, at an early time, was a carucate of land, and $x^s. x^d.$ yearly rent in the parish of St. Clements Danes, Westminster.^a Tandridge or Tanregge Priory, in Surrey.

THIS was a Hospital for three Priests and several poor Brethren, or (as in later times it was more generally accounted) a Priory of Austin Canons, founded temp. Ric. I., to which Odo de Dammartin was a great benefactor. It was dedicated to St. James.^a Manning, in his History of Surrey, says that, in a Rescript of the Bishop of Winchester certifying vacant Preferments, dated 2d Feb. 1308,^b it is stated that the rents and issues of this Priory were scarcely sufficient for the support of the Ministers officiating therein:° nevertheless in the 26th of Henry VIIIth its revenue was stated in the gross to amount to less than 86*l.* 7*s.* 5½*d.* The clear revenue to 78*l.* 6*s.* 10½*d.* per annum.

King Henry the VIIIth, desirous of obtaining the House called Otelands in Weybridge in this county, which belonged to William Rede, Esq., agreed to give him Tandridge Priory for it. William died before the deeds were executed, leaving an infant son and heir named John. But this was no impediment to the King, who by Letters patent dated 2d Jan. 1538, in the 37th year of his reign, granted to John Rede the House and Site of the late Monastery of Tandridge, with the Church, belfry or steeple, and cemetery of the same, together with its lands and possessions in different counties, being of the clear yearly value of 69*l.* 3*s.* 0½*d.*, to hold to him and his heirs; with remainder to his brothers, and in failure of them to the right heir of John.^d

The subsequent descent of the property of the Site of Tandridge Priory may be seen in Manning. It was recently in the possession of Sir William Clayton, Bart.

The Buildings of this Priory, which stood near the foot of the Chalk-hill at Tandridge, have long been entirely destroyed; but the name is retained in a modern farmhouse, in clearing the ground about which paving tiles have been frequently discovered.

There is a Paper Survey of this Priory, temp. Hen. VIIIth, in the Augmentation Office: and Copies of the Deed and Indenture to Rede, of one or two Rentals, one of the date of 1431, with Copies of Court Rolls, occur in the Harleian MSS. 4785, 4786.^f

Hospital, Nunnery, or Free Chapel, at Ilchester,

IN SOMERSETSHIRE.

WHETHER this House is rightly placed among the Austin Foundations, may perhaps admit of doubt. The reader who is displeased with its position, may refer it to any other division of the work he chooses.

Leland, in his Itinerary, speaking of Ivelchester or Ilchester, says, "There is a fre Chapelle in the town, the bakside whereof cummith to the ryver side even hard bynethe the bridge. I have hard say, that many yeres syns, there was a Nunry wher this Chapelle ys." Tanner says this was probably at first an Hospital; for one William Dacus^b gave the Whitehall in Ivelchester, and other houses and lands, for founding an Hospital for poor travellers to the honour of the Blessed Trinity, between A.D. 1217 and 1220.^c In the ninth year of King Edward the Second this is called the Hospital of the Holy Trinity. But before the seventeenth year of that King, it was probably changed into an House of Religious women under the government of a Prioress, who was styled "Priorissa de Alba aula in Ivelchester," in Pat. 17 Edw. II. p. 2, m. 6. dorso. But some time before the Reformation it dwindled into a Free Chapel.^d ^b Dr. Hutton's Collections out of Bishop Drokensford's Register.

^c Mr. Strachey placeth it in A.D. 1226, but according to the witnesses, it must be sooner: there is in the will of Hugh bishop of Lincoln, made A.D. 1212, a legacy, "Leprosis extra Ivelcher," but perhaps that might be a different House from this.

^d Tanner says, "Inter pensiones solutas A.D. 1555. Georgio Crew ultimo incumbenti Liberæ Capellæ S. Trinitatis in Ivelchester 6l. 13s. 4d. per annum. MS. penes Petrum le Neve arm. 1721. Mr. Strachey saith this House was valued, 26 Hen. VIIIth, at 16l. 17s. 9d. per annum; but I cannot find it elsewhere."

Tanner's References to Records concerning Ilchester, are "Pat. 9 Edw. II. p. 2, m. 7. dorso, Rex concessit Waltero de Woubourn capellano custodiam Hospitalis S. Trinitatis de Ivelchester, ratione minoris ætatis Nicholai filii et hæredis Nic. de Bonevill defuncti. Pat. 17 Edw. II. p. 2, m. 6. dorso. Pat. 24 Edw. III. p. 1, m. . Pat. 48 Edw. III. p. 1, m. 26. Pat. 3 Hen. V. p. 2, m. 27."
